Valve operating mechanism of internal combustion engines. J. and J. H. S. Gardiner. 1,805,578; May 19.
Valve, Pressure controlled. J. Le Valley. 1,806,301; May 19.
Valve, Pressure gauging Tire. F. G. Arnold. 1,806,380; May 19.
Valve, Reducing. H. J. Mastenbrook. 1,805,702; May 19.
Valve, Rotary. E. W. Griffith. 1,806,016; May 19.
Valve, Steam. W. W. Carson, jr. 1,806,447; May 19.
Valve structure. A. C. and W. H. McIntyre. 1,805,777; May 19.
Valve, Thermostatic. E. J. Levy. 1,806,072; May 19.
Valves, Operating mechanism for. R. W. Mueller. 1,806,305; May 19.
Vanity case. J. L. McAtree. 1,806,303; May 19.
Vaporizer. C. F. Rubsam. 1,805,844; May 19.
Vaporizing device for treating asthma. J. D. Gibson. 1,806,453; May 19.
Vault and safe construction. J. W. Young. 1,805,610; May 19.
Vehicle. J. E. Dunlap. 1,806,337; May 19.
Vehicle. H. A. Knox. 1,805,771; May 19.
Vehicle body. A. G. Kerr and D. Merchant. 1,805,489; May 19.
Vehicle body. J. A. A. de Viscaya. 1,806,523; May 19.
Vehicle jack. F. Angelillo. 1,805,508; May 19.
Vehicle, Motor. J. T. Sullivan. 1,806,095; May 19.
Vehicle towing device. F. Hanses. 1,805,822; May 19.
Vehicle, Trailer. A. B. Cadman. 1,806,191; May 19.
Vehicle wheel. C. G. Fawkes. 1,805,574; May 19.
Vehicles, Apparatus responsive to the passage of railway. P. N. Bossart. 1,806,039; May 19.
Vehicles, Apparatus responsive to the passage of railway. A. J. Sorensen. 1,806,093; May 19.
Vehicles, Automatic controlling system for motor. B. F. Wooding. 1,806,011; May 19.
Vending machine, Coin controlled. F. L. Mills. 1,805,837; May 19.
Vending machine, Target practice. F. L. Mills. 1,805,838; May 19.

Veneer taping machine. A. A. Dennis. 1,805,907; May 19.
Ventilation, Crankcase. H. G. Kamrath. 1,806,543; May 19.
Ventilator: See—
Sash ventilator.
Vest and trousers, Combined. S. Goldstein. Des. 84,190; May 19.
Vibrating apparatus. L. S. Chadwick. 1,805,758; May 19.
Vibrator for molds and dental flasks. E. Briggs. 1,805,970; May 19.
Vise, Clamping. P. Eisemann. 1,806,527; May 19.
Vitamine preparations, Producing. A. W. Owe. 1,805,593; May 19.
Waffle iron. B. M. Fromknecht. 1,806,196; May 19.

Wall plate for lighting fixtures. R. M. Pickard. Des. 84,203; May 19.
Washing machine. C. C. Batina. 1,805,862; May 19.
Washing machine. B. E. Getz. 1,806,289; May 19.
Washing machine. G. Webb. 1,805,558; May 19.
Washing machine casing and support therefor, Combined. L. B. Green. Des. 84,219; May 19.
Watch spring strap, Wrist. R. B. Barton. 1,806,439; May 19.
Water craft, Propelling. A. M. Pratt. 1,805,597; May 19.
Water filtration, Method of and apparatus for. A. P. Miller. 1,805,993; May 19.
Water heater. W. Witzler and P. F. G. Güth. 1,806,378; May 19.
Water treatment device. H. N. Jenks. 1,805,667; May 19.
Wave oscillator, Short. A. Esau. 1,806,245; May 19.
Weatherstrip, Automatically actuated. E. J. Chandler. 1,805,512; May 19.
Weather stripping. L. F. Julien. 1,806,018; May 19.
Welding, Electric. J. F. Lawson. 1,805,549; May 19.
Welding, Method of and apparatus for. C. T. Siebs. 1,806,121; May 19.
Well bit. J. C. Wright and L. F. Bonney. 1,805,898; May 19.
Well drilling bit. J. C. Wright. 1,805,899; May 19.
Well holes, Adjusting. A. G. H. Straatman. 1,806,509; May 19.
Wells, Facilitating flow from. L. Ranney and C. O. Fairbank. 1,806,499; May 19.
Wheel: See—
Abrasive wheel. Vehicle wheel.
Wheel testing apparatus, Grinding. H. G. Weinland. 1,805,896; May 19.
Wheel with swivel spoke, Steering. H. D. Geyer. 1,806,343; May 19.
Wheels, Making wire spoked. J. H. Wagenhorst. 1,806,227; May 19.
Winding machine. O. R. Haas. 1,805,544; May 19.
Winding machine attachment. L. F. Phelan. 1,805,595; May 19.
Window curtain hanger. J. Witteman. 1,805,793; May 19.
Windshield cleaner. R. M. Critchfield. 1,806,336; May 19.
Wiper, Windshield. R. M. Critchfield. 1,806,335; May 19.
Wire reel carrier. J. Bodnar. 1,805,564; May 19.
Wire reeling attachment. W. C. Saunders. 1,805,636; May 19.
Wrapper tabbing mechanism. E. G. Rider. 1,806,181; May 19.
Wrapping machines, Paper feed for. F. R. Schmitt. 1,805,677; May 19.
Wrench: See—
Pipe wrench.
Wringer frame. E. J. Schuda. 1,805,557; May 19.
Wringing machine. S. C. Lawlor. 1,805,774; May 19.
Wood product and producing the same. C. B. Lipman and A. Gordon. 1,805,550; May 19.
Woodworking machinery, Scrap removing device for. C. F. Streit and G. J. Kuehnle. 1,805,856; May 19.
Wrench. E. F. Pawsat. 1,805,884; May 19.
X-ray tube. J. B. Wantz. 1,805,503; May 19.

Stones, Surface treatment of synthetic precious. H. Espig and W. Teubner. 1,806,588; May 26.
Stop mechanism, Automatic. W. Cameron. 1,806,890; May 26.
Stopper: See—
Tank float stopper.
Stopping mechanism for spoolers and the like. J. H. Cox. 1,806,612; May 26.
Storage system. J. G. L. Skar and H. J. Syren. 1,807,075; May 26.
Straightening machine. E. T. Peterson. 1,807,324; May 26.
Strainer. A. W. Burks. 1,806,839; May 26.
Strap retainer, Shoulder. A. C. Hooper. 1,807,290; May 26.
Street cleaner. O. J. Orser. 1,807,250; May 26.
Strip or wire, Manufacture of metallic sheet. S. O. Cowper-Coles. 1,806,587; May 26.
Stroboscopic apparatus. E. A. Butler and T. R. Olive. 1,807,149; May 26.
Strut for aeroplanes, Shock absorbing landing. F. Kunderd. 1,806,807; May 26.
Substance having a nacreous and chatoyant aspect, Production of. J. Paisseau. 1,806,863; May 26.
Suit, Bathing. C. L. Martin. 1,807,486; May 26.
Superheater header. H. B. Oatley. 1,807,248; May 26.
Superheater headers, Manufacturing. M. F. Hard. 1,807,240; May 26.
Support. P. N. Elderkin. 1,806,600; May 26.
Support, Casing. C. A. Rasmussen, C. R. Butler, and W. A. Trout. 1,807,046; May 26.
Support for angle bars, Adjustable. B. A. Brown. 1,806,607; May 26.
Support for reciprocating conveyers, Carrier. R. A. Walter. 1,807,110; May 26.
Supporter, Child's clothes. E. M. Swartz. 1,807,452; May 26.
Supporting element for electrical devices. F. H. Hubbard. 1,807,410; May 26.
Surface treatment of articles made of synthetic corundum. H. Espig and W. Teubner. 1,806,589; May 26.
Suspenders. C. L. Meyer. 1,806,909; May 26.
Switch: See—
Distribution switch. Electric switch.
Switch. R. E. Fleek. 1,807,398; May 26.
Switch and control therefor, Runway. H. W. Lindgren. 1,806,879; May 26.
Switch for motor vehicles, Signal. H. L. Furr. 1,807,285; May 26.
Switch in oil burning equipments, Electrical. O. A. Fogarty. 1,806,937; May 26.
Switch operating device. R. Popp. 1,806,821; May 26.
Synchronous motor. N. E. Methlin. 1,807,001; May 26.
Table: See—
Folding table. Rotary table.
Table. L. H. Burlin. Des. 84,228; May 26.
Tank: See—
Septic tank.
Tank float stopper. F. W. Starkey. 1,807,450; May 26.
Tank for the transportation of volatile liquids. G. V. Tontet. 1,807,108; May 26.
Tanks and the like, Cleaning liquid storage. F. Hammond. 1,806,681; May 26.
Tanks of tank vessels, Cleaning, scaling, and gas freeing bulk cargo. A. B. Butterworth. 1,806,740; May 26.
Telegraph systems, Method of and apparatus for operating cable. H. Angel and J. W. Robinson. 1,807,368; May 26.
Telephone dial lock. I. Greenberg. 1,807,065; May 26.
Television. P. Mertz. 1,806,638; May 26.
Television and like apparatus. J. L. Baird. 1,807,464–5; May 26.
Temperature control, Automatic. E. J. Lees. 1,807,101; May 26.
Textile fabric. C. H. Davis. Des. 84,229–32; May 26.
Textile fabric, Embroidered. E. W. Freudenberg. Des. 84,235; May 26.
Textile fabric, Embroidered. E. W. Freudenberg. Des. 84,237–8; May 26.
Textile material with chromium, Treating. J. L. Hankey. 1,807,208; May 26.
Thermometer. H. B. Brown. Des. 84,226; May 26.
Thermostat. H. D. Colman. 1,807,306; May 26.
Thimble. M. Aliand. 1,806,730; May 26.
Thread grinding machine. H. E. Dunkee. 1,807,516; May 26.
Thread, Linen shoe. W. W. Evans. 1,807,571; May 26.
Throttle and electric motors of a locomotive, Simultaneously controlling the. C. C. C. Burkhardt. 1,807,471; May 26.
Throttle control, Saftey. F. Van Vranken. 1,806,960; May 26.
Ticket issuing machine. E. C. Tilly. 1,806,654; May 26.
Tie plate. R. W. Frawley and G. C. Bruner. 1,807,062; May 26.
Tile and tile roof, Cap. E. Hering. 1,806,685; May 26.
Tile panel strip construction. C. D. Nilsen. 1,806,948; May 26.
Tilter device. F. L. M. Kenney. 1,806,977; May 26.
Tire and analogous article of manufacture, Rubber. A. Brill. 1,806,838; May 26.
Tire rim. F. J. Dusel. 1,806,676; May 26.
Tires, Making solid. R. Liebau. 1,806,857; May 26.
Toaster, Continuous reversible. W. J. Henley, jr. 1,807,312; May 26.
Tongs, Box handling. W. Smith. 1,806,956; May 26.
Tongue and brake, Combination. E. D. Sullivan. 1,806,719; May 26.
Tool, Chain repairing. M. M. Heiny and I. R. Smith. 1,806,682; May 26.
Tool for metal working purposes, Machine. R. Price. 1,806,951; May 26.
Tool for tapping nut blanks, Machine. P. C. Raymond. 1,806,707; May 26.
Tool, Fruit basket top applying. S. H. Sheller. 1,806,717; May 26.
Tool lifter. L. H. Mesker. 1,806,606; May 26.
Tool lubrication, Machine. J. B. Armitage. 1,806,603; May 26.
Tool, Self opening. J. V. Walker. 1,807,264; May 26.
Tool, Tire removing. I. Mjelva. 1,806,947; May 26.
Toy. H. H. Moo. Des. 84,255; May 26.
Toy animal, Walking. J. M. Danko and J. Kasarda. 1,807,391; May 26.
Toy cannon. J. W. MacDonald. 1,806,693; May 26.
Toy figure. W. E. Disney. Des. 84,233; May 26.
Toy, Flying. W. C. Wood. 1,807,365; May 26.
Toy gas cannon. J. W. MacDonald. 1,806,633; May 26.
Toy performer. P. Lazzari. 1,807,119; May 26.
Toy, Rocking-moving vehicle. P. Muehlfeld and H. Deubel. 1,807,428; May 26.
Toy wagon. L. D. Ellis. 1,806,749; May 26.
Track brake. E. E. Fisher. 1,806,994; May 26.
Track circuit system. A. G. Williamson. 1,807,330; May 26.
Tractor. T. R. Paulsen. 1,806,819; May 26.
Traffic controlling apparatus, Railway. F. W. Lee. 1,806,691; May 26.
Traffic controlling apparatus, Railway. F. T. Fereday. 1,806,795; May 26.
Traffic controlling apparatus, Railway. B. E. O'Hagan. 1,806,817; May 26.
Traffic signal. R. Biesso. Des. 84,225; May 26.
Trailer hitch. G. C. Burkett. 1,807,303; May 26.
Train control, Automatic. P. J. Simmen. 1,806,830; May 26.
Transformer, Coupling. J. A. Proctor. 1,807,135; May 26.
Transformers, Insulating high frequency. K. Schmidt. 1,807,176; May 26.
Translating device. A. Joffé. 1,807,292; May 26.
Transmission, Analyzing system for multiplex facsimile. R. H. Ranger. 1,807,011; May 26.
Transmitter suspension arm. H. H. Ide. 1,806,903; May 26.
Transplanter. B. C. England. 1,807,474; May 26.
Trap: See—
Animal trap. Rat trap.
Insect trap.
Trap. W. Anderson. 1,807,463; May 26.
Trap construction, Exhaust. A. J. Culp. 1,807,512; May 26.
Tray and table, Combination. L. H. Burlin. Des. 84,227; May 26.
Tread member for tire chains. E. Ghia. 1,807,522; May 26.
Tread shrinking machine. H. V. Lough. 1,806,811; May 26.
Trolley frog and line section switch, Combined. K. Davis. 1,806,842; May 26.
Truck, Industrial. E. J. Abbe. 1,807,269; May 26.
Truck, Industrial. E. H. Remde. 1,806,881; May 26.
Truck, Railway. J. S. Tawresey. 1,806,832; May 26.
Truss. L. B. Moitzan. 1,806,639; May 26.
T-square with sliding pivoted blades. W. Ross. 1,807,438; May 26.
Tube: See—
Discharge tube. Gas discharge tube.
Tube for oil burners, Combustion. H. F. Smenner. 1,806,921; May 26.
Turbine, Elastic fluid. C. A. Parsons and E. H. B. Anderson. 1,806,645; May 26.
Twine holding and dispensing device. G. Maletz. 1,806,812; May 26.
2-aminonaphthalene-3-carboxylic acid, Manufacture of. H. Schweitzer. 1,806,714; May 26.
Type form projector. E. J. Freund. 1,806,896; May 26.
Typewriting and computing machine, Combined. E. Stevenson. 1,806,768; May 26.
Typographical composing machine. D. Goldblatt. 1,807,523; May 26.
Umbrella lock. J. C. Backus. 1,806,660; May 26.
Universal joint. E. Tetrault. 1,806,723; May 26.
Urn, Coffee. H. Harper. Des. 84,270; May 26.
Utensil, Kitchen. J. Servaas. 1,806,828; May 26.
Valve. W. H. Brooks. 1,807,193; May 26.
Valve. W. B. Milner. 1,807,490; May 26.
Valve. J. G. Smeby. 1,807,446; May 26.
Valve construction. A. Greiner and C. J. Long. 1,806,972; May 26.
Valve device, Brake. J. C. McCune. 1,807,319; May 26.
Valve, Electrically operated. J. R. Boyle. 1,807,191; May 26.

Valve, Expansion. F. E. Dennison and W. S. Ireland. 1,807,200; May 26.
Valve for sprinkler systems. E. E. Clark. 1,807,305; May 26.
Valve housing. G. C. Davis. 1,806,791; May 26.
Valve, Light. P. T. Farnsworth. 1,806,935; May 26.
Valve lubricator, Automatic. S. G. Ling. 1,806,999; May 26.
Valve mechanism. R. E. Bletcher and E. H. Bucknell. 1,807,081; May 26.
Valve mechanism for compressors. E. D. Dunning. 1,807,029; May 26.
Valve, Mixing. F. C. Leonard. 1,807,040; May 26.
Valve, Pressure regulating. H. M. Blinn. 1,807,564; May 26.
Valve seat lapping machine. A. E. Riggs. 1,806,918; May 26.
Valve stem split lock catcher. I. J. Clark. 1,807,509; May 26.
Valve tester, Compression air. F. N. Henkel. 1,807,287; May 26.
Valve, Two way. C. S. Crickmer. 1,807,085; May 26.
Vaporizer, Electrical. J. Robinson. 1,806,646; May 26.
Vegetables and fruits, Apparatus for washing. G. E. Stocking. 1,806,957; May 26.
Vehicle body, Pressed metal. J. Ledwinka. 1,807,316; May 26.
Vehicle construction. S. B. Gould. 1,807,525; May 26.
Vehicle, Logging. H. H. Richmond. 1,807,325; May 26.
Vehicle, Road. O. F. Warhus. 1,806,771; May 26.
Vehicle, Trailer. C. S. Businga. 1,806,859; May 26.
Vehicle wheel. E. A. Nelson. 1,807,167; May 26.
Vehicles, Apparatus for controlling velocity of wheeled. E. E. Fisher. 1,806,993; May 26.
Vending machine. W. E. Andrews. 1,806,835; May 26.
Vending machine. R. W. Hall and W. J. MacDonald. 1,807,532; May 26.
Vending machine. G. Morrison. 1,806,814; May 26.
Vending machine, Circular. H. T. Goss. 1,807,404; May 26.
Vending machines or the like, Coin control mechanism for. J. A. Hebb. 1,806,757; May 26.
Veneers, Producing. F. Ovenhausen. 1,807,251; May 26.
Ventilating apparatus, Mine. L. Kessler. 1,806,760; May 26.
Ventilator: See—
Exhaust ventilator. Window ventilator.
Vibrator mechanism. S. Flam. 1,806,620; May 26.
Viscose, Preparation of. J. M. Bernard. 1,807,370; May 26.
Voice culture, Method and device for. S. D. Roben. 1,806,919; May 26.
Vulcanizable material and product, Modifying. W. A. Gibbons. 1,807,031; May 26.
Wagon, Child's. C. W. Waas. 1,806,961; May 26.
Walking stick and cigar and cigarette carrier, Combined. J. Rosinsky. 1,806,709; May 26.
Wall structure, Building. G. H. Ellis. 1,807,395; May 26.
Warning device for electric push-buttons, etc. B. Roth. 1,807,344; May 26.
Washers, Making lock. F. Q. Schwartz. 1,807,258; May 26.
Washing machine. W. H. Jaxheimer. 1,807,214; May 26.
Washing machine. L. R. McKercher. 1,806,982; May 26.
Watch dial or similar article. J. P. V. Heinmuller. Des. 84,240; May 26.
Water insoluble substances, Emulsifying. H. Bennett. 1,807,563; May 26.
Wedge, Sectional. F. Spanier. 1,806,718; May 26.
Weighing attachment for meat slicers. F. S. Hines. 1,807,313; May 26.
Welded article. W. R. Hume. 1,807,477; May 26.
Welding chill, Arc. F. Palm. 1,806,949; May 26.
Welding chill, Arc. H. A. Schmitz, jr. 1,806,954; May 26.
Welding, Electric arc. K. Strobel. 1,806,958; May 26.
Welding process, Chemico-thermal. B. Burns, H. B. Lewis, and R. M. Otis. 1,806,788; May 26.
Well capping device. L. A. Teed. 1,807,498; May 26.
Well, Cementing a. H. P. Stolz. 1,807,050; May 26.
Well flowing device, Automatic. A. Boynton. 1,806,872; May 26.
Wells, Drilling. A. Boynton. 1,807,082; May 26.
Wheel: See—
Steering wheel. Vehicle wheel.
Wheel drawer for use on motor vehicles. F. B. West and K. J. Pidcock. 1,807,329; May 26.
Winding device. R. Dear. 1,807,199; May 26.
Winding mechanism, Partial self. R. Persico. 1,807,169; May 26.
Windmill. F. J. Haller. 1,806,900; May 26.
Window. G. A. Lunz and J. L. Feyl. 1,807,420; May 26.
Window seat, Portable. W. D. Dunn. 1,806,675; May 26.
Window ventilator. V. W. I. Frederick. 1,806,847; May 26.
Windows of the sliding type, Device for controlling. W. Quick, S. E. Thomas, and F. W. Berwick. 1,807,548; May 26.
Windshield cleaners and the like, Carriage reversing mechanism for. H. Bjornwald. 1,807,372; May 26.
Windshield mounting. J. Ledwinka. 1,807,317; May 26.
Wire connecter. L. R. Zehnder. 1,807,462; May 26.
Wire tightening device. E. T. James. 1,807,479; May 26.
Wrench: See—
Nut wrench. Socket wrench.
Yarn moistening device. E. O. Nebel. 1,807,492; May 26.
Zinc, Manufacture of. H. E. Coley. 1,806,596; May 26.
Zylophones or the like, Bar mounting for. H. A. Bowers. 1,807,057; May 26.

Adjudicated Patents

(C. C. A. Mo.) Eckart patent, No. 1,377,566, for method of enhancing the growth of plants, Held valid and infringed. Graham Paper Co. v. International Paper Co., 46 F.(2d) 881.

(C. C. A. Mo.) Rogers patent, No. 1,438,664, for truck frame, Held invalid. Hermon Body Co. v. St. Louis Body and Equipment Co., 46 F.(2d) 879.

(C. C. A. Ohio) Russ patent, No. 1,528,345, for heel and method of making the same, Held valid and infringed. United Shoe Machinery Corporation v. Day Wood Heel Co., 46 F.(2d) 897.

(C. C. A. Ohio) Russ patent, No. 1,536,691, for heel-blank breast-shaping machine, claims 1, 3, 5, and 6 Held valid and infringed. Id.

(C. C. A. Mo.) Eckart reissue patent, No. 15,231, for method and means for enhancing the growth of plants, Held valid and infringed. Graham Paper Co. v. International Paper Co., 46 F.(2d) 881.

Disclaimers

1,652,262.—Maurice Walter, New York, N. Y. DUMPING MECHANISM FOR SEMITRAILERS. Patent dated December 18, 1927. Disclaimer filed April 18, 1931, by the patentee.

Hereby enters this disclaimer to claim 2 of the said patent which is in the following words, to wit:

"In combination with a tractor and semi-trailer, dumping mechanism mounted wholly on the tractor, a fifth wheel connection between the tractor and semi-trailer, one element of which is carried on the tractor and connected with the dumping mechanism and the co-operating element of which is carried on the trailer, and means between the fifth wheel connection and the dumping mechanism affording capacity for universal movement of the fifth wheel during dumping."

1,691,507.—John C. Anderson, Kearny, N. J. WOVEN-WIRE FABRIC AND METHOD OF MAKING IT. Patent dated November 13, 1928. Disclaimer filed April 14, 1931, by the patentee.

Hereby enters this disclaimer to that part of the claims in said specification which is in the following words, to wit:

"1. A sectional woven wire fabric having unconfined outer edges and composed of sections woven from right-hand coils and other sections woven from left-hand coils, and connecting members each having means for engaging and holding the end coils of the adjacent sections in substantially the same space relation as the corresponding coils within each section, thereby connecting said sections so that their unconfined outer edges are in substantial alinement with one another."

"3. The method of making a woven wire fabric that comprises weaving a plurality of sections of wire fabric composed of coils having right-hand curvature, weaving a plurality of other sections having left-hand curvature, and joining said sections together, with the right and left sections alternating and with the side edges of all of said sections in alinement, by placing adjacent to the end of each successive section a connecting member having openings which are alternately adapted to interengage with the right and left wires respectively, weaving a wire similar to the wires of one of said sections through the loops of the end wire of said section and through the proper set of the openings of said connecting member, and then weaving a wire of opposite curvature through the loops of the end wire of the next section and through the remaining openings of said connecting member."

1,789,946.—Thomas M. Rector, Rutherford, N. J. METHOD OF PACKING NUTS. Patent dated January 20, 1931. Disclaimer filed April 16, 1931, by the assignee, Franklin Baker Company, patentee, said Rector consenting.

Hereby enters this disclaimer to the subject matter of each of the claims of said Letters Patent, except when the nuts are humidified so that their moisture content is approximately five per cent before they are sealed in the containers.

DECISIONS IN PATENT AND TRADE-MARK CASES

Supreme Court of the United States

CARBICE CORPORATION OF AMERICA v. AMERICAN PATENTS DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION AND DRY ICE CORPORATION OF AMERICA

No. 43. Decided March 9, 1931

1. PATENTS—INFRINGEMENT—USE OF UNPATENTED MATERIALS.

The owner of a patent for a particular kind of package employing solid carbon dioxide in a new combination can, if the patent is valid, prohibit entirely the manufacture, sale, or use of such packages or can grant licenses upon terms consistent with the limited scope of the patent monopoly, or it may charge a royalty or license fee, but such owner may not exact as the condition of a license that unpatented materials used in connection with the invention shall be purchased only from the licensor, and, if it does so, relief against one who supplies such unpatented materials will be denied.

2. SAME—SAME—SAME.

Infringement, whether direct or contributory, is essentially a tort and implies invasion of some right of the patentee. The exclusive licensee under a patent for a refrigerating transportation package which includes solid carbon dioxide has no right to be free from competition in the sale of solid carbon dioxide. Control over the supply of such unpatented material is beyond the scope of the patentee's monopoly, and this limitation, inherent in the patent grant, is not dependent upon the peculiar function or character of the unpatented material or on the way in which it is used.

ON WRIT of certiorari to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

Reversed.

Mr. Samuel E. Darby, jr., for Carbice Corporation of America.

Mr. Charles Neave and Mr. George C. Dean for American Patents Development Corporation et al.

Mr. Justice BRANDEIS delivered the opinion of the Court.

The American Patents Development Corporation, as owner of United States Patent No. 1,595,426, and the Dry Ice Corporation, as exclusive licensee, brought this suit in the Federal court for eastern New York to enjoin contributory infringement by the Carbice Company, for an accounting of profits, and for damages. The defendant denied both the validity of the patent and the alleged infringement. The district court, without passing upon validity, dismissed the bill on the ground that infringement had not been shown, 25 F.(2d) 730. The circuit court of appeals held the patent valid and infringed, 38 F.(2d) 62. A writ of certiorari was granted, 281 U. S. 711.

Solid carbon dioxide has a temperature of about 110° below zero. When it "melts", it passes directly into a dry, gaseous state—the gas having a like temperature and being in volume about 500 times that of the solid. These properties make the solid dioxide an excellent dry refrigerant for foodstuffs, particularly for the shipment of ice cream. The refrigerating transportation package, which is the subject of the patent in suit, is made up in this way: Near the middle of the outer box or carton in which the ice cream or other foodstuff is to be shipped, there is placed, in a small container, a quantity of solid carbon dioxide. So placed, this refrigerant is relatively enduring because it is doubly protected from the exterior heat by the ice cream which surrounds it and by the evaporating gas which excludes air and moisture from the shipping case. The ice cream is kept frozen by both the solid and the gaseous dioxide. Although the cost of solid dioxide is about ten times that of water ice, such use is said to have revolutionized the transportation of ice cream, as in this way shipping and handling charges are greatly reduced and the messiness incident to the employment of water ice is eliminated.

The patent in suit is not for solid carbon dioxide. That article and its properties as a refrigerant have been long known to the public. The patent is not for a machine for making solid carbon dioxide. Nor is it for a process for making or using that substance. The Patent Office rejected an application for a process patent. The patent is said to be for a manufacture. The specifications outline the method of construction and use; and a typical claim [6] is for a—> transportation package consisting of a protective casing of insulating material having packed therein a quantity of frozen carbon dioxide in an insulating container and a quantity of freezable product in freezing proximity to said frozen carbon dioxide and the gas evaporated therefrom, arranged so that said frozen carbon dioxide is less accessible for exterior heat than said freezable products.

The sole business of the Dry Ice Corporation is the manufacture of solid carbon dioxide which it sells under the name of "DryIce". It does not make or sell transportation packages in which solid carbon dioxide is used as a refrigerant. It does not issue to other concerns licenses to make such packages upon payment of a stipulated royalty. It does not formally license buyers of its dry ice to use the invention in suit. But each invoice for solid dioxide sold by it bears this notice.

> The merchandise herein described is shipped upon the following condition: That DryIce shall not be used except in DryIce Cabinets or other containers or apparatus provided or approved by the DryIce Corporation of America; and that DryIce Cabinets or other containers or apparatus provided or approved by the DryIce Corporation of America shall be refrigerated or used only with DryIce. These uses of DryIce are fully covered by our Basic Method and Apparatus Patent No. 1,511,306. Granted October 14th, 1924, and other Patents Pending.

The patent in suit, No. 1,595,426, issued August 10, 1926, is not named in the invoice; but it has been assumed that thereby the Dry Ice Corporation extends to each of its customers, buyers of solid carbon dioxide, a license to use the invention without the payment of royalty. The restrictions as to the purchase of cartons set forth in the invoices of the corporation appear not to have been insisted upon by it.

The Carbice Corporation also manufactures solid carbon dioxide. It is charged with contributory infringement because it sells its product to customers of the Dry Ice Corporation with knowledge that the dioxide is to be used by the purchaser in transportation packages like those described in the patent. The Carbice Corporation challenges the validity of the patent and denies infringement. Whether the transportation package described is a patentable invention we need not determine. For even if it is, no relief can be granted.

[1] The invention claimed is for a particular kind of package employing solid carbon dioxide in a new combination. If the patent is valid the owner can, of course, prohibit entirely the manufacture, sale, or use of such packages, Continental Paper Bag Co. v. Eastern Paper Bag Co., 210 U. S. 405, 136 O. G. 1297. Or it can grant licenses upon terms consistent with the limited scope of the patent monopoly, United States v. General Electric Co., 272 U. S. 476, 489. It may charge a royalty or license fee. But it may not exact as the condition of a license that unpatented materials used in connection with the invention shall be purchased only from the licensor; and if it does so, relief against one who supplies such unpatented materials will be denied.[1] The limited monopoly to make, use, and vend an article may not be "expanded by limitations as to materials and supplies necessary to the operation of it." Motion Picture Patents Co. v. Universal Film Manufacturing Co., 243 U. S. 502, 515, 238 O. G. 311. Compare United Shoe Machinery Co. v. United States, 258 U. S. 451, 462; United States v. General Electric Co., 272 U. S. 476, 492.

The relief here sought is indistinguishable from that denied in the Motion Picture case. There, it was held that to permit the patent owner "to derive its profit, not from the invention on which the law gives it a monopoly but from the unpatented supplies with which it is used" is "wholly without the scope of the patent monopoly." P. 517. If a monopoly could be so expanded, the owner of a patent for a product might conceivably monopolize the commerce in a large part of unpatented materials used in its manufacture. The owner of a patent for a machine might thereby secure a partial monopoly on the unpatented supplies consumed in its operation. The owner of a patent for a process might secure a partial monopoly on the unpatented material employed in it. The owner of the patent in suit might conceivably secure a limited monopoly for the supplying not only of solid carbon dioxide, but also of the ice cream and other foods, as well as of the cartons in which they are shipped.[2] The attempt to limit the licensee to the use of unpatented materials purchased from the licensor is comparable to the attempt of a patentee to fix the price at which the patented article may be resold. Bauer & Cie. v. O'Donnell, 229 U. S. 1, 191 O. G. 1068; Straus v. Victor Talking Machine Co., 243 U. S. 490, 238 O. G. 316; Boston Store v. American Graphophone Co., 246 U. S. 8, 249 O. G. 985. Compare Bobbs-Merrill Co. v. Straus, 210 U. S. 339. In both classes of cases, courts deny relief against those who disregard the limitations sought to be imposed by the patentee beyond the legitimate scope of its monopoly.[3]

[2] Plaintiffs seek to distinguish the Motion Picture case from that at bar, by pointing out that there, as in Henry v. A. B. Dick Co., 224 U. S. 1, 176 O. G. 751, the unpatented supplies, over which the licensor sought to extend its monopoly, were merely used in the patented machines, whereas here the unpatented refrigerant is one of the necessary elements of the patented product. And to distinguish the case at bar from Morgan Envelope Co. v. Albany Perforated Wrapping Paper Co., 152 U. S. 425, 433, 67 O. G. 271, it is pointed out that the Carbice Corporation is furnishing not a passive element in the combination, like the paper in the Morgan Envelope fixture, but the dynamic element which produces refrigeration. These distinctions are without legal significance. Infringement, whether direct or contributory, is essentially a tort, and implies invasion of some right of the patentee. Compare Moore v. Marsh, 7 Wall. 515, 520; Root v. Railway Co., 105 U. S. 189, 214, 21 O. G. 1112. The Dry Ice Corporation has no right to be free from competition in the sale of solid carbon dioxide. Control over the supply of such unpatented material is beyond the scope of the patentee's monopoly; and this limitation, inherent in the patent grant, is not dependent upon the peculiar function or character of the unpatented material or on the way in which it is used. Relief is denied because the Dry Ice Corporation is attempting, without sanction of law, to employ the patent to secure a limited monopoly of unpatented material used in applying the invention. The present attempt is analogous to the use of a patent as an instrument for restraining

[1] In England the insertion of such a requirement in any license agreement is a complete defense to any defendant charged with infringement. See Patents and Designs Act (1907), 7 Edw. VII, c. 29, sec. 38, as amended by (1919) 9 and 10 Geo. V, c. 80, sec. 20, sched. 38; Sarason v. Frémay [1914], 2 Ch. 474; Huntoon Co. v. Kolynos, (Inc.) [1930], 1 Ch. Div. 528, 535, 547, 553, 562. The need for such legislative measures to prevent abuse of the patent monopoly has now been recognized by the International Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property. See Actes de la Conférence de La Haye de 1925 (Bern, 1926), pp. 433–4, 606; Ladas, International Protection of Industrial Property, pp. 337–40, 817. In this country the patent statutes similarly provide that an unreasonable delay in formally disavowing patent claims held invalid, and the consequent maintenance of a broader monopoly than warranted, is a complete defense to all infringers, even as to remaining valid claims. Rev. Stats. secs. 4917, 4922, 35 U. S. C. secs. 65, 71. See Ensten v. Simon Ascher & Co., Inc., No. 46, October Term 1930, decided February 2, 1931.

[2] See, also, the examples given by Chief Justice White, dissenting in Henry v. A. B. Dick Co., 224 U. S. 1, 55. "The very existence of such restrictions suggests that in its absence a competing article of equal or better quality would be offered at the same or at a lower price. . . ." Vaughan, Economics of Our Patent System, pp. 125–7.

[3] The patent grant is inherently limited in other respects. A patent covering an essential instrumentality does not enable a patentee or its licensee thereby to abridge its obligations as a public utility; the exclusive right to license use of the invention cannot be so exercised. Missouri ex rel. Baltimore C. O. Tel. Co. v. Bell Tel. Co., 23 F. 539, appeal dismissed, 127 U. S. 780; State ex rel. Postal Tel. Cable Co. v. Delaware & A. Tel. & Tel. Co., 47 F. 633, affirmed, 50 F. 677. Nor does the grant of a United States patent exempt the patented product from limitations imposed by State police statutes. Patterson v. Kentucky, 97 U. S. 501; Allen v. Riley, 203 U. S. 347; John Woods & Sons v. Carl, 203 U. S. 358; Ozan Lumber Co. v. Union County National Bank, 207 U. S. 251. Compare Webber v. Virginia, 103 U. S. 344, 347. See note 1, supra. Nor can a patent be made the basis of an unconscionable contract. Pope Mfg. Co. v. Gormully, 144 U. S. 224.

commerce which was condemned, under the Sherman antitrust law, in Standard Sanitary Mfg. Co. v. United States, 226 U. S. 20, 184 O. G. 1074.[4]

The case at bar is wholly unlike Leeds & Catlin v. Victor Talking Machine Co., 213 U. S. 325, 333, 144 O. G. 1095, on which plaintiffs rely. That was an ordinary case of contributory infringement. The Victor Company sold machines embodying a patent for a combination. Leeds & Catlin were held to be infringers because the intended incorporation in the Victor machines of the article which they sold, did not constitute a repair of the machine and hence was not within the license implied on sale. Heyer v. Duplicator Mfg. Co., 263 U. S. 100, 325 O. G. 701. There was no suggestion that the Victor Company, which itself manufactured and sold the patented product, sought "to derive its profits, not from the invention on which the law gives it a monopoly, but from the unpatented supplies with which it is used." In the case at bar the plaintiffs neither sell nor license others to sell complete transportation packages. They supply merely one of the several materials entering into the combination; and on that commodity they have not been granted a monopoly. Their attempt to secure one cannot be sanctioned.[5]

IN RE WILSON

No. 2,580. Decided February 3, 1931

PATENTABILITY—VEHICLE WHEEL.

Claims for a vehicle wheel adapted to be operable in both vertical and inclined positions Held unpatentable over the prior art.

APPEAL from the Patent Office. Affirmed.

Mr. Wallace R. Lane, Mr. F. F. Mason, and Mr. Wm. S. Hodges for Wilson.

Mr. T. A. Hostetler and Mr. Howard S. Miller for the Commissioner of Patents.

BLAND, J.:

The subject matter of this ex parte appeal from the decision of the Board of Appeals of the United States Patent Office, affirming the decision of the Examiner, is for improved vehicle wheels, claimed to be operable in both vertical and inclined positions, as on a road grader.

In the use of a road grader it is often necessary for one wheel to run in the ditch at the side of the road while the other is on more level ground and nearer the center of the road. In order that the wheels may not slip and that the vehicle may have traction, applicant's device is so constructed that projecting flanges on each side of the tire of the wheel come in contact with the road when the wheels stand at an angle. The rim, bolts, nuts and tire are so arranged as to provide a means which the applicant claims will prevent skidding.

The claims were rejected upon the following references: Reid, 623,034, April 11, 1899; Neill et al., 683,220, September 24, 1901; Bosworth, 1,043,061, November 5, 1912; Gray, 1,240,337, September 18, 1917; Dawson, 1,487,920, March 25, 1924; Hutchinson (French Addition), 8,014 of 1907; Cann (French), 389,296, of 1908.

We have carefully examined the references and the opinions of the tribunals below and have considered the argument of counsel on both sides and agree with the Board of Appeals that applicant has disclosed nothing patentable over the prior art cited, and the decision of the Board of Appeals is affirmed.

JANTZEN KNITTING MILLS v. WEST COAST KNITTING MILLS

No. 2,503. Decided January 12, 1931. Rehearing denied March 31, 1931

1. TRADE-MARKS—REPRESENTATION OF THE GOODS.
"It is a well settled principle of trade-mark law that a mere representation of the merchandise on which the mark is used cannot be adopted as a trade-mark. The reason for this rule is that such a mark indicates nothing in the nature of origin or ownership of the articles to which it is affixed."
2. SAME—SAME.
"A representation of the goods themselves may, however, if incorporated with other features of a mark which are sufficiently arbitrary and distinctive as in themselves to indicate origin or ownership of the goods to which they are affixed, be adopted as a trade-mark."
3. SAME—SAME—DIVING GIRL IN A SWIMMING SUIT.
The representation of a diving girl wearing a swimming suit is generic in character and the registration of such a representation as a trade-mark can not exclude another from using any such representation but only from using such a representation when the diving girl is in substantially the same position and posture.
4. SAME—SAME—SAME—LIKELIHOOD OF CONFUSION.
A trade-mark for bathing suits comprising the representation of a girl attired in a bathing suit, cap and shoes, about to dive from a spring board into water Held not confusingly similar to a trade-mark for the same goods comprising a girl with arms and limbs extended, similarly attired, appearing to be in the air as in the act of diving.

Examiner of Interferences, dismissing an opposition filed by appellant against the application of appellee for registration of a trade-mark for bathing suits, comprising a representation of a girl attired in a bathing suit, cap and shoes, about to dive from a springboard into water. The notation "Hollywood" appears over this representation, which notation, however, is disclaimed apart from the mark shown. The mark is used by appellee as a trade-mark for swimming suits.

Appellant claims prior use upon the same kind of goods of a trade-mark comprising a girl with arms and limbs extended, attired in a bathing suit, cap and stockings, appearing to be in the air as in the act of diving. Appellant further pleads ownership of three registrations, No. 193,298, dated December 23, 1924, No. 194,451, dated January 27, 1925, and No. 213,637, dated June 1, 1926. In each of the marks here under consideration approximately one-half of the figure of the girl is covered by a swimming suit.

Both parties took testimony and the Patent Office tribunals found that appellant adopted and had continuously used its mark from a date over a year and a half prior to the earliest date that appellee alleged adoption and use of its mark. This was conceded upon the argument of the case before us. The goods upon which the marks are used are identical and the only issue before us is whether or not the marks of the respective parties are confusingly similar within the meaning of section 5 of the Trade-mark Act of 1905. The Patent Office tribunals concurred in finding that they are not, and it was upon that ground that the opposition was dismissed.

The Commissioner in his decision affirming the decision of the Examiner said:

> The opposer has shown large expenditures in advertising, the creation of a large business in connection with which its mark has been used and, presumably, is in possession of a valuable good will as an asset to its business. It being the first in the field, doubts, if any exist, in accordance with the usual rule, must be resolved against the late comer.
> The specimens showing the actual use of the applicant's mark indicate the bathing suit to be of a different color from that adopted by the opposer. It is in evidence, however, that the applicant in some instances uses red or orange as the color of the bathing suit exhibited in its mark. The opposer usually employs red as the color of the swimming suit as well as the cap and stockings shown upon the figure. To this extent, there is some similarity in the two marks here under consideration. It must be noted that the respective representations of the figures in the two marks are quite dissimilar. There is nothing in the position of the figure of the applicant's mark which suggests the very unusual attitude or position of the figure of the opposer's mark. It may be truly said that both represent a diving girl but beyond this, except as to the color above noted, the similarity ends. Unless it can be held the opposer is entitled to the broadest possible interpretation of its trade-mark rights in connection with the representation of a female figure wearing a bathing suit and in the act of diving, or even in the position preliminary to making a dive, opposer can not succeed in the instant case. It is in evidence, applicant's record page 19 and Exhibits 7 to 13, that the pictorial representation of a girl clad in a swimming suit has been used by others before either of the instant parties entered the field. It may be said that such a representation could not be appropriated in any event as a trade mark for such goods since such a representation would be merely that of the goods themselves in the position in which they are ordinarily used and others engaged in this same business would have a right to so illustrate their goods. These facts, therefore, lead to the conclusion that the differences between the particular representations of the girls and their positions are such that confusion in trade would not be likely. Only in a broad sense can both marks be said to represent a diving girl since in one instance, that of the opposer, the girl is in the air, and in the other instance, that of the applicant, the girl is standing up upon the end of a plank or board.

Appellant contends that the Commissioner erred in refusing to give a broad interpretation of its trade-mark rights in connection with the representation of a female figure wearing a bathing suit and in the act of diving, and insists that, as it was first in the field to use a diving girl as a trade-mark for swimming suits, it is entitled to the exclusive use of such representation as a trade-mark for such merchandise. If appellant is correct in this contention, the decision of the Patent Office should be reversed.

The first question, therefore, is whether appellant is, as a matter of law, entitled to the broad interpretation which it claims for its trade-mark. It will be observed that its trade-mark consists of the figure of a girl in the posture heretofore stated, clad only in a swimming suit, with cap and stockings. Appellant concedes that appellee has the right to adopt as a trade-mark the figure of a girl upon which to illustrate its swimming suits, but contends that no figure of a diving girl can be lawfully so used because of its prior rights to the exclusive use of such figure.

We do not think that appellant has a right to monopolize the figure of a diving girl clad in a swimming suit. It is a well settled principle of trade-mark law that a mere representation of the merchandise on which the mark is used cannot be adopted as a trade-mark. Bristol Co. v. Graham, 199 F. 412; Ex parte American Paint & Color Co., 4 T. M. Rep. 40.

The reason for this rule is that such a mark indicates nothing in the nature of origin or ownership of the articles to which it is affixed. In Elgin National Watch Co. v. Illinois Watch Case Co., 179 U. S. 665, 94 O. G. 755, the court, discussing the nature of a trade-mark, said:

> The term has been in use from a very early date, and, generally speaking, means a distinctive mark of authenticity, through which the products of particular manufacturers or the vendible commodities of particular merchants may be distinguished from those of others. It may consist in any symbol or in any form of words, but as its office is to point out distinctively the origin or ownership of the articles to which it is affixed, it follows that no sign or form of words can be appropriated as a valid trade mark, which from the nature of the fact conveyed by its primary meaning, others may employ with equal truth, and with equal right, for the same purpose.

A representation of the goods themselves may, however, if incorporated with other features of a mark which are sufficiently arbitrary and distinctive as in themselves to indicate origin or ownership of the goods to which they are affixed, be adopted as a trade-mark.

An illustration of such a mark being allowed registration is found in Ex parte Cooper Underwear Co., 130 Ms. Dec. 325, 9 T. M. Rep. 523, where the mark consisted of the representation of a woman sitting upon a couch, having a wrapper draped in such manner as to reveal in part the knitted underwear which she wears; a child, also dressed in knitted underwear, sitting beside her, while another, similarly clad, stands upon one foot on the opposite side. The woman is represented as reading from a book. The registration was allowed for use on woven and knitted underwear for men, women, and children, and for socks. The Commissioner of Patents in his decision said:

> If applicant's picture were merely a picture of its underwear, it would be clearly unregistrable. But it is an arbitrary, artistic arrangement of details in which the illustration of the goods is only one of many features. The couch, the woman reading from a book to the two children, convey an idea distinct from the underwear, and while any manufacturer is entitled to illustrate his underwear garments per se, he is not entitled to monopolize the arbitrary matter in applicant's picture, and there is enough of this matter to take this mark away from a mere representation of applicant's goods.

In Ex parte Thompson Piano Mfg. Co., 130 Ms. Dec. 311, 9 T. M. Rep. 522, a representation of a grand piano and a woman standing by the piano polishing the same was granted registration as a trade-mark for furniture polish, the Commissioner of Patents holding that there was sufficient arbitrary matter to warrant allowance of the mark.

In Ex parte Scholl Mfg. Co. 130 Ms. Dec. 113, 9 T. M. Rep. 321, a mark for instep arch supports consisting of a perspective view of the underside of a foot supported on a mechanical arch, held in turn by a hand, was refused registration upon the ground that it was descriptive.

As heretofore observed, the swimming suits appearing upon appellant's and appellee's marks both cover approximately one-half of the respective figures of the girls. We think it is clear that the only ground upon which either is registrable is that it has such distinctive elements that its registration does not in fact preclude others manufacturing similar goods from illustrating the same upon girls in a diving, swimming, or any other general position in which a girl clad in a swimming suit would ordinarily be seen; the only limitation upon such manufacturer would be that he would have no right to illustrate swimming suits made by him upon the figure of a girl, employing in such representation arbitrary features which had theretofore been adopted by another as a trade-mark or so closely resembling the same as to cause confusion in the mind of the public.

We hold, therefore, that appellant's trade-mark rights are limited to the figure of a girl in substantially the position shown in its registered mark, and not to the figure of a diving girl generally.

We think that the representation of a diving girl wearing a swimming suit is generic in character, and the registration of such a representation as a trade-mark cannot exclude others from using any representation of a diving girl wearing a swimming suit, but only from using the representation of a diving girl in substantially the same position and posture as that shown by its mark. The test of similarity producing confusion is, therefore, not whether the two marks represent diving girls, but whether the appearance or position which gives to appellant's mark its exclusive right has been so nearly simulated by appellee in its mark as to be likely to cause confusion or mistake in the mind of the public or to deceive purchasers.

Applying this test to the two marks in issue, we are clear that the resemblance is not such as to prevent registration of appellee's mark. We think no purchaser would confuse the posture of a girl with arms and limbs extended, as in the act of diving through the air, with the posture of a girl standing on a diving board with her arms held back as if about to spring or dive into water. We may add that the diving board adds further distinctiveness to appellee's mark.

The decision of the Commissioner of Patents is affirmed.

Affirmed.

BLAND, J. (dissenting):

I cannot agree either in the conclusion reached or the reasoning employed in the decision of the majority, for the reason, chiefly, that it permits the registration of appellee's trade-mark, when, to me, it is obvious that confusion, within the meaning of the trade-mark statute, will result. The opinion of the majority seems to rest chiefly upon the rights existing between the parties and takes no consideration of the public's rights with reference to confusion.

If the diving girl trade-mark of appellant is a valid one and entitled to registration, it would seem that appellee's trade-mark should not be registered for use on goods of the same descriptive properties, since the trade-marks so nearly resemble each other as to be likely to cause confusion or mistake in the mind of the public and will deceive purchasers. If the trade-mark of appellant is invalid, it ought not to have been registered, and of course the same applies to appellee's trade-mark which so nearly resembles it.

Furthermore, if the reasoning employed by the majority as to the scope of protection afforded to appellant for his trade-mark is conceded and if its validity is conceded, I would have to differ with the majority in the conclusion that "no purchaser would confuse the posture of a girl with arms and limbs extended, as in the act of diving through the air, with the posture of a girl standing on a diving board with her arms held back as if about to spring or dive into water." The ordinary purchaser of bathing suits, seeing a diving girl, clad in a bathing suit, in the act of diving, would hardly study the exact posture of the diving girl and compare it with the posture of another similar diving girl.

The effect of the majority holding will probably be that trade-marks of many different kinds, representing diving girls, in bathing suits, in slightly different postures, will be registered, resulting in conditions which Congress sought to prevent.

HATFIELD, J., concurs in the dissenting opinion.

LENROOT, J.:

On January 29, 1931, appellant filed a petition for rehearing in this case, which case was decided by this court on January 12, 1931. The petition is based upon the alleged registration by appellant of the trade-marks "Diving Girl" and "Red Diving Girl", which trade-marks were not considered by us in our decision.

It is true that we did not consider said marks. The mark "Diving Girl" was not pleaded in the notice of opposition, although the mark "Red Diving Girl" was pleaded. Neither of said marks seems to have been considered by the Patent Office tribunals, although referred to as having been included in the notice of opposition. This is erroneous as to the mark "Diving Girl" because, as above stated, said mark was not pleaded in said notice. Representations of both of said marks are, however, found in the record.

In appellant's appeal to the Commissioner, no error was assigned with reference to the mark "Diving Girl", but error was assigned as to the mark "Red Diving Girl".

In the appeal to this court, the grounds for appeal are stated as follows:

1. That the First Assistant Commissioner erred in not sustaining the opposition;
2. That the First Assistant Commissioner erred in affirming the decision of the Examiner of Trade-Marks;
3. That the First Assistant Commissioner erred in holding that "the respective representations of the figures in the two marks are quite dissimilar."
4. That the First Assistant Commissioner erred in not finding that the opposer is entitled to the broadest possible interpretation of its trade-mark rights in connection with the representation of a female figure wearing a bathing suit and in the act of diving, or in the position preliminary to making a dive;
5. That the First Assistant Commissioner erred in finding "that confusion in trade would not be likely."

The first two grounds are general and cannot be considered by us. Section 4912 of the Revised Statutes requires a party appealing to this court to file with the Commissioner of the Patent Office his reasons for appeal. Certainly a general assignment that the Commissioner erred in his decision, without further specification, is not a compliance with the provisions of this section.

Therefore, the only reasons for appeal were those numbered 3, 4 and 5.

The third ground of appeal relates to the holding of the Commissioner that "the respective representations of the figures in the two marks are quite dissimilar." The fourth ground of appeal relates to the holding of the Commissioner with respect to appellant's trade-mark rights in connection with "the representation of a female figure wearing a bathing suit and in the act of diving, or in the position preliminary to making a dive." The fifth ground of appeal relates only to confusion in trade.

In appellant's brief, and upon oral argument, no reliance was placed by appellant's counsel upon the mark "Diving Girl" or "Red Diving Girl", but the argument was directed solely to marks representing a female figure wearing a bathing suit and in the act of diving.

Section 4914 of the Revised Statutes provides that the decision of this court shall be confined to the points set forth in the reasons of appeal.

As appellant's motion for rehearing is based upon points not set forth in its reasons of appeal, the motion is denied.

BLAND, J. (dissenting):

I cannot agree to the additional opinion written by Judge Lenroot in this case. In the first place, I do not think the reasons sufficient for our failure to consider the question of confusion between appellee's mark and the mark "Diving Girl" and "Red Diving Girl" and especially should we consider the question with reference to the confusion which would result in view of the registered mark "Red Diving Girl." I believe, under the circumstances of this case, that the holding of the majority that the question is not raised by assignments 1 and 2 is unwarranted. In view of the fact that the mark "Red Diving Girl" was pleaded in the notice of opposition, is set out in the record, and was before the Commissioner, the same being referred to, by number, in the Commissioner's decision, we should have considered it. Since we failed to consider it and since it is probable that a different result would have been reached if we had considered it, a rehearing should be granted.

The fact that the majority feels it necessary to render an additional opinion will be taken as an indication that the court would not have arrived at the same conclusion if it had considered the two trade-marks "Diving Girl" and "Red Diving Girl." It seems to me that there is just as much likelihood of confusion between appellee's mark and the pictorial representation of a red diving girl as there would be between appellee's trade-mark and the trade-mark involving the words "Red Diving Girl." It is well-settled in Sherwin-Williams Co. v. Naamlooze, etc. 146 M. D. 460, 15 T. M. Rep. 270, that the word "Capitol" is to be given the same effect as the picture of the Capitol. To the same effect is Ex parte Woolwine, 97 O. G. 1373, in which the picture of a donkey and the word "Donkey" were involved. Certainly if an applicant is not permitted to register the word "Bear," he would not be entitled to register the picture of a bear. Great Bear Spring Co. v. Bear Lithia Springs Co., 45 App. D. C. 305, 229 O. G. 613, 6 T. M. Rep. 430.

As above indicated, the additional opinion points to the weakness of the original opinion, that is to say, it seems obvious that confusion will result from the two red diving girl trade-marks, whether in pictures or words.

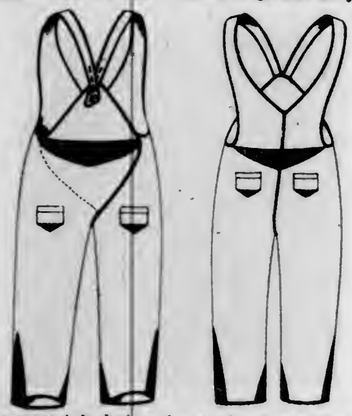
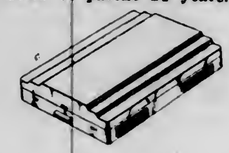
The ornamental design for lace substantially as shown and described.

84,080. LACE. HAGE W. HUCKNALL, Elyria, Ohio, assignor to The American Lace Mfg. Co., Elyria, Ohio, a Corporation of Ohio. Filed Feb. 9, 1931. Serial No. 38,595. Term of patent 3½ years.

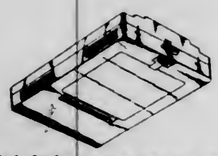


The ornamental design for lace substantially as shown and described.

84,081. LACE. HAGE W. HUCKNALL, Elyria, Ohio, assignor to The American Lace Mfg. Co., Elyria, Ohio, a Corporation of Ohio. Filed Feb. 11, 1931. Serial No. 38,623. Term of patent 3½ years.



The ornamental design for lace substantially as shown and described.



84,082. FRONT-WRAP-CLOSURE GARMENT. JOSEPH MARCUS JENSEN, Los Angeles, Calif. Filed Feb. 24, 1931. Serial No. 38,791. Term of patent 14 years.

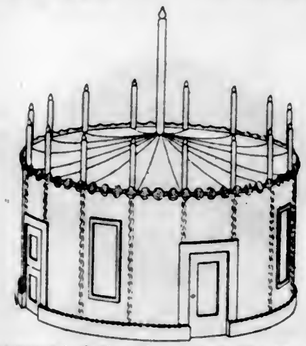
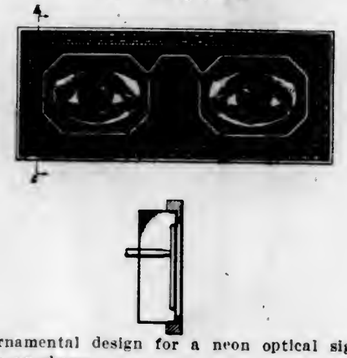
84,083. VANITY CASE. ALICE McL. JONES, New York, N. Y., assignor to Pinaud, Inc., New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New York. Filed Mar. 5, 1931. Serial No. 38,948. Term of patent 14 years.

The ornamental design for a vanity case substantially as shown.

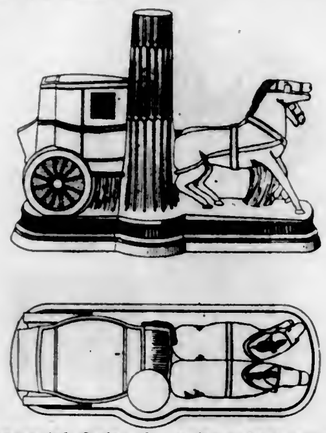


84,084. RADIATOR AIR VENT. HAROLD L. JOYCE, Chicago, Ill., assignor to Jas. P. Marsh & Company, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed Oct. 15, 1930. Serial No. 37,265. Term of patent 14 years.



The ornamental design for a radiator air vent, substantially as shown.

84,085. BUILDING. RICHARD C. KAISER, New Rochelle, N. Y. Filed Feb. 14, 1931. Serial No. 38,658. Term of patent 14 years.



The ornamental design for a building as shown and described.

84,086. NEON OPTICAL SIGN. SAMUEL KAMIN, Lima, Ohio, assignor to Neon Products, Inc., Lima, Ohio, a Corporation of Ohio. Filed Mar. 5, 1931. Serial No. 38,949. Term of patent 3½ years.

The ornamental design for a neon optical sign, substantially as shown.

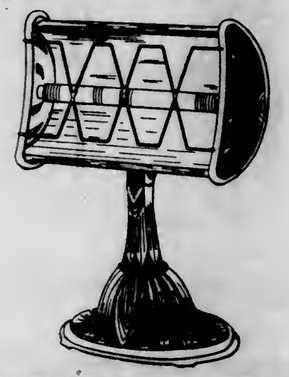
84,087. LAMP BASE OR ARTICLE OF ANALOGOUS NATURE. MICHAEL KIWAD, New York, N. Y., assignor to La Belle Specialty Co., Inc., a Corporation of New York. Filed Mar. 26, 1931. Serial No. 39,255. Term of patent 3½ years.

The ornamental design for a lamp base or article of analogous nature substantially as shown and described.

84,088. BASE FOR CLOCKS, LAMPS, OR ARTICLES OF ANALOGOUS NATURE. MICHAEL KIWAD, New York, N. Y., assignor to La Belle Specialty Co., Inc., a Corporation of New York. Filed Mar. 26, 1931. Serial No. 39,256. Term of patent 3½ years.

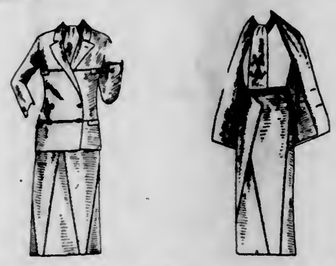
The ornamental design for a base for clocks, lamps, or articles of analogous nature substantially as shown and described.

84,089. COMBINED PONY AND RIDER TOY. WILLIAM KLUG, Chicago, Ill., assignor to Noveltoy Corporation, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed July 12, 1930. Serial No. 36,334. Term of patent 3½ years.



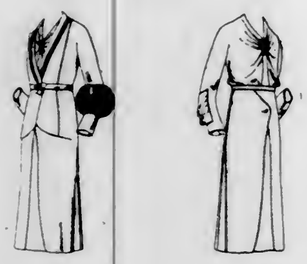
The ornamental design for a combined pony and rider toy, as shown and described.

84,090. BULK MEASURING DEVICE. JAMES A. LAVIN, New York, N. Y. Filed Mar. 2, 1931. Serial No. 38,891. Term of patent 7 years.



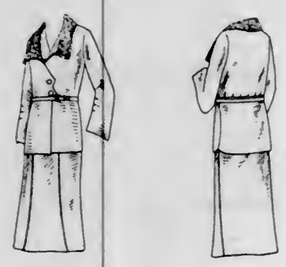
The ornamental design for a bulk measuring device, substantially as shown.

84,091. ELECTRIC HEATER. CHARLES W. LOGAN, Kenmore, N. Y., assignor to Markel Electric Products, Inc., Buffalo, N. Y., a Corporation of New York. Filed Aug. 23, 1930. Serial No. 36,745. Term of patent 3½ years.



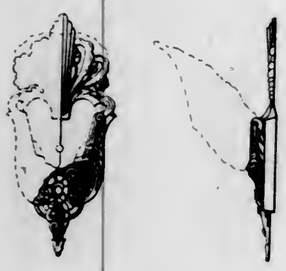
The ornamental design for an electric heater substantially as shown and described.

84,092. ENSEMBLE SUIT. DOROTHY LONG, New York, N. Y., assignor to Franklin Simon & Company, Inc., New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New York. Filed Feb. 20, 1931. Serial No. 38,736. Term of patent 3½ years.



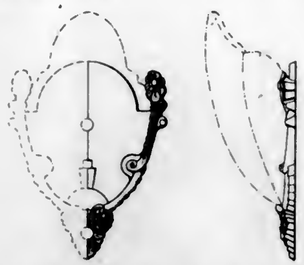
The ornamental design for an ensemble suit substantially as shown.

84,093. ENSEMBLE SUIT. DOROTHY LONG, New York, N. Y., assignor to Franklin Simon & Company, Inc., New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New York. Filed Feb. 20, 1931. Serial No. 38,737. Term of patent 3½ years.



The ornamental design for an ensemble suit substantially as shown.

84,094. ENSEMBLE SUIT. DOROTHY LONG, New York, N. Y., assignor to Franklin Simon & Company, Inc., New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New York. Filed Feb. 20, 1931. Serial No. 38,738. Term of patent 3½ years.



The ornamental design for an ensemble suit substantially as shown.

84,095. ELECTRIC LIGHT FIXTURE. GLENN E. MCFADDEN, Buffalo, N. Y., assignor to Markel Electric Products Inc., Buffalo, N. Y., a Corporation of New York. Filed Feb. 21, 1931. Serial No. 38,775. Term of patent 3½ years.

The ornamental design for an electric light fixture, substantially as shown and described.

The ornamental design for an electric light fixture, substantially as shown and described.

The ornamental design for an electric light fixture, substantially as shown.

84,098. JAR OR SIMILAR RECEPTACLE. LEO NEJELSKI, University City, Mo., assignor of one-half to Frank X. Trimbach, University City, Mo. Filed Aug. 13, 1930. Serial No. 36,662. Term of patent 14 years.

The ornamental design for a jar or similar receptacle substantially as shown and described.

84,099. SPOON OR ANALOGOUS ARTICLE. HAROLD E. NOCK, Newburyport, Mass., assignor to Towle Manufacturing Company, Newburyport, Mass., a Corporation of Massachusetts. Filed Mar. 5, 1931. Serial No. 38,937. Term of patent 14 years.

The ornamental design for a spoon or analogous article, substantially as shown.

84,100. SET OF PLAYING CARDS. STANLEY OBSTBAUM, Brooklyn, N. Y. Filed June 20, 1930. Serial No. 36,114. Term of patent 14 years.

84,101. SHOE ORNAMENT. SAMUEL M. RIKER, Chester, N. J., assignor to The Riker Company, a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed Feb. 20, 1931. Serial No. 38,739. Term of patent 7 years.

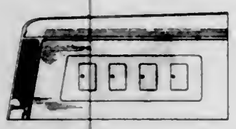
The ornamental design for a shoe ornament, as shown.

84,102. SHOE ORNAMENT. SAMUEL M. RIKER, Chester, N. J. Filed Aug. 26, 1930. Serial No. 36,780. Term of patent 7 years.

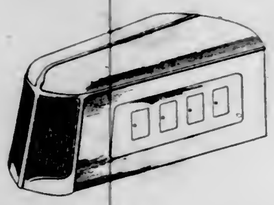
The ornamental design for a shoe ornament, as shown.

84,103. SHOE BUCKLE. SAMUEL M. RIKER, Chester, N. J. Filed Aug. 26, 1930. Serial No. 36,783. Term of patent 7 years.

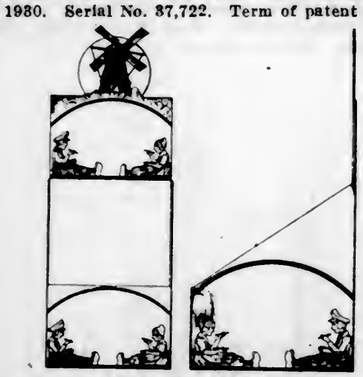
The ornamental design for a shoe buckle, as shown.



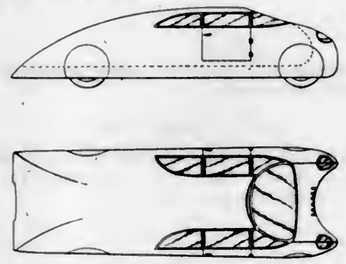
84,104. LAMP SHADE OR SIMILAR ARTICLE. HENRY RITHNER, Wellsburg, W. Va. Filed Mar. 18, 1929. Serial No. 30,516. Term of patent 7 years.



The ornamental design for a lamp shade or similar article, as shown.



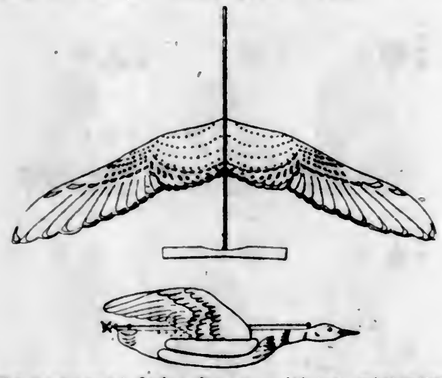
84,105. MOTOR VEHICLE HOOD. EMMETT G. PURDY, Detroit, Mich., assignor to Detroit Body Die Company, a Corporation of Michigan. Filed Mar. 5, 1931. Serial No. 38,957. Term of patent 14 years.



The ornamental design for a motor vehicle hood as shown.

84,106. DISPLAY CARTON OR SIMILAR ARTICLE. EVERETT M. SALISBURY, Providence, R. I. Filed Nov. 19, 1930. Serial No. 37,722. Term of patent 14 years.

The ornamental design for a display carton or similar article substantially as shown and described.



84,107. AUTOMOBILE. RICHARD H. SAMPSON, Westfield, N. J. Filed Feb. 12, 1931. Serial No. 38,630. Term of patent 14 years.

The ornamental design for an automobile, as shown.

84,108. AERIAL TOY. JUNIUS M. SCHUTTE, Chicago, Ill., assignor to The Aero Model Company, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed Feb. 16, 1931. Serial No. 38,674. Term of patent 7 years.

The ornamental design for an aerial toy, substantially as shown.

The ornamental design for embroidered lace edging, as shown.

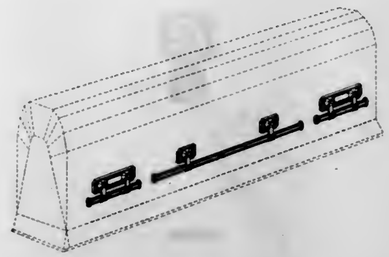
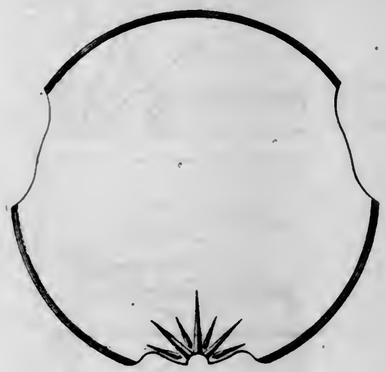
The ornamental design for embroidered lace edging, as shown.

84,111. EMBROIDERED LACE EDGING. HENRY SCHWARBER, Weehawken, N. J. Filed Mar. 6, 1931. Serial No. 38,974. Term of patent 3½ years.



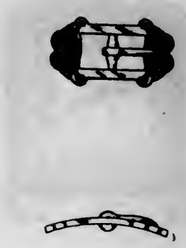
The ornamental design for embroidered lace edging, as shown.

84,112. AUTOMOBILE HEADLIGHT LENS. MAURICE A. SMITH, Jeannette, Pa., assignor to McKee Glass Company, Jeannette, Pa., a Corporation of Pennsylvania. Filed Mar. 5, 1930. Serial No. 34,734. Term of patent 14 years.



The ornamental design for an automobile headlight lens as shown.

84,113. BURIAL VAULT. RALPH E. SMITH, Galion, Ohio, assignor to The Galion Metallic Vault Company, Galion, Ohio, a Corporation of Ohio. Filed Nov. 10, 1930. Serial No. 37,620. Term of patent 7 years.

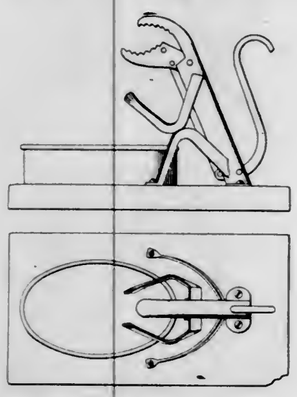


The ornamental design for a burial vault, as shown.

84,114. DIAL FOR CHARTS OR THE LIKE. SAMUEL SMITH, Brooklyn, N. Y., assignor to Disk-O-Knowledge, Inc., New York, N. Y. Filed Mar. 19, 1931. Serial No. 39,143. Term of patent 14 years.

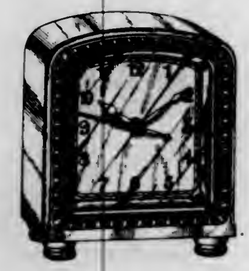
The ornamental design for a dial for charts, or the like substantially as shown.

84,115. SHOE BUCKLE. WALTER EDWARD SMITH, Warwick Downs, R. I., assignor to C. G. King & Co., Inc., Providence, R. I. Filed Mar. 11, 1931. Serial No. 39,036. Term of patent 3½ years.



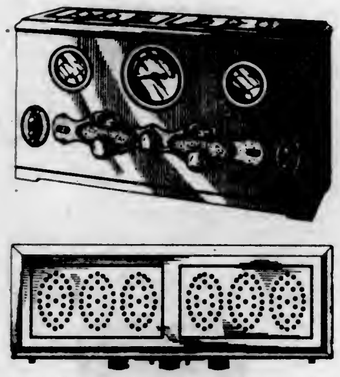
The ornamental design for a shoe buckle as shown.

84,116. SHOE ORNAMENT. WALTER EDWARD SMITH, Warwick Downs, R. I., assignor to C. G. King & Co., Inc., Providence, R. I. Filed Mar. 11, 1931. Serial No. 39,037. Term of patent 3½ years.



The ornamental design for a shoe ornament as shown.

84,117. NUTCRACKER. AUGUST F. B. STARKE, Shelby, Mont. Filed Feb. 17, 1931. Serial No. 38,694. Term of patent 14 years.



The ornamental design for a nut cracker as shown.

84,118. CLOCK CASE OR SIMILAR ARTICLE. GEORGE H. STEPHENS, Northbrook, Ill., assignor to The Hammond Clock Company, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Mar. 14, 1931. Serial No. 39,092. Term of patent 14 years.

The ornamental design for a clock case or similar article, as shown.

84,119. CASING FOR A HAIR-WAVING MACHINE. HOWARD A. TRAFTON, Brooklyn, N. Y., assignor to The Nestle-Lemur Company, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of Ohio. Filed Mar. 14, 1931. Serial No. 39,094. Term of patent 7 years.

The ornamental design for a casing for a hair-waving machine, as shown.

84,120. TOY. LADISLAS TURCHANYI, Sashalom, near Budapest, Hungary, assignor to Hungarian Rubber Goods Factory Limited, Budapest, Hungary, a Corporation of Hungary. Filed Feb. 28, 1931. Serial No. 38,878. Term of patent 7 years.

The ornamental design for a toy substantially as shown and described.

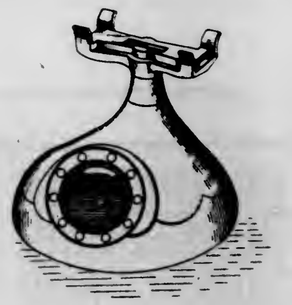
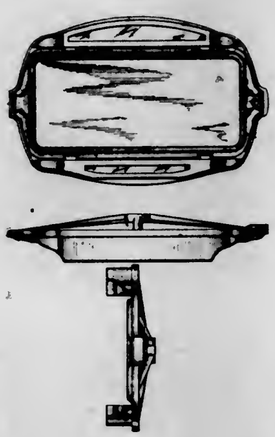
The ornamental design for a toy substantially as shown and described.

84,122. LIGHTING FIXTURE. CLARENCE G. WING, Cleveland, Ohio, assignor to John C. Virden Company, Cleveland, Ohio, a Corporation of Ohio. Filed Feb. 19, 1931. Serial No. 38,729. Term of patent 3½ years.



The ornamental design for a lighting fixture, as shown.

84,123. LIGHTING FIXTURE. CLARENCE G. WING, Cleveland, Ohio, assignor to John C. Virden Company, Cleveland, Ohio, a Corporation of Ohio. Filed Feb. 19, 1931. Serial No. 38,730. Term of patent 3½ years.



The ornamental design for a lighting fixture, as shown.

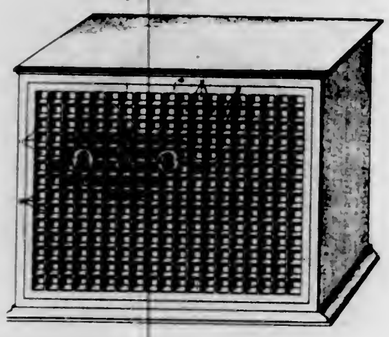
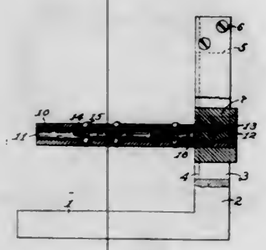
The ornamental design for an ash receptacle for smokers' use, as shown.

84,125. LICENSE PLATE HOLDER. JACOB ORESTER and WILLIAM JOHN GEE, Syracuse, N. Y. Filed Feb. 13, 1931. Serial No. 38,651. Term of patent 7 years.



The ornamental design for a license plate holder, as shown.

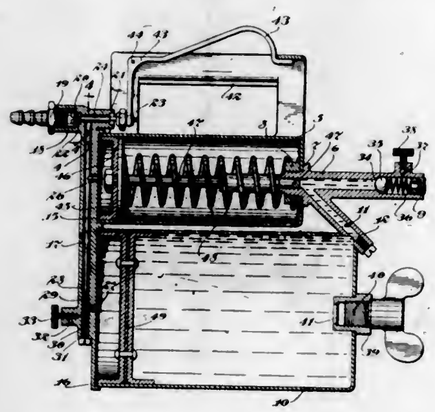
PATENTS



GRANTED MAY 5, 1931

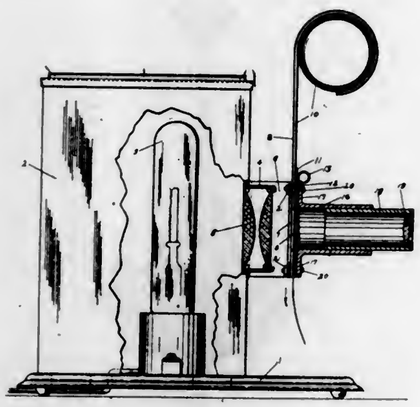
1,803,310. RADIOPANEL. JACOB T. BASSECHES, New York, N. Y. Filed Feb. 19, 1925. Serial No. 10,159. 2 Claims. (Cl. 175—298.)

2. An instrument panel having predetermined regularly arranged apertures and forming the major portion of the panel and formed oversized as to form universal reception and alignment of the spaced attaching members of radio instruments.



1,803,311. PISTON GAUGE. JOHN R. BISHOP, Waterloo, Iowa. Filed May 14, 1928. Serial No. 277,450. 3 Claims. (Cl. 33—180.)

1. In a gauge, a base member, a longitudinally slotted standard fixed perpendicularly upon said base member, a tubular member having a rectangular head mounted slidably in the slot of said standard, said tubular member having oppposite laterally opening apertures, and clutch-devices mounted in the apertures in said member for movements to project without said tubular member.



1,803,312. HIGH-PRESSURE GREASE GUN. VITUS A. BOKER, Minneapolis, Minn., assignor to Min-A-Max Co., Minneapolis, Minn., a Corporation of Minnesota. Filed June 18, 1928. Serial No. 286,300. 4 Claims. (Cl. 221—47.3.)

3. In a device of the character described, a barrel having a chamber for fluids, a power device comprising a piston and a plunger, a spring to retract the piston and plunger, means co-operating with the plunger to receive fluids from said chamber when the plunger is retracted and discharge them on a power stroke of the piston and plunger, and means for simultaneously admitting air under pressure behind the piston and into said chamber.

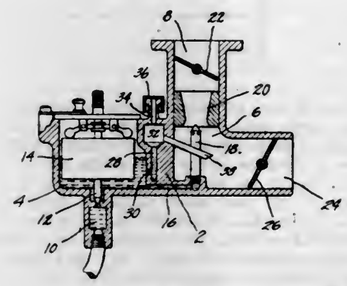
1,803,313. PICTURE PROJECTOR. CARL BOARMANN, Binghamton, N. Y., assignor to Agfa Ansco Corporation, Binghamton, N. Y. Filed Mar. 26, 1928. Serial No. 264,944. 1 Claim. (Cl. 88—17.)

A film guide for projectors comprising a strip of material provided with means for holding a coil of film and with an opening past which said film is adapted to be moved, and guiding means for said film comprising a frame having a rolled upper edge and resilient fingers adapted to engage the film adjacent its edges, and spacer members between said strip of material and said guiding means, said members providing guiding means for the extreme edges of said film strip.

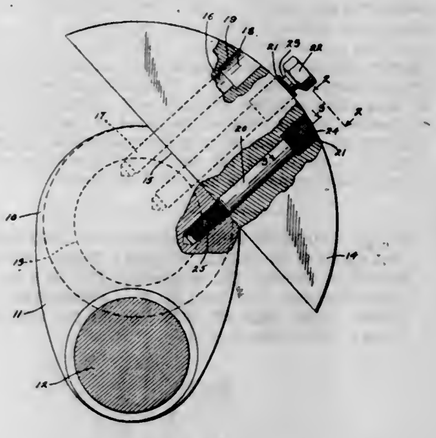


CARNEGIE LIBRARY OF ATLANTA

1,803,314. POWER ACTUATOR. CALEB S. BRAGG, Palm Beach, Fla., and VICTOR W. KLIESRATH, Port Washington, N. Y., assignors to Bragg-Kliesrath Corporation, Long Island City, N. Y., a Corporation of New York. Filed June 17, 1927, Serial No. 199,477. Renewed Oct. 14, 1929. 25 Claims. (Cl. 121—41.)

1. Valve mechanism for controlling the operation of power actuators, comprising among its members a normally closed valve controlling passages for effecting the operation of the actuator when in open position, said valve having oppositely disposed faces of substantially the same area, one of which is exposed at all times to the higher fluid pressure in a direction to open the valve, means for exposing the other face of said valve to the lower fluid pressure when the valve is closed, an operator operated part connected with said valve for opening it, yielding resistance means normally closing said valve against the pressure of the higher fluid pressure, and being of sufficient power to offer material resistance to the movement of the valve when the fluid pressures on the opposite faces of the valve are equalized, and means for shutting off said lower fluid pressure from said valve when the valve is opened, whereby when said valve is opened, the pressure of said resistance means will be transferred to the said operator operated part in proportion to the decrease of the differential of pressures on opposite faces of the valve.

1,803,315. CARBURETOR. CARL BREER, Detroit, Mich., assignor to Chrysler Corporation, Highland Park, Mich., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed May 26, 1926. Serial No. 111,892. 4 Claims. (Cl. 261—41.)

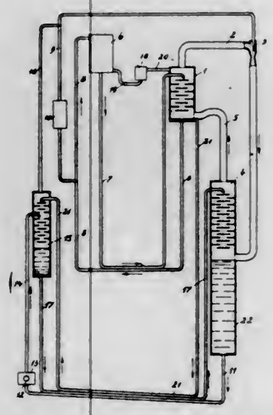


1. In a carburetor comprising a float chamber, a mixing chamber provided with an inlet for the admission of air, means for supplying fuel from said float chamber to said mixing chamber, a well open to atmospheric pressure for receiving a supply of fuel from said float chamber, an enlarged portion in said well and above the fuel level, a passage having an opening larger than the opening to atmospheric pressure and connecting said enlarged portion and said mixing chamber, and a choke, the outlet of said passage being in the path of the air admitted through said inlet when said choke is open for opposing the flow of fuel through said passage.

1,803,316. HYPODERMIC SYRINGE. HENRY K. BROWN, Chicago, Ill., assignor to Cook Laboratories, Inc., Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Dec. 16, 1927. Serial No. 240,386. 3 Claims. (Cl. 128—218.)

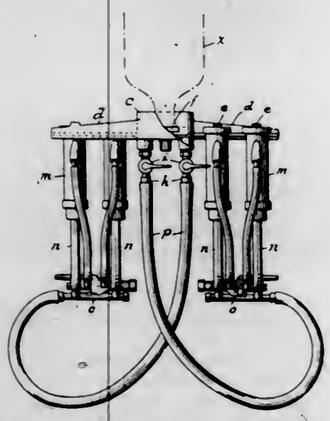
2. A syringe cartridge comprising a straight glass tube beaded near its fore end, having a sealing stopper of resilient material fitted in the said beaded fore end and adapted to be pierced by a needle, and having a piston plug in its opposite end adapted to be pushed into or through the tube to eject the liquid contents through the needle, said pierceable stopper shaped to fit the bead of the tube, being otherwise cylindrical and of substantially uniform diameter and having cylindrical portions fitted in the tube both behind and in front of the bead of the tube, and the cylindrical portion of said stopper in front of the bead projecting substantially beyond the fore end of the tube to provide a cushioning means.

1,803,317. INTERNAL-COMBUSTION ENGINE. ROBERT N. BROWN, Detroit, Mich., assignor to Packard Motor Car Company, Detroit, Mich., a Corporation of Michigan. Filed Mar. 21, 1925. Serial No. 17,266. 6 Claims. (Cl. 74—38.)



1. The method of attaching one metal piece to another metal piece, comprising passing a bolt through one piece and threading it into the other piece until the head of the bolt rests in a depression formed by the sides of the first piece, and then pressing the sides of the first piece together with the bolt head between the pressed portion until the material of the first piece enters longitudinal serrations in the bolt head and thereby prevents turning of the bolt.

1,803,318. ABSORPTION MACHINE. EDMUND ALTENKIRCH, Neuenhagen, near Berlin, Germany, assignor to Siemens-Schuckertwerke Aktiengesellschaft, Berlin-Siemensstadt, Germany, a Corporation of Germany. Filed Apr. 6, 1929, Serial No. 353,073, and in Germany Apr. 10, 1928. 7 Claims. (Cl. 62—119.5.)



1. An absorption machine, having two bodies of absorption solution each consisting of a binary mixture of a liquid solvent and a gaseous working medium, a generator for expelling working medium from the absorption solution, a reabsorber for the absorption of working medium into the absorption solution, an evaporator for evaporating the working medium out of the absorption solution, an absorber for absorbing working medium into the absorption solution, a pipe for leading gaseous working medium from said generator to said reabsorber, a pipe for leading gaseous working medium from said evaporator to said absorber, a pipe for leading weak absorption solution from said generator to said absorber, a pipe for returning strong absorption solution from said absorber into said generator, a pipe for leading strong absorption solution from said reabsorber into said evaporator, a pipe for returning weak absorption solution from said evaporator into said reabsorber, means for effecting a circulation of one body of absorption solution through said generator and said absorber, means for effecting a circulation of the other body of absorption solution through said evaporator and said reabsorber, the quantity of the liquid of the body circulating through said generator and said absorber being larger than the quantity of the liquid of the body circulating through said evaporator and said reabsorber.

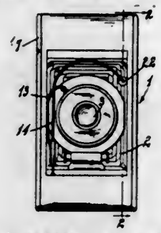
1,803,319. DEVICE FOR SUSPENDING AND SUPPLYING CLEANING FLUID TO TEAT CUPS. HERMAN C. BECKMAN, Chicago, Ill., assignor to The De Laval Separator Company, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed Mar. 27, 1928. Serial No. 265,127. 10 Claims. (Cl. 167—3.)

5. A device for cleaning teat cups and holding the milk tubes leading therefrom in position to allow a cleaning fluid to be supplied thereto, which comprises means to which said milk tubes are connectible and through which a cleaning fluid may be supplied, and a rack comprising a pair of ledges over which the top flanges of teat cups are adapted to slide and retainers adapted to overlie said flanges when the teat cups are in position on the ledges.

1,803,320. APPARATUS FOR LAUNCHING PLANES. NEALES P. CHRISTIANSON, Los Angeles, Calif. Filed Oct. 15, 1927. Serial No. 226,337. 3 Claims. (Cl. 244—2.)

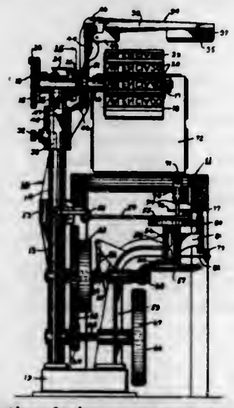
1. In combination, a flying field, a self propelled plane launching carriage adapted to travel on said field, means to support a plane in taking off position on said carriage, and means to control the propulsion and movement of said carriage, by an operator carried in a control station below said plane and in rear thereof.



1,803,321. METAL CAR ROOF. FRANK DITCHFIELD, Cleveland, Ohio, assignor to The Youngstown Steel Door Company, Cleveland, Ohio, a Corporation of Ohio. Filed Jan. 9, 1929. Serial No. 331,373. 15 Claims. (Cl. 108—5.4.)

6. As an article of manufacture, a securing pin for metal car roofs, said pin having a drip-forming annular groove intermediate the ends of its shank whereby to prevent flow of moisture to the ends of the pin.

13. In a metal car roof, the combination with an end plate; of an end roof sheet having a flange extending down over and in spaced relation to the end plate; means interposed between the end plate and said sheet flange and forming therewith a weather seal; and means for keying said overhanging flange of the roof sheet to the end plate to prevent lifting of the sheet.



1,803,322. AUTOMATIC FILM-WINDING DEVICE. TOBY DURMAN, Signal Hill, Calif. Filed Dec. 5, 1927. Serial No. 237,744. 6 Claims. (Cl. 95—31.)

1. In combination with a camera including a shutter mechanism, a used film spool, and an unused film spool having notches therein, a spring means engaging said used film spool, trigger means, said trigger means including a rod mounted for rotary movement, a catch on the rod engaging the notches in the unused spool, a film extending between both of said spools, said film having perforations therein, means co-operating with said perforations and controlling said trigger means whereby the trigger is actuated by the perforations; a manual shutter control comprising a sleeve, a rod slidable in the sleeve, a flexible cable extending from the rod to the shutter mechanism, a second cable, slidably mounted on the rod, a shoulder on said rod, said second cable being adapted to be engaged by the shoulder on the rod, an actuating lever to which the said last named cable extends, said lever being adapted to be swung when the rod is depressed and means connecting said lever and trigger means, whereby the trigger means is released when the lever is swung.

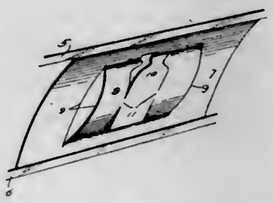
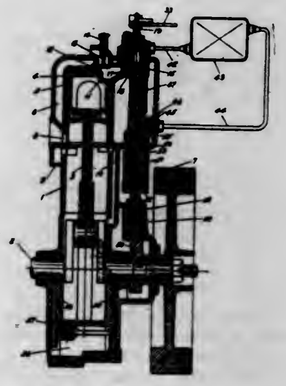
1,803,323. AUTOMATIC STAMPING DEVICE. ERNEST E. EVANS, Riverside, Calif. Filed May 23, 1927. Serial No. 193,702. 4 Claims. (Cl. 101—35.)



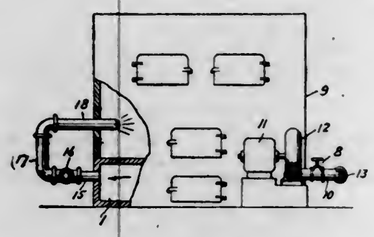
1. In a printing device, a support, a printing member mounted for movement on said support, means for moving said printing member to operative position, an inking member associated with said printing member and means for moving said inking member against and from said printing member while said printing member is moving from normal position to operative position and means operated by an object being printed to cause operation of said last mentioned means.

1,803,324. BOILER GOVERNOR. JAMES P. FISHER, Bartlesville, Okla., assignor to Doherty Research Company, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Aug. 15, 1923. Serial No. 657,505. 8 Claims. (Cl. 236—26.)



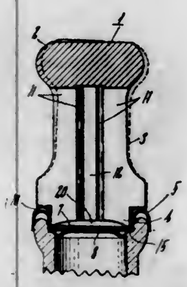
1. In an apparatus for controlling the steam pressure of a boiler, the combination of means for controlling the fire under the boiler, means for governing said controlling means comprising an air chamber so connected to said controlling means that the air pressure in said chamber governs said controlling means, a diaphragm exposed on one side to the air pressure in said chamber and on the other to the steam pressure of the boiler, and an air valve mounted with said diaphragm, said valve being so arranged that a change in the steam pressure will disproportionately affect the air pressure in said chamber.

1,803,325. CAR CARD. WILLIAM FREEDMAN, Brooklyn, and JOSEPH GUINEY, New York, N. Y. Filed May 20, 1929. Serial No. 364,365. 3 Claims. (Cl. 40—125.)



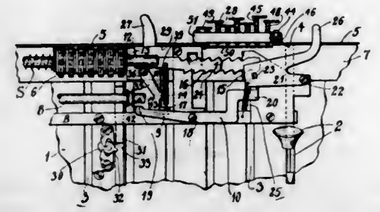
1. A car card display comprising, a frame having opposed card engaging members, a card having a main body adapted when bowed to be engaged at its opposite straight edges by said members and to be held thereby in bowed condition, a portion of said card having a free edge detached from said main body, said portion being adapted to be offset from the bowed part of said card.

1,803,326. MEANS FOR FEEDING FUEL TO HIGH-COMPRESSION INTERNAL-COMBUSTION ENGINES. WALDO G. GERNANDT, South Bend, Ind., assignor to Gernandt Motor Corporation, Chicago, Ill. Filed Apr. 20, 1928, Serial No. 683,544. Renewed Aug. 25, 1928. 12 Claims. (Cl. 123—33.)



1. Means for feeding fuel to an engine cylinder having a working piston therein comprising an injector plug, said plug provided with a fuel passage having a valve controlling one end of said passage, a valve for controlling the other end of said passage comprising a member having a tapered end fitting in a tapered seat, said tapered end having a V-slot across that part of its face adjacent the passage end, a fuel chamber intermediate the ends of said member and a groove leading from said chamber to the V slot.

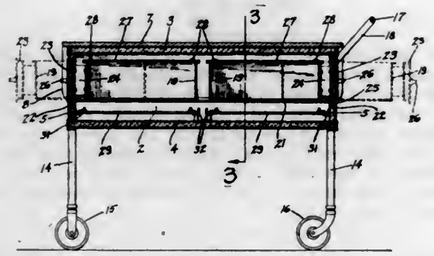
1,803,327. GRATE STRUCTURE. JOHN G. GIBSON, Ventnor, N. J. Filed May 17, 1929. Serial No. 363,971. 1 Claim. (Cl. 110—75.)



In combination, a furnace, a head pipe for cool air arranged at one side of said furnace, a plurality of spaced hollow grate bars extended through said furnace at right angles to said head pipe, a plurality of units having open bottoms and perforated tops fitted between said grate bars, a second head pipe arranged upon the side of said furnace opposite said first mentioned head pipe and in substantially the same plane with said first mentioned head pipe, the opposite ends of said grate bars being directly connected to said head pipes for uninterrupted circulation of air, a blower connected to said first mention head pipe for passing cool air to said grate bars, a profusely perforated nozzle extended through a side wall of said furnace in a plane above and parallel with said grate bars, and a pipe connection from said second mentioned head pipe to said nozzle for feeding heated air under pressure to said nozzle in a plane above and substantially parallel to the perforated tops of said units.

1,803,328. MILK-BOTTLE CAPPER. CARL W. GOODWIN, Wayland, Mass., assignor, by mesne assignments, to American Seal-Kap Corporation, Long Island City, N. Y., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Apr. 3, 1929. Serial No. 352,220. 1 Claim. (Cl. 226—80.)

A device of the class described comprising a one piece plunger having a central portion at one end of reduced diameter to be entered within the annular pouring lip housing of a milk bottle cap and engage on the marginal portion of the bore covering portion of said cap, said portion of reduced diameter extending to an annular substantially flat shoulder spaced above the end of said housing, said plunger having a head at its upper end and being divided from its lower end substantially to said head by a plurality of substantially diametrical slots and having a central perforation extending from the lower end substantially to said head to provide a plurality of resilient cap-engaging fingers, the ends of said fingers being free to yield from each other when pressed against said cap, the lower ends of said fingers being upwardly domed.

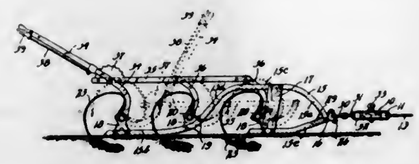


1,803,329. COMPUTING MACHINE. JULIUS C. HOCHMAN and GUSTAVE O. DEGENER, New York, N. Y.; said Degener assignor of one-half of his right to said Hochman and one-half of his right to Maurice Samburg, New York, N. Y. Filed Nov. 18, 1921. Serial No. 516,015. 28 Claims. (Cl. 235—59.)

1. In a computing machine, in combination, a bank of tabulating keys for assisting in placing a carriage in tabulated position, said keys being in proximity to each other closer than the width of the operator's finger, each key head extending beyond the head of that key adjacent thereto, the actuation of which concurrently with the selected key would effect incorrect tabulation and a totalizer shifting finger piece arranged to be actuated by the thumb as a tabulator key is actuated by the index finger.

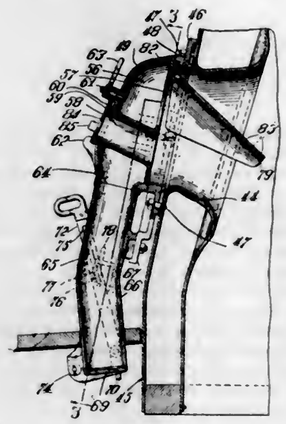
24. In a combined typewriting and computing machine in combination, a bank of computing keys, a totalizer, means to prevent a repeated operative stroke from between the ends of the return stroke of the computing keys in any tabulated position of the totalizer, said means also being operable to prevent the effective initiation of a computing key stroke after a single computing actuation subsequent to the return of the totalizer to units position, regardless of the position of the typewriter platen.

1,803,330. FOOD-PRESERVING TABLE. JOHN H. JOHNSON, Chula Vista, Calif. Filed Mar. 9, 1928. Serial No. 260,529. 2 Claims. (Cl. 45—17.)



1. A portable service table including an elongated body portion having a chamber therein defined by insulated walls and the end walls of said chamber each having a door opening provided with a door, spaced rails in said chamber extending lengthwise thereof, a pair of drawers slidably supported on said rails and movable through said door openings, each drawer being secured to one of said doors and spaced therefrom to provide air-circulation passages between the drawers and their respective doors, plates fixed in said chamber and arranged to provide closures for said drawers when the drawers are positioned in said chamber, and said plates and the walls of said drawers being spaced from the walls of said chamber to provide air-circulation passages around the sides, ends, tops, and bottoms of said drawers, and means for heating said chamber.

1,803,331. PROCESS OF MAKING 4.4'-TETRAETHYLDIAMINODIPHENYLMETHANE. HUGO KLADIVKO, Jr., Buffalo, N. Y., assignor to National Aniline & Chemical Company, Inc., New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New York. Filed Apr. 3, 1923. Serial No. 629,709. 11 Claims. (Cl. 260—64.)

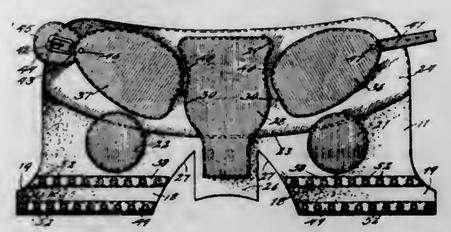


1. In the production of 4.4'-tetraethyldiaminodiphenylmethane, a process which comprises treating about two molecular proportions of diethylaniline with about one molecular proportion of formaldehyde in the presence of an aromatic sulfonic acid containing an unsubstituted amino group attached to the aromatic nucleus, said acid acting as a carrier or adjuvant.

1,803,332. CULTIVATOR WITH SLED FRAME. JOHN R. KOVAR and LOUIS W. KOVAR, Owatonna, Minn. Filed Dec. 31, 1928. Serial No. 329,636. 6 Claims. (Cl. 55—104.)

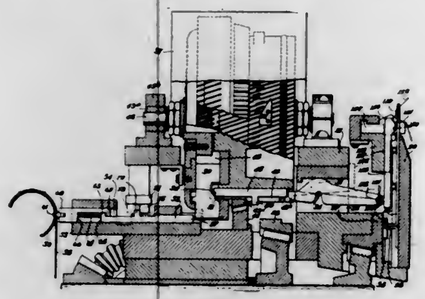
1. A cultivator having in combination, a drag bar, having engagement with the ground to support said cultivator, a rock shaft journaled in said bar and extending laterally therefrom, a tooth carried on said rock shaft and disposed in a plane in close proximity to the vertical plane of said drag bar, said drag bar adjacent said tooth being positioned well above the ground and adjacent the top of said tooth in all operative positions of said tooth whereby no space is formed horizontally between said bar and tooth.

1,803,333. FIRE DOOR. HOWARD H. LANNING, Topeka, Kans. Filed July 8, 1929. Serial No. 375,810. 4 Claims. (Cl. 110—175.)



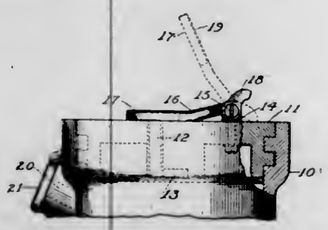
1. A firebox having a fire door opening, a ring secured about said opening and provided with recesses in its upper outer face, a chambered fire door mounted on said ring, the chamber of the door having openings at the bottom and at the rear of the door, the door having a sand introducing channel disposed transversely therethrough and communicating with the fire door opening, a closure for said channel, an air deflecting member disposed about the upper side of the opening in the rear wall of the door and extending into the fire door opening, said deflecting member being flanged at its outer end and said flanges seating in the ring recesses and held in place by the rear wall of the fire door, a hollow open ended member secured to the ring with one end communicating with the opening in the bottom of the door while the other end is disposed beneath the firebox deck and constitutes the air inlet, adjustable means for controlling said air inlet, and means whereby said adjustable means may be controlled and locked in adjusted positions.

1,803,334. COMBINATION ELECTRIC LIGHT AND PERFUME DISPENSER. GOTTHILF LEHMANN, Bronx, N. Y. Filed June 18, 1929. Serial No. 370,690. 3 Claims. (Cl. 219—45.)



1. A vaporizer for use in rooms comprising a shell for the substance to be vaporized, said shell having an opening and comprising an outer glass mantle having substantially the form of a pine-apple, adapted to be suitably ornamented, a solid substance diffusing a perfume, an electrically operated heating element in said shell to vaporize the substance in said shell, a means for closing the lower end of said shell, and a socket in which the upper end of said shell is seated adapted to be attached to the light circuit of the room.

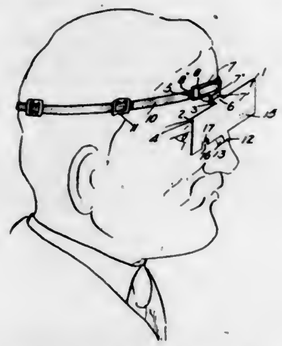
1,803,335. PROTECTIVE APPARATUS FOR ATHLETES. DAVID LEVINSON, Chicago, Ill., assignor to Wilson-Western Sporting Goods Company, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Delaware. Original application filed Feb. 14, 1927, Serial No. 167,976. Divided and this application filed June 22, 1928. Serial No. 287,497. 5 Claims. (Cl. 2—2.)



1. A protective harness for football players comprising a girdle formed of an integral piece of thick felt, and adapted to extend about the trunk of a player from points below the hips to points above the lower ribs, a strap for drawing the upper part of said girdle in to conform with the waist of the wearer, a plurality of pieces of thick and flexible leather stitched on said felt to protect the vital parts of the player, and adjustable means for securing the lower part of said girdle together closely about the hips, the intermediate parts of said girdle between the top and bottom being unsecured.

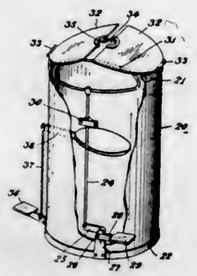
1,803,336. KNITTING MACHINE. VINCENT LOMBARDI, Brooklyn, N. Y. Filed Oct. 30, 1929. Serial No. 403,413. 9 Claims. (Cl. 66—102.)

1. In a circular knitting machine, in combination, a stationary needle carrier, a supporting member rotatably mounted with respect thereto, a row of spring beard needles supported by said needle carrier, means supported by said rotatable member to cause said needles to be advanced and retracted, a plurality of pressers supported by a stationary part of said machine and arranged for movement to a position for pressing upon the beards of said needles to close the same, and pattern-control mechanism for causing such movements of said pressers, said mechanism including a drum mounted on said rotatable cylindrical member and arranged for independent rotation in response to the rotation of said rotatable member, a plurality of independently adjustable elements carried by said drum, means for controlling the adjustment of said adjustable elements, pattern-determining means arranged to present a succession of series of varied configurations to said adjustment controlling means, and means to cause the operation of said adjustment controlling mechanism in response to presentation of each series of said configurations.



1,803,337. HANDLE FOR SAFE DOORS. FRANK A. LUNDQUIST, Galva, Ill. Filed Aug. 27, 1928. Serial No. 302,200. 2 Claims. (Cl. 109—1.)

1. The combination with a safe door, of a handle in the form of a ball for lifting said door, pivots for the handle, said pivots being located at one side of the center of gravity of the door, and stopping means for limiting the movement of the handle on its pivots, said stopping means serving to retain the central part of the handle nearer to the center of gravity of the door than the pivots by which the handle is connected to the door.



1,803,338. MOTORIST'S EYESHIELD. FREDERICK WILLIAM MAGEE, London, Ontario, Canada, assignor of one-half to Thomas William Baker, London, Ontario, Canada. Filed Sept. 14, 1929. Serial No. 392,576. 2 Claims. (Cl. 2—12.)

1. In a motorist's eyeshield, the combination with a shield body, of a resilient flexible transverse member adapted to bear against the forehead of the wearer, an adjustable head band secured to such transverse member, and a hinged connection between the transverse member and the shield body, such hinged connection comprising an offset loop member extending from the upper edge of the shield body, a spring tongue extending from the upper edge of the shield body over the loop, a tongue formed integral with the transverse member and forming a split sleeve in which the transverse portion of the loop turnably fits, the split portion of the sleeve forming an extension against which the longitudinal edge of the shield body tongue resiliently bears.

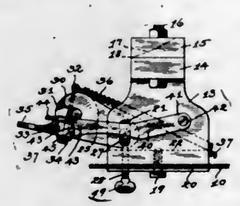
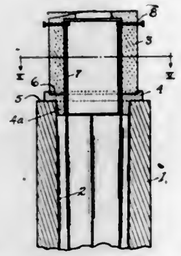
1,803,339. MOP-CLEANING RECEPTACLE. CORA H. MCCONNELL, New York, N. Y. Filed Nov. 16, 1928. Serial No. 319,869. 1 Claim. (Cl. 15—89.)



A mop cleaning device consisting of a substantially cylindrical container, a lid on top of the container, the said lid comprising two hinged semi-circular members each provided with a semi-circular center recess cooperating to receive a cylindrical mop handle, the latter being tightly held by means of rubber jaws fixed upon the edges of the aforesaid center recesses, a foraminated member disposed in a horizontal position substantially in the middle of the receptacle for striking the shreds of a mop carried by the handle; the said foraminated member being carried by a lever-arm pivoted to and projecting outside the container and pivotally engaging a rod outside the container, said rod being pivotally connected to a lever at the bottom of and outside the said receptacle, substantially as and for the purpose set forth.

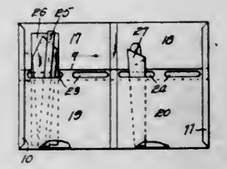
1,803,340. PROCESS OF ANNEALING AND HEAT TREATING CAST IRON. PAUL S. MENOUGH, Pittsburgh, Pa. Filed Nov. 10, 1925, Serial No. 68,172. Renewed Nov. 18, 1929. 7 Claims. (Cl. 148—8.)



1. A process for treating metal which consists in heating white cast iron to a temperature in excess of the critical temeprature range, holding it at approximately that temperature for a sufficient length of time to produce a structure containing between about .25% and about 1% of combined carbon, removing it from the furnace while at a temperature in excess of the critical range, quenching or rapidly cooling it in a medium which will have such a cooling effect on the metal that the austenite of the solid solution shall be changed and set as any one of the structures called troostito-sorbite sorbite, sorbitic-pearlite, pearlite or any combination of these structures, while retaining the content of combined carbon substantially unchanged.

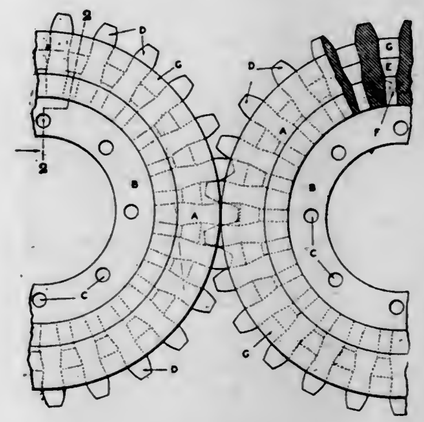
1,803,341. CUTTER HEAD FOR MEAT-SKINNING MACHINES. CHARLES E. MERRICK, Baltimore, Md. Filed Jan. 30, 1929. Serial No. 336,034. 3 Claims. (Cl. 146—130.)

1. In a cutter head for meat skinning machines the combination with two spaced vertical supports, of a roller-frame pivotally sustained between said supports to swing up and down,—said frame having a projection at one end which extends crosswise past the vertical support at that end, a roller carried by the frame, a cutter-blade sustained by and extending between the two supports, spring means for holding the frame up and a latch-lever having one end pivotally attached to the side of one vertical support and when the roller-frame is up resting upon the projection from the frame,—said latch-lever swinging down as the frame is moved down and making locking engagement with the frame projection to hold the frame down.



1,803,342. HOT TOP FOR INGOT MOLDS. EUGENE L. MESSLER, Pittsburgh, and JAMES THOMAS, Sharpsville, Pa. Filed Oct. 10, 1929. Serial No. 398,594. 2 Claims. (Cl. 22—147.)

1. A hot-top for ingot molds comprising an outer portion of refractory material, said outer portion being formed of an upper and lower member, the lower member having a depending portion outwardly contoured to fit the inner surface of the ingot mold, and a thin metal lining member arranged within the two refractory members aforesaid.



1,803,343. PORTFOLIO FOR NECKTIES AND SOFT COLLARS. CARL C. MULDNER, Jr., Maplewood, Mo. Filed Aug. 5, 1929. Serial No. 383,665. 2 Claims. (Cl. 206—7.)

1. In a portfolio of the class described formed from a single sheet of flexible material and embodying a pair of flexible cover sections each comprising a one piece outer wall and a two piece inner wall embossed at their inner edges and adhesively secured together to provide a relatively stiff back section, the ends of the two piece inner walls being overlapped and adhesively secured together to slightly stiffen the inner walls transversely at this point, the overlapped ends of the inner cover walls being provided with aligned transverse openings leading to the space between the outer and inner walls of the cover sections and the side edges of the outer walls being folded over and adhesively secured to the side edge portions of the two piece inner walls of the cover sections.

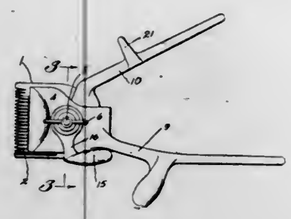
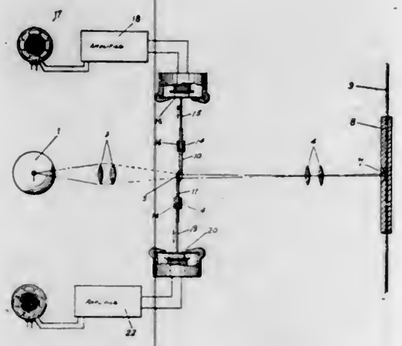
1,803,344. MOLDING MACHINE. ELWIN I. NOXON, deceased, St. Louis, Mo., by Dorothy V. Noxon, Webster Groves, Mo., George A. Noxon, St. Louis, Mo., and Mississippi Valley Trust Company, St. Louis, Mo., executors, assignors to Ralston Purina Company, St. Louis, Mo., a Corporation of Missouri. Filed Oct. 5, 1928. Serial No. 310,602. 2 Claims. (Cl. 107—8.)



1. In a device of the class described, the combination of a pair of rotary members provided with intermeshing teeth, each of said members having a series of radial molds communicating with the spaces between its teeth, said members each being provided with closure means at each end rotating therewith and terminating at the pitch line of the teeth to form compression chambers between said teeth and to slidingly cooperate with the sides of the teeth of the other member.

1,803,345. HAND CLIPPER. JOHN OSTER, Racine, Wis., assignor to John Oster Mfg. Company, Racine, Wis., a Corporation of Wisconsin. Filed Feb. 15, 1930. Serial No. 428,557. 3 Claims. (Cl. 30—1.)



1. In combination with a hand operated hair clipper having a fixed and a movable blade, a fixed handle rigidly connected to the fixed blade, a movable handle connected to the movable blade for operating the same, and housing and tensioning means for the movable blade, a combined thumb rest and guide grip including a body portion of concavo-convex form positioned adjacent and engaging the lower end of the fixed handle and having an attaching portion engaged by the tensioning means whereby the combined thumb rest and guide grip is secured in position.

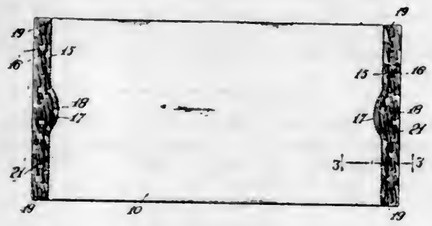
1,803,346. MEANS AND METHOD FOR RECORDING PHOTOGRAPHIC SOUND RECORDS. FREEMAN H. OWENS, New York, N. Y. Filed Sept. 17, 1928. Serial No. 306,494. 5 Claims. (Cl. 179—100.3.)

3. Means for recording photographic sound records comprising a light source of constant intensity, a slit variable as to size thru which the light from said source is adapted to pass, said slit including a pair of overlapping plates movable toward and away from each other to vary the size of said slit, a pair of individual electromagnetically controlled diaphragms connected to said plates respectively, whereby the size of said slit is varied in accordance with the sound to be recorded, and means for photographing the modulated light rays from said variable slit on a sensitized film.



1,803,347. COMBINED PICTURE MACHINE AND ELEVATING SUPPORT THEREFOR. FREEMAN H. OWENS, New York, N. Y. Filed Dec. 3, 1928. Serial No. 323,259. 16 Claims. (Cl. 95—12.)

1. In combination, a camera including camera exposure mechanism, a standard detachably connectible to the camera and effective when attached to the camera for elevating the same to a relatively high point of vantage, camera operating means mounted on said standard, and means connecting the camera exposure mechanism with the camera operating means of said standard.

1,803,348. ENVELOPE. CHARLES PASURKA, Chicago, Ill. Filed May 13, 1929. Serial No. 362,734. 4 Claims. (Cl. 229—85.)

1. An envelope adapted to be opened by tearing and having a perforated line extending across the front adjacent one edge of the envelope, a perforated line extending across the back thereof adjacent said edge to provide lines along which said end is severed when opening the envelope, the said perforated lines being arranged out of alignment to resist folding of the envelope along said lines.

1,803,349. AUTOMATIC FIREARM. CHRISTIAN PFEIFFER, Hartford, Conn., assignor to Colt's Patent Fire Arms Manufacturing Co., Hartford, Conn., a Corporation of Connecticut. Filed Nov. 15, 1929, Serial No. 407,522. Renewed Dec. 31, 1930. 22 Claims. (Cl. 89—8.)

1. In an automatic firearm, the combination of a breech casing having two similar means at opposite sides thereof each adapted for the attachment of a "trigger motor", a breech bolt within the casing and reciprocable upon recoil, reversible firing mechanism adapted when the breech bolt is in its forward firing position to be operated by a "trigger motor" attached at either side of the casing, a bracket attached to the casing by the attachment means thereof opposite to that used by the "trigger motor", and means carried at least in part by the bracket for manually operating the breech bolt.

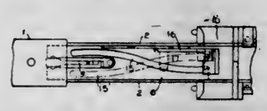
22. In an automatic firearm, the combination of a breech bolt longitudinally reciprocable upon recoil, a spring actuated firing pin movable longitudinally of the breech bolt, a cocking lever on the breech bolt acting automatically during recoil to move the firing pin relatively rearward to cocked position, a sear carried by the breech bolt and biased for movement in one direction to engage the firing pin to hold it in cocked position, manually operable trigger mechanism for moving the sear in the direction to release the firing pin, the said mechanism including a trigger at the rear of the firearm movable in the forward direction to release the sear, a transversely grooved block immediately in front of the trigger and having a notch for receiving a portion thereof, and a safety bar slidable in the groove in the block and having a notch movable into and out of register with the notch in the block, the said bar thus serving according to its position to permit or prevent operative movement of the trigger.

1,803,350. FIRING MECHANISM FOR AUTOMATIC FIREARMS. GEORGE H. TANSLEY, Hartford, Conn., assignor to Colt's Patent Fire Arms Manufacturing Co., Hartford, Conn., a Corporation of Connecticut. Filed Dec. 12, 1929. Serial No. 413,610. 8 Claims. (Cl. 89—27.)

7. In an automatic firearm, the combination of a breech bolt longitudinally reciprocable upon recoil, a spring actuated firing pin movable longitudinally of the breech bolt, a cocking lever on the breech bolt acting automatically during recoil to move the firing pin relatively rearward to cocked position, a transversely and horizontally movable sear carried by the breech bolt and reversible in position with respect thereto, a spring pressed plunger carried by the sear for biasing it in one direction or the other according to its position so as to engage the firing pin to hold it in cocked position, and an abutment means with which the plunger engages in each position of the sear.



1,803,351. REVERSIBLE FEED MECHANISM FOR MACHINE GUNS. FREDERICK T. MOORE, East Hartford, and CHRISTIAN PFEIFFER, Hartford, Conn., assignors to Colt's Patent Fire Arms Manufacturing Co., Hartford, Conn., a Corporation of Connecticut. Filed May 23, 1930. Serial No. 455,019. 9 Claims. (Cl. 89—33.)

1. In an automatic firearm, the combination of a breech casing having a transverse cartridge feed channel therein, a breech bolt in the casing movable rearward upon recoil and provided with means forming parts of two oppositely inclined intersecting cam paths, at least a part of each cam path having a fixed relationship with the breech bolt, and means adapted for feeding cartridges through the feed channel in either direction and including a lever pivoted to the casing and having means thereon adapted to operably engage either of the said cam paths.

1,803,352. EXTRACTOR FOR AUTOMATIC FIREARMS. GEORGE H. TANSLEY, Hartford, Conn., assignor to Colt's Patent Fire Arms Manufacturing Co., Hartford, Conn., a Corporation of Connecticut. Filed Dec. 12, 1929. Serial No. 413,611. 4 Claims. (Cl. 89—33.)

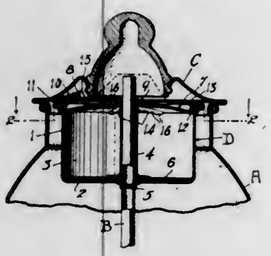
1,803,353. MAGNETIC ALLOY. HARRY F. PORTER, Trenton, N. J. Filed Jan. 20, 1927. Serial No. 162,245. 10 Claims. (Cl. 175—21.)

1. A magnetic alloy comprising copper 8% to 10%, nickel 35% to 55% and iron 35% to 55%.

1,803,354. BELT FASTENER. GEORGE E. PURPLE, La Grange, Ill., assignor to Flexible Steel Lacing Company, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed June 19, 1929. Serial No. 372,090. 9 Claims. (Cl. 24—37.)



1. In a fastener for the ends of a belt arranged back to back, the combination with two clamping plates proper disposed on opposite sides of the backed ends; of separate backing plates detachably fitted against the outer sides of the clamping plates, the backing plates being substantially co-extensive with the clamping plates in a direction transverse of the belt; and securing means extending through all of the plates and the belt ends.

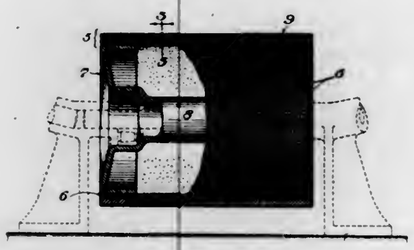
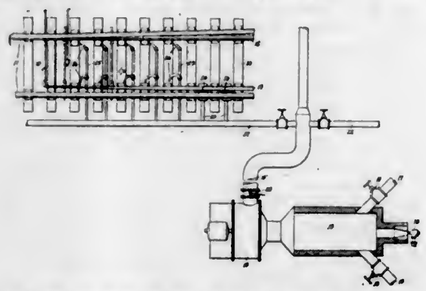
1,803,355. MANUFACTURE OF INSULATING BODIES AND MORE PARTICULARLY OF INSULATORS FOR SPARK PLUGS. REINHOLD REICHMANN, Berlin, Germany, assignor to Siemens & Halske Aktiengesellschaft, Siemensstadt, near Berlin, Germany, a Corporation of Germany. Filed Dec. 2, 1929, Serial No. 411,214, and in Germany Oct. 17, 1928. 4 Claims. (Cl. 25—157.)



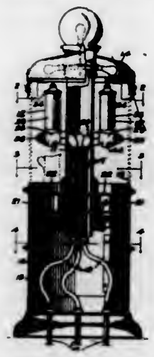
1. The process of producing insulating bodies of aluminum oxide, particularly spark plugs, which consists in sintering the bodies in a chamber free from reducing carbon-containing gases or vapors.

1,803,356. PERCOLATOR. ISAAC D. RICHHEIMER, New York, N. Y. Filed July 20, 1929. Serial No. 379,654. 4 Claims. (Cl. 53—3.)



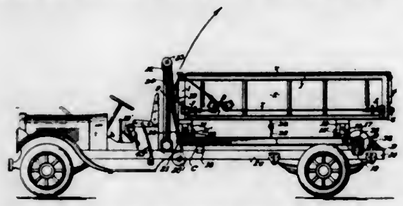
1. The combination of a percolator drip cup having a perforate bottom, a coffee retainer in said cup, and a percolator tube extending centrally through the cup and said retainer for delivering liquid upon the top of said retainer, said coffee retainer having a convex perforated top surface and an annular imperforate upwardly facing groove at its edges.

1,803,357. PULLEY. THOMAS ROBINS, New York, N. Y., assignor to Robins Conveying Belt Company, Passaic, N. J., a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed Jan. 26, 1929. Serial No. 335,272. 3 Claims. (Cl. 64—17.)



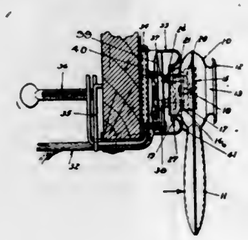
1. A pulley comprising a rim support, a rim formed of foraminated metal having elements which extend back and forth with portions in contact with the support and a tough resilient covering for the foraminated metal filling the spaces between the various elements and between portions of some of said elements and the support.

1,803,358. RAILWAY-SWITCH-HEATING SYSTEM. ALFRED F. SCHUMANN, Baltimore, Md., assignor to Hauck Manufacturing Company, Brooklyn, N. Y., a Corporation of New York. Filed Apr. 5, 1930. Serial No. 442,026. 4 Claims. (Cl. 246—428.)



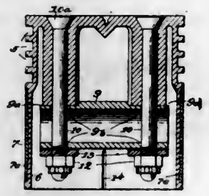
1. A heating system for railway-switches and the like embodying in combination a heating plant for a non-condensible gaseous medium, means to place said heated medium under pressure and to deliver the same to a distributing main, and nozzle elements associated with the portions of the track to be heated and connected with said main for applying directly to said track portions of the heated gaseous medium.

1,803,359. OIL-DISPENSING DEVICE. REGINALD C. SHAND, Berkeley, Calif. Filed Sept. 17, 1928. Serial No. 306,447. 6 Claims. (Cl. 221—67.)



4. An oil dispensing device comprising a base structure, a hollow standard mounted for rotation with respect to said base, a plurality of pipes extending within said standard from sources of fluid, and a plurality of dispensing units positioned on said standard and in communication with said pipes.

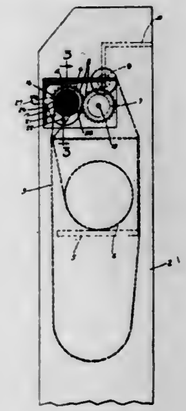
1,803,360. DUMP BODY FOR TRUCKS. CLAUDE L. SHEBBURNE, Topeka, Kans., assignor of one-third to Orson F. Baker, Independence, Kans., and one-third to Preston Updike, Fort Scott, Kans. Filed May 3, 1929. Serial No. 360,118. 2 Claims. (Cl. 298—21.)



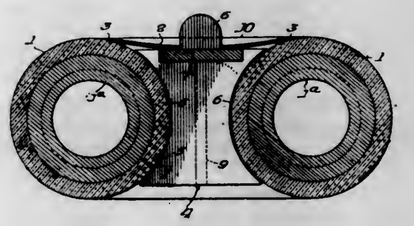
1. In dump bodies for trucks for the discharge of load to the sides or rear of the truck, a dump body and a frame, the dump body pivotally mounted on the frame on an axis longitudinal with the truck and the frame pivotally mounted at the rear of the chassis of the truck and carried by the chassis of the truck, a winch and cable means to raise the said frame to tilt the body to the rear of the truck and another winch mounted at the pivot axis of the said frame and connected by a cable to the said body as a means to tilt the body to either side of the truck.

1,803,361. CIGAR LIGHTER. JASON C. STEARNS, Worcester, Mass. Filed Aug. 31, 1927. Serial No. 216,763. 6 Claims. (Cl. 219—32.)

1. In a cigar lighter, the combination with a socket adapted to be attached to a dash board or wall and having a pair of electric contacts therein, of a detachable igniting element having a handle projecting therefrom, an incandescent element therein, two terminals on the back connected with the opposite ends of the incandescent element, said terminals and contacts being so located that one pair normally remains in contact and the other pair separated, and yielding means for holding them in this position, whereby the detachable element can be mounted on said socket and the circuit completed by the swinging of the detachable element.



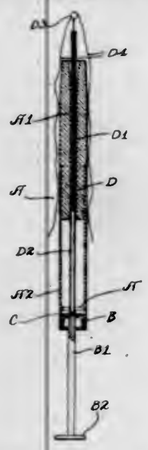
1,803,362. ENGINE PISTON. RAY N. STEELE, Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Filed July 12, 1928, Serial No. 292,196. Renewed May 21, 1930. 4 Claims. (Cl. 74—108.)



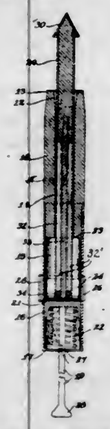
1. In an engine piston, an improved mounting for the wrist-pin, comprising a pair of posts springing from the closed end of the piston, bolts therein, a wrist-pin flattened at the ends on one side to rest on the posts, and bored for said bolts, clamping nuts, and channeled clamp-plates interposed between the nuts and the cylindrical side of the pin.

1,803,363. STOP MECHANISM FOR TOWEL CABINETS. FRANK M. STEINER, Minneapolis, Minn., assignor to Steiner Sales Company, Salt Lake City, Utah, a Corporation of Utah. Filed Mar. 22, 1929. Serial No. 349,117. 5 Claims. (Cl. 312—38.)

1. A towel cabinet comprising a casing, a feed roll for the clean towel therein, a cam operated by the revolution of said roll, said cam having a peripheral off-set forming a stop, a locking lever having a finger piece and a lug in the path of said stop when said lever is in its locking position, said lever also having a cam surface to engage the high part of said cam after its initial movement and impart a slight initial rotary movement thereto when said lever is moved to its release position.

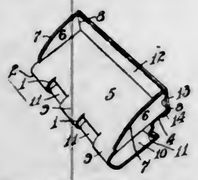


1,803,364. APPARATUS FOR SHARPENING RAZOR BLADES. THOMAS J. STEPHENS, Chicago, Ill., assignor of one-fourth to Floyd M. Spann, New York, N. Y., and one-eighth to Pauline H. Hirschmann, New York, N. Y. Filed Oct. 15, 1928. Serial No. 312,469. 6 Claims. (Cl. 76—89.2.)



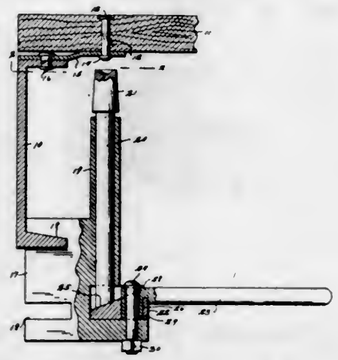
1. Apparatus for sharpening two-edged razor blades, comprising a pair of cylindrical sharpening members spaced apart a distance somewhat greater than the width of a blade to be sharpened, and a carriage located between said members mounted directly upon them and adapted to hold a blade with its edges parallel with the axes of said members and bearing upon convex surfaces of said members, said carriage being movable in the direction of the axes of the sharpening members.

1,803,365. TOY. CHARLES C. STETSON, St. Paul, Minn. Filed July 5, 1929. Serial No. 375,942. 17 Claims. (Cl. 102—23.)



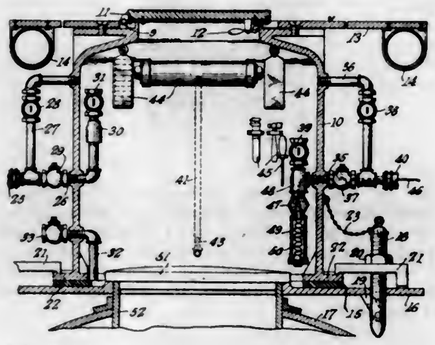
9. A toy comprising, a sparkler, a holder for supporting said sparkler, and percussion cap and driving means in said holder for igniting and driving said sparkler out of said holder rocket-like into the air.

1,803,366. SIGNAL ROCKET. CHARLES C. STETSON, St. Paul, Minn. Filed Aug. 30, 1929. Serial No. 389,427. 15 Claims. (Cl. 102—23.)



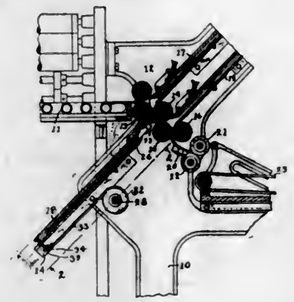
1. A signalling device including a rocket, a holder for said rocket, spring urged rocket ejecting means in said holder, and a percussion cap exploded by said spring urged means to aid the rocket ejection.

1,803,367. ELEVATOR ELEMENT. GEORGE E. STEVENSON, Indianapolis, Ind. Filed Sept. 19, 1929, Serial No. 393,807. Renewed Sept. 22, 1930. 2 Claims. (Cl. 198—152.)



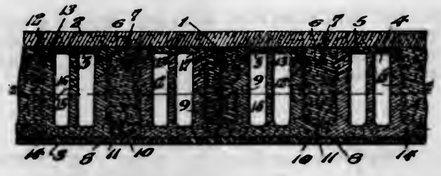
1. A conveyor element formed from a single sheet of metal, comprising a panel section and two edge sections, the edge sections being bent to lie in a plane parallel with the panel section and one adapted to overlie the other, one of said edge sections being bent up on two parallel edges to form sides and bent up on its free edge to form a back, said element having its edges slotted and a portion of its edges doubled inwardly to form hinge loops.

1,803,368. RIVETING IRON. CLIFTON E. SWEENEY, Indianapolis, Ind. Filed Oct. 10, 1929. Serial No. 398,716. 5 Claims. (Cl. 78—53.5.)



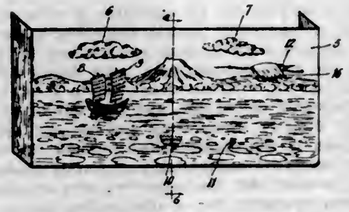
3. A riveting iron comprising a base, said base having a plurality of grooves, a sleeve mounted on the base in offset relation to the grooved portion of the base and extending upwardly therefrom, a shaft slidably mounted in the sleeve, rivet setting means mounted on the outer end of said shaft, cam means pivotally mounted on the base and adapted for horizontal rotation thereon, the lower end of said shaft being angularly inclined so as to bear against the inclined surface of said cam and means for turning the cam on its pivot whereby to move the shaft upwardly.

1,803,369. SALVAGE CHAMBER FOR SUBMARINES. GEORGE L. TEEPLE, New York, and GEORGE S. BALL, Brooklyn, N. Y. Filed Oct. 1, 1928. Serial No. 309,539. 13 Claims. (Cl. 61—69.)



1. A rescue device for a submerged submarine comprising a casing having a chamber therein open at the bottom, means to effect a fluid-tight registration between said chamber and the submerged submarine, means to force air into said chamber to expel water therefrom, and a check valve through which the water is expelled but automatically preventing its return.

1,803,370. FOLD-PLATE SHIFTER. LESLEY R. TUFTS, Cleveland, Ohio, assignor to The Cleveland Folding Machine Company, Cleveland, Ohio, a Corporation of Ohio. Filed Jan. 7, 1930. Serial No. 419,100. 9 Claims. (Cl. 270—68.)



1. In a folding machine, a frame, a pair of guides mounted thereon, a fold plate slidable upon said guides, a flexible connector, means carried by the plate and frame respectively to which the ends of said connector are secured, and means for exerting a pull upon the connector to cause the ends thereof to approach each other.

1,803,371. BUILDING STRUCTURE. FREDERICK M. VENZIE, Philadelphia, Pa. Filed July 23, 1929. Serial No. 380,276. 6 Claims. (Cl. 72—66.)

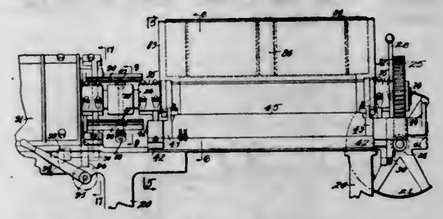
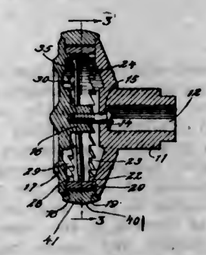
1,803,372. SHADE. MAX VIVIER, New York, N. Y. Filed Mar. 8, 1928. Serial No. 259,960. 4 Claims. (Cl. 41—21.)



3. A shade of the character described to be viewed by transmitted light comprising a main translucent sheet having a design thereon, and a semi-transparent auxiliary section secured to said main sheet but spaced therefrom in a part of its area overlying a portion of the design and coordinated with said design to form a part thereof, substantially as described.

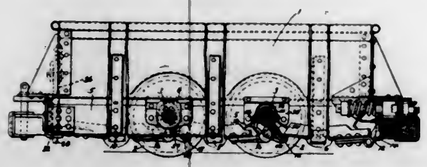
1,803,378. TIRE VALVE CAP OR THE LIKE. JOHN WAHL, Rosedale, N. Y., assignor to A. Schrader's Son, Incorporated, Brooklyn, N. Y., a Corporation of New York. Filed Oct. 12, 1926. Serial No. 141,059. 6 Claims. (Cl. 152—12.)



1. A cap comprising a body portion provided with an internal bearing face, a recess in the top of said bearing face, a packing washer in said cap having a face in slidable contact with the bearing face of the cap and tiltable with relation to the axis of the cap, a projection on the washer extending into the recess in the cap and of smaller diameter than the said recess adapted to limit the tilting of the washer by engagement with the wall of the recess.

1,803,374. STEREOTYPE PLATE CASTING AND FINISHING MACHINE. HENRY A. WISE WOOD, New York, N. Y., assignor to Wood Newspaper Machinery Corporation, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of Virginia. Filed July 2, 1926, Serial No. 120,096. Renewed Sept. 11, 1930. 28 Claims. (Cl. 22—3.)

1. In a mold for casting semi-cylindrical stereotype printing plates, the combination with a curved back and a core rotatable therein on a horizontal axis, of a pair of center rings for dividing the mold cavity into two parts to cast two printing plates therein, and means for moving said center rings and releasing the inner edges of the matrices thereby.



1,803,375. DOORKNOB. GEORGE R. ADAMS, Los Angeles, Calif. Filed July 2, 1928. Serial No. 289,743. 9 Claims. (Cl. 292—347.)

1. In a door-knob, the combination of: a face member; a shank member; a ring between said face and shank members; a ratchet on said face member; a ratchet on said shank member; a screw engaging said members to clamp said ring in place; and means extending between said ratchets to prevent any relative rotation of said members which might loosen the clamping engagement on said ring exerted by said screw.

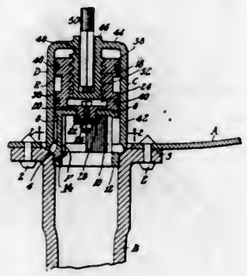
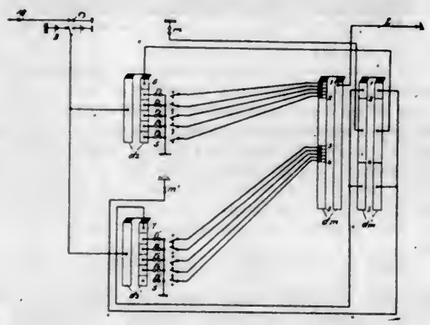
1,803,376. MINE CAR. LEOPOLD ALMQUIST, Jersey City, N. J., assignor to American Car and Foundry Company, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed Oct. 5, 1928. Serial No. 310,655. 18 Claims. (Cl. 105—253.)



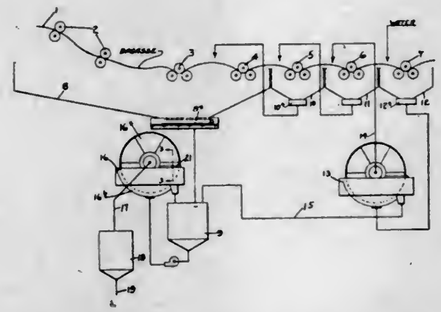
1. In a drop bottom mine car, a dumping door pivotally mounted on the car, a pivotally mounted latch for holding said door in closed position, said latch having laterally projecting ribs forming open-ended slots thereon, a second drop door, hinges for attaching said second door to said car and lugs carried by said hinges and engaging in said slots to operate said latch.

1,803,377. PNEUMATIC DESPATCH SYSTEM. BIRNEY C. BATCHELLER, Wallingford, Vt., assignor to The Lamson Company, Syracuse, N. Y., a Corporation of Massachusetts. Filed Nov. 1, 1928. Serial No. 316,391. 13 Claims. (Cl. 243—9.)



1. Power control apparatus for use with a pneumatic tube line extending between two stations and having power driven means for creating a carrier impelling air flow in said line, said apparatus comprising a receptacle capable of holding a plurality of carriers, a movable part in the receptacle which remains in one position so long as a predetermined number of carriers are within the receptacle, means operative to raise said part upon reduction of the number of carriers in the receptacle below such predetermined number, and means responsive to such upward movement of said part for starting the power driven means into operation.

1,803,378. VALVE. JOHN BEYER, Bayonne, N. J., assignor to American Car and Foundry Company, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed July 19, 1928. Serial No. 293,909. 13 Claims. (Cl. 137—21.)



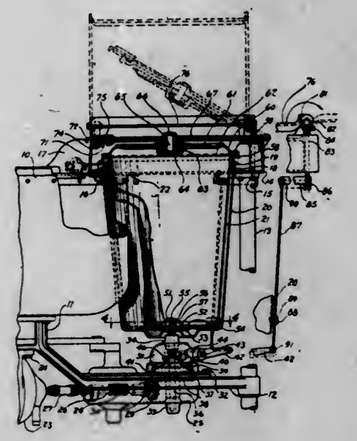
1. A valve assembly comprising a guide element having outlet ports, a valve surrounding said guide element and provided with an exteriorly threaded internal socket, means for actuating said valve comprising a block secured to the guide element and having internal threads with which the socket is engaged whereby upon rotation of the valve the socket is elevated to elevate the valve, and sealing means secured to the block to prevent admission of foreign matter to the interior of the valve.

1,803,379. TELEGRAPHIC SYSTEM. WILHELM BUDDE, Berlin-Dahlem, Germany. Filed Feb. 27, 1928, Serial No. 257,248, and in Germany Nov. 7, 1927. 7 Claims. (Cl. 178—71.)

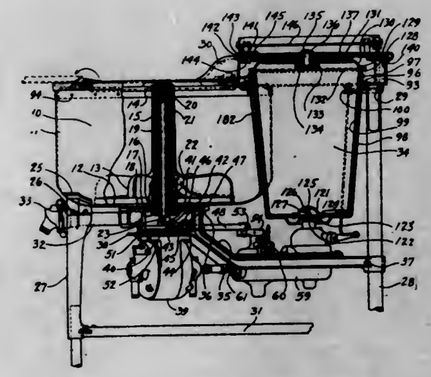
1. An apparatus for the operation of start-stop mechanism in a telegraphic circuit employing a plurality of simple circuits leading from sub-stations to a central station, the same comprising a main rotary distributor, a multiplex service circuit connected to the central station across said distributor, and two sets of storage devices for directly transferring signals sent out by the sub-stations to the multiple line through the main distributor, the latter comprising successively operating distributor sections for the respective sets of storage devices each operative for a distributing action on less than a half revolution of the distributor, whereby a signal arriving from a sub-station flows only through one storage device, the next signal flows only through the other device, and succeeding signals are then alternately transferred to the one or to the other of said storage devices without overlap, and whereby while the one storage device receives a signal the other will release the previously received signal.

1,803,380. FILTERING MATERIAL AND METHOD OF FILTERING SUGAR JUICES. ROBERT C. CAMPBELL, Millburn, N. J., assignor, by mesne assignments, to Oliver United Filters, Inc., San Francisco, Calif., a Corporation of Nevada. Filed July 21, 1925. Serial No. 44,975. 6 Claims. (Cl. 210—200.)

1. The method of improving the purity of cane sugar by filtering the sugar juices as they come from the screens of the crushing mills and before defecation or heating of the juices, in a continuous filter provided with a perforated plate filtering medium which consists in extracting from said juices a filter aid naturally occurring therein, adding said filter aid to said juices to prevent plugging of the perforations of said plate by the shreds of the cane stalks, then drawing the juices through said filter and collecting the filter aid and solids on the filter medium, and completely removing the collected solids and filter aid from the surface of said filter medium during each cycle of filter operation.



1,803,381. DRY PIPE. CHRISTOPHER HUMPHREY DAVY, Beckenham, England, assignor to The Babcock & Wilcox Company, Bayonne, N. J., a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed Oct. 26, 1926, Serial No. 144,206, and in Great Britain Jan. 1, 1926. 2 Claims. (Cl. 183—75.)

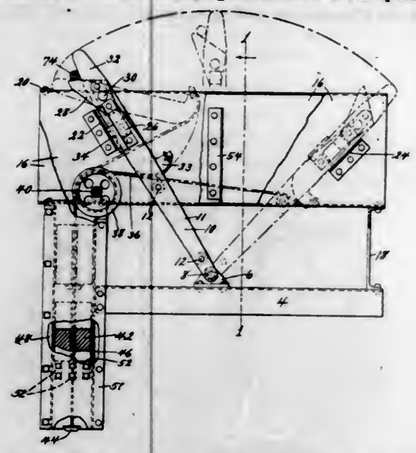


1. In a device of the class described, two adjacent substantially parallel rows of vanes of angular cross section disposed with the angles in one row facing those in the other and with a vane in one row having a leg extending toward a leg of a vane in the other row, the ends of said legs being spaced from each other, and transverse members extending between said spaced ends and spaced therefrom.

1,803,382. WASHING MACHINE. MARK A. DEFIBAUGH, Peoria, Ill., assignor to Altorfer Bros. Company, Peoria, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed Dec. 22, 1926. Serial No. 156,800. 7 Claims. (Cl. 210—75.)

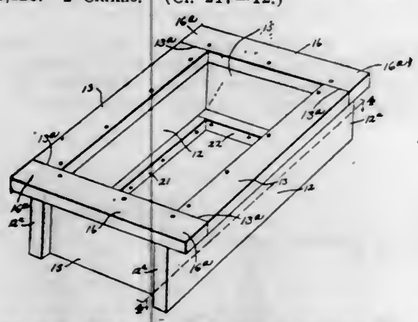
1. In a device of the character described, in combination, a centrifugal extractor comprising a tapered, imperforate basket, a casing surrounding said basket, a fluid chamber at the upper end of the casing and surrounding the top of the basket, driving means projecting through said casing and engaging the bottom of said basket, a ring secured to the upper edge of the basket and providing openings therebetween, a top for said basket, a locking bar providing a bearing support for the top, said locking bar having a pivotal connection with the fluid chamber at one end in a manner to permit the raising and lowering of the top, and locking mechanism disposed upon the opposite end adapted to secure the locking bar to the fluid chamber.

1,803,383. WASHING MACHINE. MARK A. DEFIBAUGH, Peoria, Ill., assignor to Altorfer Bros. Company, Peoria, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed Dec. 27, 1926. Serial No. 157,088. 4 Claims. (Cl. 210—71.)



2. In a centrifugal extractor, in combination, an extractor receptacle, a driving shaft adapted for detachable driving connection with the lower end of said receptacle, and means adjustable in relation to the upper end of the shaft for varying the position of engagement between the upper end of said shaft and said receptacle.

1,803,384. DOOR-TRIPPING DEVICE FOR CARS. WILLIAM F. DIETRICHSON, St. Louis, Mo., assignor to American Car and Foundry Company, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed Feb. 27, 1930. Serial No. 431,869. 13 Claims. (Cl. 214—58.)



1. In a car door tripping device, a support, a lever pivotally mounted on said support, a second lever pivoted on said first lever, means limiting the rotation of said second lever with respect to said first lever, means fixed on said first lever for engaging a car door latch operating arm, means to bias said levers to normal position and a stop to prevent movement of said levers past normal position in one direction.

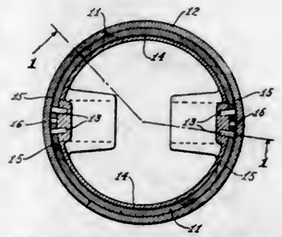
1,803,385. KNOCKDOWN BOX. WILFRED A. FINNEGAN, Bangor, Me. Filed June 24, 1929. Serial No. 373,125. 2 Claims. (Cl. 217—12.)



1. An open knock-down sand box, comprising a pair of side members, having end extensions containing vertical dovetail grooves, and outwardly projecting flanges, fixed to the upper edges of said members, the ends of said flanges forming abutment shoulders from which said extensions project, and a pair of end members having vertical dovetail tongues on their ends removably inserted in said grooves, and outwardly projecting flanges fixed to their upper edges, said flanges having extensions overhanging said tongues and bearing on the extensions of the side members to limit the entrance of the tongues into the grooves, and on the abutment shoulders of the side members, to oppose racking of the box, the inner edges of said flanges being flush with the inner sides of the side and end members, so that said flanges form an open mouth portion of the storage space, said portion being of the same area as the portion formed by the side and end members, and permitting unobstructed access to all portions to said storage space.

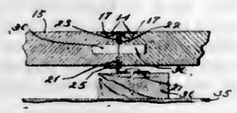
1,803,386. PROCESS FOR PRODUCING AMALGAMS TO BE USED IN DENTISTRY. ERIK WILHELM FISCHER, Stockholm, and ERIK WILHELM J:SON VIRGIN, Djursholm, Sweden. Filed Dec. 28, 1927, Serial No. 243,203, and in Germany Jan. 10, 1927. 4 Claims. (Cl. 75—1.)

1. An improved process for the production of silver alloy powder subsequently to be completely amalgamated in the production of dental fillings, consisting in treating the silver alloy particles with mercury in a quantity insufficient to produce complete amalgamation.

1,803,387. TRUNK PISTON. JOHN FLAMMANG, University City, and PERCY L. BOWSER, St. Louis, Mo., assignors, by mesne assignments, to The Sterling Corporation, Wilmington, Del., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Oct. 8, 1927. Serial No. 224,818. 10 Claims. (Cl. 74—108.)

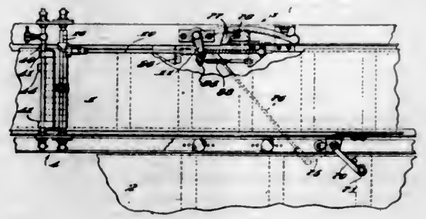
1. A piston comprising, a body, a base ring provided with a bearing face for a packing ring and fixed to said body at a point circumferentially removed from its trust diameter, there being clearance between the piston body and the base ring on a diameter taken through the thrust side of the piston in order to compensate for expansion of the body.

1,803,388. NECKTIE. HARVEY C. HALL, Port Nelson, Ontario, Canada, assignor to Milne Neckwear Limited, Toronto, Canada. Filed Dec. 20, 1926. Serial No. 155,958. 7 Claims. (Cl. 2—146.)



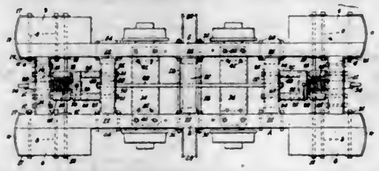
1. A four-in-hand necktie having in combination a tubular outer member and a tubular inner member the latter member consisting of a fabric resilient transversely of the tie, said inner member being located in the knot forming portion of the necktie.

1,803,389. VEHICLE TOWING DEVICE. JOSEPH J. HERLBAUER, Hollis, and CHARLES GULOTTA, New York, N. Y. Filed Feb. 10, 1928. Serial No. 253,380. 5 Claims. (Cl. 280—33.14.)



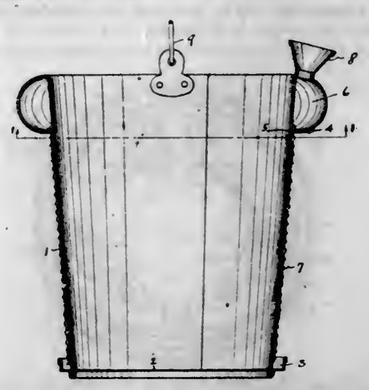
1. A towing device comprising a latch having a base portion provided with a U-shaped end and a pivoted latch plate on the opposite end thereof, and a flexible metallic strap having one portion coiled about said base portion.

1,803,390. ACOUSTIC WALL OR CEILING STRUCTURE. THOMAS CLARK HOWARD, Brookline, Mass. Filed Nov. 20, 1928. Serial No. 320,696. 5 Claims. (Cl. 72—18.)



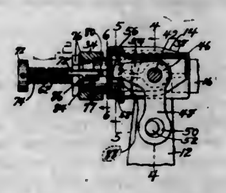
1. An acoustic unit including a frame and a body of acoustic material supported by the walls of said frame, the body being of acoustic casting plaster introduced in plastic form and allowed to set in said frame, the outer face of the plaster being exposed whereby a plurality of such units form a substantially continuous acoustic surface, tongues projecting outwardly from the walls of the frame, said tongues constituting part of the means for interlocking abutting units and fingers projecting inwardly from the walls of the frame to engage the body of acoustic material when plastic and to tie it when set to the walls of the frame.

1,803,391. DEFLECTOR - CONTROL MECHANISM. CHESTER S. JENNINGS and LAVONT C. ALLEN, Syracuse, N. Y., assignors to The Lamson Company, Syracuse, N. Y., a Corporation of Massachusetts. Filed Apr. 5, 1929. Serial No. 352,671. 20 Claims. (Cl. 186—20.)



1. Conveyor apparatus comprising means defining a predetermined path along which carriers may move, a carrier movable in said path, said carrier having provision for supporting a plurality of contact elements, a diverter for causing carriers to leave said path, an actuator normally responsve to engagement by one contact element to make said diverter operative, and control means operable by another contact element spaced laterally of the first-named element to make the actuator inoperative.

1,803,392. MINE CAR. WARREN V. JOHNSON, Bloomsburg, Pa., assignor to American Car and Foundry Company, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed Feb. 17, 1930. Serial No. 429,064. 12 Claims. (Cl. 105—364.)



1. A car structure comprising an underframe having side and end sills, said side sills projecting beyond the end sills and forming parts of bumper structures, body supporting blocks secured to the side sills adjacent the ends of the latter to provide the remainder of the bumper structures, ties between the sills, pedestals secured to the ties, body supporting brackets secured to the sills, and a welded body mounted on the underframe and secured to the ties.

1,803,393. WATER COOLER. EUNICE JONES, Melon, Tex. Filed Apr. 17, 1928. Serial No. 270,742. 2 Claims. (Cl. 62—91.)

1. The combination with a sheet metal container, the upper edge of whose walls is outwardly and downwardly turned and spaced from the container proper and the free margin of said downwardly turned portion being inwardly turned and provided with teeth, thus providing a chamber around the outside of the upper end of the container, a fabric envelope around the container whose upper margin is clamped between the walls of the container and said inwardly turned margin and is engaged by said teeth.

1,803,394. SLACK ADJUSTER FOR RAILWAY BRAKES. ROBERT W. JOY, Brooklyn, N. Y., assignor to American Car and Foundry Company, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed May 12, 1928. Serial No. 277,159. 13 Claims. (Cl. 188—202.)

11. In a brake, a brake lever, a tension rod, and a slack adjuster interposed between said tension rod and brake lever and operated by said brake lever for shifting the effective connection of said rod and lever.

1,803,395. MANUFACTURE OF VAT DYESTUFFS OF THE ANTHRAQUINONE SERIES. MAX ALBERT KUNZ, Mannheim, Germany, assignor to General Aniline Works, Inc., New York, N. Y., a Corporation of Delaware. Original application filed Feb. 9, 1926, Serial No. 87,173, and in Germany Feb. 16, 1925. Divided and this application filed Feb. 29, 1928. Serial No. 258,143. 1 Claim. (Cl. 260—60.)

The process of producing new compounds of the anthraquinone series which comprises acting with an anthraquinone aldehyde on a condensation product of an aminoanthraquinone with an aldehyde of the benzene series.

1,803,396. BRAKE. LUDGER E. LA BEIE, South Bend, Ind., assignor to Bendix Brake Company, South Bend, Ind., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed Dec. 3, 1927. Serial No. 237,375. 19 Claims. (Cl. 188—78.)

1. A brake comprising, in combination, a drum, a backing plate at the open side of the drum, a friction device in the drum having adjacent separable ends and formed with slots in said ends, a shaft passing through the backing plate and having an applying device acting on said ends, supporting means adjacent the backing plate and in which the shaft is journaled, and devices on opposite sides of the shaft and securing said means to the backing plate and which extend through the slots in the ends of the friction device and one of which serves as an anchor for the friction device when the drum is turning in one direction and the other of which serves as an anchor for the friction device when the drum is turning in the other direction.

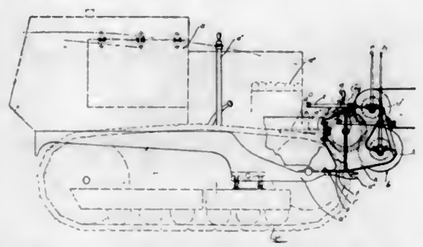
1,803,397. AMUSEMENT DEVICE. LOUIS LA RIZZA, Revere, Mass. Filed Apr. 3, 1930. Serial No. 441,410. 3 Claims. (Cl. 272—2.)

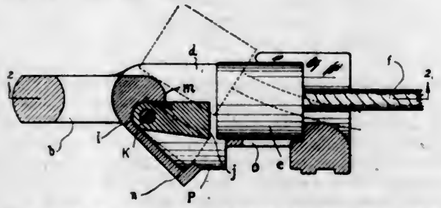
1. An amusement device comprising a movable body having a plurality of spaced apart stations for passengers, and operating mechanism organized to raise and lower the body and impart to each station an orbital movement in a vertical plane, said mechanism including forward and rear horizontal crank shafts journaled in fixed bearings and having offset wrist-pins journaled in bearings on end portions of the body, a motor, and torque-transmitting connections between it and the crank shafts, adapted to rotate said shafts and revolve their wrist-pins in unison.

1,803,398. LIGHT CONTROL FOR PRINTERS. GUNNE LOWKRANTZ, Binghamton, N. Y., assignor to Agfa Ansco Corporation, Binghamton, N. Y. Filed Mar. 26, 1928. Serial No. 264,785. 7 Claims. (Cl. 95—75.)



1. A light change control for printers including in combination, a strip of film having notches in its edge of different predetermined lengths, a printing lamp, a series of resistance units adapted to be selectively cut into the circuit of said lamp, means operated by said notches and controlled by the length thereof for selectively cutting one or more of said units into said lamp circuit, said means comprising a master solenoid and a plurality of secondary solenoids, means on said secondary solenoids for establishing circuits through said units and means on said master solenoid for closing said circuits.

1,803,399. MANUFACTURE OF DIBENZANTHRONYLS. ARTHUR LÜTTRINGHAUS and HUGO WOLFF, Mannheim, and HEINRICH NERESHEIMER, Ludwigshafen-on-the-Rhine, Germany, assignors, by mesne assignments, to General Aniline Works, Inc., New York, N. Y., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed June 5, 1926, Serial No. 114,011, and in Germany June 15, 1925. 4 Claims. (Cl. 260—61.)



1. The process of producing 2.2'-dibenzanthronyls which comprises acting on a mixture of a 2-halogen-benzanthrone and a benzanthrone having a free 2-position with an alkaline condensing agent at a more moderate temperature than that leading substantially to vat coloring matters.

1,803,400. TRACTOR HOIST. RALPH B. MOORE, Portland, Oreg. Filed July 2, 1927. Serial No. 203,163. 8 Claims. (Cl. 180—53.)

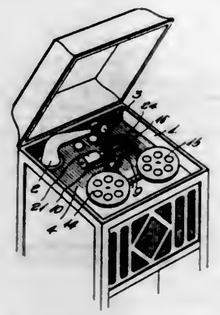
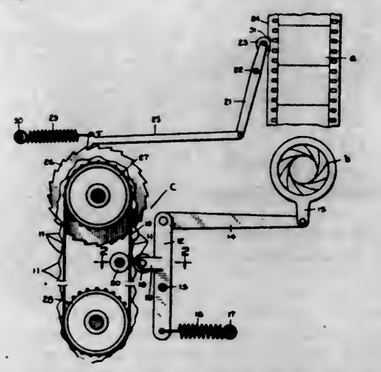
1,803,401. RIGGING HOOK. JOSEPH NADEAU, Portland, Oreg. Filed July 30, 1930. Serial No. 471,724. 11 Claims. (Cl. 24—123.)



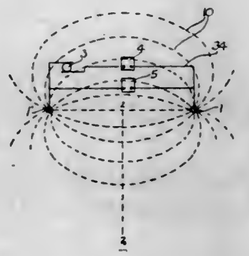
1. A logging hook comprising a hollow body defining an interiorly-arranged chamber adapted to engage and house the knob-like end of a cable, one end of such chamber defining a seat for such cable end and the other end defining a laterally arranged entrance aperture spaced from such seat, such entrance aperture connecting the interior chamber with the exterior of such body, a restricted longitudinal slot leading from such aperture to such seat and proportioned to pass the cable but to retain the knob-like end thereof, an interiorly-arranged keeper arranged movably and centrally in said body and opposing the seat therein and resilient means engaging said keeper and tending to return and to hold the latter centrally in such chamber.

1,803,402. WOODWORKING MACHINE. GEORGE R. NAPIER, Cleveland, Ohio. Filed Sept. 11, 1926. Serial No. 134,864. 14 Claims. (Cl. 144—1.)



1. In combination, a support, a power plant rotatably mounted thereon, a multiplicity of tools detachably carried by the support, and adapted to be selectively driven by the power plant, said power plant being capable of circumferential and radial movement with respect to the support.

1,803,403. SOUND REPRODUCING OR RECORDING APPARATUS. FREEMAN H. OWENS, New York, N. Y. Filed Sept. 25, 1926, Serial No. 137,713. Renewed Aug. 11, 1930. 8 Claims. (Cl. 179—100.3.)

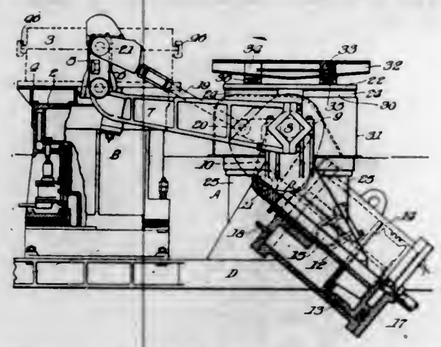


6. In combination, a phonograph having a substantially horizontal support, a drive shaft passing through an aperture in said support, a frame structure arranged to be mounted on top of said support and carrying a film moving mechanism, a source of light and a light sensitive element, said light source and said element being so disposed on said frame structure relative to the film that light from said source may pass through the film to said element; and coupling means between said drive shaft and said film moving mechanism.

1,803,404. MOTION-PICTURE-FILM-PRINTING APPARATUS. FREEMAN H. OWENS, New York, N. Y. Filed Oct. 2, 1926. Serial No. 139,075. 9 Claims. (Cl. 95—75.)

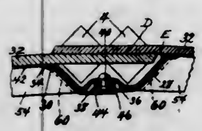
1. In a motion picture film printing apparatus, the combination with a shutter and a negative motion picture film movable past the shutter opening, of means for predeterminedly varying the shutter opening in accordance with varying light intensities selected for the printing of the negative, said means comprising a movable strip independent of the film and provided with a series of operating elements, means connected to the shutter and mechanically operated by said operating elements of the strip, the character of the elements on the strip determining the operation imparted thereby to the connecting means and consequently the amount of shutter opening, and means operated by the motion picture film when a change in printing intensity is to be effected for moving said strip to change the cooperative relation between the operating elements on the strip and the said connecting means.

1,803,405. ELECTROMAGNETIC METHOD OF UNDERGROUND EXPLORATION. NORMAN H. RICKER, Houston, Tex., assignor to J. P. Scranton, Houston, Tex., trustee. Filed Jan. 27, 1928. Serial No. 249,802. 13 Claims. (Cl. 175—182.)



1. A method of exploring for underground mineral deposits comprising, causing alternating electric currents to flow in the earth between two electrodes embedded in the surface thereof, determining at a series of points over the surface of the earth the angular position in space of the plane tangent to the surface containing the magnetic fields due to said currents, and co-ordinating the data so obtained.

1,803,406. MOLDING MACHINE. ROBERT F. RINGLE, Zelienople, Pa. Filed May 29, 1929. Serial No. 366,862. 8 Claims. (Cl. 22—83.)



1. Turnover and flask withdrawing mechanism for a molding machine comprising a turnover plate, turnover arms and an actuating shaft therefor having an operating lever, a pivotally mounted cylinder having a plunger directly connected with the lever, an equalizing table above the cylinder, and plungers and cylinders therefor one on each opposite side of the actuating shaft.

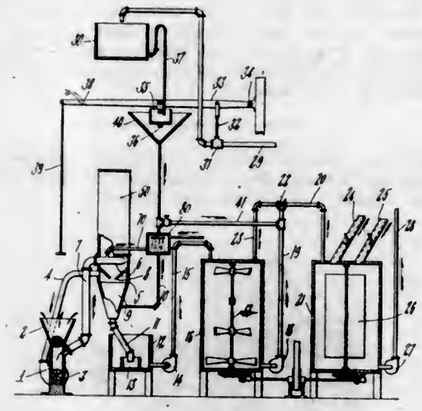
1,803,407. LINED TANK AND METHOD OF MAKING THE SAME. JOHN M. ROHLFING, Plainfield, N. J., assignor to American Car and Foundry Company, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed Jan. 15, 1929. Serial No. 332,590. 24 Claims. (Cl. 29—162.)

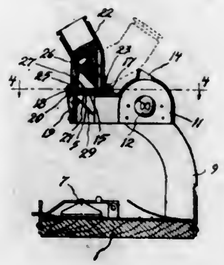


1. In a tank, riveted tank sheets, guards secured to the tank sheets and covering the inner heads of the rivets, and a metallic lining in said tank connected to and covering the guards.

1,803,408. MOLDING MACHINE. FRANK ROUSE, Houston, Tex. Filed Dec. 5, 1927. Serial No. 237,646. 6 Claims. (Cl. 25—99.)

4. A molding machine including a housing, an endless carrier therein, means for revolving said carrier, a plurality of chutes through which the carrier moves, one wall of each chute converging from one end of the chute toward the carrier, partitions on the carrier, which form matrices, with the walls of said chutes, wherein units may be moulded and compressed from plastic material, one of said chutes having an inlet end for plastic material and the other chute having a discharge end for the moulded units, and means for elevating and withdrawing the partitions from the said discharge end to permit the discharge of the moulded units therefrom, said means being effective to thereafter permit the lowering of said elevated partitions by gravity.

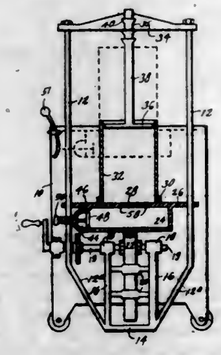
1,803,409. MANUFACTURE OF IMPREGNATED FIBER ARTICLES. MILTON O. SCHUR, Berlin, N. H., assignor to Brown Company, Berlin, N. H., a Corporation of Maine. Filed July 30, 1929. Serial No. 382,202. 17 Claims. (Cl. 92—21.)



1. An impregnated article comprising cellulose fiber, a solid, infusible pore-forming agent and the impregnating agent.

1,803,410. MANUFACTURE OF PULP ARTICLES. MILTON O. SCHUR, Berlin, N. H., assignor to Brown Company, Berlin, N. H., a Corporation of Maine. Filed Feb. 20, 1930. Serial No. 430,145. 8 Claims. (Cl. 92—21.)

1. A furnish for the manufacture of pulp articles, comprising an aqueous suspension of a mixture of waste paper stock, ground charcoal, and beaten, long-fibered stock.



1,803,411. PHOTOGRAPHIC-FILM VIEWING AND EDITING APPARATUS. BRUNO STECHBART, Chicago, Ill., assignor to The Bell & Howell Company, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed Dec. 3, 1927. Serial No. 237,447. 7 Claims. (Cl. 88—14).

1. In a film viewing device the combination with a film guide provided with a facewise aperture therethrough and including a film face guide member pivoted with respect to the other film face guide member of the guide for facewise movement into and out of film retaining position, an intermediately angled viewing tube carried with said pivoted guide member in associated relation with said aperture and mounted, with the portion thereof adjacent the movable guide member disposed normal to the plane of the guide, for angular movement with respect to the pivoted guide member on the axis of said adjacent portion of the tube, a triangular glass reflecting prism mounted in said adjacent portion of the tube and having one face thereof disposed upright with respect to the plane of said guide and having another face thereof facing generally in the direction of the other portion of said tube, and a magnifier in said other portion of said tube.

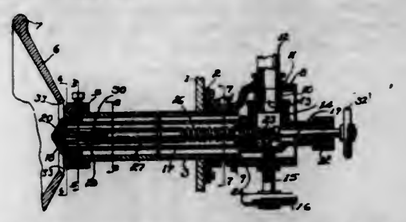
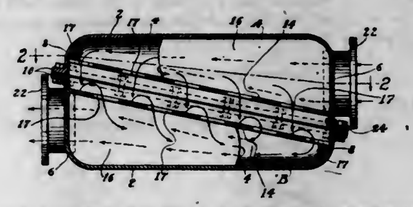
1,803,412. APPARATUS FOR EXTRACTING WATER FROM CLOTHES AND THE LIKE. ELMER B. THOMPSON, Des Moines, Iowa. Filed Feb. 21, 1927. Serial No. 169,840. 9 Claims. (Cl. 100—42.)



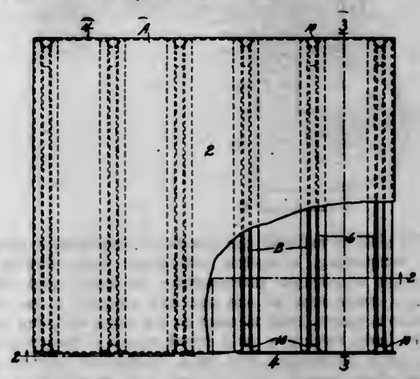
1. In an extractor of the kind described, a container having a foraminous bottom, a plunger mounted to enter the container, one of said elements being mounted for movement relative to the other for squeezing water from the contents of the container, mechanism for moving one of said elements, means for rendering said mechanism inoperative when the pressure reaches a predetermined degree, a compartment below the container for receiving the extracted water, means for discharging water from opposite sides of said compartment, and an adjustable member for cooperating with said last means for causing a discharge at the respective sides of the compartment depending upon the position in which said adjustable member is set.

1,803,413. POULTRY DRINKING STAND. HOWARD E. TRITES, Bridgewater, Mass. Filed Feb. 24, 1930. Serial No. 430,777. 6 Claims. (Cl. 119—72.)



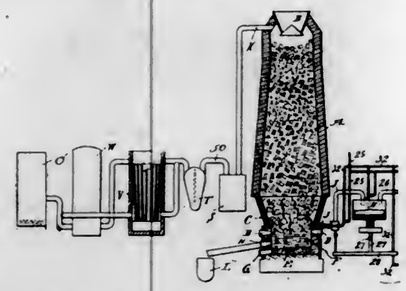
1. A poultry drinking stand, comprising an open base frame horizontally supported, a fowl-supporting grid bearing removably on the frame and covering the space bounded thereby, said grid having openings for the passage of droppings therethrough, a water receptacle supported by the grid and spaced from the margin thereof a distance permitting droppings from fowls, in drinking position on the grid, to pass through grid openings, and a receptacle for droppings removably supported by the frame under the grid, the grid being composed of a layer of wire fabric of relatively coarse mesh, and reinforcing members including a marginal member attached to the margin of said layer, and transverse members fixed at their ends to the marginal member and extending in different directions across the same.

1,803,414. OIL BURNER. MARKO TUDOROV, San Pedro, Calif. Filed Feb. 15, 1929. Serial No. 340,201. 1 Claim. (Cl. 299—59.)



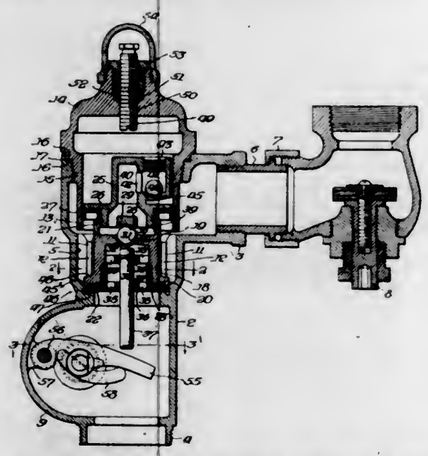
An oil burner comprising a fixed tubular body having a conical nozzle with a central orifice, a tubular member rotatable in said tubular body and having a conical end fitting within said tip and having a central opening registering with said orifice, a rod slidably mounted in said tubular member and splined thereto, a pin mounted in the end of said rod and passing through the opening in the conical end of said tubular member, an operating handle on the end of said rod for manually advancing said pin into said orifice or rotating said tubular member, and means for delivering fuel oil to said orifice.

1,803,415. MUFFLER. ALBERT W. W. VAN HOORN, Wilmington, Del., assignor to American Car and Foundry Company, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed Nov. 22, 1929. Serial No. 409,034. 17 Claims. (Cl. 137—160.)



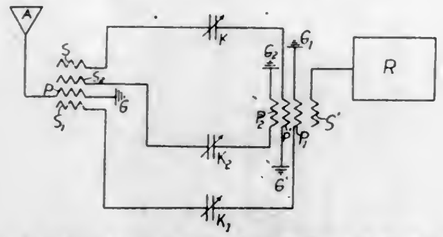
1. In a muffler, a pair of similar members adapted to be connected to form a hollow casing, said members each having an inclined baffle therein extending from end to end of said members.

1,803,416. SKID. CHARLES F. WALP, Berwick, Pa., assignor to American Car and Foundry Company, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed Sept. 28, 1929. Serial No. 395,863. 7 Claims. (Cl. 248—41.)



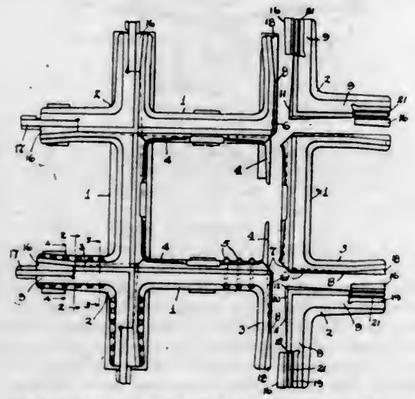
1. A skid formed of a single piece of metal provided with downturned flanges upon opposite sides defining supporting portions, and a plurality of separately formed flanged channels secured to the inner surface of the metal and extending along and secured to the flanges.

1,803,417. METHOD OF MANUFACTURING COMMERCIAL PRODUCTS FROM PHOSPHATIC MATERIAL. JOHN WILLIAM WALTON, Rockdale, Tenn., assignor to Tennessee Products Corporation, Nashville, Tenn., a Corporation of Tennessee. Filed Mar. 23, 1929. Serial No. 349,328. 14 Claims. (Cl. 75—14.)



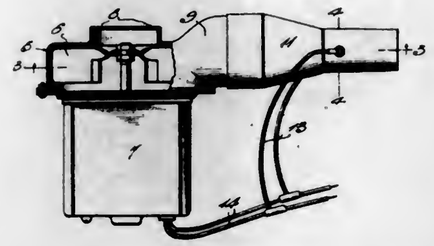
1. In the manufacture of ferro-phosphorus in a blast furnace, the process which consists in charging the furnace with a suitable mixture of phosphatic material, iron bearing material, fluxing material, and carbon, igniting the charge at the base thereof, and supplying air into the combustion zone to raise and maintain a temperature in said zone sufficient, in the presence of incandescent carbon contained therein, to reduce the phosphorus of said phosphatic material to the elemental state and enable it to combine with the iron, in the presence of the fluxing material, and withdrawing a portion of the gases from said zone to increase the temperature and reducing and combining action in said combustion zone.

1,803,418. FLUSH VALVE. WILLIAM S. WHITE, Denver, Colo. Filed Dec. 8, 1927. Serial No. 238,516. 9 Claims. (Cl. 137—93.)



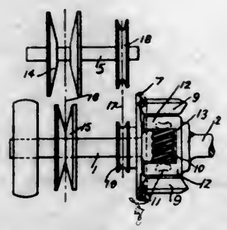
1. In a flush valve of the character described, a piston valve comprising, a hollow cylindrical body having a transverse diaphragm intermediate its ends, said body having a valve seat at one end and adapted to be connected to a piston head member at its other end, the wall of said body having a fluid bleed opening therethrough above said diaphragm and said diaphragm having an opening therethrough and a valve seat surrounding the opening and facing said other end, a piston head secured to said body at said other end and provided with a primary chamber and a secondary chamber, said primary chamber having an opening to the interior of said body above the seat in said diaphragm and an opening to said secondary chamber, and said secondary chamber having an opening adapted to communicate with the interior of a control chamber, a valve seat about the last said opening, gravity closing valves for the last said valve seat and the seat in said diaphragm, and a cylinder wall engaging friction washer secured between said head and body.

1,803,419. WIRELESS RECEIVING STATIC ELIMINATOR. ALEXANDER GRAHAM ANDERSON, Whiteland, Ind. Filed June 26, 1930. Serial No. 463,950. 3 Claims. (Cl. 250—20.)



1. A static and interference eliminator, adapted for connection between the antenna and input circuit of a receiver, which consists of two four-circuit inductors coupled by two balancing circuits and a single-circuit; the first four-circuit inductor consisting of a primary, two closely-coupled secondaries and a loosely-coupled secondary, and the second four-circuit inductor consisting of three primaries and a secondary; the two closely-coupled secondaries of the first four-circuit inductor being parts of balancing circuits, one tuned slightly above and the other slightly below the receiver tuning, and the loosely-coupled secondary of the first four-circuit inductor being a part of the signal circuit tuned with the receiver; the two closely-coupled balancing secondaries of the first four-circuit inductor being connected thru tuning condensers to two of the primaries of the second four-circuit inductor which two primaries are in opposite phase to the third primary of the second four-circuit inductor; the loosely-coupled signal receiving secondary of the first four-circuit inductor being connected thru a tuning condenser to the third primary of the second four-circuit inductor; the primary of the first four-circuit inductor being connected with the antenna, and the secondary of the second four-circuit inductor being connected with the receiver; all of the primaries being grounded.

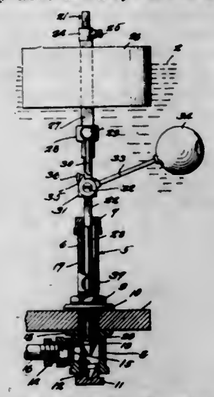
1,803,420. RAILWAY CROSSING. STEPHEN WARD BALKWILL, Cleveland Heights, Ohio. Filed Mar. 24, 1930. Serial No. 438,333. 10 Claims. (Cl. 246—463.)



1. In a railway crossing, the combination of a plurality of members which when assembled have intersecting grooves formed in their top surfaces, rail receiving apertures formed in the approaches of the crossing, and complementary interengaging means on the contiguous faces of said members, said last named means tapered longitudinally and terminating in said rail receiving apertures.

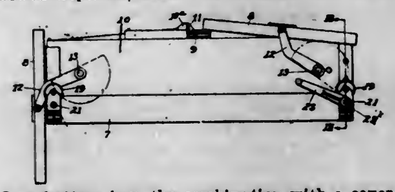
1,803,421. DRIER. STEWART F. BENSON and WERNER I. PETERSON, Brainerd, Minn. Filed Feb. 21, 1930. Serial No. 430,421. 2 Claims. (Cl. 34—26.)

1. In a drier of the type embodying an air blower having an outlet nozzle and an electric air heater across said nozzle; a lateral outlet from a portion of said nozzle beyond said heater, an air deflector within said nozzle for deflecting some of the heated air through said lateral outlet, and an air return passage leading from said lateral outlet into the casing of the blower, whereby to return part of the heated air for reheating.



1,803,422. VARIABLE TRANSMISSION GEAR. LENNOX MILLAR BLYTH, Chirnside, Scotland. Filed Jan. 31, 1930, Serial No. 424,837, and in Great Britain Apr. 20, 1929. 1 Claim. (Cl. 74—34.)

A variable speed transmission gear, comprising in combination with a drive shaft and a driven shaft rotatably mounted in coaxial relation, a lay shaft in parallel relation thereto and means for rotating the lay shaft from the drive shaft at variable speeds, of a compensating variable speed drive mounted between said main drive shaft and said driven shaft and comprising a bevel gear rotatably mounted on the end of said drive shaft and adapted to be rotated by the lay shaft, a worm wheel secured on the end of said drive shaft adjacent said bevel gear, a cross head secured on the abutting end of the driven shaft, a pair of shafts rotatably mounted in said cross head at right angles to said drive shaft, worms carried thereby and in mesh with said worm gear, and bevel pinions mounted on the ends of said shafts and in mesh with said bevel gear.



1,803,423. TANK VALVE. CHARLES F. BROWN, Beaver, Pa. Filed Oct. 15, 1930. Serial No. 488,979. 6 Claims. (Cl. 137—104.)

1. In a device of the class described, a tank having an inlet provided with a seat, a stem slidable in the inlet and carrying a valve that closes upwardly against the seat, a main float slidable on the stem, a first stop on the stem and limiting the upward sliding movement of the main float on the stem, a movable stop carried by the main float, the stem having a part with which the movable stop engages to limit the downward sliding movement of the main float, an auxiliary float, mechanism for mounting the auxiliary float movably on the stem, and means carried by said mechanism for disengaging the movable stop from said part of the stem, as the liquid in the tank recedes from beneath the auxiliary float, thereby transforming the main float into a weight which drops suddenly and strikes said part of the stem a blow that depresses the stem and opens the valve.

1,803,424. BATTERY BOX. FREDERICK C. COSEO, Columbus, Ohio, assignor to The Jeffrey Manufacturing Company. Filed Oct. 12, 1926, Serial No. 141,230. Renewed Sept. 22, 1930. 28 Claims. (Cl. 105—377.)

1. In a battery box, the combination with a cover plate, an arm pivotally attached to each end of said plate, pivotal supports for said arms at the ends of said box, and actuating means at one end of said box to impart simultaneous movement to said arms.

2. In a battery box, the combination with a cover plate, an arm pivotally attached to each end of said plate, pivotal supports for said arms at the ends of said box, and means to impart rotative movement of said arms about said pivotal supports as and for the purpose set forth.

1,803,425. NOZZLE. JOHN A. CUNNINGHAM, Bethlehem, Pa., assignor of one-half to Mary Cunningham, Philadelphia, Pa. Filed Jan. 16, 1930. Serial No. 421,249. 1 Claim. (Cl. 15—104.30.)

In a device of the class described, a nozzle having a tapered forward end, the nozzle being provided with a bore which forms an outlet at the extremity of the tapered end, the nozzle having a hollow circumferential bead located to the rear of the tapered end, there being outwardly inclined passages in the tapered end, in front of the bead, outwardly discharging openings in the nozzle in front of the bead and behind said passages, and alternating with said passages, circumferentially of the nozzle, rearwardly-discharging openings in the bead, and outwardly discharging openings in the nozzle, behind the bead, the body having outwardly extended supporting arms, the passages and the openings communicating with the bore.

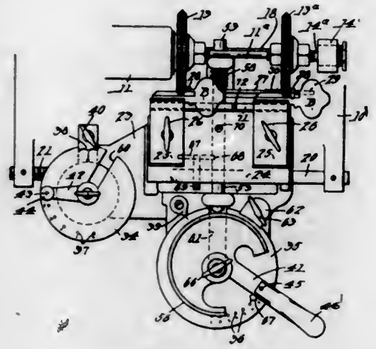
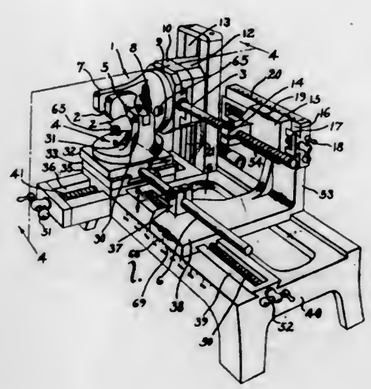
1,803,426. POWER PUMP-ROD LIFT. THEOPHIUS O. DUCKWORTH, Salt Lake City, Utah. Filed Aug. 6, 1929. Serial No. 383,949. 2 Claims. (Cl. 74—14.)



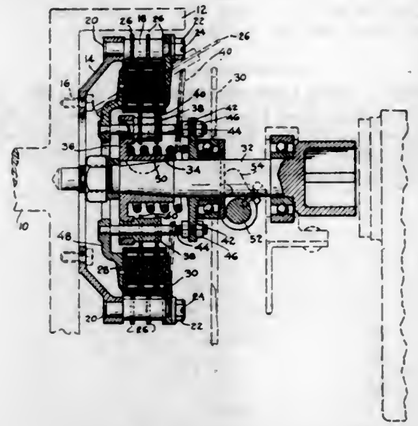
1. In a power pump-rod lift comprising a support having notches therein, horizontally moving rods within said notches, said rods having other rods secured to their ends thereof, said other rods forming guides, a housing having projections thereon, said projections for holding said housing on said guides in such a manner that said housing can be moved upward and downward and means for operating said housing on said guides, all substantially as described.

1,803,427. TRACTION-WHEEL CONSTRUCTION. ERNEST E. EINFELDT, Davenport, Iowa, assignor to French & Hecht, Incorporated, a Corporation of Iowa. Filed Sept. 24, 1929. Serial No. 394,771. 3 Claims. (Cl. 301—44.)



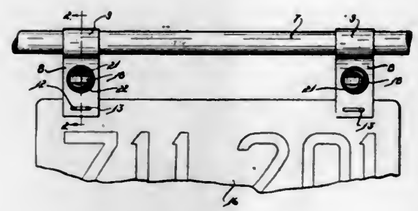
1. An improved cleat for a traction wheel comprising two plates welded together at their inner ends in a common plane, each plate being provided at one edge with a fastening lip extending outwardly from the plate, and said lips being extended in opposite directions from each other and disposed in spaced overlapping relations in planes angularly related to the plane of the plate, and said lips being provided with alined bolt holes to receive a fastening bolt for securing the cleat in position.

1,803,428. KEY-CUTTING MACHINE. MORRIS FALK, Leominster, Mass. Filed Oct. 31, 1927. Serial No. 229,831. 7 Claims. (Cl. 90—13.2.)



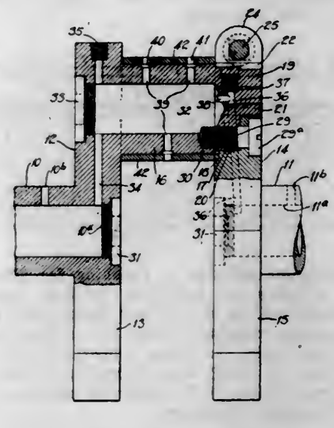
1. In a key cutting machine, the combination with a carriage and a cutter, of a shaft, means for moving the carriage relative to the cutter, a disc on the carriage having an opening adapted to receive the shaft, an arm on said shaft projecting over the disc, and means operated by the shaft for controlling the amount of movement of the carriage.

1,803,429. LENS-TOOL-SURFACING MACHINE. WILLIAM A. GUNNING, Southbridge, Mass., assignor to American Optical Company, Southbridge, Mass., a Voluntary Association of Massachusetts. Filed Nov. 19, 1927. Serial No. 234,460. 23 Claims. (Cl. 82—12.)



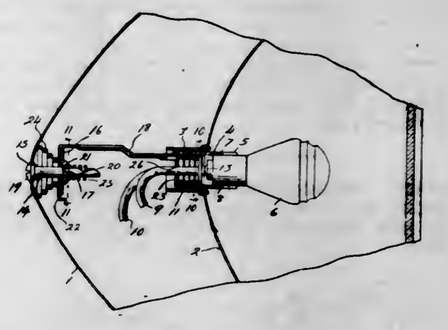
3. In a device of the character described in combination with a surfacing tool, a support for the surfacing tool, a pair of double slides movable at right angles to each other and supporting and carrying the tool support, a radius rod connected to one of the double slides, a work holder having means for holding the work in operable relation with the tool, a pair of double slides movable at right angles to each other and supporting and carrying the work holder, a radius rod connected to one of the double slides for the work holder and a slide having radius rod clamping means adapted to clamp each of the radius rods at desired positions to fix the radii of the arcs in which the tool support and the work holder will move on their double slides, the sets of double slides being in planes at right angles to each other.

1,803,430. CLUTCH MECHANISM. JESSE H. HAND, Detroit, Mich. Filed Feb. 6, 1928. Serial No. 252,139. 6 Claims. (Cl. 192—69.)



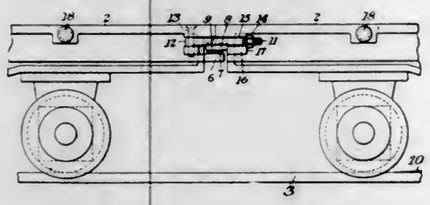
1. Clutch mechanism comprising, in combination with a pair of shafts arranged end to end, a pair of clutch plate carriers one mounted upon each shaft to rotate therewith clutch plates carried by each carrier, thrust plates holding said clutch plates together, one carrier being mounted within the other and provided with tubular parts upon which its clutch plates are supported, operating connections extending through said tubular parts and connected with one thrust plate to be actuated slidably through said parts to release the clutch.

1,803,431. PLATE HOLDER. THOMAS HILL, Detroit, Mich. Filed Feb. 24, 1930. Serial No. 430,657. 2 Claims. (Cl. 40—125.)



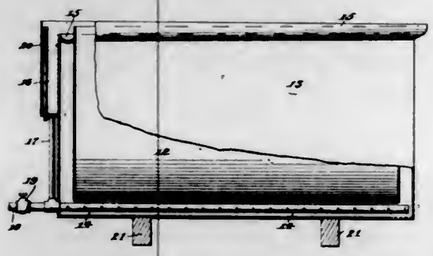
1. A device of the class described, comprising: a pair of plates each having at one end a bulged portion and clamping about a supporting body, each of said plates having a slot formed therein, said slots being in alignment with each other, and one of said plates having an opening formed therein; a projection extending outwardly from the other of said plates and projectable into said opening; a retaining member comprising an elongated stem portion having one end thereof provided with flat faces upon the engagement of which in said slots the rotation of said stem is prevented; a head on said end of said stem projectable through said slots when in alignment therewith; and a spring positioned on said stem adapted to retain said head when projected through said slots and rotated out of alignment therewith in engagement with one of said plates and serving to resist relative movement of said plates.

1,803,432. CRANK SHAFT. PER F. HOLMGREN, Brooklyn, N. Y. Filed Jan. 13, 1930. Serial No. 420,513. 5 Claims. (Cl. 74—38.)



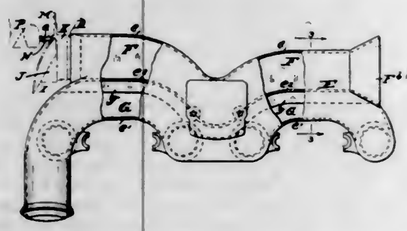
1. A crank shaft of the class described comprising two shaft parts, each of said parts having radially extending integral arms arranged on adjacent ends thereof, one of said arms including an integral crank pin, the free end of which is of reduced size and the other arm having a socket in which the reduced end of said pin is adapted to seat, a key member projecting from the reduced end of said pin and arranged eccentric to the axis thereof for keying the pin against movement with respect to the second named arm, said socket including an eccentric position to receive said key member, and means for securing the pin to said arm.

1,803,433. FOCUSING ADJUSTMENT FOR LAMPS. ALOIS L. MARTINEK, Detroit, Mich., assignor to C. M. Hall Lamp Company, Detroit, Mich., a Corporation of Michigan. Filed June 16, 1930. Serial No. 461,537. 2 Claims. (Cl. 240—44.2.)



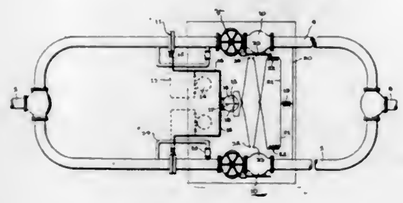
1. In a lamp, a lamp casing, a reflector in the casing, a tiltable bulb retainer carried by the reflector, a rotary operating member accessible through the casing at a point in substantial alignment with the retainer, said member having a square portion and a notch, a cam on the square portion, a spring about the member between the casing and cam, a spring about the member between the cam and notch, and a yoke rigid with the retainer, riding the cam, and having a portion between one of the springs aforesaid and said cam.

1,803,434. APPARATUS FOR USE IN SURFACING SHEET MATERIAL. FREDERIC MERIAN, Pittsburgh, Pa., assignor, by mesne assignments, to Pilkington Brothers Limited, Lancashire, England, a Company of Great Britain. Filed Mar. 10, 1924. Serial No. 698,148. 7 Claims. (Cl. 51—240.)



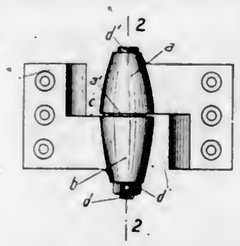
7. Apparatus for grinding or polishing flat glass comprising a plurality of relatively movable associated tables, a projection on one of said tables, and a horizontally disposed engaging surface on an adjacent portion of another table, the riding support for said tables being arranged to bring said projection to rest upon said engaging surface, to maintain the surfaces of said tables in horizontal alignment.

1,803,435. HEAT-EXCHANGE APPARATUS. HARRY L. MILLER, Chester, Pa. Filed Oct. 29, 1930. Serial No. 429,057. 2 Claims. (Cl. 257—208.)



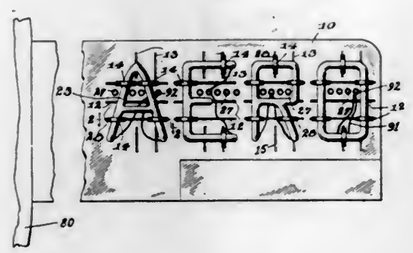
1. A heat exchange apparatus for liquids comprising a vat for holding the liquid to be heated or cooled, a jacket spaced apart from and surrounding said vat, a perforated feed pipe located at the bottom of said vat in the space between the vat and its jacket, a slanting trough at the top of said vat and into which the up-flowing heating or cooling liquid discharges by overflow, a tank at one end of said vat and into which the said trough discharges, and a down-flow pipe connecting said tank with said perforated feed pipe.

1,803,436. COMBINED HEATER AND EXHAUST MANIFOLD. RALPH B. OTWELL, Detroit, Mich. Filed Oct. 29, 1929. Serial No. 403,203. 5 Claims. (Cl. 257—241.)



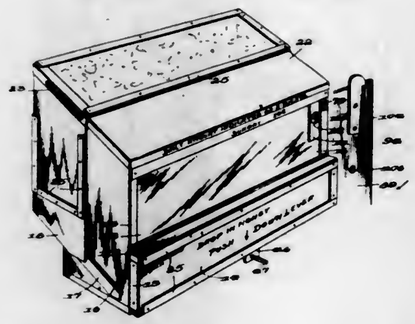
1. In a combined heater and exhaust manifold of the character described, a casing comprising undulating wave-like top, bottom, and a longitudinally extending dividing wall, cast integral with a pair of flat side walls, forming respectively an air heating chamber and an exhaust manifold and whereby the heating surface is relatively increased within a given length by said wave-like walls, said air chamber being divided longitudinally by a plurality of partition walls cast integral with the undulating wave-like top and dividing walls.

1,803,437. PIPE-LINE-CONTROLLING MEANS. ARTHUR H. RINEY and LLOYD T. GIBBS, Bartlesville, Okla., assignors to Phillips Petroleum Company, Bartlesville, Okla. Filed Sept. 6, 1930. Serial No. 480,258. 6 Claims. (Cl. 137—78.)



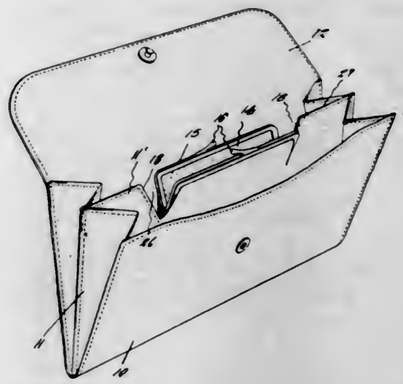
1. A pipe line including a feed pipe and a discharge pipe connected together by branch pipes, each branch pipe having means for obtaining differential pressures therein and a cut-off valve, and automatically operating means actuated by differential pressure in the branches for closing a valve in the branch in which pressure falls below that of the other branch.

1,803,438. HINGE. HENRI FRANCOIS LOUIS JOSEPH ROCHERON, Levallois-Perret, France. Filed July 12, 1929, Serial No. 377,889, and in France Oct. 30, 1928. 1 Claim. (Cl. 16—132.)



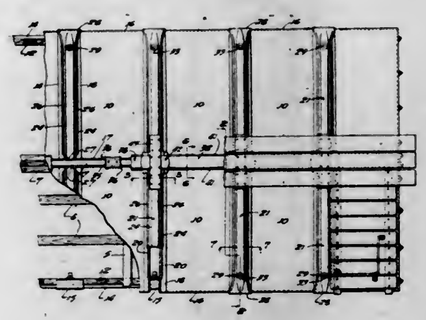
A hinge comprising a male member having a tapered projection thereon, said tapered projection having a rectilinear lateral surface,—a female member having a tapered recess formed therein, said recess having a rectilinear lateral surface adapted to coact with the lateral surface of said projection,—a pintle traversing said male and female elements and operative to maintain said male and female members in assembled relation,—and a spring operative to oppose separation of said male and female members, said spring bearing against part of said pintle at one of the extremities thereof.

1,803,439. ADVERTISING SIGN. AARON ROSENSTEIN, New York, N. Y., assignor to Rosenstein Bros. & Hook, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed Feb. 2, 1929. Serial No. 337,004. 3 Claims. (Cl. 40—130.)



3. The combination with an aeroplane wing, said wing having a plurality of angularly arranged slots therein, of a letter and movable elements adapted to secure said letter to the wing, said elements being selectively positioned in the slots in said wing.

1,803,440. COIN CONTROL FOR VENDING MACHINES. JOHN G. SCHOFIELD, Washington, D. C., assignor, by mesne assignments, to Newspaper Mechanical Sales Company, Washington, D. C., a Corporation of Delaware. Original application filed July 25, 1929, Serial No. 380,870. Divided and this application filed Oct. 4, 1929. Serial No. 397,267. 13 Claims. (Cl. 194—68.)

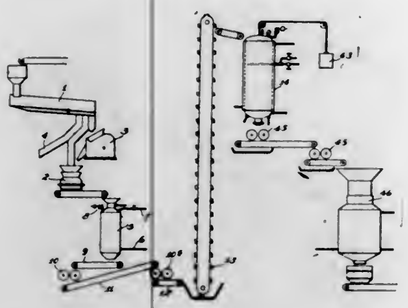


2. In a coin controlled vending machine, a coin chute having a coin holding portion, a movable bar adjacent said chute and carrying a pin projecting into said chute and spaced from the opposite side at a distance less than the diameter of a coin to be held, adjusting means to vary the position of said bar and pin longitudinally of the chute whereby to vary the number of coins held, and camming means for varying the position of said pin toward and from the opposite side as the pin is adjusted longitudinally whereby to vary the size of coins held.

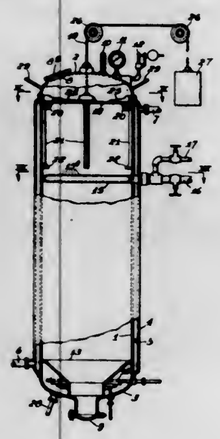
1,803,441. POCKETBOOK. HARRY SERNAKER, New York, N. Y., assignor of one-half to Benn B. Horowit, York, N. Y. Filed Sept. 3, 1930. Serial No. 479,544. 7 Claims. (Cl. 150—30.)

1. In a hand bag, a two part partition having a notched or cut out portion in its upper edge, and a coin purse carried by said partition and mounted between the two parts thereof and between the ends of said notched or cut out portion.

1,803,442. CAR ROOF. EARL R. SWANSON, Chicago, Ill., assignor to Chicago-Cleveland Car Roofing Company, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Aug. 14, 1929. Serial No. 385,870. 9 Claims. (Cl. 108—5.)



1. In a railway car, the combination with purlins, of roof sheets arranged in spaced relation longitudinally of the car, and seam caps respectively spanning the spaces between adjacent roof sheets, each of said seam caps having a depressed portion interposed between the adjoining edges of adjacent roof sheets for limiting movement of the latter longitudinally of the car, said depressed portions of the seam caps being in supporting engagement with the purlins.



1,803,443. PROCESS OF PREPARING FIBER FROM WOOD AND WOOD WASTE. PAUL G. VON HILDEBRANDT, Pittsburgh, Pa., assignor to Howard B. Salkeld, Pittsburgh, Pa. Filed Nov. 20, 1928. Serial No. 320,601. 11 Claims. (Cl. 92—13.)

1. A process of preparing pulp from wood material, comprising digesting the wood with a reagent adapted to partially attack the incrustants and open the grain, subsequently confining the preliminarily softened wood under mechanical pressure in an indirectly heated digester, and while thus confined digesting with a second reagent to remove a further amount of the incrustants and free the fiber.

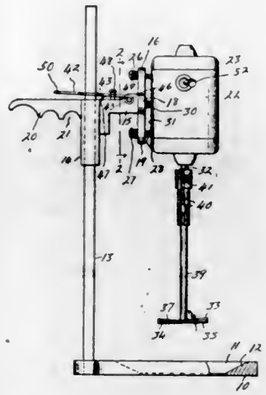
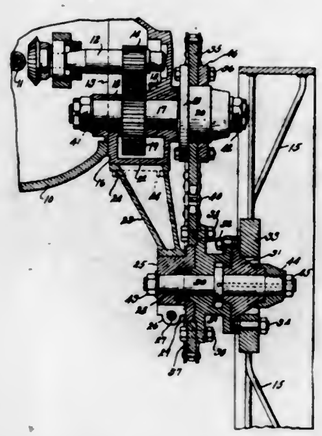
1,803,444. DIGESTER. PAUL G. VON HILDEBRANDT, Pittsburgh, Pa., assignor to Howard B. Salkeld, Pittsburgh, Pa. Filed Nov. 20, 1928. Serial No. 320,602. 5 Claims. (Cl. 92—7.)



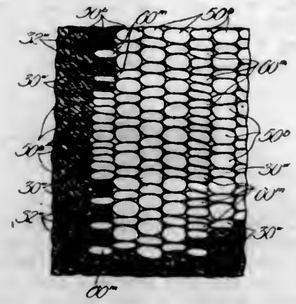
1. An apparatus for digesting wood and the like comprising a shell, means associated with said shell for maintaining a charge of said material compact during digestion, means for withdrawing digested material from the bottom of the shell and means for indirectly heating said charge.

1,803,445. WALL PLASTER. GORDON R. WALPER, Royal Oak, Mich. Filed Dec. 22, 1928. Serial No. 328,063. 1 Claim. (Cl. 106—84.)



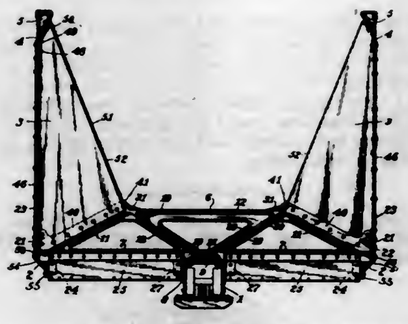
A mixture for plaster comprising powdered calcined gypsum, coarser particles of virgin gypsum shale of such a size as to provide internal support, and particles of gypsum calcined of substantially the same size.

1,803,446. ELECTRIC MIXER. CHARLES F. WARRICK, Detroit, Mich. Filed Dec. 10, 1928. Serial No. 324,999. 9 Claims. (Cl. 259—135.)



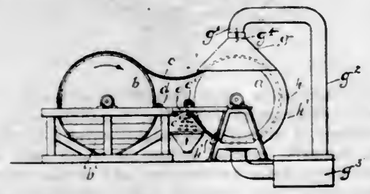
1. A mixing device comprising a standard, a laterally projecting supporting member, a motor having a vertical axis, a plurality of supporting arms on said supporting member arranged to one side of the axis of said motor, and spring connections between the casing of said motor and said supporting arms.

1,803,447. EXTENSION SUPPORT AND DRIVING MEANS FOR TRACTORS. ROLLIN H. WHITE, Cleveland Heights, Ohio. Filed Sept. 27, 1928. Serial No. 308,773. 4 Claims. (Cl. 180—70.)



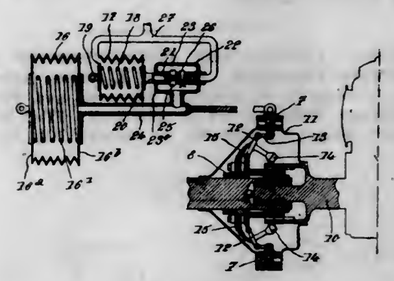
1. In a tractor, the combination with a transmission housing having a driven shaft projecting therefrom, of an auxiliary traction extension comprising a traction wheel hub secured to the projecting end of said shaft, a sprocket detachably secured to said wheel hub, a depending bracket detachably secured to the base of said transmission housing, a fixed axle carried by said bracket, a rotatable hub carried by said fixed axle, a sprocket secured to said rotatable hub, a drive chain encircling said sprockets, and a traction wheel secured to said rotatable hub.

1,803,448. FRICTION MATERIAL. RUDOLF L. R. WILD, Chicago, Ill., assignor to Union Asbestos & Rubber Company, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed Nov. 29, 1929. Serial No. 410,625. 3 Claims. (Cl. 139—425.)



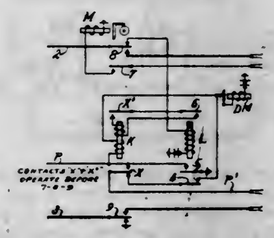
2. A woven brake lining comprising a plurality of transverse filler threads, a plurality of longitudinal warp threads interwoven with the filler threads to form plies of fabric, a plurality of binder threads successively interwoven with the filler threads of different plies and extending longitudinally of the lining, and a plurality of soft metallic wires extending longitudinally of said lining and exposed at regularly spaced points on the surface of said lining, said wires extending diagonally between predetermined points on one side of said lining to predetermined points on the other side of said lining to form exposed metal surfaces of substantially constant area when the lining is worn down.

1,803,449. CROSS-BEARER. WILLIAM E. WINE, Toledo, Ohio. Filed June 4, 1928. Serial No. 282,782. 20 Claims. (Cl. 105—230.)



1. A cross bearer for freight cars of substantially trapezoidal form, the nonparallel sides thereof being adapted to receive angular plates for tying the sides of the freight car to said cross bearer.

1,803,450. DRYING APPARATUS. ARTHUR WRIGHT, Upper Montclair, N. J. Filed June 12, 1926. Serial No. 115,517. 1 Claim. (Cl. 34—12.)



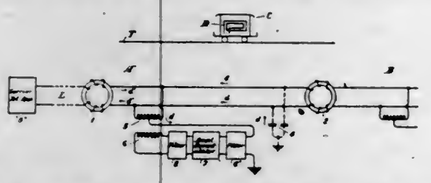
In combination, a rotary drum dryer, a reenforcing medium to conduct a moisture containing mass into contact with the drum, a housing for the drum allowing ingress and exit for the re-enforcing medium, means of ingress and exit for a gaseous medium, means to conduct the gaseous medium from the last named exit, means to the last named means of ingress, and heating means for said gaseous medium between said means of ingress and exit last mentioned.

1,803,451. SPARK-ADVANCING APPARATUS. STANISLAS JANVIER ZIEMBINSKI, Bellevne, France. Filed Nov. 5, 1928, Serial No. 317,356, and in France Nov. 18, 1927. 13 Claims. (Cl. 123—117.)

1. A spark advancing apparatus comprising in combination a fuel intake conduit, a first expansible chamber, a variable pressure chamber, a tube communicating at one extremity with said intake conduit and, at its other extremity, with said first expansible chamber and with said variable pressure chamber, a valve actuable by changes in volume of said first expansible chamber and positioned to control the point at which said tube communicates with the variable pressure chamber, a second expansible chamber communicating with said variable pressure chamber, and means actuable by the expansion and contraction of said second expansible chamber to advance and retard a spark.

1,803,452. ROTARY LINE-SWITCH CIRCUIT. HERBERT ADAMS, Liverpool, England, assignor, by mesne assignments, to Associated Telephone & Telegraph Company, Kansas City, Mo. Filed Dec. 6, 1926, Serial No. 152,795, and in Great Britain Jan. 7, 1926. Renewed May 4, 1929. 19 Claims. (Cl. 179—18.)

1. In a telephone system, a switch including a line relay, a switching relay, means for operating said relays, and means rendered effective after the switching relay has operated to a certain extent to delay the full operation of the switching relay.



1,803,453. SYSTEM FOR COMMUNICATING WITH MOVING VEHICLES. HERMAN A. AFFEL, Ridgewood, N. J., assignor to American Telephone and Telegraph Company, a Corporation of New York. Filed Mar. 30, 1928. Serial No. 266,091. 3 Claims. (Cl. 179—82.)

1. A system for communicating with moving vehicles comprising a transmission line inductively associated with a moving vehicle, means for sectionalizing said line with respect to currents applied thereto in a certain manner, said means comprising inductance coils having their windings parallel aiding and series opposed, and means in each of said line sections to apply said currents to said line in a different manner.

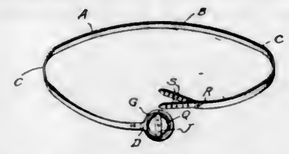
1,803,454. SYSTEM FOR COMMUNICATING WITH MOVING VEHICLES. HERMAN A. AFFEL, Ridgewood, N. J., assignor to American Telephone and Telegraph Company, a Corporation of New York. Filed Mar. 30, 1928. Serial No. 266,092. 5 Claims. (Cl. 179—82.)

2. A system for communicating with moving vehicles comprising a transmission line inductively associated with signaling apparatus in a moving vehicle whereby currents will be induced from said signaling apparatus into said line and will traverse the sides of said line in parallel, means for dividing said line into sections with respect to currents traversing the sides of the line in parallel, means for reducing the frequency of currents thus traversing the line, and means for applying said currents as reduced in frequency to said line whereby they will traverse the sides thereof serially.

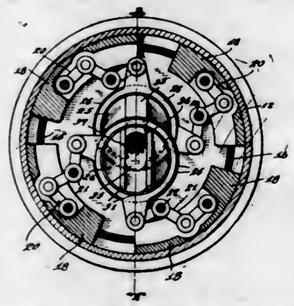
1,803,455. POWER PLANT. WILBUR H. ARMACOST, New York, N. Y., assignor to The Superheater Company, New York, N. Y. Filed July 22, 1927. Serial No. 207,703. 6 Claims. (Cl. 60—43.)



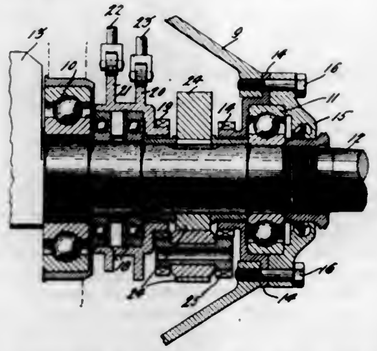
1. In a power plant, a high pressure steam generator and superheater, a high pressure prime mover receiving steam from said superheater, a source of low pressure steam delivering to a low pressure steam supply line, a connection delivering exhaust steam from said prime mover to said low pressure steam supply line, a conduit connecting said high pressure generator with said low pressure steam supply line, a desuperheater located in said connection, and means for isolating either said prime mover or said desuperheater from both said steam generator and said low pressure steam supply line.

1,803,456. AUTOMATIC MEANS FOR LUBRICATING THE BEARINGS OF A MACHINE. HART W. ATWOOD, Portland, Oreg. Filed Mar. 8, 1927. Serial No. 173,724. 4 Claims. (Cl. 184—7.)

1. In lubricating means for machine bearings, a source of lubricant, means for placing said source under pressure, and an individual lubricator at each bearing connected by a conduit with said source, said lubricator comprising a storage chamber provided with inlet and outlet passageways, the former connected with said conduit, a valve-chamber included in said inlet passageway and provided with inlet and outlet ports, the inlet port being located nearest the entrance of said passageway, and having a separate inlet duct extending therefrom into said storage-chamber, said outlet port being connected with said outlet passageway, a piston-valve reciprocal in said valve-chamber, adapted in one position to close said inlet port and in its other position to close said outlet port and open said inlet port, a supplemental valve-chamber included in said separate inlet-duct, and a check valve in such supplemental valve-chamber, whereby the pressure of the lubricant, from said source, and the pressure in said storage-chamber will tend, respectively, to position said piston-valve relative to said ports of said valve chamber.

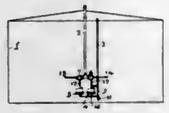


1,803,457. TRUSS FOR THE REDUCTION OR ALLEVIATION OF HERNIA. ALBERT BAEHR, Chicago, Ill. Filed June 29, 1925. Serial No. 40,446. 4 Claims. (Cl. 128—121.)



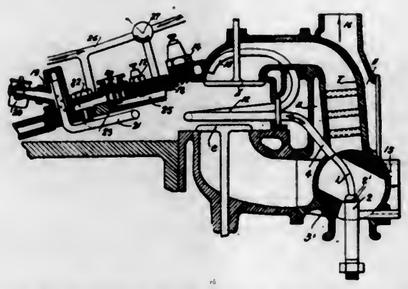
3. In a device of the class described, a resilient member adapted to encircle a human body, a forked member pivoted to said resilient member and rotatable on an axis constituting a continuation of that of said resilient member, a leaf spring pivoted between the extremities of said forked member, and a pad pivotally secured to said leaf spring and rotatable in a plane substantially parallel to that of said spring.

1,803,458. CLUTCH. ROBERT C. BERRY, Indianapolis, Ind. Filed Mar. 8, 1928. Serial No. 259,974. 9 Claims. (Cl. 74—14.)



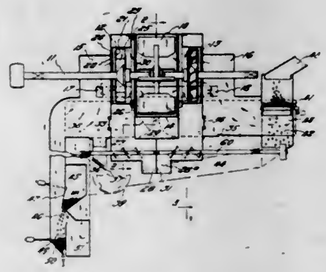
1. In combination, two relatively rotatable co-axial members, one or more eccentrics rotatable with one of said members, a plurality of weights carried by the other of said members, guiding means in which said weights are circumferentially oscillatable, and means operatively interconnecting said weights and eccentrics to cause oscillation of said weights as said two members rotate relatively to each other.

1,803,459. VALVE GEAR. JOSEPH J. BOLAND, Keyport, N. J., assignor, by mesne assignments, to Aeromarine Plane & Motor Company, Inc., Keyport, N. J., a Corporation of New York. Filed June 25, 1928. Serial No. 288,193. 5 Claims. (Cl. 123—90.)



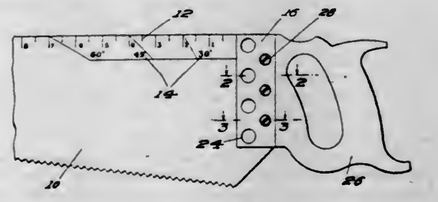
1. In apparatus of the class described, the combination with an engine having a casing and a crank-shaft extending therethrough, of a valve gear driven from the crank-shaft in which one of the gears extends exteriorly of said casing and secured thereto in a manner as to permit rotation of same at the will of an operator.

1,803,460. FIRE PREVENTION SYSTEMS FOR TANKS. STEPHEN H. BROOKS, Los Angeles, Calif., assignor to Brooks Engineering Corporation, Los Angeles, Calif., a Corporation of California. Filed Dec. 15, 1926. Serial No. 154,937. 5 Claims. (Cl. 220—88.)



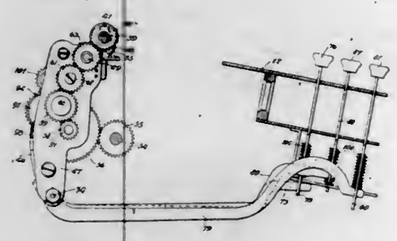
1. In a combined vapor recovery and fire prevention system, a tank for holding inflammable material, a pipe connection from beneath the roof of the tank leading to a pair of differential regulators, a separate vapor flow pipe communicating with the inside of the tank said pipe terminating in oppositely positioned outlets, a valve casing connected to each of said outlets, valves within the casings, means for separately connecting the valves to the controllers, and separate external pipe connections to the valve casings.

1,803,461. INTERNAL-COMBUSTION ENGINE. CHARLES HENRI CLAUDEL, Veuxhaulles, France. Filed Apr. 6, 1927, Serial No. 181,469, and in France Dec. 24, 1926. 4 Claims. (Cl. 123—127.)



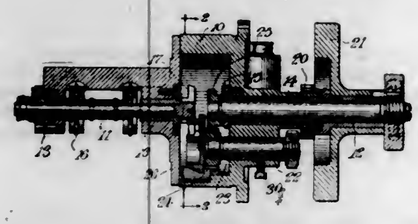
1. In an explosion motor with a main ignition device, a safety sparking device mounted upon the cylinder head and forming sparking anvil and inspection port, a conduit therein, a valve in said conduit, and means supplying a fuel mixture to one end of said conduit, the opposite end thereof opening in proximity of the main ignition device.

1,803,462. CENTRIFUGAL-TYPE DUST SEPARATOR. CLAUDE HAROLD CRAGO, Strathfield, near Sydney, and ALBERT ERNEST HAMILTON, Carlington, near Sydney, New South Wales, Australia. Filed Mar. 23, 1928, Serial No. 264,249, and in Australia June 30, 1927. 4 Claims. (Cl. 209—144.)



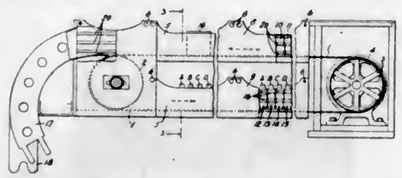
3. Grain cleaning apparatus comprising a pair of cylindrical casings each open centrally at both ends and having an annular peripheral slot at its inner end, a closed dust chamber enclosing said casings, a centrifugal separating fan with helical vanes operating in each of said casings at the end distant from said peripheral slot, both of said fans being mounted on one shaft, a shroud ring on the outer side of said fan shrouding said vanes, a shroud disc on the inner side of said fan, said shroud disc being slightly greater in diameter than the internal diameter of said shroud ring, a circulating centrifugal fan located between said separating fans and arranged to draw air through said casings in an axial direction, said air passing between the vanes of the separating fans and over the periphery of said shroud discs, the dust moving along with said air being trapped by the inner ends of said casings and falling by gravity out through said peripheral slots into said dust chamber, and a closed circuit system of passages connecting the intake and exhaust sides of said circulating fan.

1,803,463. SAW. CARL T. DANIELSON, Chicago, Ill. Filed Dec. 31, 1928. Serial No. 329,355. 1 Claim. (Cl. 145—108.)



A saw, including a saw blade, a handle thereon, and means for attaching the handle to the blade, said means comprising metallic shoulders for the handle, said metallic shoulders comprising a pair of channel members, the blade and the channel members having aligned openings, and rivets positioned in the openings, the channel members being provided with additional outside openings for the ready insertion of the said rivets, and a handle removably positioned with respect to the blade and shoulders, together with a plurality of double screws for mounting the handle on the shoulders and blade.

1,803,464. ATTACHMENT FOR CALCULATING MACHINES. ADOLPHUS S. DENNIS, Oakland, Calif., assignor to Monroe Calculating Machine Company, Orange, N. J., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed July 17, 1929. Serial No. 378,942. 5 Claims. (Cl. 235—144.)



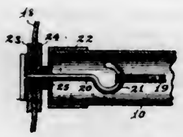
1. In a calculating machine having a set of accumulators, a set of counters, a motor for operating said accumulators and counters, and clearing devices common to said accumulators and counters, the combination of a key for connecting said motor to said clearing devices for effecting clearing of said accumulators, a key for connecting said motor to said clearing devices for effecting clearing of said counters, and a key operable to effect operation of the first and second said keys one after the other.

1,803,465. ADJUSTABLE GENEVA INTERMITTENT. AUGUSTO DINA, Jersey City, N. J., assignor to International Projector Corporation, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Nov. 30, 1928. Serial No. 322,696. 2 Claims. (Cl. 74—41.)

1. In a motion picture apparatus, a sprocket adapted to be intermittently rotated through comparatively small angles, a shaft carrying said sprocket and rigidly secured thereto, means for rotatably mounting said shaft, a star wheel secured to said shaft and having a plurality of radially extending slots and cam surfaces therebetween, means for driving said star wheel comprising a pin wheel having a pin adapted to engage said slots and a cam surface adapted to engage said first mentioned cam surfaces, said cam surfaces being tapered in the direction of their axes whereby relative longitudinal adjustment thereof serves to maintain said surfaces in engagement, a driving shaft rigidly secured to said pin wheel and carrying a driving gear, a bushing rotatably mounting said driving shaft and supporting the same against longitudinal movement, a support for said bushing, means for adjusting said bushing longitudinally of said driving shaft and clamping said bushing in said support, a gear substantially coaxial with said star wheel and in driving engagement with said driving gear, a shaft supporting said last mentioned gear wheel and a fly wheel carried by said shaft for maintaining substantially constant rotation thereof while said sprocket is being intermittently rotated.

1,803,466. TICKET-DISTRIBUTING SYSTEM. GEORGE A. DREW, Des Moines, Iowa, assignor to American Telephone and Telegraph Company, a Corporation of New York. Filed Sept. 2, 1927. Serial No. 217,295. 1 Claim. (Cl. 198—42.)

In a ticket distributing system, an endless belt, means for supporting and driving said belt, a series of longitudinal extending vertical guides mounted above each of the upper surfaces of said belt and forming channels for the reception of tickets which are arranged to travel on the belt in opposite directions, said guides presenting only a small area of contact to the traveling tickets, resilient means adapted to be located in one of said series of guides for stopping said tickets at predetermined points on one run of the belt and ticket receiving receptacles located on the other run of the belt, at the termination of said other series of guides.

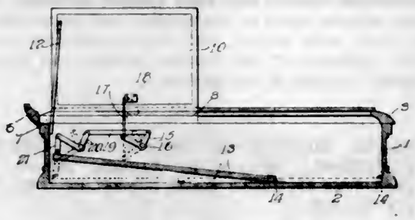


1,803,467. ELECTRICAL-RESISTANCE ALLOY. WILBUR B. DRIVER, East Orange, and STANLEY R. KEITH, Montclair, N. J., assignors to Gilby Wire Company, Newark, N. J., a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed July 3, 1930. Serial No. 465,643. 2 Claims. (Cl. 75—1.)

2. An electrical resistance alloy comprising vanadium between 2% and 5%, manganese between 5% and 40%, nickel between 35% and 50%, chromium between 5% and 20%, and the balance iron.

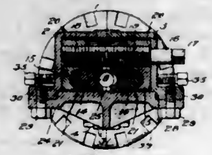
1,803,468. ELECTRICAL-RESISTANCE ALLOY. WILBUR B. DRIVER, East Orange, and STANLEY R. KEITH, Montclair, N. J., assignors to Gilby Wire Company, Newark, N. J., a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed July 3, 1930. Serial No. 465,644. 1 Claim. (Cl. 75—1.)

An electrical resistance alloy comprising aluminum 5%, vanadium between 2 and 3½%, chromium 15%, nickel between 60 and 75% and the balance iron.



1,803,469. TOY AIRPLANE. NORMAN E. GARDNER, Allentown, Pa. Filed Nov. 23, 1929. Serial No. 409,274. 3 Claims. (Cl. 46—50.)

2. A toy airplane including a tubular body, a propeller, an arbor journaled on one end of said body, said propeller being mounted on said arbor, members on said arbor frictionally engaged with the opposite sides of said propeller to cause the propeller to turn with said arbor, and torsional means within said body and connected with said arbor to turn the arbor.



1,803,470. BURIAL CASKET. ALBERT G. HARMS, Chicago, Ill. Filed Apr. 18, 1927. Serial No. 184,463. 11 Claims. (Cl. 27—13.)

1. The combination with a casket having a top closure, a spring bottom fulcrumed upon the bottom of the casket and including a spring structure adapted to support a mattress, and a depressed central portion over the fulcrum and supporting said spring structure, and means at the head end of the casket and co-operating with the adjacent end of the bed bottom to raise or lower the same and hold it in an adjusted position.

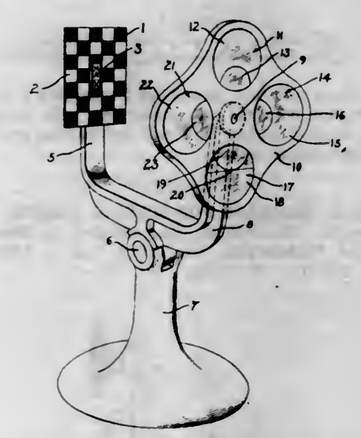
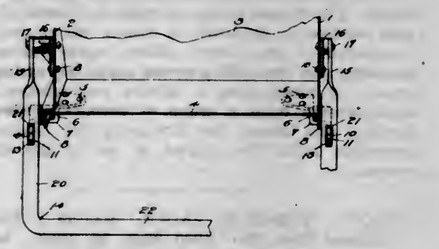
1,803,471. STUFFING BOX. ALFRED G. HEGGEM, Tulsa, Okla. Filed Mar. 26, 1927. Serial No. 178,607. 6 Claims. (Cl. 286—16.)



1. In a device of the character indicated, the combination with a stuffing box having alined openings for the passage of a reciprocating element to be packed, of flexible packing means comprising laterally separable sections, packing followers disposed between said stuffing box and said packing means on opposite sides of the axis of the alined openings, and a threaded rod for simultaneously actuating said followers toward the axis of the alined openings, said rod having threaded engagement with said followers.

1,803,472. PIPE COUPLING. CHAUNCEY F. JAHNS, Schuyler, Nebr. Filed Feb. 8, 1927. Serial No. 166,749. 1 Claim. (Cl. 285—203.)



A unitary device of the class described comprising a pipe coupling, a wrench slidable along said coupling, means on said coupling preventing detachment of the wrench therefrom, the coupling having a substantially polygonal portion engageable by the wrench in one position whereby the latter is operable to turn the coupling, said coupling also having a portion engageable by the wrench in another position wherein the coupling and wrench may be moved relatively to each other, particularly to enable adjustment of the wrench relatively to the coupling between turning operation of the coupling.

1,803,473. LENS-TESTING DEVICE. GEORGE S. JOHNSTON, San Francisco, Calif., assignor to American Optical Company, Southbridge, Mass., a Voluntary Association of Massachusetts. Filed Nov. 21, 1927. Serial No. 234,713. 3 Claims. (Cl. 88—56.)

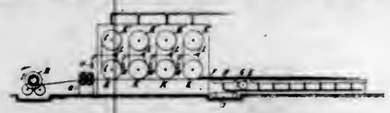
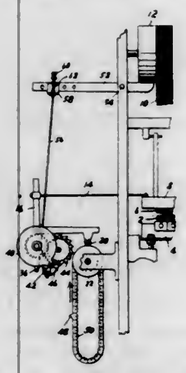
1,803,474. CAR-DOOR MECHANISM. BYERS W. KADEL, Baltimore, Md. Filed May 3, 1928. Serial No. 274,844. 16 Claims. (Cl. 105—308.)



1. In a railway car having hoppers disposed transversely of the car, a hinged door for each of said hoppers, the hinge axis of said doors extending transversely of the car and the doors being adapted to swing to open position under the influence of gravity, and door supporting mechanism for each hopper involving a plurality of members respectively secured to the hopper door adjacent the opposite sides thereof and a member pivotally mounted on the sides of the hopper and respectively engageable with said members on the door for maintaining said door in closed position, said member having a portion extending from one side of the hopper to the other and spaced from the closed door in the direction of opening movement thereof.

1,803,475. APPARATUS FOR MAKING BANDS OF ARTIFICIAL FIBERS. ADOLF KÄMPF, Premnitz/Westhavelland, Germany, assignor to I. G. Farbenindustrie Aktiengesellschaft, Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany, a Corporation of Germany. Filed Feb. 18, 1928, Serial No. 255,473, and in Germany Mar. 5, 1927. 2 Claims. (Cl. 18—8.)



1. A device for guiding and washing a continuously spun moving bundle of artificial fibers on its way from a plurality of spinning nozzles to the drying device comprising a rail, said rail being provided with projections adapted to subdivide said bundle of filaments when traveling across said rail, means for discharging a fluid along the surface of said rail contacting with said bundle, and a conduit within said rail for leading said fluid to said discharging means.

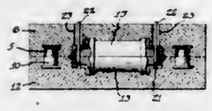
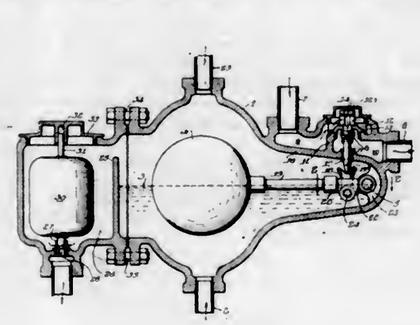
1,803,476. MACHINE FOR MAKING FABRIC. CARL F. KAPPLER, Philadelphia, Pa., assignor to Simon Friedberger, Philadelphia, Pa. Filed Aug. 1, 1928. Serial No. 296,712. 1 Claim. (Cl. 66—85.)



In a fabric making machine including a plurality of needles and thread guides movable to present threads to said needles, a plurality of means for controlling the movements of the thread guides, means for selectively rendering the controlling means operative, spring pressed means for maintaining a definite and substantial minimum tension upon a group of threads passing to the needles, and means for increasing the tension during operation under the control of one of the controlling means.

1,803,477. STRAINER VALVE. MARTIN J. KULLANDER, Calumet City, Ill. Filed Sept. 26, 1927. Serial No. 222,028. 3 Claims. (Cl. 210—167.)

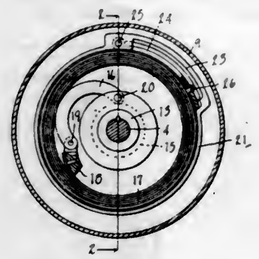


1. A strainer valve, including in combination, a valve body, inlet and outlet pipes attached to the body, a slitted cylindrical strainer in the body, and means for cleaning said strainer while in operation, said cleaner means additionally acting as a valve closure element, said combination cleaner and valve element including an annular member fitted in the strainer and contacting with the inner walls thereof, and blades removably mounted in the periphery of said annular member, and projecting through the slits in the strainer.

1,803,478. METHOD OF JIGGING AND DOWELING PATTERNS. ARTHUR K. LAUKEL, Detroit, Mich. Filed June 21, 1928. Serial No. 287,315. 10 Claims. (Cl. 29—148.)

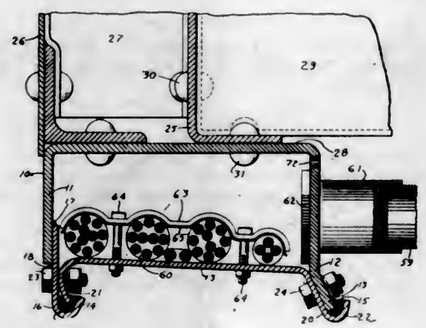
1. A method of jigging and trimming patterns consisting in forming impressions of split and aligned sections of a working pattern in casts equipped with aligning means, removing said sections from the depressions and placing in said depressions thus formed, metallic pattern sections of similar exterior dimensions to the working pattern sections, and trimming the parting surfaces of said metal sections while in the casts.

1,803,479. WATER REGULATOR FOR BOILERS. JAMES MCALEAR, Chicago, Ill. Filed Aug. 8, 1925. Serial No. 49,149. 10 Claims. (Cl. 137—101.)



1. A water regulator for boilers comprising a receptacle adapted to be connected with the boiler below the water level and above the water level, a float in said receptacle, a valve controlled by said float which when open admits water to the boiler, an overflow member associated with said receptacle which projects above the normal water level, an overflow chamber into which the water from said receptacle flows when it passes the overflow member, and means for automatically discharging the water from the overflow chamber.

1,803,480. GRAY CAST IRON. PAUL D. MERICA, Westfield, JAMES S. VANICK, Elizabeth, and THOMAS H. WICKENDEN, Roselle, N. J., assignors, by mesne assignments, to The International Nickel Company, Inc., New York, N. Y., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed July 16, 1927. Serial No. 206,378. 5 Claims. (Cl. 75—1.)



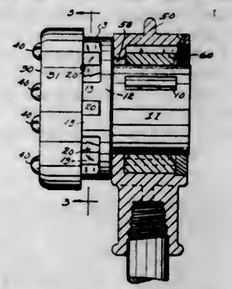
2. A substantially no-growth gray cast iron containing approximately .30% silicon for deoxidizing the iron, and nickel in amount from 0.5 to 5.0% render the casting gray and machinable.

1,803,481. SPRING-ACTUATED REEL. JOHN E. MINTY, Muskegon, Mich., assignor to Shaw-Crane-Putnam Machine Company, Muskegon, Mich. Filed Oct. 12, 1928. Serial No. 312,066. 17 Claims. (Cl. 242—107.)

17. In a spring actuated device, the combination of a shaft, a hub on said shaft, a spring surrounding said hub, means connecting the inner end of said springs to said hub, an annular member rotatable relatively to said shaft and having an inner cylindrical surface against which the spring expands when unwound, and means connecting the outer end of the spring to said member permitting the spring to be wound or unwound without subjecting the end thereof to any kinking strains.

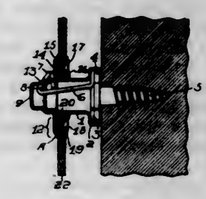
1,803,482. CONDUIT STRUCTURE FOR RAILWAY CARS. WILLIAM H. MUSSEY and HARRY A. HELLMAN, Chicago, Ill., assignors to The Pullman Car & Manufacturing Corporation, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed July 26, 1929. Serial No. 381,332. 14 Claims. (Cl. 105—329.)

1. In a railway car, a conduit system comprising a series of car framing members operatively connected and formed to provide cable housings, cables supported within said housings, and closure members supporting certain of said cables.



2. In a railway car, a plurality of supporting frame members extending longitudinally and upon opposite sides of the car and formed to provide cable housings, and a transverse housing connecting said members, said transverse housing member constituting a crossbearer in the framing assembly.

1,803,483. MAGNIFYING MEASURING INSTRUMENT. DENIS HENRY O'MEARA, Detroit, Mich., assignor to American Optical Company, Southbridge, Mass., a Voluntary Association of Massachusetts. Filed Oct. 27, 1927. Serial No. 229,062. 6 Claims. (Cl. 88—39.)



1. In a measuring device, a flexible measuring portion having measuring markings and a lens mounted thereon adapted to be aligned with selected portions of the measuring portion by bending the measuring portion to bring the lens over the desired portion.

1,803,484. DIESTOCK. ROBERT B. PEALER, Warren, Ohio, assignor to The Borden Company, Warren, Ohio, a Corporation of Ohio. Filed Sept. 10, 1930. Serial No. 480,929. 5 Claims. (Cl. 10—120.)

2. A driven barrel for a die stock, comprising a sleeve, an outwardly extending head thereon and chaser-lugs arranged in pairs on the longitudinally outer face of the head, there being parallel sided radial passageways to the exterior between the two lugs of each pair, and wider passageways to the exterior between successive pairs, rectangular chasers occupying said parallel sided passageways, and a cup-like ring secured to the housing and having a flange overlapping only the outer longitudinal portions of the chasers and their housings and the space between so as to receive the outward thrust of the chasers and at the same time leave open radial spaces to the exterior along the face of the barrel head and between the chaser housings.

1,803,485. STUD AND GROMMET FASTENER. ARTHUR C. PETERS, Chicago, Ill., assignor to Cinch Manufacturing Corporation, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed Aug. 6, 1928. Serial No. 297,587. 5 Claims. (Cl. 24—211.)

1. A snap fastener stud having a hollow shank and a one-piece spring wire latch presenting member assembled with said shank, said latch presenting member having a latch portion normally extending through an opening in the shank for engagement with a socket, a portion fixed relative to said shank and a movable portion located within the hollow shank and connecting the fixed portion and the latch portion to permit movement of the latch portion with respect to said shank and an axially movable latch operating plunger normally pressed in one direction by the latch presenting member and adapted to be pressed in the opposite direction to move the latch portion into the hollow shank and permit disengagement from the stud of a cooperating fastener socket.

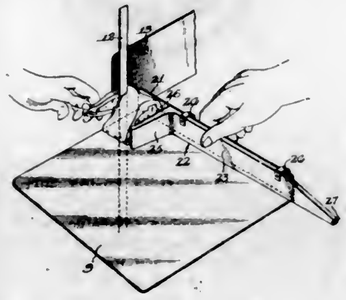
1,803,486. CUT-OUT FOR INCANDESCENT ELECTRIC LAMPS. HENRY RAU, Jr., New York, N. Y., assignor to Westinghouse Lamp Company, a Corporation of Pennsylvania. Filed June 22, 1927. Serial No. 200,560. 2 Claims. (Cl. 176—24.)

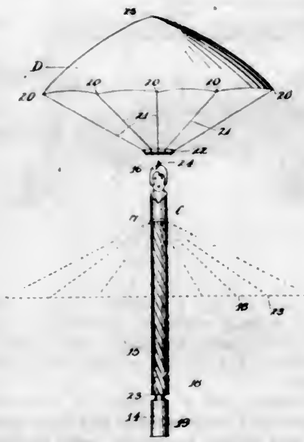
1. An incandescent electric lamp comprising a bulb, a mount having a filament disposed in said bulb and lead wires projecting from said bulb, a base including a metallic shell and a contact member insulated therefrom, and one of the lead wires connected with said contact-member and the other with the shell, a material disposed in contact with said shell and said first named wire, said material being capable of serving as a resistance during the normal operation of the lamp and as a conductor upon the failure of a flow of current through the lamp bulb.

1,803,487. SHARPENING MECHANISM FOR GRINDING MACHINES. ROBERT E. READ, White Plains, N. Y., assignor to International Paper Company, a Corporation of New York. Filed May 14, 1927. Serial No. 191,307. 7 Claims. (Cl. 125—11.)



1. In combination with a grinding machine provided with a rotary grinding element, a traversing carriage movable crosswise of the grinding face of said element, a slide mounted on said carriage and movable relatively thereto and from said grinding face, a sharpening tool carried by the slide, mechanism mounted on the carriage and operatively connected with the slide for moving it on the carriage, a rotary shaft extending in the direction of movement of the traversing carriage and having operative engagement with said mechanism in the different positions of the carriage, a power cylinder and a piston therein operatively engaged with the shaft for rotating it, and means for controlling the operation of the piston.

1,803,488. BITUMINOUS COMPOSITION. EDGAR S. ROSS, Pittsburgh, Pa., assignor to The Philip Carey Manufacturing Company, a Corporation of Ohio. Filed May 20, 1927. Serial No. 193,068. 4 Claims. (Cl. 134—1.)

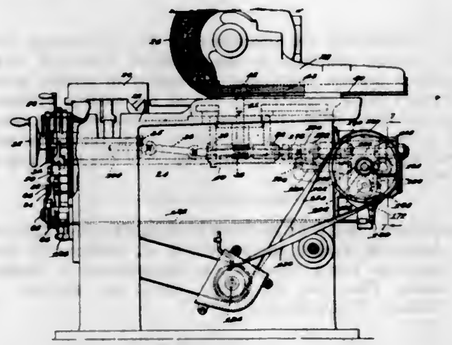


1. The process of producing a bituminous composition comprising dissolving bituminous material in a volatile solvent having a boiling point lower than that of water, driving off the major part of said solvent, gradually adding the solution of bituminous material to a dilute aqueous alkaline solution substantially free from foreign material heated at normal atmospheric pressure to a temperature slightly above the boiling point of the volatile solvent but not substantially above the boiling point of water, simultaneously agitating the mixture and driving off the remainder of the volatile solvent.

1,803,489. MEAT-CUTTING DEVICE. ARNOLD C. SCHUEREN, Chicago, Ill., assignor, by mesne assignments, to Vaughan Company, a Corporation of Illinois. Filed Nov. 12, 1928. Serial No. 318,665. 1 Claim. (Cl. 143—25.)

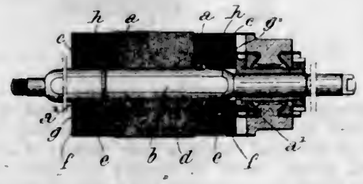
In a meat cutting machine, a band saw, means for moving said band saw, a work support positioned adjacent said saw and to one side thereof, a work table upon said support and movable past said saw, said table having an upturned flange along its rear edge and extending toward said saw, an L-shaped guide positioned on said table comprising a stock portion slidable along said flange and an integral laterally extending jaw portion for engaging material to be cut, and resilient U-shaped clamps engaging said stock portion and said flange for removably securing said stock portion in sliding contact with said flange.

1,803,490. TOY. CHARLES C. STETSON, St. Paul, Minn. Filed Sept. 20, 1928. Serial No. 307,110. 11 Claims. (Cl. 46—52.)



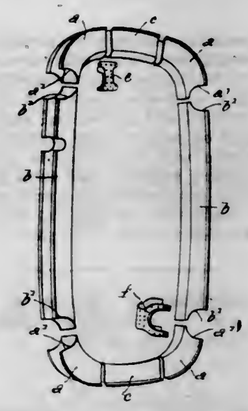
1. A toy including, a miniature figure of a doll, a parachute skirt for said figure, a parachute hood for said figure, and projectile means adapted to shoot said figure into the air when said projectile means is struck a sharp blow, whereby air entering the hood as the projectile descends will cause the hood to leave said figure and the parachute skirt to floatingly descend said figure in the air.

1,803,491. MANUFACTURE OF ELASTIC JOINTS AND SUPPORTS. LEON THIRY, Huy, Belgium. Filed Feb. 15, 1929, Serial No. 340,309, and in France Sept. 19, 1928. 7 Claims. (Cl. 29—88.2.)



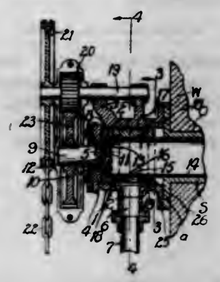
1. A punch for the manufacture of elastic joints and supports of the kind referred to, having outwardly opening ducts adapted to be supplied with lubricant under pressure.

1,803,492. GRINDING MACHINE. HERBERT E. TOWNSEND, East Providence, R. I., assignor to Brown and Sharpe Manufacturing Company, a Corporation of Rhode Island. Filed Oct. 17, 1927. Serial No. 226,615. 14 Claims. (Cl. 51—92.)



1. A grinding machine having, in combination, a grinding wheel mounted to move towards and away from the work, means for supporting the work, cross feed mechanism for moving the grinding wheel comprising a ratchet wheel, a pawl, a pawl carrier for actuating the pawl to rotate the ratchet wheel, means for throwing the pawl out of operation at a predetermined point in the rotation of the ratchet wheel, and means for adjusting the position of the pawl on the pawl carrier to vary the limit of the pawl feeding stroke a fraction of a tooth.

1,803,493. ROTOR. RENÉ ALFRED LAURENT VOLET, La Vareune St. Hilaire, France. Filed Oct. 2, 1928, Serial No. 309,697, and in Belgium Nov. 12, 1927. 8 Claims. (Cl. 171—206.)



1. A rotor comprising in combination a core having a plurality of longitudinal grooves formed therein adapted to receive a winding, a pair of end-elements having end-grooves formed therein in continuity with the longitudinal grooves in the core, said end-grooves presenting a pair of lateral walls, and a winding laid down in and lying below the level of the surfaces in which the grooves of the end-elements are formed.

1,803,494. HOLLOW-FRAME ASSEMBLY. FÉLIX AMIOT, Colombes, France, assignor to Société D'Emboutissage et de Constructions Mécaniques, Colombes, France, a Society. Filed Aug. 24, 1929, Serial No. 388,161, and in Belgium Dec. 20, 1928. 6 Claims. (Cl. 244—30.)

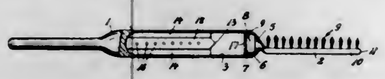
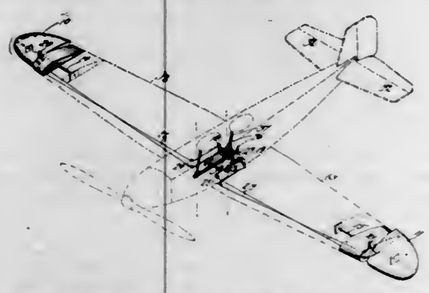
1,803,495. BOILER CLEANER. LEO JOHN BAYER, St. Louis, Mo. Filed Dec. 31, 1928. Serial No. 329,452. 4 Claims. (Cl. 122—392.)



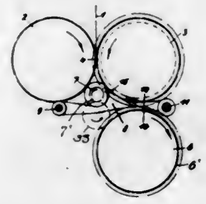
4. A boiler cleaner comprising an operating head and a blower pipe, said head including a housing having a steam chamber therein, a steam supply pipe leading to said chamber, a casing rotatably mounted in the steam chamber of the housing in nested relation with the outer end of the blower pipe, said casing having a steam inlet opening in communication with the steam chamber, said blower pipe having a steam inlet opening adapted for communication with the steam chamber by rotation of the casing, and means for rotating said casing.

1,803,496. TYPEWRITING MACHINE. HARRISON O. BLAISDELL, Brooklyn, N. Y., assignor to Underwood Elliott Fisher Company, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Oct. 11, 1927. Serial No. 225,450. 20 Claims. (Cl. 197—127.)



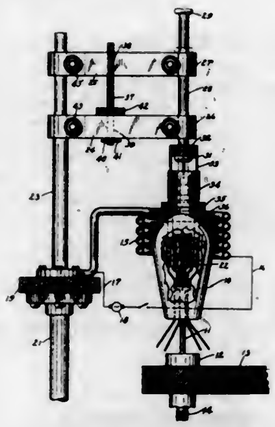
5. In a typewriting machine, a carriage, a platen, a paper-table pivotally mounted on said carriage at the front of said platen to be disposed in a forwardly-inclined position for having a work-sheet positioned thereon and inserted at the front of said platen, and gaging instrumentalities supported on said carriage independently of said table to co-operate with the latter in positioning said work-sheet in typing position, said table being effective, upon being swung rearwardly after said work-sheet has been gaged, to conduct the leading end of the work-sheet rearwardly at the delivery side of the platen.

1,803,497. TOOTHBRUSH. RALPH A. BROCKELSBY, Cleveland, Ohio. Filed Dec. 23, 1929. Serial No. 416,064. 2 Claims. (Cl. 15—184.)



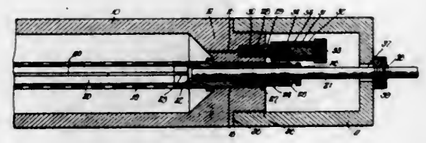
1. In a toothbrush of the class described, a brush member having an enlarged cylindrical head tapered portion, a handle member provided with a hollow portion into which the brush member is adapted to be snugly enclosed when not in use, oppositely disposed portions of the inner walls of the hollow portion of the handle member being thickened to form ribs, the ribs defining between them oppositely disposed duplicate grooves for the reception of the brush member, either of the grooves being adapted to receive and to snugly engage the back of the brush member, the opposing groove forming a clearance space for the bristles of the brush and a longitudinal series of diametrically opposed air holes through the thickened portions of the said hollow handle member.

1,803,498. AIRPLANE CONTROL. ROLAND CHILTON, Keyport, N. J., assignor, by mesne assignments, to Aeromarine Plane & Motor Company, Inc., Keyport, N. J., a Corporation of New York. Filed Apr. 18, 1929. Serial No. 356,128. 9 Claims. (Cl. 244—29.)



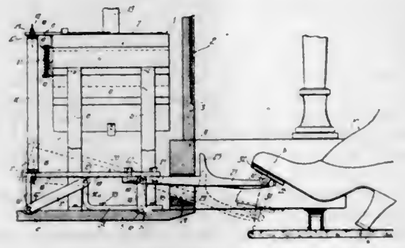
1. The combination with an airplane wing including, a co-operating pair of pivotally mounted ailerons having weather-vane stability tending to enforce alignment of the ailerons with the flight path independently of the attitude of the wing, and control means adapted to define the angle between the two ailerons and floating as to the mean angle of the two ailerons relative to the wing, said control means including a rockable control member, a tube slidable on said member and having a hand grip, and a two-arm cross head rigid with said tube and operatively connected to the respective ailerons.

1,803,499. CUTTING AND TRANSFERRING MECHANISM FOR PRINTING PRESSES. GEORG DANZER, Plauen, Germany, assignor to the Firm Vogtlandische Maschinenfabrik (vorm. J. C. und H. Dietrich) A.-G., Plauen, Germany. Filed May 26, 1928, Serial No. 280,891, and in Germany July 15, 1927. 8 Claims. (Cl. 270—60.)



1. Mechanism for transferring the cut sheets from the cutting cylinders to the collecting device of rotary printing presses comprising a plurality of sets of lateral grippers being mounted on one of the cutting cylinders, said grippers being operatively interconnected and adapted to securely hold the cut sheets until the latter have been actually engaged by the grippers of the collecting device.

1,803,500. HIGH-FREQUENCY INDUCTION HEATING. JAMES M. FAGAN, Maplewood, N. J., assignor to Westinghouse Lamp Company, a Corporation of Pennsylvania. Filed Oct. 23, 1929. Serial No. 401,743. 12 Claims. (Cl. 219—47.)

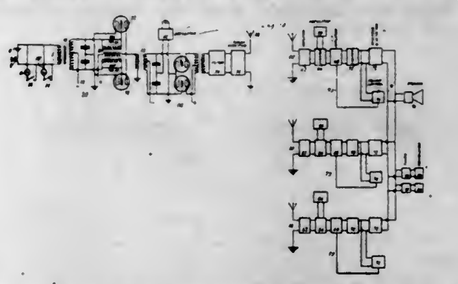


1. A machine for degasifying metallic bodies comprising means for creating a high frequency field to inductively heat an electrode capable of absorbing a given amount of electrical energy, a body capable of absorbing electrical energy, means for moving said body into said field and means for regulating the degree of movement of said body into said field for the absorption of a given amount of electrical energy.

1,803,501. BLASTING MECHANISM. DENT FERRELL and ARTHUR W. HELMHOLTZ, Harrisburg, Ill., assignors to Safety Mining Company, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed June 23, 1928. Serial No. 287,865. 6 Claims. (Cl. 102—6.)

1. A cartridge of the character described, comprising a casing and a movable discharging concussion rod extending into said casing and releasable means on said movable rod for holding said rod against accidental displacement said means being responsive to a predetermined force on said rod to permit actuating movement of the same.

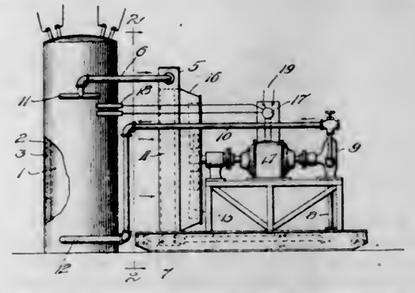
1,803,502. PEDAL CONSTRUCTION AND MOUNTING. GUSTAV A. FORSBERG, Chicago, Ill., assignor to Gulbransen Company, Chicago, Ill,, a Corporation of Illinois. Filed Feb. 20, 1928. Serial No. 255,590. 9 Claims. (Cl. 84—72.)



1. In a player piano, an exhaust power unit, a pair of operating pedals pivoted intermediate their ends, operating connections between said unit and the pedals, and foot plates hinged to and disposed above the outer ends of the pedals and having rocking motion with respect thereto in the operation of the pedals.

1,803,503. 1,2- AND 2,3-DIAMINO ANTHRAQUINONE SULPHATES AND METHOD OF PREPARING AND ISOLATING THE SAME. IVAN GUBELMANN and JOHN M. TINKER, South Milwaukee, Wis., assignors, by mesne assignments, to Newport Chemical Corporation, a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Jan. 3, 1928. Serial No. 244,371. 9 Claims. (Cl. 260—60.)

3. The process of isolating 1,2- and 2,3-diamino anthraquinone sulphates, which comprises forming a solution of 1,2- and 2,3-diamino anthraquinones in concentrated sulphuric acid, diluting the solution to approximately 88% sulphuric acid concentration to precipitate out 2,3-diamino anthraquinone sulphate, filtering off the precipitated body, further diluting the filtrate to approximately 67% sulphuric acid concentration to precipitate out 1,2-diamino anthraquinone sulphate and recovering the latter body.



1,803,504. SIGNALING. CLARENCE W. HANSELL, Rocky Point, N. Y., assignor to Radio Corporation of America, a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Oct. 5, 1928. Serial No. 310,482. 16 Claims. (Cl. 250—9.)

9. A diversity communication system for overcoming fading of speech-simulating signals transmitted on a high frequency carrier, in spite of fluctuations in the relative phase of closely adjacent frequencies such as side band and carrier frequencies, comprising the combination of a frequency modulation transmitter with a diversity reception receiver.

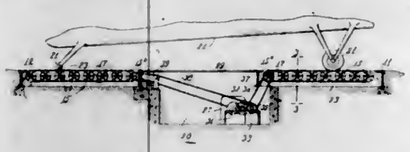
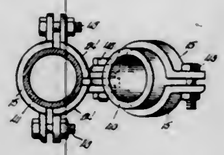
1,803,505. TRANSFORMER COOLER. DANIEL T. MACLEOD, Milwaukee, Wis., assignor to Perfex Corporation, Milwaukee, Wis., a Corporation of Wisconsin. Filed Mar. 3, 1928. Serial No. 258,854. 2 Claims. (Cl. 257—191.)



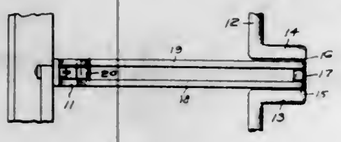
1. A cooling system for transformers comprising a casing surrounding the transformer and containing a dielectric cooling liquid, a heat insulating jacket for said casing operating to prevent direct and uncontrolled heat exchange between the liquid in said casing and the environment of the casing, a liquid circulating system connected to said casing and communicating with the interior thereof, a radiator embodied in said liquid circulating system and disposed exteriorly of said casing, a pump incorporated in said liquid circulating system to positively circulate the liquid through said system, a fan for impelling a current of air through said radiator, motor means for driving said fan and said pump, and means responsive to the temperature of the liquid within the casing for regulating the operation of said motor means whereby to maintain a predetermined temperature condition in said casing.

1,803,506. TOY. JAMES B. MCDONOUGH, Jr., New York, N. Y. Filed Sept. 28, 1929. Serial No. 395,773. 12 Claims. (Cl. 46—52.)



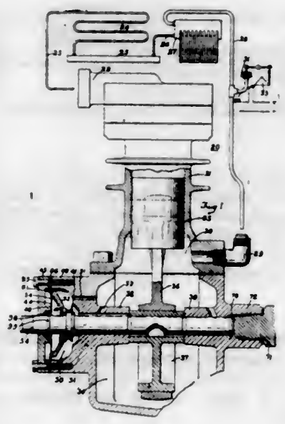
1. A flying toy comprising, in combination, a pair of blades slidably mounted one upon the other, a parachute, a housing for said parachute, and means controlled by relative movement of said blades to detachably secure said parachute and housing to said blades.

1,803,507. TAKE-OFF AND LANDING PLATFORM FOR AEROPLANES. MICHAEL J. O'NEILL, Chicago, Ill. Filed Sept. 28, 1928. Serial No. 309,063. 3 Claims. (Cl. 244—2.)



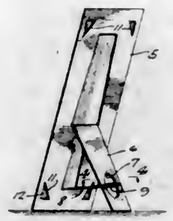
1. In combination with an article of the class described, a frame; a plurality of rotatable shafts mounted in said frame transverse of its length; a plurality of spaced rollers keyed to each of said shafts, the rollers on adjacent shafts being aligned with each other; and means common to all of said shafts whereby they may be rotated in unison.

1,803,508. CLAMP. ALLEN M. ROSSMAN, Chicago, Ill., assignor, by mesne assignments, to Rossman Patents, Incorporated, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed June 19, 1925. Serial No. 38,286. 12 Claims. (Cl. 297—54.)



2. A structural clamp of the class described for joining together rod-like members, comprising a plurality of clamp sections each of which embraces and grips a rod-like member, each clamp section including a plurality of clamp units each of which has a body embracing a part of the perimeter of a rod-like member, a lug carried by said body part and having a front face lying approximately in a plane of a radius of the arc corresponding to said part of the perimeter, and a second lug on said body part having a front face parallel to and spaced from a plane of a second radius of said arc by a distance approximately equal to the thickness of a lug, adjacent lugs of adjacent units spaced from each other approximately the thickness of a lug, and bolt-like means for securing said units in gripping relationship to said members and connecting said clamp sections with the lugs of a clamp section intermeshing with the adjacent lugs of a connected clamp section.

1,803,509. MOTION-TRANSMITTING DEVICE FOR LOOMS. ALBERT SAGAR, Slater, S. C. Filed Sept. 12, 1930. Serial No. 481,548. 8 Claims. (Cl. 139—190.)

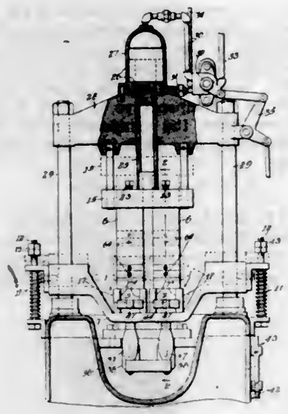


1. The combination with the movable element of a loom, of a link pivoted between its ends to said movable element, a crank shaft having eccentric pins disposed at an oblique angle, and pitman arms pivotally connected with the eccentric pins and with the link upon opposite sides of the pivot of the link.

1,803,510. SEAL FOR REFRIGERATING APPARATUS. WARREN H. F. SCHMIEDING and JESSE G. KING, Dayton, Ohio, assignors to Frigidaire Corporation, Dayton, Ohio, a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Apr. 30, 1928. Serial No. 274,033. 4 Claims. (Cl. 286—11.)

1. In a refrigerating apparatus wherein refrigerant is circulated under varying pressures, a casing, a shaft passing through said casing, a shoulder on said casing surrounding said shaft and forming a cavity subject to pressures within said apparatus, a radial bearing surface on said shaft, an end plate on said shoulder, a diaphragm hermetically connected to said end plate at an effective pressure distance from the axis of said shaft substantially equal to said bearing surface, a rigid ring provided with a bearing surface to cooperate with said first-named bearing surface, said ring and diaphragm being hermetically connected radially beyond said bearing surfaces and a ring with radial, axially resilient fingers for maintaining said bearing surfaces together.

1,803,511. EASEL. EARL L. SHANHOLTZER, Hollywood, Calif. Filed Nov. 4, 1929. Serial No. 404,653. 7 Claims. (Cl. 40—150.)

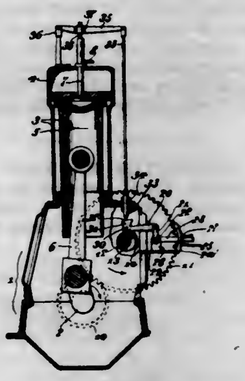


1. An article of manufacture to serve as an easel comprising a single sheet of form retaining material having means on the face to support a card to be displayed, a first tongue cut in said sheet with its root adjacent the mid section of said sheet and adapted to be bent outward and serve as a strut to support said sheet in upright position, an opening adjacent the tip of said tongue, a second tongue cut in said sheet in alinement with said first tongue and adapted to be bent outward to engage said first tongue and serve as a brace, said second tongue having an enlargement at its tip for passage through said opening and to span the latter forming a lock therewith.

1,803,512. GARMENT HANGER. HENRY SHAPIRO, Philadelphia, Pa. Filed Oct. 10, 1927. Serial No. 225,088. 10 Claims. (Cl. 223—64.)

10. A garment hanger comprising a rigid supporting member, a resilient gripping member associated at its middle with the middle of the rigid member and a laterally swinging latch at the joint middle of the members and having bent arms extending upon opposite sides of the middle and bearing upon the resilient member intermediate the middle and ends.

1,803,513. MEANS FOR MAKING BEARING LININGS OR SLEEVES. BERGER STOCKFLETH, Niles, Mich., assignor to Hydraulic Pressed Bearing Company, Wilmington, Del., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Aug. 20, 1928. Serial No. 300,757. 6 Claims. (Cl. 22—58.)

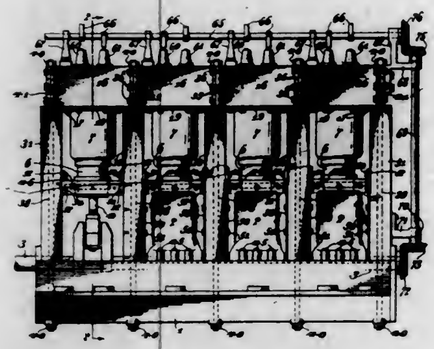


1. In a die casting apparatus, a semi-cylindrical mold part, an opposed thin bearing lining backing, opposed mold parts between which the backing is clamped in opposition to the semi-cylindrical mold part, centering means on said opposed mold parts concentric with the semi-cylindrical mold part for centering the backing in relation to said semi-cylindrical mold part and for sealing the ends of the backing, and means for forcing molten bearing metal into the space and upon the backing.

1,803,514. BUILDING CONSTRUCTION. GEORGE W. THOMAS, Pittsburgh, Pa., assignor to H. H. Robertson Company, Pittsburgh, Pa., a Corporation of Pennsylvania. Filed Dec. 19, 1928. Serial No. 327,085. 5 Claims. (Cl. 189—69.)

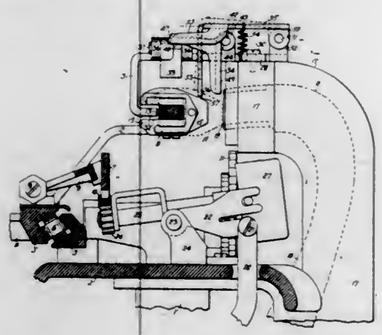
1. In a glazing construction, in combination, an open supporting frame provided with an external flange for attachment to a window sash, and a glass-carrying frame pivoted to said supporting frame and movable with relation to the said supporting frame to open and close the opening therein said flange being of a thickness substantially that of the glass pane of the window.

1,803,515. FUEL-FEED-CONTROL MEANS FOR INTERNAL-COMBUSTION ENGINES. OTIS D. TREIBER, Collingswood, N. J., assignor to Treiber Diesel Engine Corporation, Camden, N. J., a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed Sept. 13, 1927. Serial No. 219,254. 9 Claims. (Cl. 123—33.)



1. In a mechanism for controlling the means for feeding fuel into the cylinder of an internal combustion engine, the combination of a cam shaft having a cam thereon, rotation of the said cam shaft being effected by the crank shaft of the engine, an actuating rod interposed between the fuel feeding means and the said cam shaft, means adapted to be actuated by the cam upon said cam shaft for actuating the said rod, the said last mentioned means being spaced from the said rod, adjustable means interposed between the said means and the said rod whereby the lost motion space between the said means and the said rod may be varied, and means for adjusting the said cam actuated means tangentially of the said cam simultaneously with the adjustment of the said adjustable lost motion controlling means.

1,803,516. INTERNAL-COMBUSTION-ENGINE STRUCTURE. OTIS D. TREIBER, Collingswood, N. J., assignor to Treiber Diesel Engine Corporation, Camden, N. J., a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed Sept. 13, 1927. Serial No. 219,256. 8 Claims. (Cl. 121—194.)



5. In a structure of the character described, the combination of a crank casing comprising a base portion, a plurality of engine cylinders, a plurality of relatively wide vertical columns located in parallel spaced relation to each other and supported at their lower ends upon the upper side of the said base, one column being located between each pair of adjoining cylinders and columns being located in adjoining relation to the outer sides of the two outermost engine cylinders, and the said crank casing comprising opposite side portions located between adjoining columns and detachably secured thereto and to the said base portion and a cover detachably connected to the upper ends of said side portions and to the opposite sides of adjoining columns, said cover having a central opening therein, cylinder heads mounted upon the upper ends of the said cylinders and the said columns, means for detachably securing said cylinder heads to the said cylinders, and vertical tie rods extending through the said crank casing and the said columns and detachably connected with the said cylinder heads.

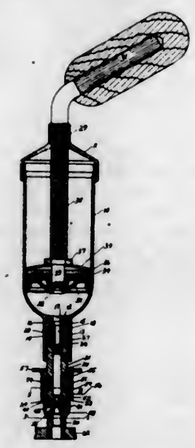
1,803,517. TYPEWRITING MACHINE. SIGURD L. WALSOE, Springdale, Conn., assignor to Remington Typewriter Company, Ilion, N. Y., a Corporation of New York. Filed Sept. 19, 1929. Serial No. 393,786. 18 Claims. (Cl. 197—176.)

4. The combination of a carriage; tabulator mechanism including column stops and a key controlled counter stop; a normally ineffective anti-rebound device for preventing rebound of the carriage when the latter is arrested by said tabulator mechanism; a spring for moving said anti-rebound device to operative position; and controlling means for enabling said anti-rebound device to be moved to operative position, said controlling means including a cam acted on by a column stop as it approaches the actuated counter stop and effective to release said anti-rebound device and enable its spring to move it to operative position.

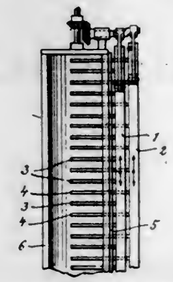
1,803,518. SPRING-EXPANDING APPARATUS. JONATHAN NEWTON WHITE, New York, N. Y., assignor to United Metal Hose Co. Inc., New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New York. Filed Nov. 1, 1927. Serial No. 230,375. 15 Claims. (Cl. 29—87.1.)



15. In a device of the class described, the combination of a clamp comprising a fixed and a movable jaw, the fixed jaw provided with a spring terminal engaging abutment, and an actuator mounted for rotary movement and provided with a spring terminal engaging abutment movable relative to the fixed abutment, said actuator operatively connected to the movable jaw to control the same in a timed relation to the movement of the rotatable abutment.

1,803,519. LITHOGRAPHER'S GLASS. EDWARD A. ZEH, Passaic, N. J., assignor to Zeh Incorporated, Clifton, N. J., a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed Jan. 5, 1929. Serial No. 330,630. 10 Claims. (Cl. 49—81.)

3. In the art of preparing a grained glass sheet for use in place of a lithographer's stone, the method which consists in applying to one face of a sheet of clear glass a coating comprising a mixture of zinc oxide, stannous oxide and a flux, and subjecting the glass so coated to a firing treatment at a temperature of about forty degrees Fahrenheit, lower than the temperature at which said coating would fuse to a smooth finish when applied to this particular glass.



1,803,520. LUBRICATING APPARATUS. OSCAR ULYSSES ZERK, Cleveland, Ohio, assignor, by mesne assignments, to Alemite Corporation, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Jan. 3, 1924. Serial No. 684,171. 1 Claim. (Cl. 285—170.)

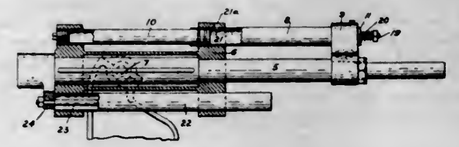
nipple having a flat topped circular inlet end, a concavely spherical lubricant delivering nozzle forming a lubricant tight metal to metal seal with said nipple when pressed thereagainst, said seal permitting universal movement of said nozzle about a fixed center, and quick detachable clamping means including pivoted jaws for maintaining said nipple and nozzle in lubricant tight engagement with each other and permitting universal movement of said nozzle about said center.

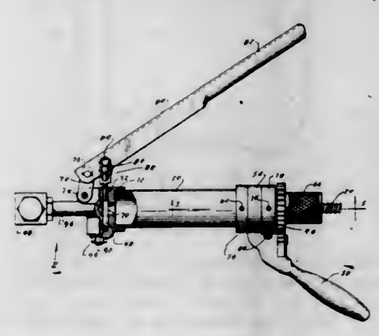
1,803,521. DISTRIBUTING DEVICE FOR DISTRIBUTOR DRILLS. RENÉ BERGERIOUX, Reuilly, France. Filed Dec. 18, 1929, Serial No. 415,108, and in France Dec. 21, 1928. 1 Claim. (Cl. 221—120.)

A distributing device for reciprocating distributor drills, comprising two parallel distributing combs having intermeshing teeth arranged in the same plane, and a separate operating crank for each comb, the two cranks being angularly displaced relative to each other.



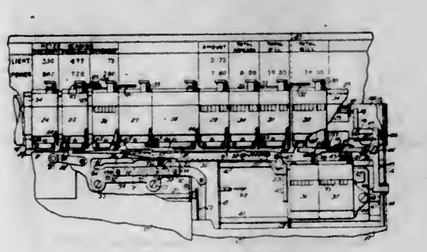
1,803,522. MECHANISM AND METHOD FOR CONTROLLING BUSINESS. HARRY RUSSELL BRAND, New York, N. Y. Filed Mar. 80, 1922. Serial No. 548,250. 22 Claims. (Cl. 235—92.)

1. A commodity purveying controlling mechanism including in combination means for receiving and inaccessibly depositing a commodity identifying token, means for registering the deposition of the token, and means for preventing the registration of any token identifying a different commodity.



1,803,523. RECOIL AND COUNTER-RECOIL MECHANISM FOR GUNS. THOMAS A. CONLON, Silver Spring, Md. Filed Nov. 7, 1928. Serial No. 317,813. 8 Claims. (Cl. 89—43.) (Granted under the act of Mar. 3, 1883, as amended Apr. 30, 1928; 370 O. G. 757.)

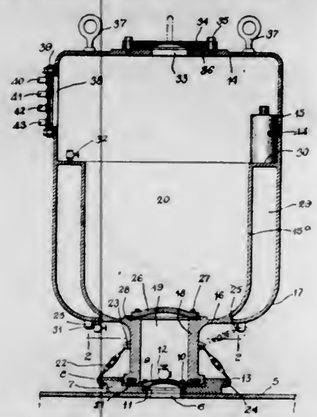
7. The combination with a gun provided with a recoil and counter-recoil mechanism, of means for admitting propellant gases from the gun barrel to the mechanism to oppose recoil and to counter-recoil the gun and means for locking the gun in any position within the limits of its in-battery position.



8. The combination with a gun provided with a counter-recoil mechanism wherein the force producing counter-recoil is expended when the gun is returned to in-battery position, of means for locking the gun in any position within the limits of its in-battery position.

1,803,524. LUBRICANT COMPRESSOR. ERNEST W. DAVIS, Oak Park, Ill., assignor to Alemite Corporation, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed June 8, 1927. Serial No. 197,271. 6 Claims. (Cl. 221—47.4.)

6. A lubricant compressor comprising, in combination, a low pressure cylinder adapted to serve as a lubricant reservoir, a high pressure cylinder supplied therefrom, a piston in said high pressure cylinder, a lever for actuating said piston, a piston mechanism for said low pressure cylinder, and a second lever actuating and feeding forward the piston in the low pressure cylinder when the levers are pulled apart.



1,803,525. COMBINED TYPEWRITING AND COMPUTING MACHINE. JAMES HENRY EDWARDS, Seattle, Wash., assignor to Remington Typewriter Company, Ilion, N. Y., a Corporation of New York. Filed Mar. 2, 1927. Serial No. 172,059. 7 Claims. (Cl. 285—59.)

1. In a combined typewriting and computing machine, the combination with a carriage traveling through a series of column positions, a cross-truck for two cross-totalizers, and a pick-up device for said cross-truck, of means for guiding said pick-up device at one level in the field of one of said cross totalizers and at another level in the field of the other cross totalizer, pick-up lugs on said traveling carriage, said lugs being at two heights corresponding to the two said levels, means for moving said pick-up device from one of said levels to the other when the cross-truck moves out of the field of the first specified cross-totalizer, and means for moving said pick-up device to a third or disconnecting level when said cross-truck moves out of the field of the second cross-totalizer.

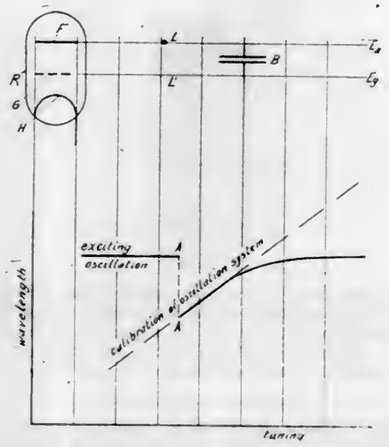
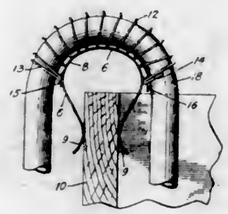
1,803,526. SUBMERGIBLE APPARATUS. HUGH J. FINN, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Anna May Finn administratrix of said Hugh J. Finn, deceased. Filed May 2, 1928. Serial No. 274,380. 4 Claims. (Cl. 61—69.)



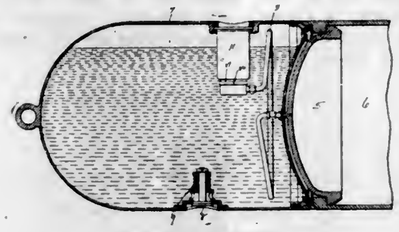
1. A submergible apparatus for use in conjunction with vessels having a hatchway in the hull thereof and a flanged ring encircling the hatchway, comprising a large hollow body, an admission opening at the top thereof and a cover plate closing said opening, a reduced tubular extension projecting beyond the lower end of said body, the chamber in said extension normally opening outwardly through the lower end thereof, a closure plate at the top of said extension controlling the communication between said chamber and the interior of said body, securing devices for said plate in the interior of said body, and means movably supported externally of and adjacent the upper end of said extension for detachably engaging the flanged ring on the hull of the vessel in securely coupling the apparatus to the vessel.

1,803,527. WINDOW SASH AND SCREEN. OSCAR R. HANKINS, Aurora, Ill., assignor to The Larimer Company, Aurora, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed Dec. 17, 1928. Serial No. 326,649. 3 Claims. (Cl. 156—14.)



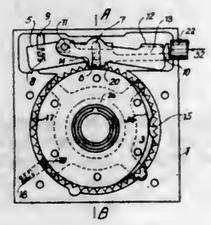
2. In a window screen, a frame made of angular members having two flanges at right angles to each other, a screen mesh covering said frame and extending adjacent the outward extending flanges thereof, U-shaped clips clamped over the said outward extending flanges and over the screen mesh adjacent thereto, each of said outwardly extending flanges having openings over which said U-shaped clips and said screen mesh extend and indentations in said clips and screen mesh entering said openings.

1,803,528. PRODUCTION OF ELECTRIC WAVES. HANS ERICH HOLLMANN, Darmstadt, Germany. Filed June 20, 1929, Serial No. 372,406, and in Germany June 4, 1928. 2 Claims. (Cl. 250—36.)



1. In a system for producing ultra high frequency electric oscillations by electron pendulum movements within a vacuum space in a retarding field arrangement including an oscillatory system for utilizing said oscillations, the method of increasing the natural electron oscillating frequency determined by the field strength which consists in tuning said system to a frequency greater than said natural frequency of said electron movements.

1,803,529. HOSE HOLDER. FRANK S. HYATT, Brooklyn, N. Y., assignor to Brass Goods M'f'g. Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., a Corporation of New York. Filed June 10, 1927. Serial No. 197,805. 5 Claims. (Cl. 248—28.)

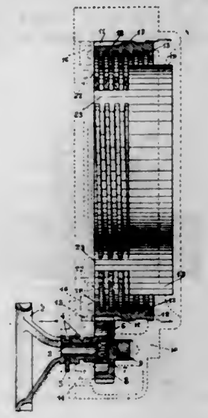


3. A hose holder constructed for attachment to a support and comprising a curved frame and a flexible helical coil, means on said frame for clamping the same to said support and means for attaching said coil to said frame at circumferentially spaced points around said curved frame.

1,803,530. AIR BLOWING EXERCISE HEAD FOR TORPEDOES. JAMES L. KING, U. S. Navy, and CHESTER T. MINKLER and THOMAS J. GILL, Newport R. I. Filed Apr. 27, 1929. Serial No. 358,707. 12 Claims. (Cl. 114—20). (Granted under the act of Mar. 3, 1883, as amended Apr. 30, 1928; 370 O. G. 757.)

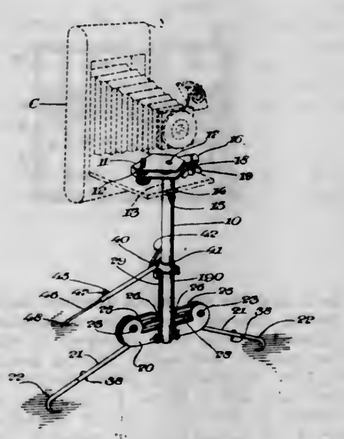
1. In an exercise head for a torpedo, in combination, a high pressure air line normally closed, shearing means for opening said line, mechanisms controlling said means, and means permitting the freed air to escape to a surrounding medium.

1,803,531. LOCK. THEODOR KROMER, Freiburg, Germany, assignor to Theodor Kromer Gesellschaft mit beschränkter Haftung, Freiburg, in Breisgau, Germany. Filed Feb. 29, 1928, Serial No. 258,074, and in Germany June 7, 1927. 2 Claims. (Cl. 70—53.)



1. A lock comprising a casing, a spindle slidably and rotatably mounted in said casing, a plurality of locking discs mounted on the spindle, means on said spindle for setting said locking discs each disc having a peripheral notch, a principal, spring-controlled tumbler guided vertically in the casing, a rounded lug on said tumbler supporting the latter on the locking discs and adapted to drop into the notches thereof when said notches are in alignment, means on the spindle for turning the different discs so as to bring the notches into alignment under the lug, a lock bolt arranged so as to be normally blocked in shot position by abutment against the end of said tumbler and so as to be released on the tumbler dropping into the disc notches, and an additional tumbler supported on an eccentric portion of one of the discs and adapted to prevent the complete withdrawal of the bolt until said latter disc has been turned from the position in which its notch registers with the lug of the principal tumbler.

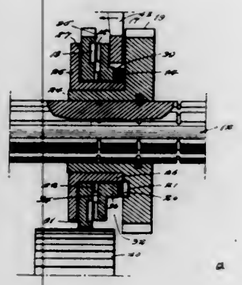
1,803,532. PREPARATION SUITABLE FOR DEVELOPING DYEINGS. HANS KRZIKALLA, Mannheim, and KARL SCHNITZSPAHN, Offenbach-on-the-Main, Germany, assignors, by mesne assignments, to General Aniline Works, Inc., New York, N. Y., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Aug. 12, 1925, Serial No. 49,818, and in Germany Aug. 15, 1924. 5 Claims. (Cl. 8—6.)



1. As a solid dry composition of matter, a mixture of a diazotizable aromatic amine in a dry solid form with about an equimolecular proportion of a nitrite and a water-soluble neutral salt in a dry condition.

1,803,533. DEVICE FOR ADJUSTING THE OPENINGS OF SCUTTLE PORTS AND THE POSITION OF THE PANE HOLDERS THEREOF. LOUIS LALANNE, Marseille, France. Filed Sept. 17, 1930, Serial No. 482,521, and in France Nov. 15, 1929. 5 Claims. (Cl. 114—178.)

1. A device for adjusting the openings of scuttle ports and the position of the pane holders thereof, comprising in combination: a pane holder; means for moving said pane holder axially; means for rotating said pane holder; a single longitudinally movable member actuating according to its longitudinal position either said means for moving said pane holder axially or said means for rotating said pane holder; and means for locking said member either in the position for actuating said first-named means or in the position for actuating said second-named means, substantially as described.



1,803,534. TRIPOD FOR CAMERAS. VOLDEMAR LEEVO, New York, N. Y. Filed Feb. 15, 1930. Serial No. 428,623. 12 Claims. (Cl. 248—46.)

1. A tripod including a standard, means for supporting a camera thereon, a base member on the standard, two oppositely-disposed legs pivotally mounted on said member and movable outwardly beyond the member or foldable along the standard, as desired, and means operative to swing the outwardly-projecting legs into gripping relation to a supporting object embraced by the legs.

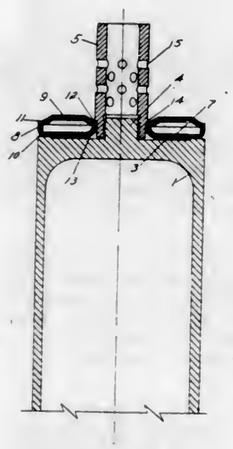
1,803,535. AUTOMATIC RELEASE FOR GEAR SYNCHRONIZERS. HOWARD J. MURRAY, New York, N. Y., assignor to R. M. Company, Inc., East Pittsburgh, Pa., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Apr. 21, 1923, Serial No. 633,610. Renewed Sept. 29, 1930. 24 Claims. (Cl. 74—58.)

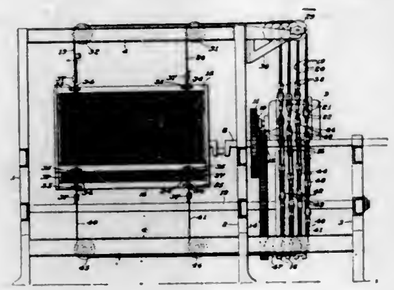


4. In a device of the class described, the combination of a support provided with a relatively fixed element of a friction clutch, an actuator slidable axially on the support, a synchronizer element disposed between the actuator and clutch element and adapted to be clutched therebetween and resilient camming means between the support and the actuator for causing a shifting of the actuator axially and into clutching engagement with the synchronizer element.

1,803,536. CIGARETTE AND MATCH DISPENSER. GENNARO NENNA, Owen Sound, Ontario, Canada, assignor to Christos Georgas, Owen Sound, Ontario, Canada. Filed Jan. 27, 1930. Serial No. 423,775. 3 Claims. (Cl. 312—78.)

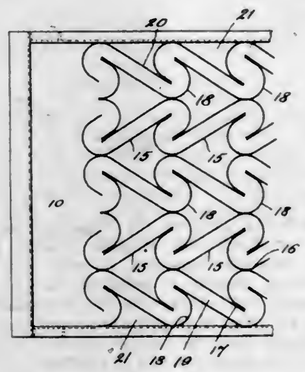
1. In a cigarette and match dispenser including a cabinet having cigarette and match compartments formed with opposed sloping bases traversed by simultaneously movable cigarette and match ejecting members, an operating unit comprising a metal bracket formed with upturned lugs, and a sleeve, an actuating member slidably carried by the sleeve adapted to protrude through the top of the cabinet, a main operating lever pivotally carried on one of said lugs, said operating lever being formed with a curved tapered end and with an inclined slot positioned adjacent the pivotal mounting of the lever, a laterally bent impelling portion formed on the actuator adapted to protrude through the slot in said lever and contact with said lugs, spring tension means between said plate and the lever, and a bracket in connection with the cigarette and match ejecting members engageable by said curved end of the lever during operation.

1,803,537. SHELL CONSTRUCTION. ARVID E. NISSEN, Upper Darby, Pa. Filed Feb. 6, 1930. Serial No. 426,390. 8 Claims. (Cl. 102—40.) (Granted under the act of Mar. 3, 1883, as amended Apr. 30, 1928; 370 O. G. 757.)



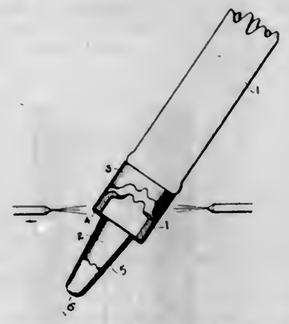
1. A projectile for firing in a rifled barrel comprising a body portion, and a disc loosely carried thereon, and means associated with the disc to attach the same to the body portion so as to prevent its relative rotation with respect thereto on the firing of the projectile.

1,803,538. HEAD COVERING. HENRY T. PISTOLE, Dallas, Tex. Filed Oct. 24, 1929. Serial No. 402,106. 3 Claims. (Cl. 135—12.)



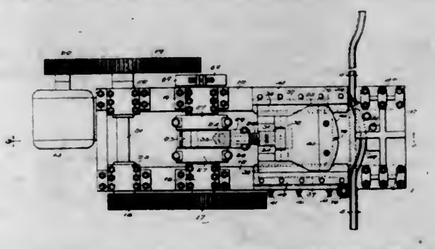
2. In a covering for the human head and shoulders, a fabric cover, a collapsible wire frame, said cover being secured over said frame, said frame having extensions therefrom adapted to be held firmly upon the wearer's shoulders, and a common tensioning means to hold the frame in extended and collapsed position.

1,803,539. HARNESS MECHANISM FOR LOOMS. EDWIN W. STONE, Longmeadow, Mass., assignor to Bigelow-Sanford Carpet Co., Inc., Thompsonville, Conn., a Corporation of Massachusetts. Filed Sept. 12, 1930. Serial No. 481,399. 8 Claims. (Cl. 139—88.)



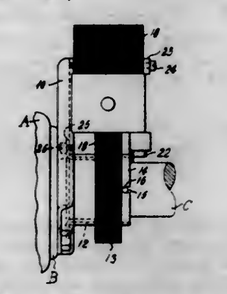
1. In a harness mechanism for looms, a harness frame, power operated means for shifting the frame, including a rocking lever, a sheave connected to the lever to be shifted thereby, a cable looped about said sheave and having its ends extending from the sheave connected to laterally spaced portions of the harness frame, a clamp for securing the looped portions of the cable together and rollers for supporting the two strands of the looped cable between their ends and the sheave and arranged so that upon loosening the clamp the frame can be tilted by shifting the cable about the sheave and then held from tilting by setting up the clamp.

1,803,540. DUST SEPARATOR. JOSEPH B. TAYLOR, Allendale, N. J. Filed Dec. 28, 1927. Serial No. 243,041. 5 Claims. (Cl. 183—79.)



1. Dust separator apparatus comprising a series of passage forming units, each of which is a plate having a flat portion and a curved portion, pairs of units having their flat portions opposite one another and spaced apart to form a passage, and having their curved portions at opposite ends of the two units and the ends of the flat portions of one pair being joined to the ends of curved portions of a succeeding pair and thereby forming a passage through which dust laden fluid passes in reflexing streams.

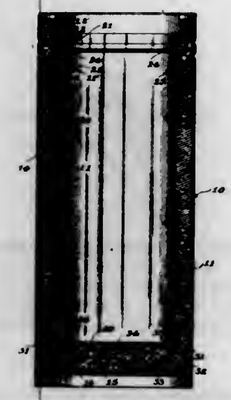
1,803,541. PROCESS OF ATTACHING EXTERNAL ELECTRODES. EUGENE ABA, Oakland, Calif., assignor to Neon Appliances Ltd. of America, Emeryville, Calif., a Corporation of Nevada. Filed Dec. 3, 1929. Serial No. 411,264. 4 Claims. (Cl. 176—126.)



1. The process of attaching electrodes to glass tubes, consisting of heating the electrodes and quenching them in spirit; reheating the electrodes and quenching them in an alkaline solution; telescoping the electrode and glass tube ends welding them together by heat.

1,803,542. FORMING AND CUTTING MACHINE. WILLIS J. BOYLE, Jr., Los Angeles, Calif., assignor to The Boyle Manufacturing Company, Inc., Los Angeles, Calif., a Corporation of California. Filed Sept. 8, 1927. Serial No. 218,288. 13 Claims. (Cl. 153—2.)

1. A combined bending and cutting machine, including cooperating bending dies for bending an arcuate section of predetermined radius in an article operated upon, cooperating shearing dies for severing the arcuate section midway of the length of; and common means for actuating said bending and shearing dies in timed relation to cut said arcuate section after the bending operation is completed.



1,803,543. MAGNETO. PHELPS BROWN, Springfield, Mass. Filed Dec. 19, 1929. Serial No. 415,281. 14 Claims. (Cl. 123—149.)

1. In a magneto, a frame adapted to be mounted on an engine and having a hollow bearing through which a shaft of the engine is adapted to pass, stationary elements for the magneto secured to said frame, and a movable inductor element mounted to turn on said bearing.

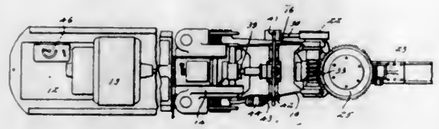
1,803,544. SHIPPING CONTAINER. TOM R. BROWN, Kennett Square, Pa., assignor to The Glacifer Corporation, Kennett Square, Pa., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Mar. 9, 1928. Serial No. 260,470. 6 Claims. (Cl. 220—9.)

1. In a container, a lining therefor forming a receptacle, a rib formed around said lining, and a shoulder formed around the adjacent container wall engaging the outer side of said rib.

1,803,545. TABLE-LEAF SUPPORT. FRANK L. CASPER, Howes Cave, N. Y. Filed Mar. 14, 1929. Serial No. 347,092. 5 Claims. (Cl. 45—47.)



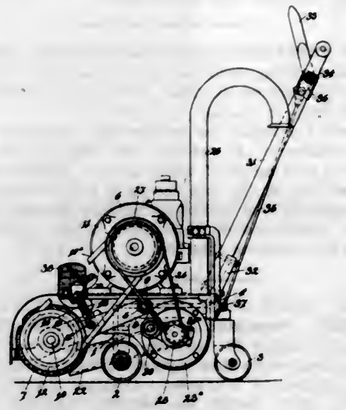
1. The combination with a hingedly mounted member and its support, of a brace comprising companion members pivotally mounted on said hinged member and support, one of said brace members having spaced resilient limbs terminating to provide offset extremities, the other member having openings to both slidably and pivotally receive said offset extremities, and spaced cam-like surfaces located at opposite sides of each opening and cooperating with said limbs, whereby said members are effectively latched when moved in end to end relation, and adapted to be unlatched by force in a direction perpendicularly to said offset extremities.

1,803,546. BRICKMAKING MACHINE. ROY P. M. DAVIS, Mount Union, Pa. Filed June 11, 1929. Serial No. 370,130. 8 Claims. (Cl. 25—1.)

1. A brick making machine, having a mold supporting means and a pallet supporting means adapted to receive and slidably support the mold and pallet thereon, said mold supporting means and said pallet supporting means also adapted to maintain the bottom of the mold and the top of the pallet in the same substantially horizontal plane, a fixed thin smooth liner sheet adapted to rest beneath the mold and upon the pallet, and means for transferring the mold across the face of the liner sheet directly to said pallet without disturbing the substantially horizontal position of the mold.

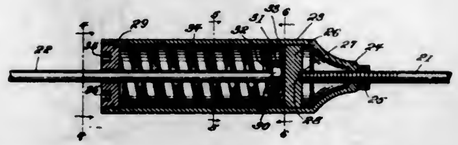
1,803,547. MINING MACHINE. JAMES E. DILLON, Masontown, Pa. Filed Oct. 12, 1928. Serial No. 312,132. 2 Claims. (Cl. 262—28.)

1. In a mining machine of the character described, a cutter bar mounted for swinging movement, means for swinging, the cutter bar including a worm wheel and worm, means for driving the cutter bar including a transverse shaft having a driving connection to the worm, opposed bevel gear wheels loosely mounted upon the shaft, an intermediate power driven bevel gear engaging both of the first named bevel gear wheels, a clutch for operatively connecting the shaft to either one of the first named gear wheels or disconnecting the shaft from either of the bevel gear wheels, a bevel gear wheel mounted upon said shaft for rotation therewith, an electric motor having its armature shaft operatively engaged with the last named bevel gear wheel, and a reversing controller for said motor whereby the cutter bar may be shifted either by the main power operated shaft or by said motor.



1,803,548. PRINTING-PRESS PLATE AND PROCESS OF MAKING THE SAME. RONALD I. DRAKE, Chicago, Ill., assignor of one-half to Peter J. Massey, Chicago, Ill. Filed Dec. 23, 1929. Serial No. 415,955. 5 Claims. (Cl. 101—395.)

1. A printing plate of the character described, comprising a relatively thin metallic printing shell having printing characters embossed thereon, and a relatively thick backing member of relatively incompressible material having the characteristics of flexibility without elasticity at ordinary temperatures, and distortability in greater degree than the metallic printing shell, to permit localization of distortion due to bending within the backing without appreciably stretching or otherwise distorting the metallic shell.



1,803,549. SURFACE-FINISHING MACHINE. ARTHUR N. EMMONS, Syracuse, N. Y. Filed Feb. 26, 1930. Serial No. 431,600. 10 Claims. (Cl. 51—176.)

1. In a floor surfacing machine, the combination of a supporting chassis having means for resting on the floor, a carriage adjustably mounted on the chassis to have an up and down movement, an abrading roller, supporting means therefor adjustably mounted on the chassis to have an up and down movement, a motor mounted on the carriage, motion transmitting means between the motor and the abrading roller, means for adjusting the carriage relatively to the chassis, and means for transmitting the adjusting movement of the carriage to the supporting means for the roller.

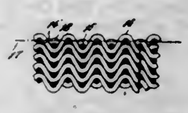
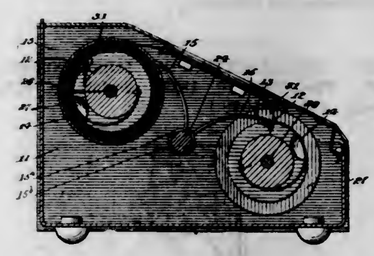
1,803,550. BRAKE ROD. WALTER A. GARRIGUS and ROBERT O. GARRIGUS, Toledo, Ohio. Filed Dec. 4, 1929. Serial No. 411,570. 3 Claims. (Cl. 74—48.)



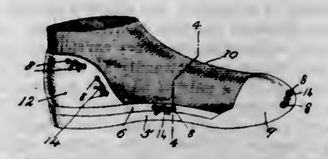
1. An apparatus of the character described comprising a tubular housing, brake rod sections projected within the ends of the housing, means yieldingly engaging end restraining outward movement of one of said brake rod sections, and an adjusting element slidably operable by the remaining brake rod section for cooperation with the yielding means and companion brake rod section.

1,803,551. METHOD OF CASTING AND PATTERN THEREFOR. CYRUS HANKINS, Baltimore, Md., assignor to The Symington Company, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of Maryland. Original application filed Nov. 20, 1925, Serial No. 70,274. Divided and this application filed Nov. 18, 1926. Serial No. 149,118. 7 Claims. (Cl. 22—193.)



1. The method of casting, where cores are employed to secure external flanges, comprising forming a pattern with core print portions having ends, tapered along the exterior surface of the mold-forming part thereof, inserting correspondingly constructed cores in the core prints formed whereby, when the article is cast, the strength of the casting adjacent the junction between the core and mould is improved.

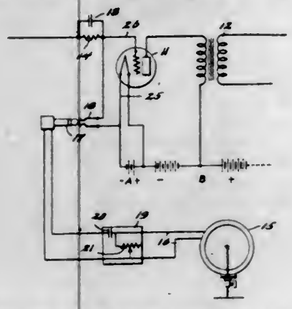
1,803,552. ANTISKID DEVICE. NORMAN E. HEIL, Paterson, N. J. Filed Feb. 2, 1928. Serial No. 251,381. 2 Claims. (Cl. 139—408.)



1. An anti-skid device comprising a narrow flat strap of woven fabric, including a plurality of identically constructed plies, the warp threads of each ply passing over and under the adjacent weft threads, the weft threads of each ply being arranged in vertical alignment and staggered horizontally to form each ply with spaced parallel ridges, the ridges of one ply being arranged between the ridges of the adjacent ply to be simultaneously presented to the ground, whereby the ridges of the outermost ply are completely worn while only partly affecting the corresponding ridges of the adjacent ply incident to the wear of the fabric.

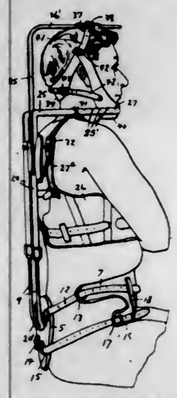
1,803,553. ROTARY INDEX. GEORGE L. HINMAN, New Haven, Conn., assignor to The Greist Manufacturing Company, a Corporation of Connecticut. Filed Aug. 12, 1929. Serial No. 385,156. 3 Claims. (Cl. 40—86.)

1. In a rotary index, the combination with an index strip and reels on which said strip may be rolled, and from one to the other of which it may be caused to travel rapidly, of a one-piece yielding stopping member comprising two spring arms partly overlying said reels, said arms being connected by a loop, a shaft on which said loop is loosely mounted, and yielding abutments carried by said reels, said abutments being arranged to come in contact with the ends of said spring arms; whereby, when the said index strip is fully unwound from a reel, a yielding abutment on the empty reel will strike against the end of a spring arm of said stopping member and will turn said loop slightly on said shaft thus causing the other arm of said stopping member to exert a braking pressure on the wound-up index strip on the other reel.



1,803,554. ATHLETIC SHOE. HAROLD M. KNILANS, Shreveport, La. Filed Mar. 26, 1930. Serial No. 439,102. 3 Claims. (Cl. 36—1.)

1. In a shoe of the character described, a sole having side flanges and a toe cap, the said flanges having apertures, a counter secured to the sole at the rear thereof, and an elastic sock-like upper attached to said flanges and counter, the said toe portion of said upper being inserted under the toe cap.

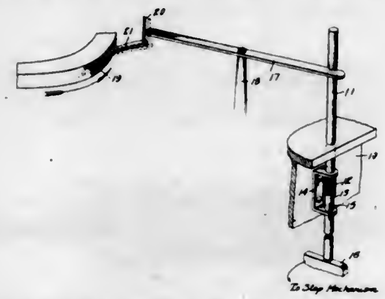


CARNEGIE LIBRARY OF ATLANTA

1,803,555. TELEGRAPHOPHONE SYSTEM. LE ROY J. LEISHMAN, Los Angeles, Calif., assignor to Elec-Tru-Tone Corporation, Los Angeles, Calif., a Corporation of Utah. Original application filed Oct. 6, 1927, Serial No. 224,468. Divided and this application filed Aug. 16, 1928. Serial No. 300,060. 3 Claims. (Cl. 179—100.4.)

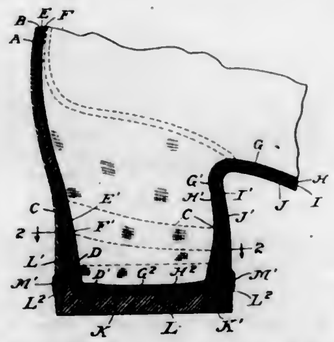
1. In combination, a sound reproducer, a connector for making circuit connections with a radio tube consisting of contacts adapted to engage prongs of a radio tube while said tube is in its regular socket of a radio set and making all its normal electrical connections therewith, a supporting member for said contacts, and conductors connecting the reproducer and connector.

1,803,556. SPINAL EXTENSOR. JOHN J. NUGENT, Ogden, Utah. Filed Dec. 10, 1929. Serial No. 413,055. 7 Claims. (Cl. 128—78.)



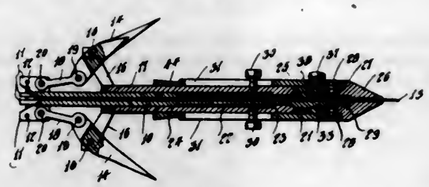
1. A spinal brace comprising a pair of rigid supporting members, each of said members being longitudinally adjustable, a pad hingedly connected to said supporting members at one end of said supporting members, said pad adapted for disposition against the spinal column, at the base of said spinal column, a second pad secured to said rigid supporting members at the opposite ends of said members, for connection with the last-mentioned ends of said members, said last mentioned pad extending across the back between the shoulders of a patient, an abdominal pad, adjustable connections between the first mentioned pad and said abdominal pad, supporting members carried by the said second pad and extending forwardly at opposite sides of the neck of the patient, a pair of pads to be disposed at opposite sides of the patient, an adjustable means for drawing the adjacent ends of said last mentioned pads toward one another and across the back of the patient, similar adjusting means for drawing the adjacent forward ends of said pads across the chest of the patient, shoulder straps for each of said last mentioned side pads, means for adjustably securing the intermediate portions of said shoulder straps to the last-mentioned supporting bars, and a head bar arising from said second pad and terminating above the head of the patient, a head strap operatively associated with said head bar, a chin strap oppositely associated with said head bar, and an adjustable connection between said head straps and said chin straps.

1,803,557. BUILDING MATERIAL. FRANK L. ORMESHER, Cincinnati, Ohio, assignor to Cemroc, Inc., Cincinnati, Ohio, a Corporation of Ohio. Filed July 18, 1928. Serial No. 293,791. 2 Claims. (Cl. 106—27.)



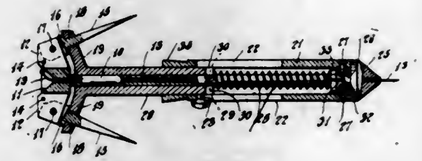
1. A water proofing and accelerating compound for concrete consisting of the product resulting from the combination of a half gallon of water and two pounds of stearic acid, a solution of 3½ to 4 ounces of caustic soda, a solution of from 5 to 6 ounces of calcium chloride and one gallon of water and approximately 10 per cent of powdered form of calcium chloride.

1,803,558. STOP MECHANISM FOR KNITTING MACHINES. NAPOLEON J. PERRY, deceased, Nashville, Tenn., by Julius W. Martin, administrator, Nashville, Tenn., assignor to May Hosiery Mills, Nashville, Tenn., a Corporation of Tennessee. Original application filed Dec. 22, 1919, Serial No. 346,681. Divided and this application filed Aug. 16, 1922, Serial No. 282,287. Renewed Mar. 31, 1927. 6 Claims. (Cl. 66—165.)



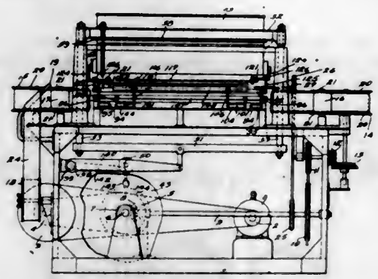
1. In a stop mechanism for knitting machines, a rotary element, a lever pivoted thereon at one end, a pivoted trip on a stationary part of the machine, an abutment at the free end of the lever and a cam surface between the ends of the lever for engagement by an abnormally retracted sinker to move said abutment into position to strike said trip, substantially as set forth.

1,803,559. OVERSHOE AND METHOD OF MAKING THE SAME. RALPH E. RILEY, Akron, Ohio, assignor, by mesne assignments, to Miller Rubber Company Inc., Wilmington, Del., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Sept. 24, 1929. Serial No. 394,855. 13 Claims. (Cl. 36—5.)



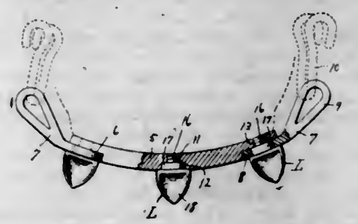
1. In an overshoe of the type described, a heel receiving pocket comprising inner and outer layers and a rubber heel lift having a continuous integral upstanding flange lying between said inner and outer layers and a tread surface adapted to form the outer tread surface of the heel.

1,803,560. FISHHOOK OR CATCHING DEVICE. MATE MIKE RODIN, San Pedro, Calif. Filed Sept. 17, 1929. Serial No. 393,138. 10 Claims. (Cl. 43—36.)



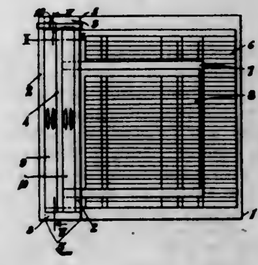
1. A fishing device of the class described having a catching member including pivotally mounted spurs, and means pivotally secured to said spurs to reverse their positions.

1,803,561. FISHHOOK. MATE MIKE RODIN, San Pedro, Calif. Filed Sept. 17, 1929. Serial No. 393,139. 6 Claims. (Cl. 43—36.)



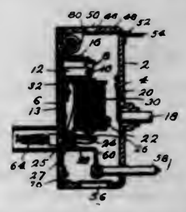
1. A fishing means of the class described comprising a rod, a catching member extending therefrom and including spurs pivotally secured to said rod, a stripping member slidable on said rod, and arms on said stripping member provided with openings to receive said spurs.

1,803,562. CIGARETTE-MAKING MACHINE. ISAAC ROET, Amsterdam, Netherlands. Filed Mar. 18, 1927, Serial No. 176,531, and in the Netherlands Mar. 20, 1926. 8 Claims. (Cl. 131—5.)



1. A machine for the simultaneous manufacture of a number of cigarettes comprising a main frame upon which is mounted a number of stationary cylindrical cases in a row, each being made in one piece, in combination with means for introducing a piece of paper into each cylindrical case, means for forming each paper into a tube, means for closing the lower end of each tube, means for filling the tubes with tobacco, means for tamping the tobacco, means for closing the upper end of the tubes and for forcing the finished cigarettes out of the cases, all the said means being operably connected with and operated from a main driving shaft.

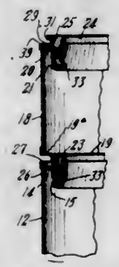
1,803,563. TIRE-CHAIN CROSS MEMBER. PETER SAGEN, Skaneateles, N. Y. Filed Feb. 21, 1928. Serial No. 255,964. 1 Claim. (Cl. 152—14.)



A device of the character described comprising an oblong plate body, the ends of which have recessed end surfaces, holes in said respective recesses, companion link members having complemental openings and calks having shank portions adapted to pivotally connect said link members in the respective recess openings in oblong plate.

1,803,564. BOOKKEEPING APPLIANCE. HANS ARNOLD SCHLAEPFER, Geneva, Switzerland. Filed Mar. 6, 1930, Serial No. 433,712, and in Switzerland Apr. 26, 1929. 2 Claims. (Cl. 282—29.)

1. In a book keeping appliance comprising a supporting member adapted to have detachably secured thereto a journal sheet, a ledger sheet and a carbon sheet interleaved between said journal and ledger sheets, a recessed frame secured to one side of the supporting member and comprising side members and a median member, two bars disposed within said frame between said side members and said median member, the journal sheet being adapted to be passed beneath said median member and to be held by one of said bars, the other bar being adapted to hold the ledger sheet and the carbon sheet, said bars each having a bevelled end engaging with a corresponding bevel edge on the frame, and a clip slidably engaged on the frame and adapted to maintain the other end of said bars in the frame.



1,803,565. THERMOSTATIC DEVICE. GUSTAVE H. SCHWEDLER, Kansas City, Mo. Filed Sept. 1, 1927. Serial No. 216,882. 1 Claim. (Cl. 200—122.)

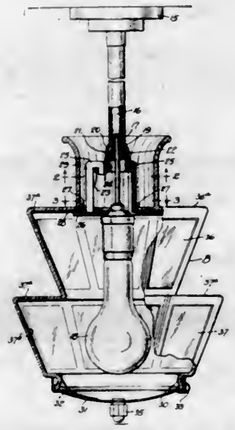
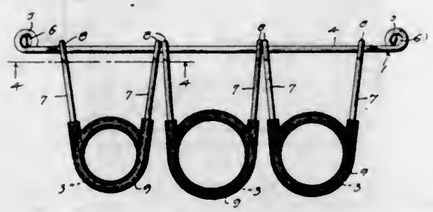
ends for the free circulation of air through said case, an electrically heated circuit closer mounted in the case and arranged longitudinally in the path of the air circulating through said case, a shutter pivotally mounted in the case for controlling the circulation of air through the latter, a handle connected to said shutter and projecting from the case through a slot in the latter, and a bracket secured to the exterior of the case and provided with a horizontally disposed calibrated portion adapted to cooperate with said handle in setting the shutter.

1,803,566. COMPARTMENT CAN. GEORGE A. SEXTON, Winchester, Mass. Filed Dec. 26, 1929. Serial No. 416,412. 4 Claims. (Cl. 220—97.)



1. A compartment can comprising two independent containers, each composed of a cylindrical body, a bottom joined to and closing one end of the body, and an annular flange joined to and projecting inward from the opposite end of the body and forming the container mouth, the flange of each container being a duplicate of the other, and provided with an annular grooved seat, the bottom of one container having an annular tongue, formed to enter and frictionally engage the annular seat in the flange of the other container, and a cover adapted to close the mouth of either container, and provided with an annular tongue, formed to enter and frictionally engage the grooved seat in the flange of either container, the organization being such that when the containers are charged and the can is ready for the market, one container is closed by the bottom of the other, and the other container is closed by the cover, and when one container is emptied and discarded, the retained container may be closed by the cover.

1,803,567. MEANS FOR AUTOMATICALLY REMOVING WATER FROM BOATS. ERIC SLATER, Heaton, Bolton, England, assignor to George Taylor (Brass Foundries) Limited, Bolton, England. Filed Oct. 16, 1930, Serial No. 489,134, and in Great Britain Dec. 16, 1929. 1 Claim. (Cl. 114—185.)

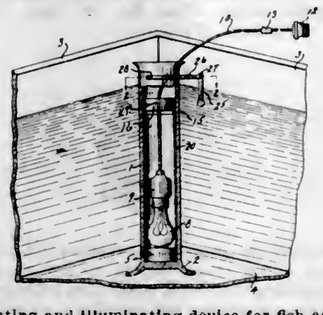


In means for automatically removing water from boats, the combination comprising a hollow channel having an open end and adapted to be attached to the underside of the boat, a cylindrical hollow and perforated extension from the channel adapted to project into the boat, a pair of coaxial valve seatings within the extension, a hand operated valve co-operating with one of said seatings, a screwed stem associated with said valve, a screwed cap on the said extension through which the stem passes and engages, a finger piece on the outer end of the stem, a non-return valve co-operating with the other seating, and a spring whereby the non-return valve is held on its seating, substantially as described.

1,803,568. LIGHTING FIXTURE. OLAF S. STROM, Alhambra, Calif., assignor of one-half to Simon A. Rosenfeld, Los Angeles, Calif. Filed Dec. 26, 1929. Serial No. 416,564. 6 Claims. (Cl. 240—78.)

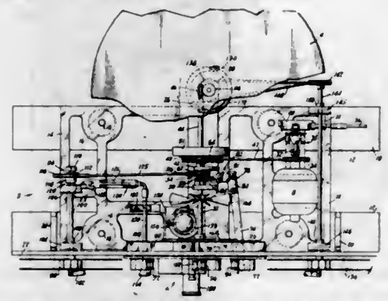
2. A ceiling lighting fixture, comprising a conduit adapted to be secured to a ceiling so as to be pendant thereto, a ball on the lower end of the conduit, a socket embracing the ball, slotted arms carried by the socket, a ring, hooks carried by the ring and engaging within the slots of said arms for supporting the ring on the socket, spring clips on the ring, a bowl having a shoulder engaged by the ring so that the bowl is supported on the ring, and a bead in the bowl engaged by the clips to detachably secure the ring to the bowl.

1,803,569. BROOM AND MOP HOLDER. KELLY H. TAYLOR, Birmingham, Ala. Filed June 6, 1929. Serial No. 368,907. 2 Claims. (Cl. 24—249.)



1. A broom or mop holder comprising a bracket, arms pivoted to and extending downwardly from the bracket, and an annular clamp secured to the lower end portions of the arms and adapted to receive the broom or mop handle, the clamp having the upper and lower portions thereof arranged in offset relation with respect to each other in the direction of that axis of the clamp passing through the center of the clamp.

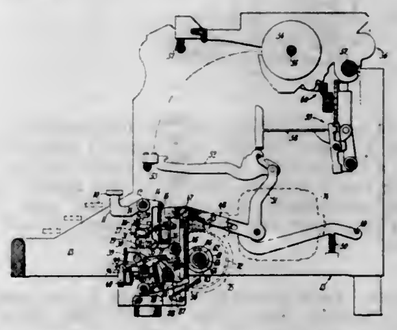
1,803,570. COOLING MEANS FOR ELECTRIC MACHINES. WILHELM ROBERT UGGLA, Morby, Stocksund, Sweden, assignor to Luth & Roséne Elektriska Aktieholag, Stockholm, Sweden, a Corporation of Sweden. Filed Aug. 24, 1927, Serial No. 215,145, and in Sweden Jan. 17, 1927. 3 Claims. (Cl. 171—252.)



1. In a dynamo-electric machine, a casing, a stator within said casing comprising a plurality of plates, a shell within said casing having longitudinal ribs forming a plurality of longitudinal passages for flow of air, said shell encircling said plates and forming therewith a separate unit adapted to be mounted in and surrounded by said casing, and means for causing flow of air through said passages.

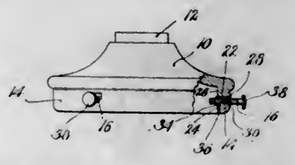
1,803,571. HEATING AND ILLUMINATING DEVICE FOR FISH AQUARIUMS. JOHN J. ULMAN, Cleveland, Ohio. Filed Nov. 14, 1929. Serial No. 407,169. 2 Claims. (Cl. 240—2.)

1. A heating and illuminating device for fish aquariums, comprising a transparent tubular container adapted to be placed in an aquarium, a heating and illuminating means in said container, and reflecting means in said container for the light rays of said heating and illuminating means, said reflecting means being a one-piece member and being arranged at one side only of said heating and illuminating means so that it can be used to direct the light rays toward or away from the central part of the aquarium, thereby enabling the reflector to be used at night as a shield to protect the fish from any glare of the light.



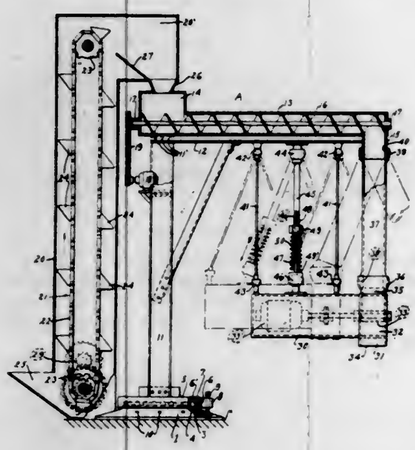
1,803,572. SYNCHRONOUSLY-OPERATED MOTION-PICTURE AND SOUND REPRODUCTION APPARATUS. FERDINAND VON MADALER, Hampton Bays, N. Y., assignor, by mesne assignments, to Visionola Mfg. Corporation, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Dec. 6, 1928, Serial No. 324,071. Renewed July 22, 1930. 18 Claims. (Cl. 88—16.2.)

4. A machine for reproducing motion pictures and sound in synchronism, in combination, a drive shaft, a phonograph turntable positively driven by said shaft, a film reeling device slippingly connected to said drive shaft, a second film reeling device adapted to be connected to said drive shaft at will, and film feeding devices disconnectibly driven by said drive shaft.



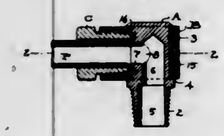
5. In a machine for reproducing motion pictures and sound in synchronism, the combination with a base, a motor, a phonograph turntable mounted on the base and operatively connected to the motor, a panel mounted on said base and extending thereacross, picture projection apparatus secured to said panel and said base, including film feeding mechanism and reels for said film, operating connections between the projection apparatus and said motor, the whole of said apparatus being located within the perimeter of said panel.

1,803,573. TYPEWRITING MACHINE. RICHARD VON REPPERT, Hartford, Conn., assignor to Underwood Elliott Fisher Company, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Sept. 11, 1928. Serial No. 305,175. 16 Claims. (Cl. 197—17.)



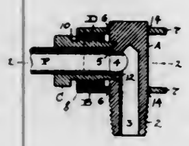
1. A typewriter having the combination of a universal continuously-rotating friction clutch-member, type-bars, individual friction clutch-members connected to the type-bars, normally inoperative pressure-arms effective when released to press the individual clutch-members into engagement with the universal clutch-member, to frictionally transmit typing movements to the type-bars, keys having means to selectively release said pressure-arms, means for restoring said pressure-arms, and means operable by the typing swing of the type-bars and effective to store up energy in the pressure-arm-restoring means, said restoring means being automatically released near the completion of the typing stroke for the purpose of discontinuing the individual clutch-member pressure independently of the actuated key.

1,803,574. SHADE HOLDER. HENRY K. WACK, New Bedford, Mass., assignor to John I. Paulding, Inc., Bedford, Mass., a Corporation of Massachusetts. Filed Dec. 19, 1929. Serial No. 415,328. 7 Claims. (Cl. 240—128.)



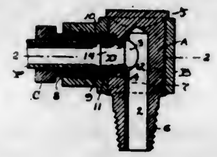
1. A shade holder having a flange provided with a through-and-through opening, a one-piece set-screw holding member mounted in said opening and having portions engaging the inner and outer faces respectively of said flange, one of said portions being provided with a threaded hole, and a set screw extending through said opening and said threaded hole.

1,803,575. SAND-SLINGING APPARATUS. WALTER H. WANGELIN, St. Louis, Mo. Filed Jan. 4, 1930. Serial No. 418,515. 9 Claims. (Cl. 22—36.)



1. An apparatus of the class described including a sand slinger, a support for said sand slinger, a suspension element, a substantially universally movable joint for connecting said suspension element to said support, and a second substantially universally movable joint which serves to connect said suspenion element to said sand slinger.

1,803,576. PIPE COUPLING. ALBERT J. WEATHERHEAD, Jr., Cleveland, Ohio. Filed Apr. 13, 1927. Serial No. 183,372. 9 Claims. (Cl. 285—86.)



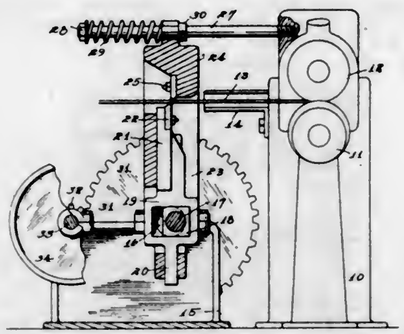
9. A pipe coupling, comprising two sleeved sections having angularly related communicating openings when assembled, including a single nut extending through one of said openings of said sections and adapted to clamp a pipe in sealing union with the other of said sections and to interlock said sections.

1,803,577. SECTIONAL PIPE COUPLING. ALBERT J. WEATHERHEAD, Jr., Cleveland, Ohio. Filed Apr. 13, 1927. Serial No. 183,374. 6 Claims. (Cl. 285—86.)

1. A sectional pipe coupling, comprising a body having a fluid passage, a yoke member sleeved upon said body having a side opening, a screw-threaded collar fitted within said side opening, and a tubular nut extending through said collar adapted to clamp the end of a pipe against said body in open communication with said passage.

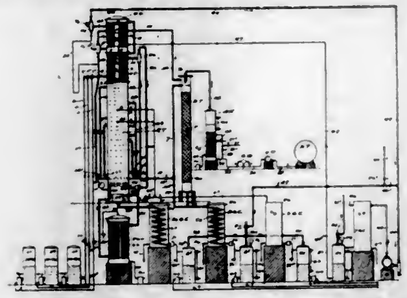
1,803,578. SECTIONAL PIPE COUPLING. ALBERT J. WEATHERHEAD, Jr., Cleveland, Ohio. Filed Apr. 13, 1927. Serial No. 183,375. 11 Claims. (Cl. 285—86.)

7. A sectional pipe coupling, comprising a body member having a passage and a counterbored opening in one side open to said passage, a nipple member seated within said counterbored opening, a yoke member sleeved upon said body member having a screw-threaded opening axially coincident with said nipple, and a tubular coupling nut within said screw-threaded opening adapted to clamp a flanged pipe against said nipple.



1,803,579. TIP PLATE FOR A TOOTH. AMOS S. WELLS, Minneapolis, Minn. Filed Mar. 31, 1926. Serial No. 98,918. 9 Claims. (Cl. 32—9.)

2. A backing for an artificial tooth which tooth has a flat surface and a recess therein with a passage of reduced size leading therefrom, comprising a member adapted to fit against said surface and carrying a projection adapted to enter said recess, said projection having an enlarged portion at its inner end having a width slightly less than the width of said passage, and a reduced portion adjacent said enlarged portion flaring outwardly from said enlarged portion and substantially fitting said passage at the outer side thereof.

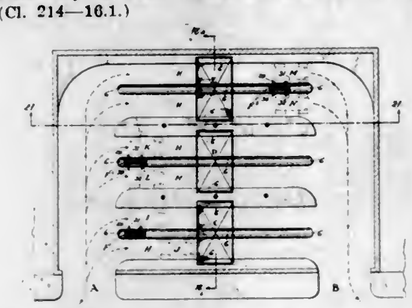


8. A base for a tip of an artificial tooth comprising a member having a surface on which the tip is built of substantially the width of said tip, said member having means formed thereon and rigid therewith embedded in the body of said tip and adapted to interlock with the backing of a tooth.

1,803,580. SCRAP CUTTER. LESTER WILLIAMS, Marshalltown, Iowa. Filed Nov. 30, 1925. Serial No. 72,379. 5 Claims. (Cl. 164—49.)

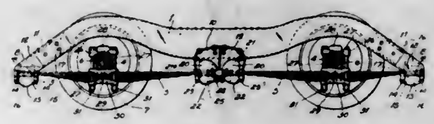
1. In combination, means for severing a continuously moving strip of stock into short sections, said means comprising a supporting base, a shaft rotatively mounted in said base, an upright yoke pivotally mounted on said shaft, a cutter blade rigidly secured in said yoke, a cutter support slidably mounted in said yoke, a cutter blade carried by said support designed to coact with the first said cutter, said cutter support being provided with guide members, a block slidably mounted in said guide members, a crank member for said block, said crank being a part of said shaft, means for guiding stock transversely between said cutter members, and means for yieldably engaging the upper end of said yoke so as to permit said cutter members to travel longitudinally with said stock while the said cutter members are in action.

1,803,581. APPARATUS FOR THE STABILIZATION, RECTIFICATION, AND FRACTIONAL DISTILLATION OF NATURAL GASOLINE. FRANCIS SALES WOIDICH, Sapulpa, Okla. Filed Nov. 6, 1924. Serial No. 748,161. 6 Claims. (Cl. 196—11.)



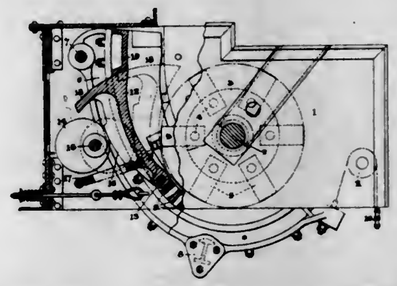
1. Apparatus of the character described, including a pressure storage system for natural gasolines, a thermosiphon heater, a rectifying column above said heater, means for conducting fluids through said heater from and to the bottom of said column, a weathering dephlegmator fixed to the top of said column, means for conducting gasolines from the storage system into said dephlegmator to expand therein, said dephlegmator including a plurality of flues for conducting gases and vapors from said column.

1,803,582. CEMENT COMPOSITION. PIERRE ZUCCO, San Francisco, Calif. Filed Oct. 6, 1925. Serial No. 60,906. 9 Claims. (Cl. 106—25.)



1. A composition consisting of a mixture of aluminous cement and a slag containing bicalcic silicate.

1,803,583. AUTOMOBILE HANDLING AND STORING APPARATUS. WILLIAM J. AITKEN, Chicago, Ill., assignor, by mesne assignments, to National Parking Garages, Incorporated, a Corporation of Delaware. Filed July 19, 1929. Serial No. 379,509. 10 Claims. (Cl. 214—16.1.)



1. In an automobile storing and handling apparatus, a building having an entrance and an exit, an elevator intermediate the entrance and exit, parallel guideways for automobiles arranged on opposite sides of the elevator for guiding automobiles to and from the elevator, said elevator intercepting the guideways and being provided with parallel guideways registering with the automobile guideways, and a parker guideway parallel to and intermediate the automobile guideways.

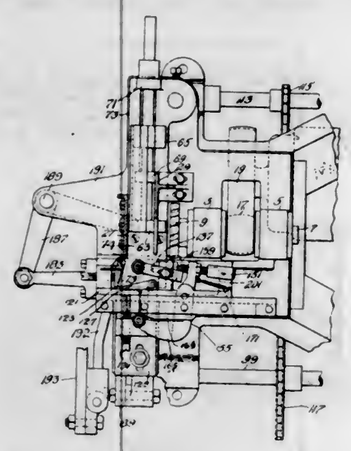
1,803,584. CAR TRUCK. HERBERT W. ALDEN and NELSON R. BROWNYER, Detroit, Mich., assignors to The Timken-Detroit Axle Company, Detroit, Mich., a Corporation of Ohio. Filed Dec. 5, 1927. Serial No. 237,720. 4 Claims. (Cl. 267—30.)

1. A street car truck comprising side frames, straight leaf springs, axle housings against the bottom of which the middle portions of said springs are secured, said side frames having at their middle and ends hollow fittings that extend below the axle housings and contain blocks of rubber or the like that are adapted to receive the ends of said springs, the middle fittings each containing two chambers and the blocks in said chambers forming abutments for the adjacent ends of said springs and the blocks in the end fittings being above and below the springs and having space opposite the ends of said springs to permit endwise play of the adjacent ends of said springs.

1,803,585. HAMMER CRUSHER. WILLIAM A. BATTEY, Haverford, Pa., assignor to Pennsylvania Crusher Company, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New York. Filed Sept. 21, 1928. Serial No. 307,505. 9 Claims. (Cl. 83—11.)

1. The combination, with crushing or grinding means including a housing having a hopper, a crushing chamber with a screen in the bottom thereof and a hammer-carrying rotor in said chamber, of a pivotally mounted breaker plate disposed in cooperative relation with respect to said rotor, and means for oscillating said breaker plate toward and from the path of the hammers.

1,803,586. PENCIL. BERNARD C. BECKER, York, Pa., assignor to The Yoder Pencil Company, Cleveland, Ohio, a Corporation of Ohio. Filed Feb. 3, 1922. Serial No. 533,844. 21 Claims. (Cl. 120—45.)



1. In a pencil, the combination with a container for semi-fluid writing material provided with an outlet allowing restricted flow therefrom under pressure, of a reciprocable tube leading from said outlet to form the writing point and mounted to the pencil body, and a feeding device capable of forcing said writing material through said tube and operable through inward movement of said tube.

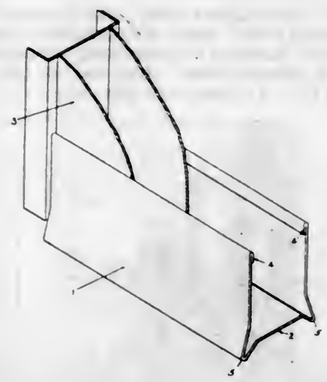
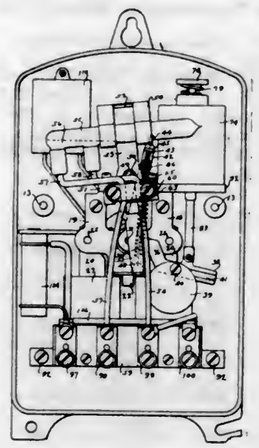
1,803,587. HEEL-SHAPING MACHINE. HUGO A. BERTRAM, Malden, Mass. Filed May 31, 1929. Serial No. 367,341. 16 Claims. (Cl. 12—47.1.)



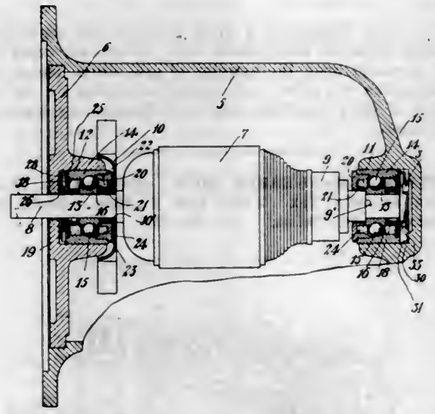
6. A machine for shaping breasts of heels comprising, in combination, a rotary cutter, a heel block holder, means for feeding blocks successively to the holder, means for automatically gripping the block delivered to the holder, and means for moving the holder relatively to the cutter to shape the concave breast of the heel, said gripping means having provision for discharging the block from the holder after it has passed the cutter.

1,803,588. LEAVENED PRODUCT AND COMPOSITION OF MATTER. ARTHUR D. BLANK, San Francisco, Calif., HENRY A. KOHMAN, Pittsburgh, Pa., and ALFRED SCHULTZ, New York, N. Y., assignors, by mesne assignments, to Standard Brands, Incorporated, Dover, Del., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Oct. 22, 1928. Serial No. 314,315. 18 Claims. (Cl. 99—10.)



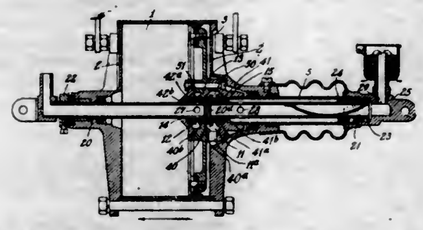
18. A new composition of matter including, in combination, the following ingredients in substantially the proportions given: potassium bromate about 0.02 parts, calcium acid phosphate about 2.0 parts, ammonium chloride about 0.7 parts, and papain about 0.2 parts, to be used with yeast and a neutralizing agent such as soda in the manufacture of "short" leavened products such as soda crackers.

1,803,589. ADJUSTABLE ABUTMENT MOLD. JOHN A. BOHNSACK, Cleveland Heights, Ohio, assignor to The E. F. Hauserman Company, Cleveland, Ohio, a Corporation of Ohio. Filed Oct. 26, 1927. Serial No. 228,786. 4 Claims. (Cl. 189—34.)



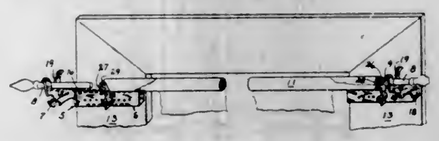
4. The combination with a partition filler element having an edge thereof in spaced parallel relation to a structural surface, of a channel shaped partition finishing mold movably mounted for adjustment between said edge and said surface, the flanges of said channel frictionally engaging said filler element and the web of said channel having spaced ribs for contact with said structural surface.

1,803,590. FLASHER. GISBERT L. BOSSARD, Dayton, Ohio, assignor to General Kontrolar Company, Inc., Dayton, Ohio, a Corporation of Ohio. Filed Nov. 2, 1928, Serial No. 316,840. Renewed Feb. 7, 1930. 16 Claims. (Cl. 200—90.)



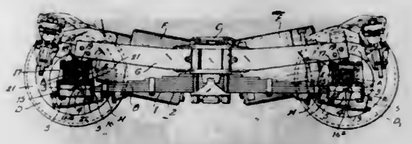
1. A circuit controller of the class described comprising a field magnet provided with pole pieces, a field coil cooperating with said pole pieces, movable armature mounted between said pole pieces and movable therebetween without impact engagement therewith, a rigid operated member pivotally mounted adjacent said armature, operating connections between said operated member and said armature to give a snap movement in opposite directions to the operated member from opposite movements of said armature, a tube carried by said operated member, contacts and fluid means within said tube adapted when the operated member is oscillated to one position to close a circuit and connect the field coil to a current source and when the tube is oscillated to another position to open the circuit, and a single integral supporting member providing opposed bearing mounts for said armature and to which the pole pieces of the field magnet are rigidly connected.

1,803,591. BEARING ASSEMBLY UNIT AND MOUNTING THEREFOR. GEORGE R. BOTT, Stamford, Conn., assignor to Norma-Hoffman Bearings Corp., Stamford, Conn., a Corporation of New York. Filed Dec. 29, 1927. Serial No. 243,301. 4 Claims. (Cl. 308—187.)



1. In combination with a supporting wall having a bore, an anti-friction bearing unit including inner and outer one-piece rings and a plurality of rotatable bearing elements arranged therebetween, annular closure plates for the opposite sides of the bearing unit connected with said outer bearing ring, and a plate arranged within said bore having a plurality of resiliently yieldable lugs directly bearing against one side edge of the outer ring and adapted to coact with means on said ring to lock the bearing ring against rotative creeping movement.

1,803,592. POWER ACTUATOR. CALEB S. BRAGG, Palm Beach, Fla., and VICTOR W. KLIESRATH, Port Washington, N. Y., assignors to Bragg-Kliesrath Corporation, Long Island City, N. Y., a Corporation of New York. Filed Sept. 16, 1927. Serial No. 219,872. 15 Claims. (Cl. 121—41.)

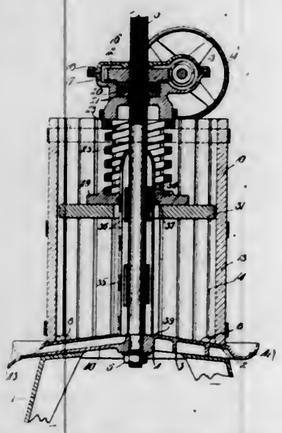


1. The combination with an internal combustion engine provided with a carburetor, a suction passage and a throttle valve controlling the same, of a suction actuated device comprising a cylinder, a piston therein provided with means for connecting it to a part to be operated, and controlling valve mechanism, said cylinder having a portion within the same normally in communication with the suction passage of the engine and constituting a vacuum storage reservoir for the suction actuated device, and means operatively connected with the controlling valve mechanism for cutting off communication between said vacuum storage reservoir and the suction passage when the controlling valve mechanism is actuated, to effect a power stroke of the piston, whereby no air can be admitted from the suction actuated device to the suction passage of the engine during said power stroke.

1,803,593. COMBINED CURTAIN AND SHADE BRACKET. MASON BROWNLEE, Oakland, Calif. Filed Apr. 24, 1928. Serial No. 272,415. 2 Claims. (Cl. 156—24.)

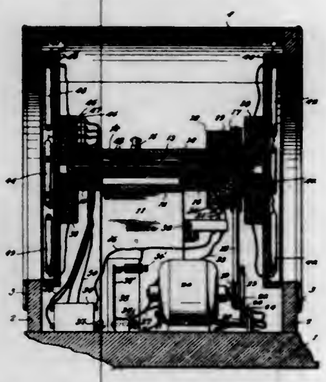
1. In a curtain and shade bracket, an elongated plate atranged for attachment to the wall with its longitudinal edges disposed horizontally and having upwardly opening notches along its upper edge, a U shaped shade support slidable upon and vertically displaceable relative to said plate whereby it may be engaged in said notches, said plate having another set of notches along its lower edge arranged to receive said U shaped member, said plate having a row of openings, therein between said notches, and a screw carried by said U shaped member and arranged to be extended into and out of said openings.

1,803,594. CAR TRUCK. NELSON R. BROWNYER, Detroit, Mich., assignor to The Timken-Detroit Axle Company, Detroit, Mich., a Corporation of Ohio. Filed Mar. 21, 1930. Serial No. 437,771. 7 Claims. (Cl. 105—182.)



1. A vehicle truck comprising axle housings, members extending from axle housing to axle housing, a support for each end of each member, said support being located below the axle located adjacent thereto and having hanger arms that are rigid therewith and extend upwardly on opposite sides of said housing and are pivotally secured to the upper portion of said axle housing for vertical swinging movement laterally of said truck.

1,803,595. FRUIT PRESS. GIOVANNI R. CATOLDO, Boston, Mass. Filed Dec. 16, 1925. Serial No. 75,771. 5 Claims. (Cl. 100—44.)



3. Pressure applying mechanism for use in a press having a base plate having an outwardly sloping upper surface provided with a drain channel leading outwardly from adjacent to its center, a fixed screw-threaded rod projecting upwardly from the center of the base plate, outer and inner perforate cylindrical casings resting upon the base plate and an annular presser plate, said pressure applying mechanism comprising a housing movable longitudinally of the rod, a rotary nut member within the housing, said nut member having screw-threaded engagement with the rod, means mounted on the housing for turning the nut, a coiled compression spring concentric with the rod, means attaching the upper end of the spring to the housing, and a shoe attached to the opposite end of the spring and normally engaging but separable from the presser member, the lower end of the spring being embedded in the shoe.

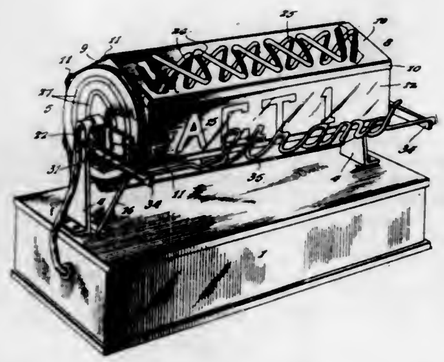
1,803,596. SIGN. RICHARD M. CRAIG, San Antonio, Tex. Filed Feb. 28, 1930. Serial No. 432,169. 19 Claims. (Cl. 40—130.)

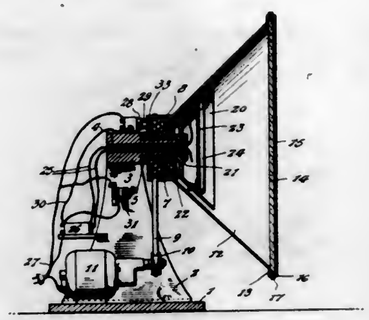


19. A display apparatus comprising oppositely disposed rotatable display members, luminescent tubes mounted on said members and rotatable therewith, an electric circuit controlling the illumination of the tubes of both display members, a circuit closer in said circuit and operable to effect perodic illumination of certain of the tubes and an automatic shunt device arranged in the circuit and operable to periodically cut out said circuit closer and effect constant illumination of all of the tubes.

1,803,597. REVOLVING SIGN. RICHARD M. CRAIG, San Antonio, Tex. Filed Feb. 28, 1930. Serial No. 432,170. 15 Claims. (Cl. 40—77.)

1. A sign comprising a drum mounted for continuous rotation about its longitudinal axis, luminescent tubes fixedly mounted upon the exterior of said drum, means for illuminating the tubes, and means controlled by the rotation of the drum for selectively illuminating the several tubes.

1,803,598. CHANGEABLE SIGN. RICHARD M. CRAIG, San Antonio, Tex. Filed Mar. 1, 1930. Serial No. 432,448. 18 Claims. (Cl. 40—77.)



1. A display apparatus comprising a drum mounted for rotation about its major axis, a luminescent tube disposed in front of the drum in a fixed position, display plates mounted upon the drum, a luminescent tube disposed within the drum and fixedly supported, and means controlled by the rotation of the drum for intermittently illuminating the tubes whereby the announcements upon the display plates may be read behind the fixed tube in front of the drum.

1,803,599. DISPLAY APPARATUS. RICHARD M. CRAIG, San Antonio, Tex. Filed Mar. 6, 1930. Serial No. 433,698. 11 Claims. (Cl. 40—133.)

1. A display apparatus comprising a stationary luminescent tube, a display element rotatable in front of said tube and provided with translucent characters, means for continuously illuminating the tube whereby the characters will appear to form a geometrical design, and means for intermittently illuminating the tube whereby the characters will display an announcement in readable position, said last-mentioned means operating alternately with the means for continuously illuminating the tube.

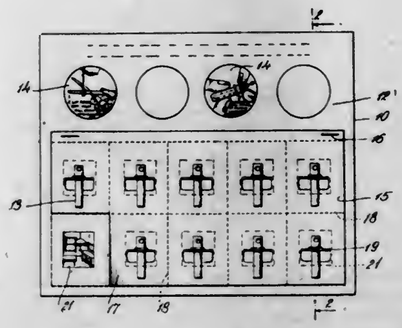
1,803,600. APPARATUS FOR MAKING OZONE. JAMES MARLOWE DAILY, Chicago,, Ill., assignor, by direct and mesne assignments, to American Ozone Company, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed Jan. 7, 1928. Serial No. 245,087. 28 Claims. (Cl. 204—32.)

1. In a generator of the character described, the combination of pairs of plates arranged to form an annular series, the plates of each pair being spaced apart to form therebetween a combined air passage and spart gap, means forming a central conduit in communication with the passages and from which the pairs of plates extend outwardly, electrodes between the pairs of plates, and means for supplying electric current to said electrodes.



1,803,601. LUBRICATING SYSTEM. ERNEST W. DAVIS, Oak Park, Ill., assignor to Alemite Corporation, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Aug. 1, 1925. Serial No. 47,527. 13 Claims. (Cl. 184—70.)

1. A lubricating system comprising a plurality of bearings and apportioning units connected with each of said bearings, said apportioning units each comprising a measuring chamber, an accumulating chamber and a check valve chamber located between said measuring chamber and accumulating chamber, means in said measuring chamber for forcing measured charges of lubricant through said check valve chamber into said accumulating chamber, a check valve in said check valve chamber for preventing return flow of lubricant to said measuring chamber, means in said accumulating chamber for placing the lubricant delivered thereto under yielding pressure comprising a cup-shaped member and a second cup-shaped member freely slidable in said first named cup-shaped member, said accumulating chamber being connected with a bearing to be lubricated, a pump for supplying lubricant under pressure to all of said apportioning units, and means for conducting lubricant from said pump to said apportioning units.

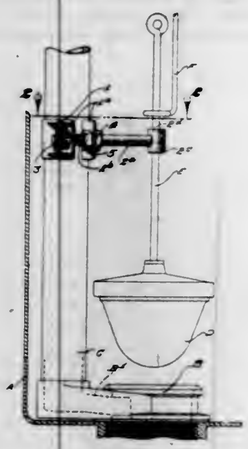
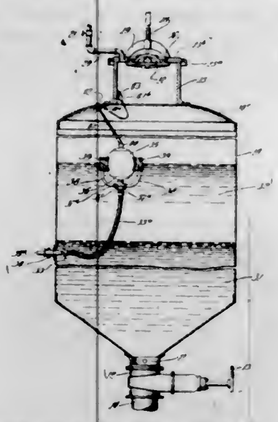
1,803,602. DISPLAY DEVICE. WILLIAM H. DEY, Montclair, N. J., assignor to United States Radium Corporation, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed May 4, 1928. Serial No. 275,016. 3 Claims. (Cl. 206—79.)



1. A sales and display device comprising the combination of a foundation member, a plurality of article-carrying sections attached thereto, each section being readily detachable from said member with its article remaining in place, and display indicia normally concealed by the sections but exposed upon detachment thereof.

1,803,603. TOILET FLUSH-VALVE GUIDE. ROY E. DODSON, San Diego, Calif. Filed Feb. 18, 1930. Serial No. 429,429. 4 Claims. (Cl. 4—57.)



8. The combination with a toilet tank having a flush valve rod and overflow pipe of a clamp means arranged to fit said overflow pipe, a stem longitudinally shiftable through the adjusting end of said clamp means, nuts on said stem for locking said clamp upon said overflow pipe, and binding said stem relative to said clamp means, and a guide sleeve at the extended end of said stem, for receiving said valve guide.

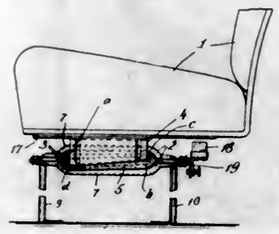
1,803,604. RENDERING TANK. HAROLD E. DUDYCHA, South St. Paul, Minn., assignor to Swift & Company, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed Feb. 26, 1927. Serial No. 171,111. 1 Claim. (Cl. 87—13.)

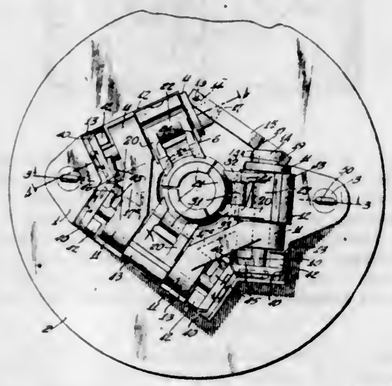


The combination in rendering apparatus of a normally closed vessel adapted to contain the materials to be rendered under pressure, means for permitting the introduction of said materials into said vessel, means for introducing water and steam into said vessel, a flexible discharge conduit for the rendered products having its outlet below the level of the rendered products in said vessel, a float attached to said conduit and adapted to rest on the upper surface of the rendered products in said vessel, U-shaped screens attached to opposite sides of said float at said surface of said products, and inlet pipes opening within said screens and communicating with said discharge conduit.

1,803,605. METHOD OF CANNING. FRED F. FITZGERALD, Oak Park, Ill., assignor to American Can Company, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed Aug. 26, 1927. Serial No. 215,757. 3 Claims. (Cl. 99—11.)

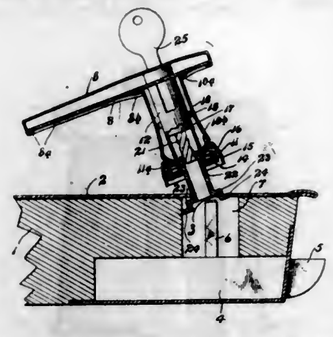
1. The method of preserving food and other products, which consists in hermetically sealing the product in its container in a rarefied atmosphere and then processing the same in the presence of substantially only sufficient moisture in the container to create steam in the interstices between the food products and at sufficient heat to sterilize.

1,803,606. FLEXIBLE JOINT. GERHARD FLINTERMANN, West Orange, N. J. Filed Aug. 9, 1927. Serial No. 211,839. 7 Claims. (Cl. 267—63.)



1. A flexible joint comprising an annulus of resilient material, a sheet metal member surrounding said annulus, and an inner member engaging in the opening in said annulus of resilient material, said sheet metal member being longitudinally divided into two sections so that each of the sections engages with the resilient material throughout a portion only of the outer circumference of the annulus, and means for fastening said sections together.

1,803,607. MARINE PAINT. GEORGE GOETZ, Los Angeles, Calif., assignor to S. M. Barr and George A. Barr, Los Angeles, Calif. Filed Apr. 5, 1927. Serial No. 181,265. 2 Claims. (Cl. 134—42.)



1. A paint including as its principal elements coal tar, sodium cyanide, and cement in substantially the following proportions: Coal tar, one gallon; sodium cyanide, five ounces; cement, one pound.

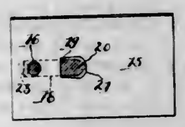
1,803,608. SPIDER. HERBERT W. GOETZ, Alhambra, RALPH C. CLARK, Los Angeles, and JOHN J. FERLIN, Huntington Park, Calif. Filed Mar. 26, 1928. Serial No. 264,691. 11 Claims. (Cl. 24—249.)

1. The combination of a base having a bore for passage of well piping, a plurality of gripping jaws, and arms pivoted at one end to the base and pivoted at their opposite ends to the respective jaws so that rocking movement of the arms will cause the jaws to engage or release the well piping, the said arms being adapted to rock to jaw releasing position projecting substantially horizontally rearwardly from their axes with the pivoted jaws resting substantially horizontally on the arms.

1,803,609. AUTOMOBILE DOOR LOCK HANDLE. RAYMOND I. GRAF, East Grand Rapids, Mich. Filed May 7, 1928. Serial No. 275,653. 5 Claims. (Cl. 70—91.)

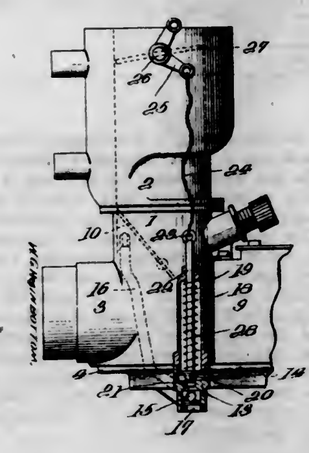
1. In combination with a door or the like having a latch mounted thereon, a handle structure mounted on the door and engaged therewith, means mounted in the handle structure for connecting with or disconnecting it from said latch, means for securing the handle structure to the door, and means for preventing disengagement of the handle from the door upon removal of said securing means except when the handle structure is in latch connecting position.

1,803,610. DOOR OR GATE STOP. CURTIS GREENE, San Diego, Calif. Filed Dec. 31, 1928. Serial No. 329,351. 5 Claims. (Cl. 292—114.)



1. In a device of the class described, a vertically disposed casing member, a lug secured in the lower end thereof, a shaft reciprocally mounted therein provided with a hook on its lower end adapted to engage the lug in said casing, a head rigidly secured to said shaft and tiltably supported around the upper end of said casing, and a spring interposed between said lug and said head tending to hold said head and shaft upwardly.

1,803,611. ZINC CONDENSER. HARRY A. GRINE, Clarksburg, W. Va., assignor, by mesne assignments, to The Grasselli Chemical Company, Cleveland, Ohio, a Corporation of Delaware. Filed May 25, 1927. Serial No. 194,238. 3 Claims. (Cl. 263—48.)

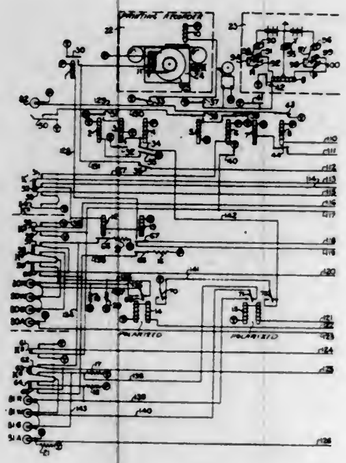


1. A zinc condenser comprising, in combination, a main body portion of a refractory material, and a refractory lining adhesively secured to the condensing surfaces of said main body portion but readily separable therefrom mechanically, said lining comprising a lightly burned mixture of raw clay and grog.

1,803,612. CLOSURE FOR POURING CARTONS. REYNOLDS GUYER, St. Paul, Minn., assignor to Waldorf Paper Products Company, a Corporation of Minnesota. Filed Sept. 20, 1928. Serial No. 307,128. 1 Claim. (Cl. 229—17.)

A carton comprising, a body formed from foldable sheet material, outer, inner and intermediate flaps secured one upon another, said outer and inner flaps having outlet openings registering one with the other and an imperforate closure for said openings formed from said intermediate flap and slidable in the plane thereof to open and close said openings, said opening in said inner flap being formed with an enlargement extending the full width of said closure to permit ready removal of granular substances from the path of said closure.

1,803,613. CARBURETOR. WALTER G. HEGINBOTTOM, Flint, Mich., assignor to Marvel Carburetor Company, Flint, Mich., a Corporation of Indiana. Filed Feb. 26, 1923, Serial No. 621,190. Renewed July 23, 1930. 10 Claims. (Cl. 261—41.)



8. A carburetor having high and low speed nozzles and a throttle valve for controlling the outlet thereof, means for supplying fuel to said high and low speed nozzles, a valve for controlling the supply of fuel to said high speed nozzle and having a fuel passage therein for supplying a minimum amount of fuel to said nozzle when seated and a maximum amount of fuel when unseated and means actuated at a predetermined movement of the throttle for unseating said valve for increasing the supply of fuel to said high speed nozzle.

1,803,614. REMOTE CONTROL SYSTEM. HARRY E. HERSHEY, Oak Park, Ill., assignor to Automatic Electric Inc., Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Oct. 11, 1926. Serial No. 140,777. 7 Claims. (Cl. 177—353.)

1. In a remote control system, a selector switch, a magnet for said selecting switch, said magnet having means to advance said switch during its deenergization, a second selective switch containing a magnet having means to advance said switch during its deenergization, a relay and manually controlled circuits therefor over which said relay is energized to close a circuit to the magnet of said first switch, a control relay associated with the second switch, means operated by said first magnet for closing a circuit to said control relay, means responsive to the operation of said control relay for closing the circuit to the magnet of said second switch, and means controlled by the said magnet of said second switch for opening the circuit of said first manually controlled relay, to thereby deenergize said relays and magnets to advance their respective switches.

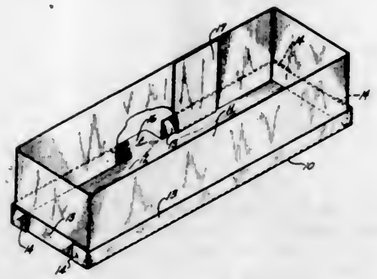
2. In a control system, a step-by-step switch having a switch bank and a wiper therefor, a plurality of keys, a contact in said switch bank for each key, a home position contact in said switch bank, a set of springs in each key having one of such springs connected to said home position contact, another set of springs in each key having one of such springs connected, respectively, to individual ones of said contacts, and means responsive to the operation of any one of said keys for initiating the operation of said switch by way of its home position contact and the first set of springs, for continuing the operation of said switch responsive to the switch wiper engaging the individual contacts connected to the unoperated keys and for stopping the switch responsive to the switch wiper encountering the individual contact connected to the operated key.

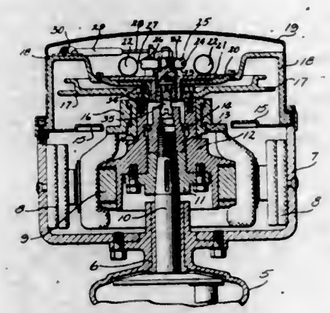
1,803,615. PROCESS OF EXTRACTING FAT FROM CACAO BEAN OR A PRODUCT THEREOF. IVAN S. HOCKER, Philadelphia, Pa., assignor to The Hocker Corporation, Philadelphia, Pa., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Aug. 24, 1928. Serial No. 301,946. 4 Claims. (Cl. 87—6.)



3. The herein described method of extracting fat from cacao beans which consists in heating and agitating an aqueous mixture of a cacao bean product by a rotary motion about a horizontal axis thereby thoroughly to wet the solid non-fatty constituents thereof so as to break down the intimate union between the same and the fatty constituents and so as also to gelatinize the starchy constituents, adding a suitable amount of diastatic material slowly agitating the mass until the gelatinized starchy constituents are saccharified adding a suitable amount of carbonate to the mixture and further agitating the same by a rotary motion about a vertical axis to raise the liberated fatty constituents to the surface, and lastly withdrawing said fatty constituents.

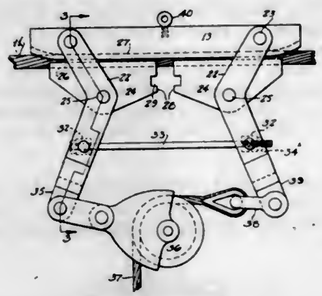
1,803,616. METHOD OF MAKING SHEET METAL CONTAINERS. JOHN M. HOTHERSALL, Brooklyn, N. Y., assignor to American Can Company, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed May 2, 1927. Serial No. 188,151. 3 Claims. (Cl. 113—120.)

1. The method of forming a container which comprises forming a continuous side wall and an end portion separately, each said formed portion having formed edges adapted for interfolding, the formed portion of the side wall extending towards the center of said end portion, said end portion having offset portions providing an upwardly presented groove and a shoulder adjacent the edge thereof, spaced from said edge, positioning a sealing compound in said groove, engaging said formed edges into engagement and folding them together with one edge interlocking under the other edge, whereby the formed edges of the side wall scrape into and partially remove the sealing compound in the groove, said folded portions being pressed into said groove and into engagement with said shoulder and confining the removed sealing compound therebetween.



1,803,617. CAR LINER. FREDERICK E. HUMMEL, Hopewell, Va. Filed June 19, 1930. Serial No. 462,264. 5 Claims. (Cl. 105—423.)

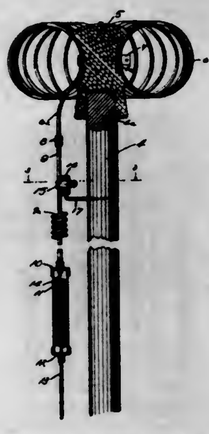
1. A car liner, comprising a one-piece bottom member having at its side and end edges upstanding flanges, and a one-piece, continuous siding member positioned on said bottom and against the inner faces of said flanges, said siding extending upwardly from the bottom member and extending around the entire periphery thereof.



2. A car liner, comprising a one-piece bottom member formed of foldable fibrous material and having at its side and end edges upstanding flanges, and a one-piece, continuous siding member formed of fibrous material and positioned edgewise adjacent said bottom and in overlapping engagement with the inner faces of said flanges and secured thereto, said siding extending upwardly from the bottom member and extending around the entire periphery thereof.

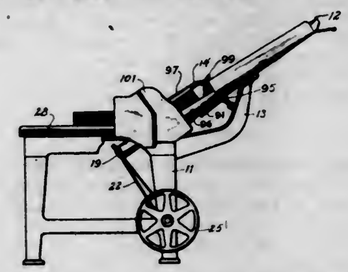
1,803,618. TIMER MOUNTING AND DRIVE. FINN T. IRGENS and PAUL C. BALDUS, Milwaukee, Wis., assignors to Outboard Motors Corporation, Milwaukee, Wis., a Corporation of Michigan. Filed June 19, 1930. Serial No. 462,379. 5 Claims. (Cl. 123—195.)

1. The combination with an engine crank shaft and a crank casing providing a bearing therefor, of a bracket rigidly connected with said casing, a rotatably adjustable timer support mounted on said bracket, and a timer shaft journaled co-axially with said support in a position determined by said bracket and flexibly coupled to said crank shaft to receive motion therefrom at a point spaced from said bearing.



1,803,619. CABLE CLAMP. CHARLES E. JENSEN, Portland, Oreg., assignor of one-half to A. H. Wethey, jr., Portland, Oreg. Filed Apr. 28, 1930. Serial No. 448,003. 4 Claims. (Cl. 24—132.)

4. The combination of an elongated grooved clamp member adapted to ride on one side of a cable, a pair of shoes adapted to bear against the opposite side of said cable, a pair of arms hinged to opposite ends of said clamp and hinged at their mid sections to said shoes, the hinges for said shoes lying closer together than the hinges to said clamp, means for holding said shoes apart for the purpose of freeing the cable, means for drawing said arms to a cable gripping position when a weight is supported thereby, and a bolt across said arms adapted to hold the same in the position to which they are moved by said weight supporting member.



1,803,620. ANTENNA. SMITH M. JESTER, Park Rapids, Minn. Filed Mar. 25, 1927. Serial No. 178,255. 3 Claims. (Cl. 250—33.)

2. A radio antenna comprising, a standard, a toroidal shaped coil wound from a tube and forming a receiving head, an insulator mounted on said standard and having a drum portion thereon against which portions of the various individual coils of said head fit and are secured, and means for connecting said head to a radio receiving or sending set.

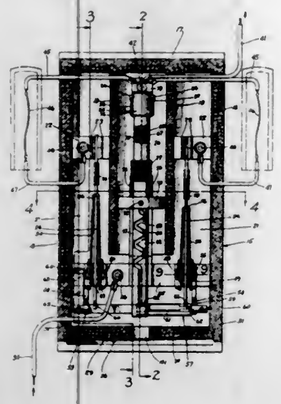
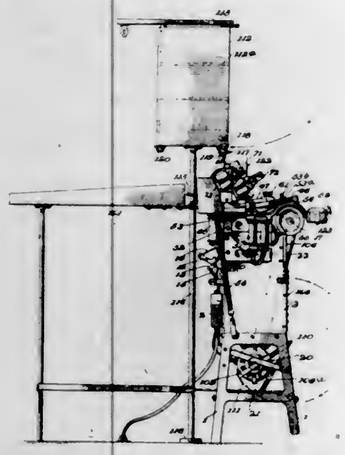
1,803,621. CAN-END COUNTING AND STACKING MACHINE. LYMAN L. JONES, Seattle, Wash., assignor to American Can Company, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New Jersey. Filed Apr. 18, 1928. Serial No. 633,030. 30 Claims. (Cl. 235—98.)



1. In a machine for counting and stacking can ends or the like, the combination of a rotary annular feeding device, and means operable by the feeding of can ends through said device for counting said ends.

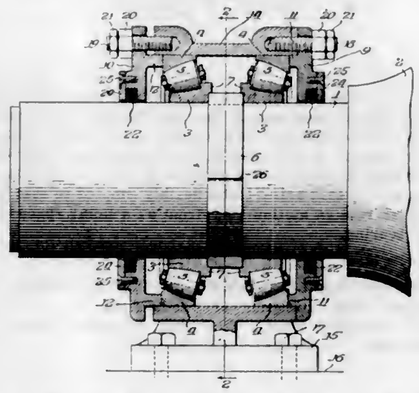
1,803,622. IRONING DEVICE. WILLIAM H. KELSEY, Cleveland, Ohio. Filed July 5, 1929. Serial No. 376,064. 2 Claims. (Cl. 68—26.)



1. In combination, an ironing member having a heated wall, and an ironing unit detachably connected thereto and provided with a plurality of rolling members lying closely adjacent thereto, said heated wall being provided with a smooth iron surface adapted for direct application to the work upon removal of said unit.

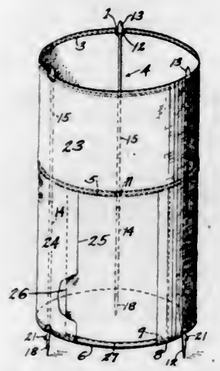
1,803,623. TRANSFER SWITCH. CHARLES A. LANG and CHARLES B. GAMBLE, Minneapolis, Minn., assignors to Fusaline, Incorporated, Minneapolis, Minn., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Nov. 2, 1929. Serial No. 404,456. 20 Claims. (Cl. 200—126.)

1. A device of the class described, comprising a fusible element, movable means having a normal condition and an actuated condition and adapted to be held in normal condition by the fusible element and released for actuation when said fusible element breaks, timing means with which said movable means is operatively associated, trigger means, and circuit-controlling means adapted to be held by said trigger means when said movable means is in normal condition and to be released for actuation by said movable means striking a hammer blow against said trigger means at a time after release of the movable means predetermined by the timing means.



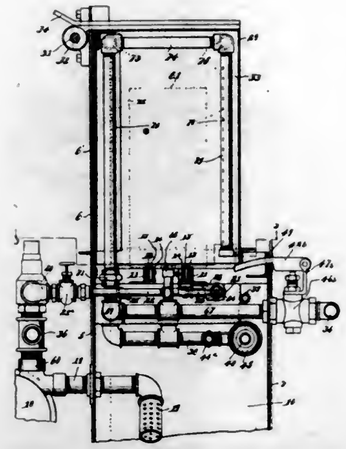
1,803,624. MACHINE FOR SORTING AND COUNTING PAPER MONEY. ALLAN E. LARD, Washington, D. C., assignor to The Federal Bill Counter Company, Washington, D. C., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed June 29, 1926. Serial No. 119,411. 22 Claims. (Cl. 235—92.)

1. In a machine for counting paper money, the combination with a lower feed roll and a cooperating narrower upper feed roll by and between which the bills are gripped and fed; a yieldingly supported finger opposing and normally yieldingly engaging a portion of the surface of the lower roll at one side of the upper roll and over which portion of the surface of the lower roll bills pass in the feeding thereof, and said finger being adapted to be displaced from its said engagement with said surface by bills successively passing between said finger and said surface; and an electric circuit in which said finger and its said cooperating surface of the lower roll are contacts.



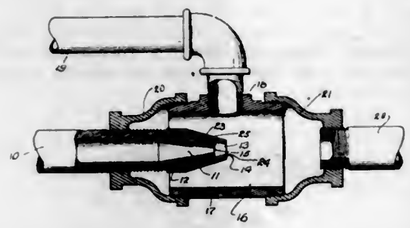
14. In a machine of the class described, the combination of a plurality of pairs of feed rolls for feeding bills or the like; a counter individual to each pair of feed rolls and means actuating each counter to count bills fed by its said feed rolls; and a manually operable device having one position in which the machine is rendered operative excluding its said counters, and another position in which the machine is rendered operative including its counters.

1,803,625. ROLLER BEARING. ALBERT L. LARSON, Beloit, Wis. Filed Apr. 17, 1924. Serial No. 707,050. 5 Claims. (Cl. 308—187.)



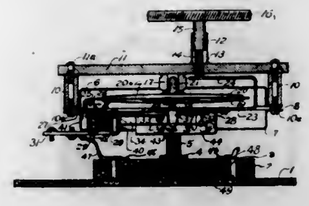
1. A roller bearing provided with a pair of roller bearing arrangements wherein the outer roller races have curved roller surfaces comprising arcs of a circle, the center of which is midway between said races, and means on the shaft for engaging and holding the inner races in position, said means comprising a split ring fitted to the shaft or journal and engaging said inner races.

1,803,626. COLLAPSIBLE PORTABLE DRESSING ROOM. JACK C. LASLEY, Los Angeles, Calif. Filed Sept. 29, 1930. Serial No. 485,091. 9 Claims. (Cl. 135—5.)



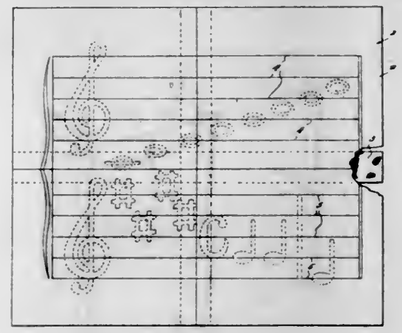
1. A frame; a flexible sleeve fixed at one end to the frame; standards supporting the frame; and other frames spaced apart below the first frame and connected to the sleeve.

1,803,627. CAN WASHING MACHINE. HENRY D. LATHROP, Chicago, Ill. Filed Jan. 26, 1927. Serial No. 163,619. 9 Claims. (Cl. 141—7.)



2. A receptacle cleaning apparatus comprising in combination an intermittently movable carriage for shifting receptacles to be washed along a predetermined path; a cylinder having a piston therein for actuating the carriage; means for transmitting a fluid under pressure to said cylinder for actuating said piston, including a pressure-responsive valve; means for discharging fluid from said transmitting means and utilizing it as a cleaning agent against the receptacles, comprising a valve; said pressure-responsive valve being connected with said discharging means for opening said cylinder to said fluid transmitting means for actuating said piston when said discharge valve is closed.

1,803,628. LIQUID HEATER. HARRY D. LATHROP, Chicago, Ill. Filed Aug. 5, 1927. Serial No. 210,772. 6 Claims. (Cl. 261—76.)

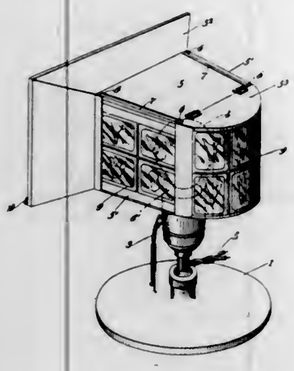


1. A liquid heating device comprising a heating chamber formed of an intermediate cylindrical member with a removable steam inlet reducer and a removable liquid outlet reducer; a steam inlet conduit having a nozzle thereon disposed within said chamber; an outlet in axial alignment with said steam inlet conduit; a liquid inlet at substantially right angles to said steam inlet conduit; a hood engaging and surrounding said nozzle and providing a relatively small annular cooling space between the nozzle and the hood for graduating the initial condensation, the tip of said hood extending beyond the tip of said nozzle, to a point in vertical alignment with the center of said liquid inlet, and means for varying the position of said nozzle relatively to said inlet.

1,803,629. THERMOSTATIC TEMPERATURE CONTROL. TIODOLF LIDBERG, Chicago, Ill., assignor to Chicago Surgical & Electrical Co., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed Mar. 10, 1927. Serial No. 174,134. 8 Claims. (Cl. 200—140.)

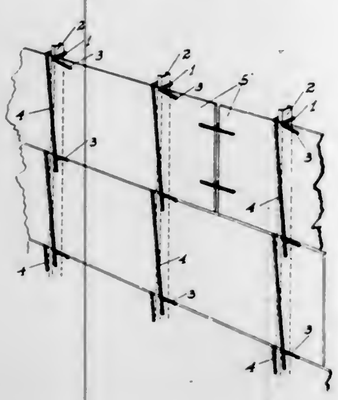
7. A thermostatic temperature control comprising a frame, a diaphragm fixed to said frame for thermally responsive regional movement, a bracket movably mounted relative to said diaphragm and normally inaccessible in operative placement of said frame, an electrical switch including complemental contacts fixed to said bracket for control by said diaphragm, exteriorly accessible means for adjusting the position of said bracket to move said switch relative to said diaphragm for temperature control, and meaus associated with said bracket to enclose said switch for the purpose set forth.

1,803,630. EDUCATIONAL CHART. ALBERTA LOUISE LOSSIE, Louisville, Ky. Filed Oct. 25, 1928. Serial No. 315,009. 1 Claim. (Cl. 84—471.)



An educational device comprising a board having a representation of a staff and consisting of a plurality of flat sections of rectangular form disposed in edge to edge contact with one another, flexible strips adhering to the rear faces of the sections in bridging relation to the contacting edges thereof whereby to connect the sections and permit the chart to be folded into a compact mass, and a plurality of music symbols disposable upon the front face of the board and freely movable thereon into determined positions thereon relative to the staff.

1,803,631. ILLUMINATING DEVICE FOR THE DISPLAY AND EXAMINATION OF NEGATIVES. ELLIOTT B. MABEE, Brooklyn, N. Y. Filed July 12, 1928. Serial No. 292,163. 4 Claims. (Cl. 40—132.)



1. In a device of the character described, the combination of a casing whose sides and rear are closed in part by light diffusing material, illuminating means therein, means at the rear of the casing for supporting a flat holder containing X-ray negatives for examination, means at the sides of the casing for holding flat mounts containing X-ray negatives, and additional means at the front of the casing for holding mounts containing X-ray negatives in curved position, the means for holding the said mounts maintaining them in position in front of the light diffusing material for examination of the contained negatives by the light from said illuminating means, substantially as and for the purposes set forth.

1,803,632. FASTENING CLIP. JOHN F. MAKOWSKI, Oakland, Calif., assignor of one-half to Fireproof Wall Company, a Corporation. Filed Nov. 12, 1929. Serial No. 406,583. 4 Claims. (Cl. 72—120.)

1. A clip for the purpose described comprising a yoke to embrace a stud, a hasp on one branch of the yoke and a prong on the other branch extending at substantially right angles to the longitudinal axis of the hasp.

1,803,633. CARTONING MACHINE. WES W. MCCAIN, Oak Park, Ill., assignor, by mesne assignments, to Cherry-Burrell Corporation, Wilmington, Del., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Feb. 17, 1928. Serial No. 255,004. 21 Claims. (Cl. 93—2.)

1. A cartoning machine comprising carton feeding means, folding mechanism movable against the carton for partly folding a carton, means moving with said folding mechanism for inserting butter in said partly folded carton, and means operating after the insertion of said butter into said partly folded carton for folding the carton into a complete self-sustaining snugly fitting package about said butter.

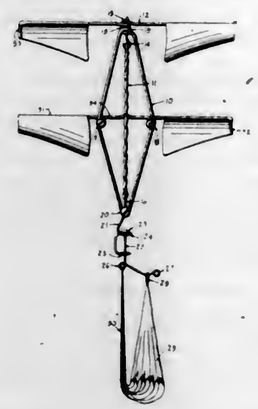
1,803,634. WELDING COMPOSITION. HARRY J. MORGAN, Walnut Park, Calif., assignor to P. L. & M. Company, Los Angeles, Calif., a Corporation of California. Filed Aug. 14, 1928. Serial No. 299,636. 6 Claims. (Cl. 219—10.)



1. A composition for use in applying a hard metal facing to a metallic body by heat welding, said composition comprising a mixture of a material like tungsten in the ability of tungsten to form a hard metal when combined with a hardening element like carbon, the material and the hardening element being finely divided and in suitable proportions to give a hard metal when fused, as exemplified by the proportions of approximately nine pounds of tungsten and one pound of carbon, the material and the hardening element being bound together by a binder to form substantially homogeneous granules.

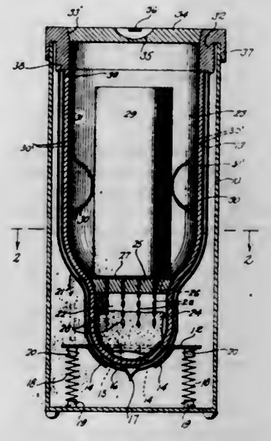
1,803,635. TRAFFIC MARKER. GEORGE DALTON MYERS, WALTER A. EDWARDS, and JOHN W. HOBING, Cincinnati, Ohio, assignors to The Edwards Manufacturing Company, Cincinnati, Ohio, a Corporation of Ohio. Filed Jan. 30, 1929. Serial No. 336,092. 1 Claim. (Cl. 94—1.5.)

In combination with a traffic marker plate having a pin receiving hole therein, a fastening pin occupying the hole and consisting of a shank having at one end an enlarged head engaging the plate surrounding the hole, at the opposite end a pointed pavement penetrating portion, adjacent the penetrating portion a reversely tapered portion, and between the reversely tapered portion and the head a tamping portion of cross sectional area larger than the greatest cross sectional area of either of the first mentioned portions, said tamping portion having a sharp edged shoulder adapted to shear and tamp paving material around the reversely tapered portion when the pin is driven into the pavement through the plate.

1,803,636. HELICOPTER FLYING TOY. HARRY TRACY NELSON, Dallas, Tex. Filed Dec. 26, 1929. Serial No. 416,540. 5 Claims. (Cl. 46—52.)

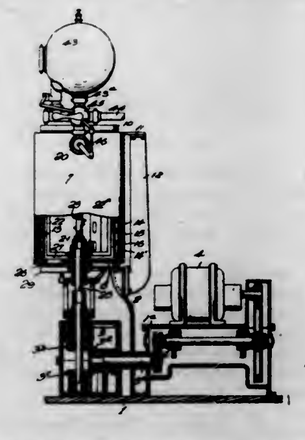
1. A flying toy with a parachute attached to the lower end of the frame by means including a swivel connection having a vertical axis, one element of the swivel being rigidly attached to the frame of the toy, the other element of the swivel having the cords of the parachute fastened to it and having a portion extending for supporting the top of the parachute.

1,803,637. SOLUBLE GILSONITE AND METHOD OF MAKING SAME. IZADOR J. NOVAK, Bridgeport, Conn., assignor to The Raybestos Company, Bridgeport, Conn., a Corporation of Connecticut. Filed July 26, 1929. Serial No. 381,405. 4 Claims. (Cl. 196—22.)



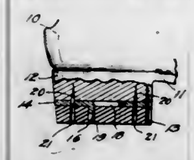
1. A method for rendering gilsonite substantially completely soluble in gasoline and like solvents and for reducing the colloidal characteristics thereof which comprises melting the gilsonite by heating in the absence of the solvent and holding the same at a temperature slightly above its melting point for a time period sufficient to induce substantially complete solubility when mixed with the solvent.

1,803,638. WHIRLING TOY. MORRIS NUDELMAN, St. Louis County, Mo. Filed Feb. 3, 1930. Serial No. 425,532. 2 Claims. (Cl. 46—14.)



1. A whirling toy comprising a hollow disc consisting of two flat circular sides and overlapped flanges spacing them apart and affording weight to the periphery,—the inner flange being corrugated and the sides having diametrically spaced matching holes, a double cord passing through said holes for manual operation, and a metallic ball loosely disposed in the space between said sides and flanges and adapted to impinge successively the said corrugations under rotation of the disc, substantially as described.

1,803,639. REFRIGERATING APPARATUS. AUBIN E. PAYSON and MINER P. WETMORE, Norwich, Conn. Filed Sept. 21, 1928. Serial No. 307,348. 18 Claims. (Cl. 62—91.5.)



1. In refrigerating apparatus, a heat-insulated jar having an inner transverse partition removably supported by the side walls of the jar below the top and above the bottom thereof, so that the space below said partition constitutes a chamber for holding a refrigerant, the space above said partition constituting a freezing chamber larger than said lower chamber, said partition also serving as a support for a container in said freezing chamber.

1,803,640. FREEZING APPARATUS. LEROY S. PFOUTS, deceased, Canton, Ohio, by Joan S. Pfouts administratrix, Canton, Ohio, assignor to The H. H. Miller Industries Company, Canton, Ohio, a Corporation of Ohio. Original application filed Jan. 21, 1928, Serial No. 248,543. Divided and this application filed Aug. 9, 1928. Serial No. 298,452. 8 Claims. (Cl. 62—114.)

1. In apparatus of the class described, the combination of a support, a container for material mounted thereon and comprising a cylinder disposed vertically and having heads closing its upper and lower ends, said lower head being formed with a relatively large opening and a relatively small opening, and a valve element for controlling the discharge of material through the relatively large opening and having a portion to control the discharge of material through said relatively small opening independently of the discharge of material through the large opening.

1,803,641. FASTENER FOR RUBBER HEELS. LUIGI PIONANELLI, Tacoma, Wash. Filed Oct. 4, 1927. Serial No. 223,890. 2 Claims. (Cl. 36—35.)

1. A means for securing an apertured rubber-heel to a shoe structure comprising a leather coupler between the shoe structure and the heel, said coupler being provided with pin elements struck-out from the leather coupler inwardly of the peripheral edges thereof and extending downwardly into some of the apertures of the heel and terminating flush with the lower face of the heel, said struck-out pins providing elongated apertures in the coupler forming cushioning air pockets between the shoe structure and rubber heel, and headed nails inserted in other of the heel apertures and driven through the coupler to engage in the shoe structure, the heads of said nails bearing against the coupler.

1,803,642. PAPER PRODUCT AND METHOD OF MAKING THE SAME. HAROLD ROBERT RAFTON, Lawrence, Mass., assignor to Raffold Process Corporation, a Corporation of Massachusetts. Filed Sept. 5, 1928. Serial No. 304,167. 20 Claims. (Cl. 92—21.)

1. The method of manufacturing a sized paper filled with carbonate filler comprising adding carbonate filler, in an amount sufficient to impart a substantial degree of filling to the resulting paper, to previously sized fibre in the papermaking process under conditions favoring the minimizing of time of contact between the carbonate filler and the previously sized fibre, and thereafter making paper therefrom.

1,803,643. PAPER PRODUCT AND METHOD OF MAKING THE SAME. HAROLD ROBERT RAFTON, Lawrence, Mass., assignor to Raffold Process Corporation, a Corporation of Massachusetts. Filed Sept. 5, 1928. Serial No. 304,168. 24 Claims. (Cl. 92—21.)

1. The method of manufacturing a sized paper filled with carbonate filler comprising adding to a previously sized paper mix containing carbonate filler a sizing reatoring material under conditions favoring the minimizing of the time of contact of the constituents of the mix, and thereafter making paper therefrom.

1,803,644. METHOD OF SIZING PAPER. HAROLD ROBERT RAFTON, Lawrence, Mass., assignor to Rafton Laboratories, Inc., a Corporation of Massachusetts. Filed Sept. 5, 1928. Serial No. 304,169. 26 Claims. (Cl. 92—21.)

1. The method of sizing paper comprising adding to fibrous material a substantially nonbreakable paraffin emulsion and a substance capable of reacting with a second substance subsequently added to form a precipitate, said precipitation serving to concentrate the disperse phase of said paraffin emulsion, but not to break said emulsion, and thereafter making paper therefrom.

1,803,645. PAPER PRODUCT AND METHOD OF MAKING THE SAME. HAROLD ROBERT RAFTON, Lawrence, Mass., assignor to Raffold Process Corporation, a Corporation of Massachusetts. Filed Sept. 5, 1928. Serial No. 304,170. 21 Claims. (Cl. 92—21.)

1. The method of manufacturing a sized paper filled with carbonate filler comprising adding to fibrous material a substantially nonbreakable paraffin emulsion and a substance which will react with a second substance subsequently added to form a precipitate, adding said second substance, the reaction caused thereby serving to concentrate the disperse phase of said paraffin emulsion but not to break said emulsion, adding carbonate filler, hereafter adding a sizing restoring agent under conditions favoring the minimizing of the time of contact of the constituents of the mix, and thereafter making paper therefrom.

1,803,646. METHOD OF ELIMINATING FOAM IN PAPER MANUFACTURE. HAROLD ROBERT RAFTON, Lawrence, Mass., assignor to Raffold Process Corporation, a Corporation of Massachusetts. Filed Sept. 5, 1928. Serial No. 304,171. 35 Claims. (Cl. 92—21.)

1. The method of manufacturing substantially unsized paper filled with carbonate filler comprising adding to a mix containing fibrous material and carbonate filler, acidic material at the wet end of the paper machine, and thereafter making paper therefrom.

1,803,647. MANUFACTURE OF CARBONATE FILLED SIZED PAPER. HAROLD ROBERT RAFTON, Lawrence, Mass., assignor to Raffold Process Corporation, a Corporation of Massachusetts. Filed Sept. 5, 1928. Serial No. 304,172. 20 Claims. (Cl. 92—21.)

1. The method of manufacturing a sized paper filled with carbonate filler comprising adding to a paper mix containing fibrous material, carbonate filler, and size, a size precipitant under conditions favoring the minimizing of the time of contact of the constituents of the mix, and thereafter making paper therefrom.

1,803,648. METHOD OF SIZING CARBONATE FILLED PAPER. HAROLD ROBERT RAFTON, Lawrence, Mass., assignor to Raffold Process Corporation, a Corporation of Massachusetts. Filed Sept. 5, 1928. Serial No. 304,173. 28 Claims (Cl. 92—21.)

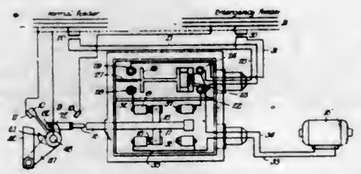
1. The method of manufacturing a sized paper filled with carbonate filler comprising adding to fibrous material a substantially nonbreakable paraffin emulsion and a substance which will react with a second substance subsequently to be added to form a precipitate, said reaction serving to concentrate the disperse phase of said paraffin emulsion but not to break said emulsion, adding carbonate filler, thereafter adding said second precipitating substance under conditions favoring the minimizing of the time of contact of the constituents of the mix, and thereafter making paper therefrom.

1,803,649. METHOD OF ELIMINATING FOAM IN PAPER MANUFACTURE. HAROLD ROBERT RAFTON, Lawrence, Mass., assignor to Raffold Process Corporation, a Corporation of Massachusetts. Filed Sept. 5, 1928. Serial No. 304,174. 14 Claims. (Cl. 92—21.)

1. The method of manufacturing substantially unsized paper filled with carbonate filler comprising mixing with fibrous material carbonate filler and saponified material, said saponified material being added in an amount insufficient to produce a substantially sized paper, thereafter adding to the resulting mix a precipitant at the wet end of the paper machine, and thereafter making paper therefrom.

1,803,650. METHOD OF SIZING CARBONATE FILLED PAPER. HAROLD ROBERT RAFTON, Lawrence, Mass., assignor to Raffold Process Corporation, a Corporation of Massachusetts. Filed Sept. 5, 1928. Serial No. 304,175. 23 Claims. (Cl. 92—21.)

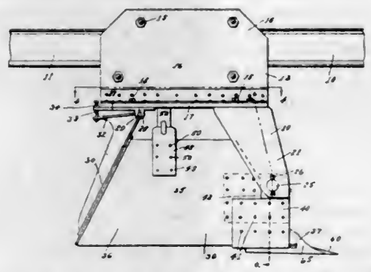
1. The method of sizing paper filled with carbonate filler comprising separately mixing size and size precipitant, and mixing the resulting product with fibrous material and carbonate filler under conditions favoring the minimizing of the time of contact of the constituents of the mix, and thereafter making paper therefrom.



1,803,651. METHOD OF SIZING CARBONATE FILLED PAPER. HAROLD ROBERT RAFTON, Lawrence, Mass., assignor to Raffold Process Corporation, a Corporation of Massachusetts. Filed Sept. 5, 1928. Serial No. 304,176. 19 Claims. (Cl. 92—21.)

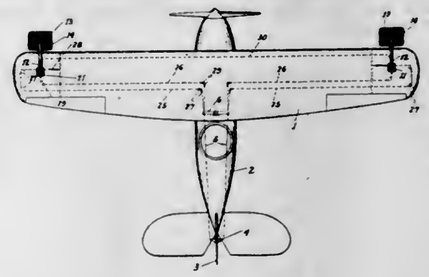
1. The method of sizing paper filled with carbonate filler comprising mixing with fibrous material a paraffin emulsion made with a substantially water soluble type emulsifying agent, fibre associating agent, and carbonate filler, and thereafter adding a restoring agent under conditions favoring the minimizing of the time of contact of the constituents of the mix, and thereafter making paper therefrom.

1,803,652. METHOD OF SIZING CARBONATE FILLED PAPER. HAROLD ROBERT RAFTON, Lawrence, Mass., assignor to Raffold Process Corporation, a Corporation of Massachusetts. Filed Sept. 5, 1928. Serial No. 304,177. 19 Claims. (Cl. 92—21.)



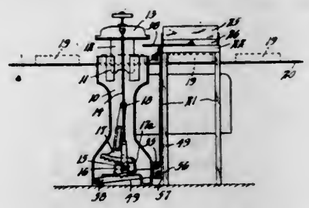
1. The method of sizing paper filled with carbonate filler comprising mixing with fibrous material carbonate filler, a paraffin emulsion made with a substantially water insoluble type emulsifying agent, and a potential fibre associating agent, and thereafter adding to the resulting mix a precipitant for said potential fibre associating agent under conditions favoring the minimizing of the time of contact of the constituents of the mix, and thereafter making paper therefrom.

1,803,653. SYSTEM OF ELECTRICAL DISTRIBUTION. JOSEPH RAH, Chicago, Ill., assignor, by mesne assignments, to G. and W. Electric Specialty Company, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed Mar. 21, 1927. Serial No. 177,021. 13 Claims. (Cl. 171—97.)



1. In a system of electrical distribution, the combination of a normal feeder, an auxiliary feeder, a service switch for selective connection to either feeder, a mechanical motor for actuating said service switch, an electric motor for storing power in said mechanical motor, and means for controlling the circuit of said motor dependent upon operating conditions on one of said feeders.

1,803,654. EXCAVATOR BUCKET. GEORGE T. RONK, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, assignor to Speeder Machinery Corporation, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, a Corporation of Iowa. Filed Aug. 8, 1927. Serial No. 211,461. 11 Claims. (Cl. 214—145.)

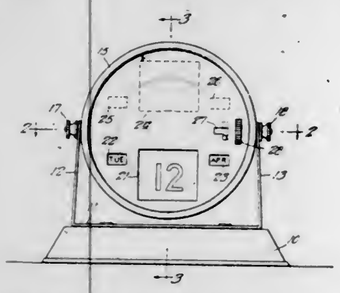


1. In a device of the class described, a bucket support having spaced downwardly extending arms, a bucket member comprising side and bottom portions, the front ends of said side portions being pivoted to and between said downwardly extending arms, a bail adjustably connected to said side portions to change the inclination of said bottom portion, a latch device for connecting said bail with said support, an end plate pivoted to said support, and means for adjusting the angle of said end plate to fit the end of said side members.

1,803,655. DIRECTIONAL STABILIZER FOR AIRCRAFT. HERVEY M. SALISBURY, Walnut Grove, and ARTHUR E. MILLER, Sacramento, Calif. Filed Oct. 19, 1929. Serial No. 400,803. 7 Claims. (Cl. 244—29.)

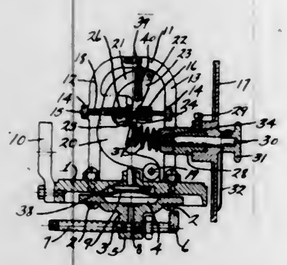
1. In an airplane having a wing and a horizontal-direction control rudder, horizontal vertically movable air engaging elements mounted in connection with the wing on both sides of the center of span of the same, vertical longitudinally extending and transversely movable air engaging elements disposed adjacent said first named elements, means connecting the adjacent ones of said elements as a unit, and connections between said means and the rudder for causing the rudder to be turned with the vertical or transverse movement of the elements independently.

1,803,656. AUTOMATIC FEEDER FOR CANDY MACHINES. FRANK M. SCHULER, Winona, Minn. Filed Oct. 29, 1928. Serial No. 315,726. 7 Claims. (Cl. 107—7.)



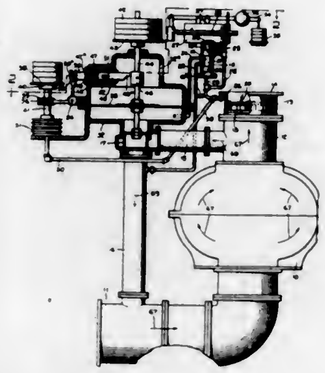
5. An article feeding device for a candy making machine adapted to discharge cherries or other articles into moulds, having in combination, a hopper for containing a multiplicity of said cherries or other articles, said hopper having a bottom with a plurality of rows of holes therein adapted to receive said cherries or articles, plates movable above and below said bottom having rows of apertures therethrough adapted to align with the said holes, stops on said plates limiting the movement thereof, with said apertures respectively in or out of alignment with said holes, a reciprocating actuating member, a yielding connection between said member and said plate above the bottom of said hopper, an arm and lost motion connection between said actuating member and the plate below the bottom of said hopper and a retracting spring connected to said last mentioned plate.

1,803,657. AZO DYESTUFFS AND METHOD FOR THEIR PREPARATION. ALFRED SIEGEL, Newark, N. J., assignor, by mesne assignments, to The Grasselli Chemical Company, Wilmington, Del., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Mar. 2, 1926. Serial No. 91,812. 15 Claims. (Cl. 260—95.)



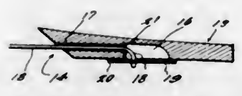
1. The method of preparing an arylamid of 2.3 hydroxynaphthoic acid for coupling, which comprises treating said compound with a hot concentrated solution of caustic soda to produce a homogeneous liquid mass and delivering the resulting mass into a relatively large volume of water.

1,803,658. INDICATING DEVICE. JACOB A. SMITH, River Forest, Ill., assignor to Mayer Manufacturing Corporation, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed July 14, 1928. Serial No. 292,723. 11 Claims. (Cl. 40—107.)



1. A device of the character described comprising a pair of housing sections including annular flange portions telescoping with each other to form a housing, a supporting rod extending substantially centrally through said housing and through said flange portions to thereby lock said housing sections together, means for supporting said rod whereby said housing may rotate about said rod as a center, and indicating means in said housing adapted to change its indication upon each half rotation of said housing.

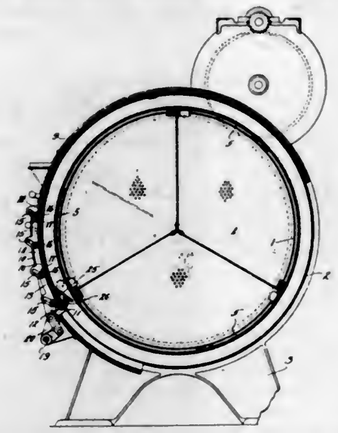
1,803,659. PRESSURE REGULATING DEVICE. ARTHUR E. STANLEY, Elkhart, and ROBERT ZONES, Mishawaka, Ind. Filed Oct. 31, 1927. Serial No. 230,118. 8 Claims. (Cl. 50—5.)



1. The combination with an air pipe line, a plug valve in said pipe line, a diaphragm controlled member, of a pivoted lever adjacent said diaphragm controlled member and moved by said member upon a predetermined pressure, a support adjacent said pivoted lever, means for adjusting said support in relation to the pivoted lever, an expansion spring interposed between the support and the pivoted lever and acting against the diaphragm controlled member, an arm carried by said plug valve, a slidable block, a link connection between the slidable block and the arm of the plug valve, a pivoted arm carried by the pivoted lever and disposed in a recess of the block, a spring, one end of said spring being anchored to the pivoted arm and at a point above said pivoted arm in a position where the pivotal point of the arm will pass therebetween.

1,803,660. COMPRESSOR AND PUMP. EVERETT W. SWARTWOUT, White Plains, N. Y. Filed Dec. 5, 1928. Serial No. 323,980. 20 Claims. (Cl. 230—22.)

1. The combination of a pressure producing device having an inlet passage and a discharge passage, a pressure line communicating with one of said passages, unloading means for said device including passage means for interconnecting said discharge passage with said inlet passage of said device, a valve for said unloading means, and means preset for a definite and substantial range of variation of the pressure of the pressure line for moving said valve to and from its closing and opening positions.



1,803,661. TAILPIECE RETAINING MEANS. ALFRED R. SWEARINGEN, Miami, Fla., assignor of one-eighth to Helen M. Reardon, Miami, Fla., and one-fourth to Albert Quadow, Miami, Fla. Filed Feb. 7, 1930. Serial No. 426,658. 2 Claims. (Cl. 84—302.)

1. In a stringed musical instrument accessory of the class described, a tailpiece provided at one end with a recess and spaced parallel communicating bores, an anchoring loop having its end portions passing forwardly through said bores and arranged in said recess a separate plate covering said recess and contacting with the underside of the adjacent portion of the tailpiece and provided with means for attachment of the terminal ends of said anchoring loop thereto.

1,803,662. UNLOADING OR DISCHARGING MEANS. EMIL J. CARROLL and EDMUND I. CUTTER, Norwood, Ohio, assignors to The American Laundry Machinery Company, Norwood, Ohio, a Corporation of Ohio. Filed Nov. 27, 1925. Serial No. 71,743. 14 Claims. (Cl. 68—18.)

1. In a machine of the character described, a liquid receiving casing provided with a pair of openings, a slidable closure for each of said openings, clamping means effective between said closures for maintaining the same in liquid sealing position, and a single means for actuating said clamping means to unclamp both of said closures.

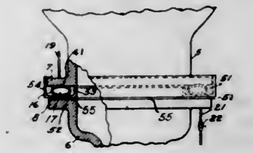
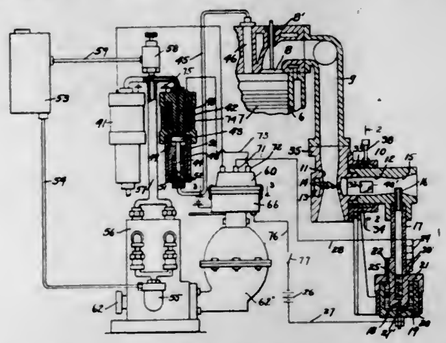
1,803,663. METHOD AND MEANS FOR PRODUCING BLISTER COPPER FROM COPPER BEARING MATERIALS. GEORGE CAMPBELL CARSON, San Francisco, Calif., assignor to Carson Investment Company, a Corporation of Nevada. Filed Apr. 6, 1926. Serial No. 100,068. 11 Claims. (Cl. 75—62.)



1. The method of smelting sulphide copper ores which comprises forming adjacent embankments of ore and siliceous material and smelting the ore to copper matte for flow along the base of the ore embankment and along the base of the embankment of siliceous material, of bessemerizing the matte adjacent said embankment of siliceous material for fluxing the ferrous oxide therewith, and withdrawing the blister copper from thereunder and the slag from the surface thereof.

1,803,664. MACHINE FOR AND METHOD OF DYEING CLOTH AND OTHERWISE TREATING TEXTILES. WALLACE P. COHOE, Riverdale-on-Hudson, N. Y., assignor to Cohoe Processes, Inc., New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New York. Filed Dec. 28, 1926. Serial No. 157,520. 41 Claims. (Cl. 8—18.)

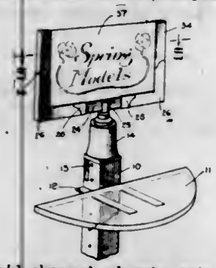


1. A machine for treating a textile with a fluid comprising a container for the fluid, a roll within the container for contact with the fluid and adjacent which the textile passes, means adapted to pass the textile through the container, means adapted to move the roll at such a rate of speed that a film of the fluid is formed on the surface of the roll and moves therewith, and means to adjust the distance of the textile from the surface of said roll.

1,803,665. EXPANSION JOINT OR COUPLING. BASIL W. DENNIS, Columbus, Ohio. Filed Dec. 24, 1925. Serial No. 77,632. 9 Claims. (Cl. 285—130.)

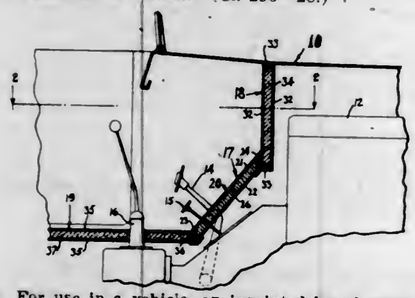
1. In apparatus of the character described, in combination, two conduit sections having portions of their adjacent ends in spaced relation and adapted for relative approach and recession to a substantial extent means for sealing the space between end portions of said conduit sections against leakage of fluid thereacross, said means comprising a flexible hollow gasket in sealing engagement with one of said conduit sections, a carrier for said gasket, said gasket with its carrier being insertible transversely of the axis of said conduit sections to operative position therebetween, and means for automatically maintaining a substantially constant pressure within said gasket in spite of relative movement of the portions of said conduit sections which said gasket engages.

1,803,666. FUEL FEEDING SYSTEM. LOUIS O. FRENCH, Milwaukee, Wis. Filed Jan. 28, 1928. Serial No. 250,216. 9 Claims. (Cl. 123—136.)



1. In a fuel supply system, the combination with the engine and a fuel-control electromagnet, of a variable resistance controlled by the suction of the engine for controlling the action of said electromagnet.

1,803,667. SHOW CARD HOLDER FOR DISPLAY STANDS. MATTHEW M. FRIEDEMANN, New York, N. Y. Filed June 12, 1928. Serial No. 284,861. 1 Claim. (Cl. 40—146.)



In a display assembly including a tubular standard, a show card holder or frame including a plug member, one end thereof including a portion including a fitting to be disposed in coupling engagement with said standard, the opposite end of said member comprising a bifurcated extension, an open sided channel fitted within said bifurcated section, channel angle members comprising side branches disposed to either side of said open sided channel including inwardly directed lips engaging the upper edges of said member and enveloping the same loosely for sliding engagement therewith, slots formed in said angle members, fastening members disposed through said slots engaging said channel whereby said angle members may be disposed at predetermined positions and extend the side branches relatively to each other.

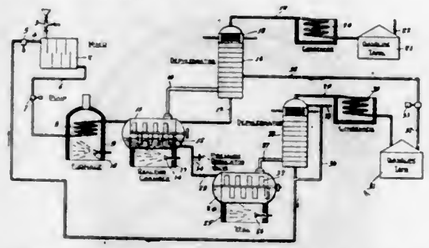
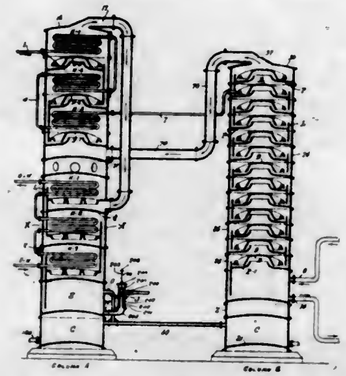
1,803,668. VEHICLE BODY CONSTRUCTION. MARIAN GALE, Los Angeles, Calif. Filed Feb. 20, 1928. Serial No. 255,565. 2 Claims. (Cl. 296—28.)



1. For use in a vehicle, an insulated board comprising spaced top and bottom members, end and side members secured to said top and bottom members, said top and bottom members each being formed of a plurality of pieces of wood veneer secured together, said end and side members each being formed of a single piece of wood and being of greater thickness than said top and bottom members, the space between said top, bottom, end and side members being filled with asbestos.

1,803,669. COMPOUND EXPANDING UNDERREAMER. JOHN GRANT, Los Angeles, Calif. Filed Dec. 21, 1927. Serial No. 241,653. 20 Claims. (Cl. 255—75.)

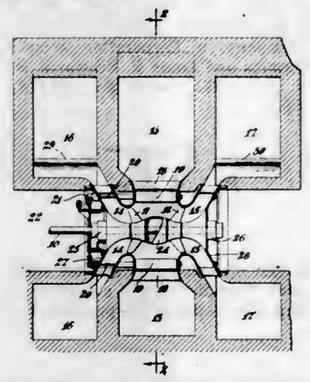


1. In an expansive reamer, a body, a cutter carrying member movable for expansion and contraction with relation to the body, and a cutter mounted exclusively on said carrier and movable with relation thereto for expansion and contraction.

1,803,670. PROCESS OF TREATING HYDROCARBON OIL WITH METALLIC HALIDES. RICHARD W. HANNA, Piedmont, Calif., assignor to Standard Oil Company of California, San Francisco, Calif., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Jan. 22, 1927. Serial No. 162,725. 10 Claims. (Cl. 196—54.)

2. A process of treating hydrocarbon oils with metallic halide to convert relatively high boiling point oil to relatively low boiling point oil which comprises passing a mixture of hydrocarbon oil and metallic halide under a pressure sufficient to prevent the unconverted relatively high boiling point oil from vaporizing through a heating coil wherein the same is heated to a reaction temperature, passing the admixture into a reaction chamber wherein the admixture is maintained for a period of time at the reaction temperature, removing produced low boiling point oils as vapors from said reaction chamber then passing admixed hydrocarbon oil and metallic halide to a chamber maintained under a substantially reduced pressure, wherein the hydrocarbon oil is vaporized from the metallic halide residue rendered inactive condensing unconverted higher boiling points oils from the vapors vaporized from said metallic halide and returning said oils to the reaction chamber.

1,803,671. DISTILLATION SYSTEM. ARTHUR F. KEANE, Syracuse, N. Y., assignor to Somet-Solvay Engineering Corporation, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New York. Filed Apr. 17, 1926. Serial No. 102,627. 19 Claims. (Cl. 196—100.)



1. In a steam distillation apparatus the combination of a steam distillation column containing a plurality of similar ring sections provided with plates and overflow collars, the alternate ones of which are staggered 180° with respect to each other forming a circuitous path via cooperating overflow collars of adjoining plates, a hood having a multiplicity of inverted crown-like elements therein supported on each of said ring sections, with a unitary structure composed of superposed cooperating ring and plate sections constituting a heat interchanger for liquid feed going to and vapor product coming from the said distillation column, a condenser for condensing the said vapor after it has passed through said heat interchanger, and a separator in which the condensate from the aforesaid step separates into two layers so as to permit water contained in the upper of said two layers and product to be withdrawn continuously and separately.

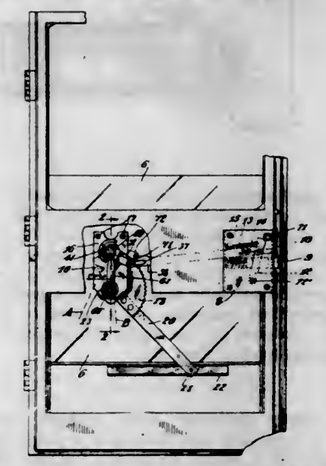
1,803,672. PROCESS OF RESTORING THE LUSTER TO RAYON. GUILLAUME LARDY, Peage-de-Roussillon, France, assignor, by meane assignments, to Du Pont Rayon Company, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed July 7, 1928, Serial No. 291,140, and in Great Britain Nov. 4, 1927. 6 Claims. (Cl. 18—48.)

6. A process which comprises wetting and hot-calendering predetermined areas of a fabric containing dulled cellulose acetate threads at a temperature between 125° C. and 170° C. and a pressure of .1 kg./cm² to .5 kg./cm² whereby patterns having a luster are formed on a dull background.

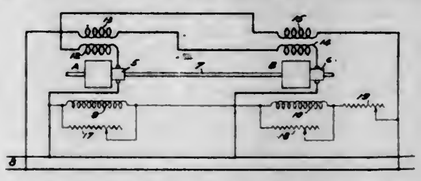
1,803,673. HYDRAULIC TURBINE. LEWIS FERRY MOODY, Philadelphia, Pa. Original application filed June 25, 1920, Serial No. 391,583. Divided and this application filed Mar. 29, 1926. Serial No. 98,081. 27 Claims. (Cl. 253—102.)



1. In a hydraulic turbine the combination with an intake passage of a plurality of runners supplied thereby, a discharge space for each runner, adjustable guide vanes in said intake passage, and stems for said adjustable guide vanes passing through one of said discharge spaces.

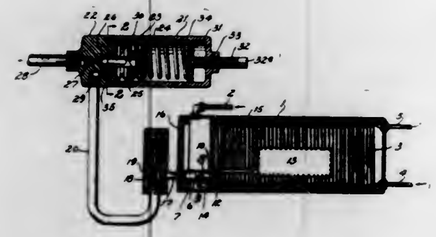
1,803,674. ROLLER SCREEN. CHARLES E. NICHOLSON, Detroit, Mich. Filed Jan. 24, 1928. Serial No. 249,140. 1 Claim. (Cl. 156—39.)

In a window screen device, a vertical angle bar adapted to be secured to a window frame, a screen roller supporting bracket adapted to be secured to a window sash and projecting forwardly therefrom toward the angle bar, and an idler roller, one end of which is carried by the forward terminal of the bracket over which the screen is trained for urging the screen into contact with the angle bar.



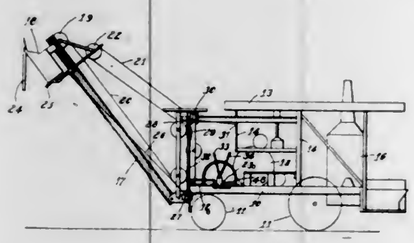
1,803,675. OPERATING MEANS FOR AUTOMOBILE DOOR LATCHES AND WINDOW REGULATORS. LEON OTTINGER, New York, N. Y. Filed June 2, 1928. Serial No. 282,426. 12 Claims. (Cl. 268—126.)

2. In combination with an automobile door latch and window regulator each having an actuating element, a single operating handle therefor, a part mounted in said handle and manually movable independently thereof, and spaced means simultaneously operable upon the actuation of said part to establish an operative connection between said handle and one of said actuating elements while disestablishing such operative connection between the handle and the other actuating element.



7. In combination with an automobile door latch having an outside handle, and a window regulator, a single inside operating handle therefor, means for establishing an operative connection at will between said handle and the window regulator or the door latch to actuate the latter when said handle is moved in one direction, and means rendered effective by movement of said handle in the opposite direction to lock the door latch against operation by the outside handle.

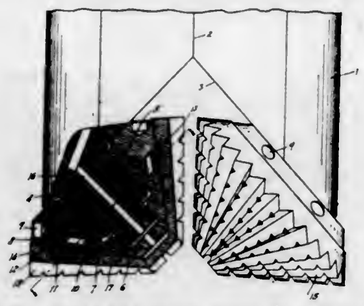
1,803,676. SYSTEM OF DISTRIBUTION. WILLIAM H. POWELL, Wauwatosa, Wis., assignor to Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company, Milwaukee, Wis., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed May 27, 1927. Serial No. 194,578. 11 Claims. (Cl. 171—223.)



1. In combination, a plurality of direct current dynamo-electric machines having normal operating characteristics of shunt wound machines and connected to supply a common load, each machine having a regulating field winding, said regulating winding on one of said machines including sections connected to carry current proportional to that in the armature circuits of the respective machines and producing energizing effects which neutralize each other during normal operation of said machines.

1,803,677. VALVE CONTROLLING MECHANISM FOR REFRIGERATING SYSTEMS. WALTER G. E. ROLAFF, St. Louis, Mo. Filed Aug. 13, 1926. Serial No. 129,038. 8 Claims. (Cl. 62—8.)

2. In a refrigerating system, in combination with a receiver for liquid refrigerant connected with the low side of the system, a float valve for controlling the flow of refrigerant from the receiver, and a valve interposed in the line between said receiver and the low pressure side of the system and normally held closed by a predetermined pressure exerted on one side and adapted to be opened by a greater pressure by the liquid refrigerant from said receiver exerted on the other side.



1,803,678. TRIP DEVICE FOR POWER SHOVELS. ARTHUR E. RUTLEDGE and EDWARD T. CLEARY, Rockford, Ill. Filed June 5, 1926. Serial No. 113,913. 3 Claims. (Cl. 214—146.)

1. In a machine of the character described, a frame, a boom extending therefrom, a movable shovel carried thereby having a releasable latch for dumping the same, a dump cable connected with said latch and extending to said frame and connected to a part thereof, there being a certain amount of slack in said cable to afford a predetermined range of movement for said shovel, pulley in a loop of slack cable arranged to have translational movement as the cable slack is used in the movement of said shovel, a slidable bearing member for said pulley, a guide whereon said bearing member is arranged to move, and means cooperating directly with the guide and equally effective in the movement of the bearing in either direction for frictionally braking the movement of said bearing on said guide at any point in the travel thereof.

1,803,679. DRILL CUTTER RETAINING MEANS. FLOYD L. SCOTT, Houston, Tex., assignor to Hughes Tool Company, Houston, Tex., a Corporation of Texas. Filed Dec. 16, 1925. Serial No. 75,709. 13 Claims. (Cl. 255—71.)

1. In a drill cutter, a frusto-conical shaped bushing formed to surround the end of its supporting shaft, a toothed cutter shaped to fit upon said bushing, registered grooves in the bearing surfaces of said bushing and cutter spaced between the forward end and the base and a resilient locking ring fitting within said grooves to prevent longitudinal movement of said cutter on said bushing during operations.

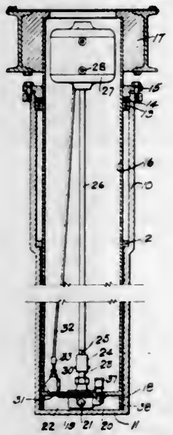
1,803,680. TOOTH-CROWN AND METHOD OF FORMING AND APPLYING THE SAME. ELI P. SCHWARTZ St. Louis, Mo., assignor to Schwartz Bros. Dental Laboratory Company, a Corporation composed of said Eli P. Schwartz and Louis R. Schwartz, St. Louis, Mo. Filed Oct. 14, 1927. Serial No. 229,697. 8 Claims. (Cl. 32—29.)

1. The method of forming crowns for teeth which consists in casting the same around a nuclear crown formed from a casting of a model of the prepared tooth in a suitable mold.

1,803,681. CIRCLE BRACE. NELSON K. SMITH, Los Angeles, Calif., assignor to Byron Jackson Co., West Berkeley, Calif., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Apr. 25, 1928. Serial No. 272,604. 6 Claims. (Cl. 255—35.)



1. A circle brace comprising two slidably connected sections, one of said sections provided beneath the other section with an abutment and the other with teeth on its lower edge to engage said abutment, an abutment on the first mentioned section above the second mentioned section and offset from the first mentioned abutment longitudinally of the first mentioned section, a means to releasably hold the sections toward each other to prevent disengagement of a tooth with the abutment, and a shoe on the outer end of one of the sections for engagement with a drill stem.

1,803,682. VEHICLE LIFTING JACK. LOUIS C. STUKENBORG, Memphis, Tenn., assignor to Oildraulic Lift Company, Memphis, Tenn., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Jan. 30, 1928. Serial No. 250,468. 7 Claims. (Cl. 138—9.)

1. In a lifting jack, a vertically disposed hollow cylinder, and a self contained lifting unit vertically movable therein, said unit comprising a hollow piston adapted to contain a lifting fluid, and having the lower end thereof interiorly threaded, a pump having a threaded flange therearound screwed into said threaded portion to form a closure for the lower end of said piston, an intake for said pump within said piston, an outlet for said pump exterior of said piston, and means carried by said piston for actuating said pump.

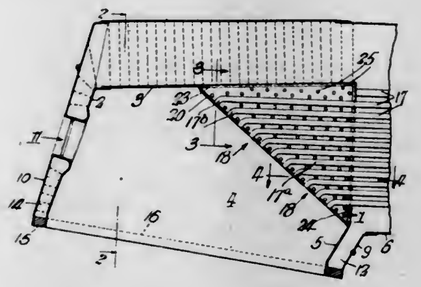
1,803,683. AUTOMATIC VALVE FOR FLUID LIFT DEVICES. JAMES W. TAYLOR, San Antonio, Tex., assignor to Economy Pump and Oil Tool Company, a Corporation of California. Filed Apr. 9, 1927. Serial No. 182,283. 5 Claims. (Cl. 103—232.)

1. In a device of the character described including a well casing, a flow tubing therein, said casing being closed about said tubing at its upper end, the combination of a valve housing in said tubing, a piston in said housing, a valve connected with said piston, means to conduct pressure fluid into said casing, a passage from the outside of said tubing adapted to be closed by said valve, a second passage from without said tubing connecting with the side of said housing away from said valve, and means tending to hold said valve in open position with a predetermined pressure.



1,803,684. CARBURETOR. LIONEL M. WOOLSON, Detroit, Mich., assignor to Packard Motor Car Company, Detroit, Mich., a Corporation of Michigan. Original application filed Apr. 21, 1923, Serial No. 333,595. Divided and this application filed Jan. 11, 1926. Serial No. 80,687. 9 Claims. (Cl. 261—121.)

1. A carburetor adapted to carburet only unvarying amounts of fuel for any successive units of time under normal conditions, including in combination a mixing chamber, a constant level fuel reservoir having communication with said chamber to supply fuel thereto by gravity, and means to render ineffective on said reservoir any suction effect in said chamber, whereby fuel is furnished said chamber at an unvarying rate.

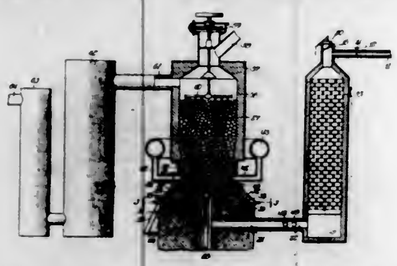
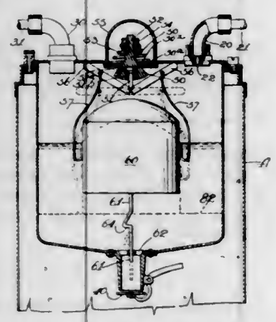
1,803,685. LOCOMOTIVE BOILER. TORRIS H. ALFREDS, Park Ridge, Ill., assignor to Locomotive Firebox Company, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Aug. 23, 1929. Serial No. 387,837. 5 Claims. (Cl. 122—69.)



1. A locomotive boiler embodying therein a firebox having a crown sheet and a front sheet and flues leading from said front sheet, a flat hollow element fixed to said crown sheet and front sheet respectively to open therethrough, and including a wall inclined upwardly and rearwardly from said front sheet, certain of said flues extending through said element to be fixed in and to open through said inclined wall thereof.

1,803,686. GAS PRODUCTION. CHARLES W. ANDREWS, Duluth, Minn., assignor of one-half to Herman A. Brassert, Chicago, Ill. Filed Nov. 28, 1923. Serial No. 676,473. 2 Claims. (Cl. 48—202.)



2. The process of raising the calorific value of a gas containing a considerable portion of carbon dioxide, which consists; in passing the gas through a zone of partly consumed coke at a high temperature, next through a zone of coke at a higher temperature, introducing air and steam alternately directly in said latter zone, and then passing the gas through a zone of substantially raw bituminous coal and thereby distilling and coking the coal and enriching the mixed gases with the products of distillation, and agitating said coal during the passage of the gas.

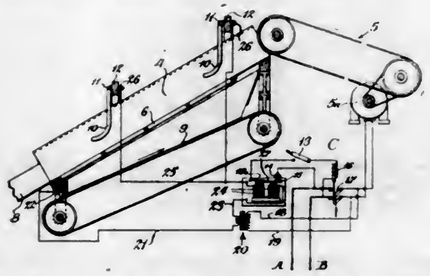
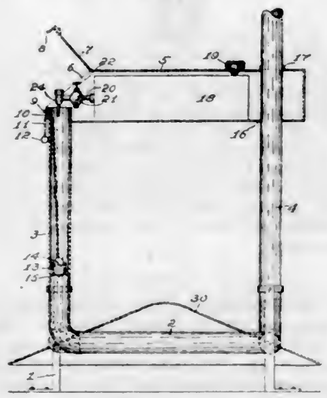
1,803,687. VACUUM TANK. JOHN LEWIS ANDREWS, Elmwood Park, Ill., assignor to Stewart-Warner Corporation, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Virginia. Filed Jan. 18, 1929. Serial No. 333,322. 11 Claims. (Cl. 103—236.)



1. In an apparatus for lifting fuel by suction, in combination with a receptacle to which the liquid is to be lifted, having connection for liquid inflow and a liquid outlet at the lower part with an outlet controlling valve; a continuously open suction port and an atmosphere inlet port; an inwardly opening valve controlling the atmosphere inlet port; spring means reacting against a part fixed with respect to the valve seat for holding said valve normally seated against the suction; a float in the chamber and operating connections from the float for moving the atmosphere valve inwardly by the buoyant effort of the float against the resilient reaction of the spring-valve-seating means upon predetermined rise of level of the liquid in the chamber.

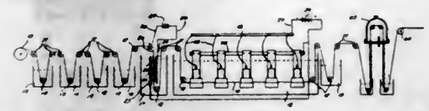
1,803,688. LIFT TRUCK. ARTHUR M. BARRETT, Winnetka, Ill., assignor to Barrett-Cravens Company, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed July 20, 1928. Serial No 294,179. 27 Claims. (Cl. 254—2.)



1. In a lift truck, the combination with main and lifting frames and a steering handle, of means operable by said steering handle to lift the lifting frame comprising a rocking member mounted on the main frame, a lifting lever fulcrumed to swing concentrically with the axis of said rocking member and connected with said steering handle to be actuated thereby, pawl and ratchet mechanism operatively connecting said lifting lever and said rocking member for rocking the same to lift the lifting frame, lifting means connecting said rocking member with the forward portion of the lifting frame, holding means interposed between said rocking member and the rear portion of the main frame for normally holding the lifting frame against descent, and means operable to release said holding means.

1,803,689. CONVEYER CONTROL. WALTER H. BERNADT, Buffalo, N. Y. Filed Dec. 27, 1929. Serial No. 416,806. 7 Claims. (Cl. 198—37.)

7. In apparatus for transferring electrically conductive materials from one point to another, a conveyer for delivering the materials to a point of discharge, a motor operatively connected to said conveyer, a normally closed circuit through said motor, a second conveyer for carrying off the materials discharged from said first mentioned conveyer, intermediate means arranged between the two conveyers for facilitating the transfer of the materials from one to the other, automatic means for breaking the circuit through said motor comprising an armature carrying a contact, a magnet for operating said armature, said magnet being included in a normally open circuit and contact means as a part of said circuit carried by said intermediate means and adapted to contact with the materials being conveyed should the materials back up in the intermediate means beyond a predetermined height, said materials being utilized in such case as a conductor to close the normally open circuit through said magnet.



1,803,690 HEATING APPARATUS. CRENO P. BETTENGA, Marshalltown, Iowa. Filed Apr. 22, 1929. Serial No. 357,133. 5 Claims. (Cl. 126—94.)

1. A device of the character described, comprising in combination, a coil of pipe having vertical open end parts which serve respectively as a combustion chamber and a discharge flue, a burner mounted in spaced relation in said combustion chamber, a hollow housing one end of which is in communication with said combustion chamber, the other end traversed by said flue, and having an air inlet in its bottom adjacent said flue, a closed tank for liquid fuel in said housing, and valve-controlled means for delivering liquid fuel from said tank through said combustion chamber into said burner.

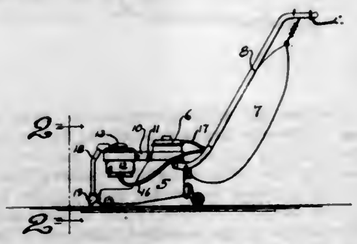
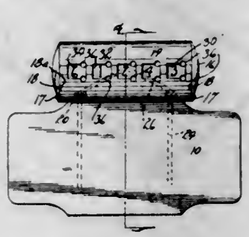
1,803,691. PROCESS AND APPARATUS FOR PLATING WIRE. CARL P. BROCKWAY, Ridgewood, N. J., assignor to World Bestos Corporation, Paterson, N. J., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Nov. 28, 1928. Serial No. 322,365. 21 Claims. (Cl. 204—1.)



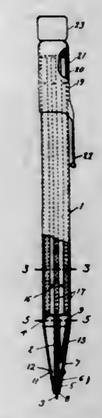
5. The process of chromium plating an iron wire which comprises thoroughly cleansing said wire, passing said wire through a bath of the plating solution, and simultaneously causing a current to flow from said wire through said solution to an electrode, immediately thereafter causing a current to flow from another electrode through said solution to said wire whereby a coating of chromium is applied to said wire, passing said wire in close proximity to a plurality of electrodes in said plating solution and causing a current to flow from said electrodes to said wire, whereby the coating of chromium is increased on said wire, and subjecting successive portions of said wire continuously to electrical bombardment in a vacuum.

1,803,692. PHONOGRAPH ATTACHMENT. ULYSSES J. BURKE, Des Moines, Iowa. Filed Dec. 14, 1928. Serial No. 326,116. 6 Claims. (Cl. 274—37.)



5. A phonograph attachment comprising a stylus yoke having a bar, laterally extending end portions adapted to be secured to the stylus bars of a double phonograph unit, thin portions connecting the bar and the end portions, and a clamping device in the central portion of the yoke for receiving a stylus.

1,803,693. CLEANING MEANS. HERBERT A. CUTTING, Detroit, Mich. Filed Apr. 24, 1929. Serial No. 357,649. 2 Claims. (Cl. 15—14.)

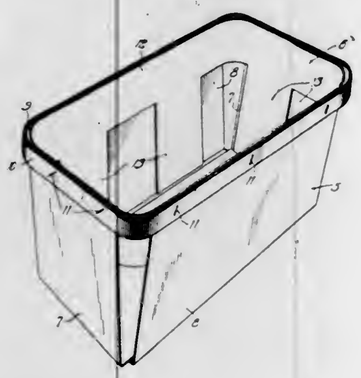


1. A vacuum cleaner including a housing member and a suction inlet, a water container removably secured to said housing and having an outlet leading to a point adjacent said suction inlet and means for heating water in said container to supply steam to an article being cleaned.

1,803,694. OILMETER. ERNEST R. ERICKSON, Des Moines, Iowa, assignor to C. E. Erickson Company, Inc., Des Moines, Iowa. Filed Apr. 29, 1930. Serial No. 448,233. 6 Claims. (Cl. 40—68.)

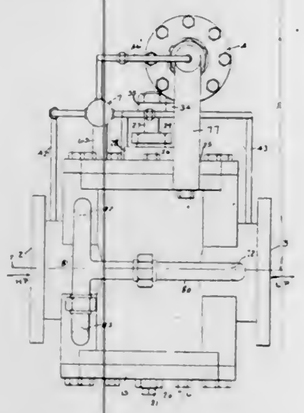
1. In a device of the class described, a plate, a cylinder at one end thereof formed by rolling a portion of the material of the plate into shape, said plate having slots and said portion having tongues projected through said slots and provided with openings and pin members extended through said openings for holding the cylinder in assembled position.

1,803,695. PENCIL. THEODORE P. GARANKIN, New York, N. Y. Filed Mar. 31, 1930. Serial No. 440,553. 3 Claims. (Cl. 120—14.)



1. In a pencil, the combination with a tubular member, of a bottom tube for leads supported at the operating end of said member, a plurality of tubes for leads of different colors, hooks hingedly supporting said tubes on the walls of said member, said tubes being adapted to drop, one at a time, by gravity into an operating central position registering with said bottom tube, said leads being adapted to slide by gravity from said central tube into said bottom tube into an operating position, means to clamp said lead in its operating position, and a cap resiliently supported on top of said tubular member.

1,803,696. LINER. CLARENCE J. GATES, Jr., CHARLES S. NATHAN, and AMBROSE A. MCDONOUGH, Chicago, Ill. Filed Apr. 29, 1929. Serial No. 358,776. 6 Claims. (Cl. 217—8.)



6. The combination with a basket or similar container, of a liner therefor comprising a blank of sheet material providing a strip disposed around the inside of said basket and adjacent the top edge portion thereof, said blank of sheet material also providing spaced tabs or legs extending from said strip and lying in planes substantially parallel to the plane of the sides of the container and engaging the bottom portion thereof whereby said strip portion will be maintained in substantially fixed relation to the top edge portion of said container, to thereby protect the contents from any roughness of the inside top edge portion.

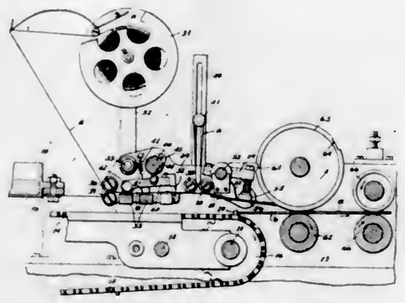
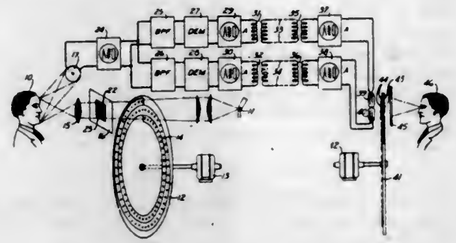
1,803,697. PRESSURE REGULATING VALVE. OSCAR G. GOLDMAN, San Francisco, Calif. Filed Aug. 29, 1927. Serial No. 216,079. 12 Claims. (Cl. 50—11.)



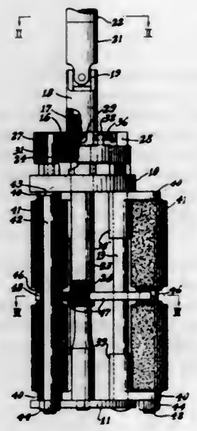
1. A fluid pressure regulating valve comprising a chambered body provided with fluid inlet and outlet ports, a rotatable valve-plug mounted within the body between said ports and provided with a passage adapted to be brought into register therewith, and means for rotating said valve-plug in response to variations in pressure of fluid on the outlet side of said valve, said means comprising a fixed rod, a cylinder slidably mounted on said rod, a connection from said cylinder to said plug whereby a movement of the cylinder will rotate the plug, a fluid pressure connection to the cylinder for forcing the same to slide on said rod, a controlling-valve on said fluid connection operated by fluid pressure from the outlet side of said valve and spring means in said controlling valve adjustably arranged for opposing operation thereof by said pressure.

1,803,698. BLANK PREPARING MECHANISM FOR BOX MAKING MACHINES. HAROLD J. GOSS, Nashua, N. H., assignor to The International Paper Box Machine Company, Nashua, N. H., a Corporation of Maine. Filed Aug. 19, 1929. Serial No. 386,756. 13 Claims. (Cl. 93—49.)



1. The combination with mechanism for making set-up boxes from blanks, of mechanism for preparing flat blanks for the setting-up mechanism, said preparing mechanism including continuously movable blank carriers and means for doubling and securing marginal portions of the blanks while travelling and delivering them to the setting-up mechanism.

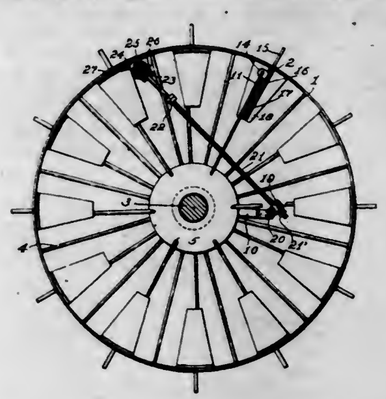
1,803,699. MACHINE FOR APPLYING STRIPS TO BLANKS. HAROLD J. GOSS, Nashua, N. H., assignor to The International Paper Box Machine Company, Nashua, N. H., a Corporation of Maine. Filed Nov. 15, 1929. Serial No. 407,470. 14 Claims. (Cl. 93—56.)



1. A machine for affixing sections of strip material to blanks, comprising means for causing blanks to travel, means for applying adhesive stripes to the blanks, means for weakening the strip material at spaced intervals to provide strip sections, means for applying the strip material to the adhesive stripes of the blanks, and means rendered effective by the combined thickness of the blank and strip for parting the strip material successively at its weakened points.

1,803,700. ELECTROOPTICAL SYSTEM. FRANK GRAY, New York, N. Y., assignor to Bell Telephone Laboratories, Incorporated, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of New York. Filed July 25, 1929. Serial No. 380,786. 7 Claims. (Cl. 178—6.)

1. A device for scanning a field of view comprising a movable element of opaque material, and a light aperture having alternate sections of relatively opaque and transparent material arranged in said movable element.



1,803,701. CYLINDER HONE. PERCY C. GROVER, Birmingham, Ala. Filed Nov. 4, 1929. Serial No. 404,612. 7 Claims. (Cl. 51—184.1.)

1. In a tool of the character described, a pair of end plates, a plurality of shafts joining the end plates, a hone pivotally mounted on each shaft and adapted to swing inwardly and outwardly of the end plates, gear means for effecting movement of the hones in unison, a ratchet means for holding the hones in a set position, and means for adjustably positioning the ratchet means to vary the position of the hones.

1,803,702. TRACTION WHEEL. WILLIAM J. HANIG, Ackley, Iowa. Filed Mar. 24, 1930. Serial No. 438,506. 1 Claim. (Cl. 301—46.)

In a traction wheel, a tire therefor having circumferentially spaced apertures, radially directed fixed slideways in line with said apertures on the inner face of the tire, plate-lugs mounted slidably in said slideways to move through said apertures inwardly or outwardly of the tire, said wheel having a hub, a sleeve rotatably mounted thereon and having a radial arm, links between said sleeve and plate-lugs, a bearing-block rockingly mounted on said arm and having an interiorly threaded aperture, a screw-rod threaded and having one end seated in said threaded aperture, lugs fixed on the inner face of the tire, a bearing-block mounted rockingly on said lugs, the other end of the screw-rod being unthreaded and rotatably secured therein, and means for rotating said screw-rod in either of opposite directions.

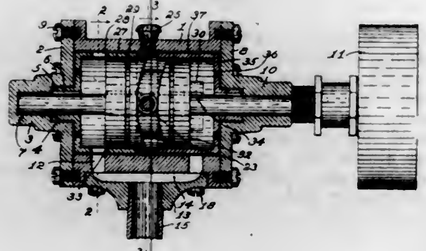
1,803,703. LUBRICATING SYSTEM. CHRISTIAN A. HANSON, Chicago, Ill., assignor to Alemite Corporation, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Aug. 1, 1925. Serial No. 47,531. 12 Claims. (Cl. 184—7.)

1. A lubricating system comprising means acting periodically to deliver charges of lubricant under pressure, a conduit conveying said charges, a resilient pneumatic capsule in said conduit, a seat for one portion of said capsule, means tending to hold said capsule portion against said seat and thus check return flow from the space around said capsule, a second seat opposite said first seat, said capsule portion having predetermined travel between said two seats, and a check valve in series with said capsule, whereby return of the capsule portion passes a predetermined charge of lubricant around the same.

1,803,704. COMMUNICATING FORM. FRANCIS R. HARDIE, Salt Lake County, Utah. Filed Jan. 20, 1930. Serial No. 422,110. 2 Claims. (Cl. 229—92.7.)



1. A communicatng form of the kind described, consisting of a sheet of paper, or other material, so cut and arranged that flaps extend outwardly from the sides of the upper fold of the sheet, the flaps being so arranged and prepared, preferably by gumming, that when the sheet is folded, the extending flaps fold backwardly from the front surface of the upper fold of the sheet, and may be fastened or be made to adhere to the back surface of the lower fold of the sheet, thereby partly sealing the communicating form, the method of folding forming a pocket between the backs of the upper and middle folds of the sheet which may be utilized unsealed or otherwise, having the name and address of the transmitter of the communication exposed to view on the front surface of the upper fold of the letter sheet, having the lower end of the lower fold of the sheet so prepared, preferably by gumming, that when the lower fold of the sheet is folded upwardly against the front surface of the middle fold of the sheet, the lower, prepared end adheres or fastens to the front surface of the letter sheet, substantially along the upper crease of the middle fold of the sheet, on a horizontal line between the salutation and the address of the addressee of the communication, and having a small part of the lower, prepared end of the lower fold of the sheet left unsealed and conspicuously marked, as a convenient place for opening the communication.

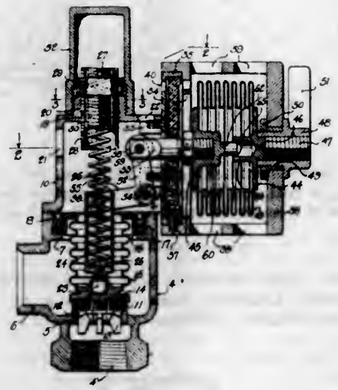
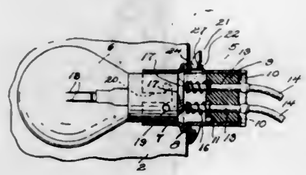
1. A pumping device, comprising in combination, a relatively stationary cylinder having removable heads provided with shaft bearings, a rotatable shaft seated in said bearings, said cylinder having a pair of longitudinally spaced inlet-ports and also a pair of longitudinally spaced outlet-ports circumferentially at an angle to said inlet-ports, a block removably secured on the cylinder across said inlet-ports, and a block removably secured on the cylinder across said outlet-ports, both blocks having longitudinal passages in communication at their ends with said inlet- and outlet-ports respectively, and both blocks having ports communicating medially with said passages, spaced facing cups splined removably on said shaft and having ports alined circumferentially with both said inlet- and outlet-ports, an imperforate piston splined slidably on said shaft within and fitting said cups and spaced from the inner end walls thereof, said piston having a medial circumferential cam groove, and a roller carrying pin mounted in said cylinder wall to traverse the interspace between said cups and enter said cam groove.

1,803,706. DISCHARGE TUBE DISPLAY. FRED HOTCHNER, Los Angeles, Calif. Filed May 25, 1929. Serial No. 366,069. 16 Claims. (Cl. 40—130.)



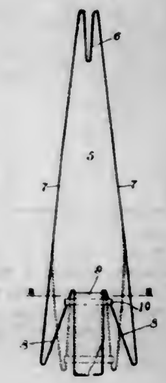
1. In an electric display, a pair of extended spaced sheets of light transmitting material, a tubular light therebetween in the form of a display pattern, and another display pattern disposed between said sheets of light transmitting material and formed of light reflecting material, the second said pattern being so positioned as to be rendered luminous by radiation from said tubular light.

1,803,707. WINDOW CURTAIN SUPPORT. DIBRELL P. HYNES, Chicago, Ill., assignor to Chicago Forging & Manufacturing Company, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed Oct. 8, 1928. Serial No. 310,982. 18 Claims. (Cl. 156—33.)



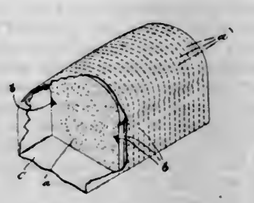
4. The combination with a movable window sash of a curtain raising element adapted to engage said curtain and mounted upon said sash, and supports for said curtain raising element extending outwardly away from said sash and adjustable as to length.

1,803,708. TEMPERATURE CONTROL DEVICE. FREDERICK W. JAEGER, Milwaukee, Wis. Filed May 1, 1929. Serial No. 359,597. 3 Claims. (Cl. 236—42.)



1. In valve mechanism of the type described, the combination of a valve casing, a valve in said casing controlling the supply of heating fluid, a casing secured to said valve casing, said valve having a hollow stem sealed from the fluid controlled by said valve, an adjustable member secured to said last named casing, a tension spring secured within said stem and to said member to open the valve, a thermosensitive device associated with said casings, and means including a lever connecting said device with said stem for causing closing movements of the valve by said device.

1,803,709. BULB MOUNTING FOR HEADLAMPS. ROY W. JOHNSON, Columbus, Ohio, assignor to The John W. Brown Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ohio, a Corporation of Ohio. Filed May 28, 1929. Serial No. 366,676. 2 Claims. (Cl. 240—41.)



1. The combination with a reflector provided with an opening, of a tubular lamp holder occupying said opening and formed with an annular shoulder engaging one side of the reflector, a plurality of lugs struck out from said holder at a point spaced from said shoulder and the other side of the reflector, a corrugated spring washer on said holder positioned between said lugs and reflector, said washer being formed with notches in the corrugations nearest the reflector and along its inner periphery and through which said lugs pass, there being depressions formed in the corrugations farthest away from said reflector whereby upon the rotation of said washer said lugs will ride up on the corrugations and be seated within the depressions, the washer serving to draw the shoulder of said holder into firm holding engagement with said reflector.

1,803,710. NECKTIE REFORMER. WILLIAM B. KLIVER, Columbus, Ohio. Filed Dec. 8, 1928. Serial No. 324,696. 2 Claims. (Cl. 223—19.)

1. A necktie reforming device including a wire frame in the outline of a spear head with sharp side barbs at the base, a shank portion between said barbs formed of substantially parallel wire portions constituting a handle between said barbs, and a slidable clip engaging the inner wires of the barbs adapted to draw the barbs toward each other and the shank portion.

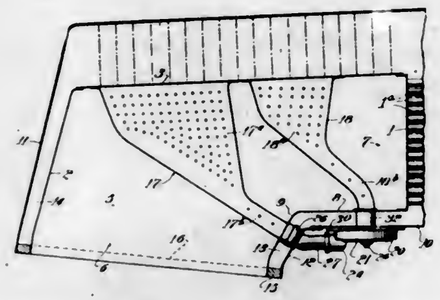
1,803,711. PARTIALLY SLICED WRAPPED BREAD. LEON E. LA BOMBARD, Waltham, and MELVIN H. SIDEBOTHAM, Newtonville, Mass., assignors to Specialty Automatic Machine Company, Chelsea, Mass., a Corporation of Massachusetts. Filed Sept. 5, 1929. Serial No. 390,574. 2 Claims. (Cl. 99—10.)

1. A loaf of bread having slicing cuts extending in from opposite sides thereof and partially meeting, said article having separated un-cut portions to lightly maintain the article as a unit, said unit being enclosed in a wrapper, the said un-cut portions being disposed in such positions as to maintain the individual slices in close relationship throughout their areas.

2. The method of preserving bread in a form convenient for users, consisting in transversely cutting a loaf in from opposite sides to an incomplete extent leaving separated un-cut portions in line with said transverse cuts, and then enclosing the cut loaf in a wrapper.

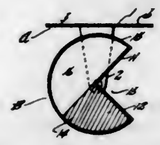
1,803,712. GARMENT PROTECTOR. LEON E. LA BOMBARD, Waltham, and MELVIN H. SIDEBOTHAM, West Newton, Mass. Filed Dec. 2, 1929. Serial No. 411,089. 4 Claims. (Cl. 206—7.)

3. A garment container having a wide opening at the bottom and a small opening at the top with inclined edges at opposite sides of said small opening, said container consisting of two sections of paper having folded and glued marginal portions, and the said inclined edge top portions being glued together flat.



1,803,713. STEEPLE CLOSURE FOR INK BOTTLES. ADOLPH LANGSNER, Chicago, Ill., assignor to Eugene Dietzgen Company, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Feb. 20, 1928. Serial No. 255,634. 10 Claims. (Cl. 120—57.)

1. A stopper construction for India ink bottles comprising a sheet metal screw cap provided with a peripheral flange and a top, said flange having locking means for engaging locking projections on the neck of the bottle and said top of the cap, having an opening therethrough, a steeple-like member of moldable material molded about the exterior surface of the cap and having an integral inwardly projecting sleeve passing through the opening in the top of the cap, a quill fitting said sleeve and a sealing washer surrounding and gripping the sleeve and lying within the top surface of the cap whereby when the cap is screwed upon the neck of the bottle, said sealing washer will sealingly engage the open mouth of the bottle.



1,803,714. LOCOMOTIVE BOILER. BERT E. LARSON, Park Ridge, Ill., assignor to Locomotive Firebox Company, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Aug. 17, 1929. Serial No. 386,660. 4 Claims. (Cl. 122—68.)

1. A locomotive boiler having a firebox including a fire and a combustion chamber, a water circulating and steaming member in each chamber and each including an inlet end, with one of said inlet ends disposed at substantially a right angle to the other, means providing a well below the boiler and in communication therewith, means providing a slip joint connection for said inlet end of the member in the combustion chamber with said well and means providing a ball and socket joint connection for the inlet end of said member in the firebox with said well.

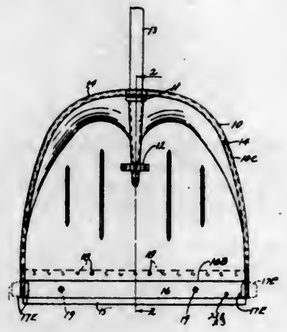
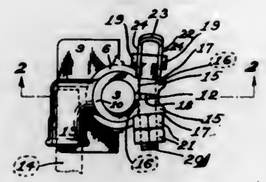
1,803,715. COIN HOLDER FOR MAIL BOXES. DAVID A. LIGHTY, Edgewood, Iowa. Filed Apr. 11, 1930. Serial No. 443,298. 1 Claim. (Cl. 133—14.)



In combination with a mail box, a coin holder journaled at its ends within the box, the said coin holder being approximately three quarters cylindrical, the space at the remaining quarter being closed by radially extended walls forming a finger notch for manipulating the device, and there being a longitudinally extended coin slot opening into the holder flush with one of the radially extended walls, and a weight positioned within the holder oppositely to the said coin slot for normally turning the said slot upwardly.

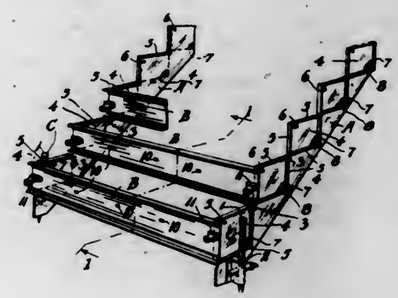
1,803,716. SHOE AND METHOD OF MAKING THE SAME. HORATIO S. LYNESS, Lynn, Mass. Filed Jan. 7, 1930. Serial No. 419,080. 2 Claims. (Cl. 36—58.6.)



1. In an article of manufacture a shoe with a relatively smooth faced inner quarter lining having cut out slots therein, and means whereby the heel portion of said shoe is prevented from moving relative to the heel of the wearer, said means comprising a non-slip member having a roughened surface arranged to project away from the normal plane of the surface of the lining, the edges of said non-slip member being inserted in said cut out slots and laid flat against the inner surface of said lining, the portion between said slots serving as a backing and being positioned behind said non-slip members.

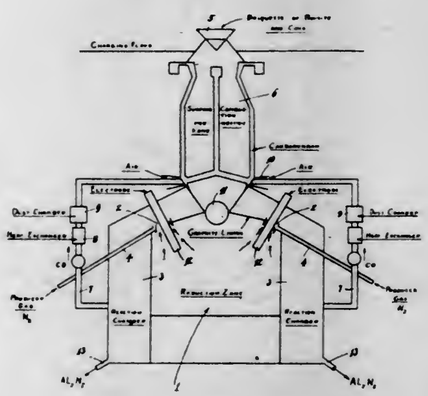
1,803,717. SHOVEL. OLE A. LYSNE, Northfield, Minn. Filed Mar. 13, 1930. Serial No. 435,575. 4 Claims. (Cl. 294—54.)

1. A shovel ladle comprising a metal blade with plane transverse front edge, the body of said ladle formed with rearwardly rising edge portions, said edge portions comprising a continuous bead, a single wire within said bead and tapered toward its ends, and a front blade device removably fixed to said transverse front edge of the ladle and comprising a double plate, the upper part of said plate offset to provide a forwardly directed opening between the two parts of said plate, a front shovel blade adapted to be slidably inserted in said opening and guide plates fixed to said lower plate to guide and retain said blade in said opening and further means fixed in said lower plate to guide the blade to operative position and said blade normally projecting forward of the front edge of said plate member.



1,803,718. BINDING-POST. JOSEPH G. MCCLELLAN, St. Louis, Mo. Filed Apr. 30, 1928. Serial No. 273,889. 2 Claims. (Cl. 173—259.)

1. In a binding-post, a split ring adapted to engage said post and presenting a pair of apertured clamping jaws, a bolt passing through said jaws and having oppositely disposed lateral arms and a clamping head pivotally borne by said arms, said head presenting a cam surface adapted to vary the intimacy of the post and ring upon the operation of said head.



1,803,719. STEP FORM. GEORGE H. MILLER, Milwaukee, Wis., assignor to Metal Forms Corporation, Milwaukee, Wis. Filed Aug. 6, 1928. Serial No. 297,828. 2 Claims. (Cl. 25—118.)

2. A step form of the class described, comprising, in combination, side form members having cut-aways therein defining substantially vertically disposed edges on the side form members, plates carried by the side form members, each plate having one edge substantially adjacent to one of the vertically disposed edges of the side form members, and means for adjusting the relative position of the plates with respect to the side form members so that vertical edges of the plates may be adjusted with respect to the vertical edges of the side form members and thereby made to assume a true vertical position, regardless of the position of the edges of the side form members.

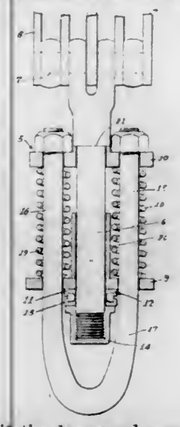
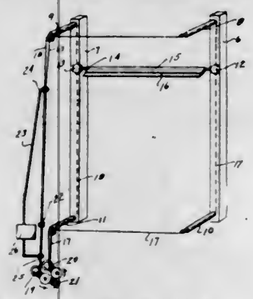
1,803,720. PROCESS OF PRODUCING NITRIDES OF ALUMINUM OR MAGNESIUM FROM THEIR MINERALS. CLAUDE G. MINER, Berkeley, Calif. Filed July 6, 1926. Serial No. 120,633. 5 Claims. (Cl. 23—192.)



1. A process of producing metallic nitrides which comprises reducing the metallic oxide to the metal in a reducing zone at the volatilization temperature of the metal, conducting the vaporized metal and resultant gases from the reducing zone to a reaction zone apart from the reducing zone, and mixing a nitrogen-bearing gas with the vaporized metal in the reaction zone to produce the metallic nitride.

1,803,721. HOISTING CLEVIS. BURT S. MINOR, San Pedro, Calif. Filed Dec. 1, 1928. Serial No. 328,184. 3 Claims. (Cl. 267—71.)



1. A hoisting clevis comprising a support pivotally secured at its upper end, an antifriction bearing on the lower end of said support, a cross bar carried by said bearing having apertures formed therein, a yoke member passing through the apertures in the cross bar, a second cross bar on said support, the end of the yoke arms detachably engaging said second cross bar, a pair of coiled springs surrounding the yoke arms between the cross bars, and a support to relieve the load on the coiled springs and to limit the downward movement of the yoke when a load is imposed thereon, the yoke being free to rotate in any position.

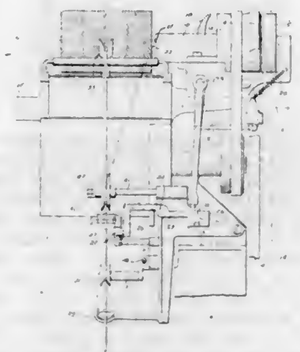
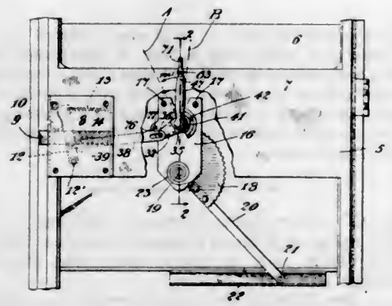
1,803,722. AUTOMATIC WINDOW CLEANER. MORRIS R. MOON, Portland, Oreg. Filed Apr. 22, 1929. Serial No. 357,047. 1 Claim. (Cl. 15—253.)



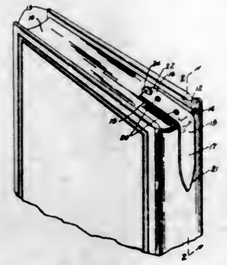
In a device of the class described, in combination, a pair of uprights, grooves longitudinally disposed within the uprights, a hollow post secured to each end of said uprights and communicating with the respective grooves, guide blocks disposed within each groove, a cross bar secured to said guide blocks, a swipe movably secured to said cross bar, winding drums journaled within a vehicle, power means directly associated and in driving engagement with the drums, a plurality of cables having their free ends secured to the guide blocks and to the winding drums respectively and adapted to move the guide blocks, a stop block secured to one of the cables, and means connected therewith for reversing the power means at the completion of each cleaning stroke.

1,803,723. FLOOR CONSTRUCTION. EVERETT N. MURPHY, Chicago, Ill., assignor, by mesne assignments, to Johns-Manville Sales Corporation, a Corporation of Delaware. Filed July 17, 1924. Serial No. 726,471. 4 Claims. (Cl. 72—101.)



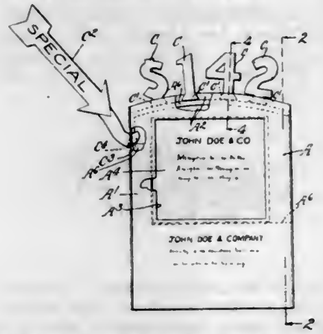
3. A chair for supporting a sleeper or nailing strip for fire-proof floor construction or the like comprising, in combination, a substantially flat horizontal base portion adapted to be laid on a concrete lower floor after the concrete has set, said base portion supporting the nailing strip and a finishing floor fastened thereto, oppositely disposed off-set lugs bent vertically from said base portion for laterally embracing the vertical sides of said nailing strip, and fastening means passing through said lugs and said nailing strip to prevent upward displacement of the latter from said chair.

1,803,724. DETECTOR. WILLIAM NANFELDT, Paterson, N. J., assignor to World Bestos Corporation, Paterson, N. J., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Oct. 5, 1928. Serial No. 310,461. 8 Claims. (Cl. 242—36.)



7. In a yarn winding machine, a winding mechanism, an element guided by the path of the yarn through the machine and adapted to be displaced by lateral shifting movement of the yarn, means operable by displacement of the guided element for stopping said winding mechanism, and means for displacing the yarn laterally when the diameter of the same is decreased.

1,803,725. OPERATING MEANS FOR AUTOMOBILE DOOR LATCHES AND WINDOW REGULATORS. LEON OTTINGER, New York, N. Y. Substitute for application Serial No. 294,113, filed July 20, 1928. This application filed Aug. 18, 1928. Serial No. 300,424. 18 Claims. (Cl. 268—126.)

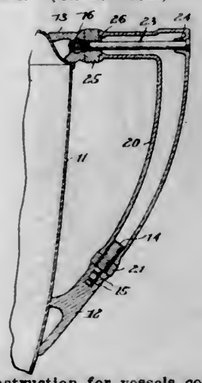


14. The combination with a window regulator and a latch, of an operating handle therefor, a pivotable hand grasp thereon, and means actuated by said hand grasp selectively operatively connecting said handle to said regulator or said latch.

1,803,726. BOOKMARK. CARL A. PFUDERER, Brooklyn, N. Y. Filed Sept. 19, 1928. Serial No. 306,880. 7 Claims. (Cl. 116—119.)

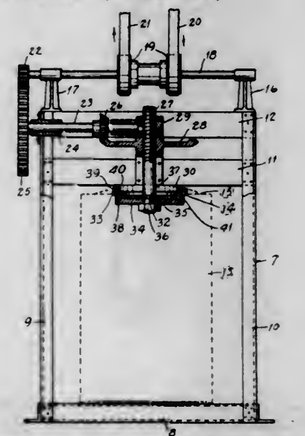
1. A bookmark, comprising a strip formed with a bent end for engaging the outside of the web of a book cover, a clamp tongue disposed laterally of the said bent end for engaging the inside of the same web, a lug integral with the clamp tongue and attached on the said strip, and a marker pivotally mounted on the free end of the strip and arranged for extending downwards or assuming a position of rest upon the strip.

1,803,727. DISPLAY DEVICE. FRANK H. RASMUSSEN, Chicago, Ill., assignor to Magill-Weinsheimer Company, Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed Oct. 7, 1929. Serial No. 398,049. 4 Claims. (Cl. 40—148.)



1. In a display device, a body member and means for maintaining it in upright position, said body member including a forward element and a rearward element, said forward and rearward elements being spaced somewhat apart, the forward element being provided with an aperture, a removable display member adapted to be aligned with said aperture, the edges of said elements being separated in lateral alignment with said aperture to permit said removable member to be inserted, a plurality of indicating digits removably mounted upon the upper edge of said body member, said digits being provided with downward extensions adapted to penetrate between the forward and rear elements of said member, and an additional indicating member removably positioned upon one edge of said body member, including a supporting element adapted to penetrate between the forward and rear elements of said body member.

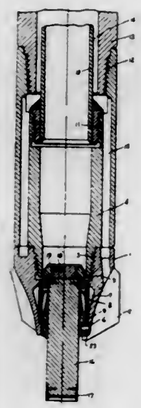
1,803,728. TWEEZER TOOL. CHARLES S. ROOT, Springfield, Mass. Filed Sept. 19, 1929. Serial No. 393,809. 6 Claims. (Cl. 81—3.)



1. A tool of the class described comprising in combination, a support in the form of a tube having its forward end partly closed to provide spaced guideways, a member bent upon itself to provide shanks which extend through said tube and guideways and a ring at the rear end of said tube, the shanks as they extend through said guideways being disposed in a diverging relation and then extended towards one another to form cooperating gripping fingers, shelves carried by said fingers for supporting an article gripped by said fingers, upstanding ledges associated with said fingers for co-operating with said fingers for gripping one side of an object, and spring pressed members for co-operating with said ledges and fingers for gripping another side of an object.

1,803,729. HANDLE CONSTRUCTION FOR VESSELS. HOWARD H. SCHOTT, Rochester, N. Y., assignor to Robeson-Rochester Corporation, Rochester, N. Y., a Corporation of New York. Filed July 18, 1929. Serial No. 379,291. 3 Claims. (Cl. 16—174.)

1. A handle construction for vessels comprising a pair of brackets of relatively soft moulded material fixed to a vessel, a pin of harder material moulded in one of said brackets and projecting therefrom, a threaded bushing of harder material moulded in the other of said brackets, a hollow handle member having an opening at each end thereof, one end of said handle member being slipped over said pin, and a screw passing through the opening at the opposite end of said handle member and threaded into said bushing for securing said opposite end to its bracket.



1,803,730. FLANGING MACHINE. GEORGE F. SCHULENBURG, St. Louis, Mo. Filed Nov. 22, 1929. Serial No. 408,946. 2 Claims. (Cl. 153—24.)

1. In a device of the character described, a spindle, means of moving said spindle longitudinally, a die holder secured to said spindle, a die positioned on said die holder, a circular plate, said plate and said die being so positioned relatively that the vertical movement of said spindle will bring said die and said circular plate in and out of frictional engagement.

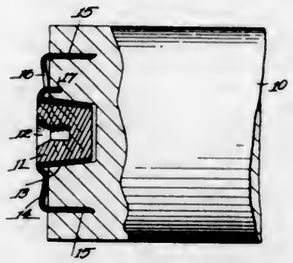
1,803,731. CORE BIT PLUG. FLOYD L. SCOTT, Houston, Tex., assignor to Hughes Tool Company, Houston, Tex., a Corporation of Texas. Filed Feb. 16, 1929. Serial No. 340,561. 3 Claims. (Cl. 255—72.)

1. In a core drill, a tubular cutter head, and a plug closing the lower end thereof, adapted when released to float in the liquid in the well.

1,803,732. JAR MECHANISM FOR WELL DRILLING. WILLIAM D. SHAFFER, Brea, Calif. Filed Apr. 8, 1930. Serial No. 442,559. 11 Claims. (Cl. 255—27.)

10. A jar, for well drilling stems, including telescopic shell and mandrel parts having opposed rigid up-jar hammer and anvil shoulders, and down-drive couplers for rigidly connecting the parts under compression force and yieldable under tension of one part when drawing from the other.

1,803,733. DESIGNATING DEVICE. MORRIS SHERAS, Manistee, Mich. Filed Aug. 11, 1928. Serial No. 298,904. 13 Claims. (Cl. 40—145.)



1. In a designating device, a central smooth cylindrical pole, longitudinal double-faced sign boards slidably positioned upon and embracing, said pole and adapted to be placed with their longer dimension in horizontal position, connecting devices slidably positioned on said pole and adapted to postion the double faced sign boards at the desired angle to each other and two projections upon each of the inside faces of said boards adapted to form a pocket for and cooperate with said pole to hold said slidable boards in position upon said pole.

1,803,734. ICE-FREEZING RECEPTACLE WALL. FRANK G. SHERER, Los Angeles, Calif., assignor to Refrigerator Grid Co., Chicago, Ill., a Corporation of Illinois. Filed Mar. 11, 1929. Serial No. 345,905. 9 Claims. (Cl. 62—111.)

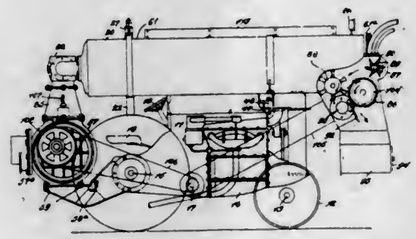
1,803,735. BEARING FOR WOOD ROLLS. WARREN J. SIMONDS and CARL C. HARRIS, Orange, Mass., assignors to Rodney Hunt Machine Company, Orange, Mass., a Corporation of Massachusetts. Filed Mar. 25, 1929. Serial No. 349,708. 3 Claims. (Cl. 308—238.)

1. A device for anchoring a bearing in the end of a roll comprising a metal cap of annular shape having a flange projecting from its outer edge and adapted to be driven into the end of the roll and a conical collar constituting its center and adapted to be driven into the roll and a wooden bearing block of conical shape driven into the conical collar and permanently held therein.

1,803,736. PACKAGE. HOMER M. SINCLAIR, Holyoke, Mass. Filed July 12, 1929. Serial No. 377,834. 2 Claims. (Cl. 206—57.)

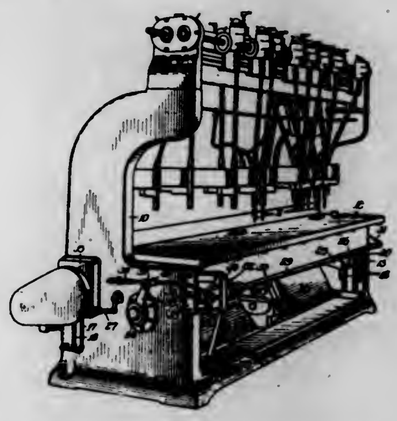
1. A package of the class described comprising in combination, a box formed from a foldable blank having an end wall provided with an opening in the upper side thereof to expose the forward edges of a stack of sheets in said box, the forward portion of the upper wall of said box being severed from the upper edges of the side wall thereof from said forward wall rearwardly to a line of folds extending across said upper wall to form a cover portion, the said cover portion having a hinged forward end portion for inserting between said forward wall and a stack of sheets in said box and the said upper wall at the rear side of said line of folds being provided with a slit to form a tab for receiving the outer edge of the said forward end portion to hold the same in an open position.



1,803,737. PROCESS RELATING TO THE PRODUCTION OF SYNTHETIC LUMBER FROM CORNSTALKS. ORLAND R. SWEENEY, Ames, Iowa, assignor to Iowa State College of Agricultural and Mechanical Arts, Ames, Iowa, a Corporation of Iowa. Filed June 27, 1929. Serial No. 374,274. 10 Claims. (Cl. 92—6.)

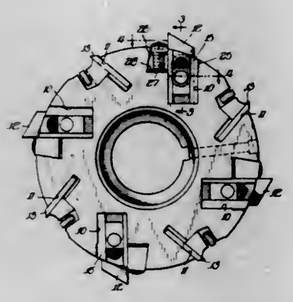
1. The process of manufacturing and producing synthetic lumber from cornstalks consisting in the cooking of the unshredded corn plant in water, discharging the material from the cooker, disintegrating the material by milling, and last forming it into lumber by a suitable machine.

1,803,738. METHOD OF MAKING SULPHITE PULP. ALFRED M. THOMSEN, San Francisco, Calif. Filed Aug. 24, 1929. Serial No. 388,274. 3 Claims. (Cl. 92—11.)



1. In the process of manufacturing sulphite pulp, the method of adding from 5% to 50% of the waste liquor produced to fresh cooking acid in making up the acid for a subsequent charge; adding lime to the remaining waste liquor; separating the precipitate formed by such addition; washing said precipitate; and returning said precipitate to the acid making system.

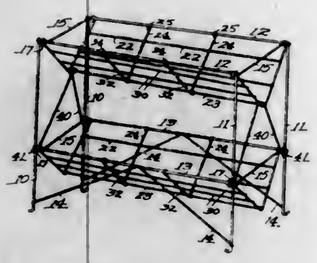
1,803,739. GIN. JOHN S. THURMAN, St. Louis, Mo. Original application filed Sept. 13, 1923, Serial No. 662,528. Divided and this application filed Dec. 7, 1925. Serial No. 73,958. 5 Claims. (Cl. 19—39.)



1. In a device of the class described, the combination of a tractor, a plurality of longitudinally disposed suction tanks supported thereby thereabove, a gin supported by said tanks adjacent to one end of said tractor and communicating with one end of each tank, and a vacuum pump carried by the other end of said tractor and connected to said tanks at points remote from the points of connection of the latter with said gin, thereby producing suction in said tanks and said gin and causing the cotton discharged into said gin to be passed therethrough and delivered into said suction tanks.

1,803,740. BORING MACHINE. GERRIT VANDERBEEK, Beloit, Wis., assignor to Yates-American Machine Company, Beloit, Wis., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Oct. 12, 1929. Serial No. 399,180. 9 Claims. (Cl. 144—112.)

1. In a boring machine, a plurality of bits, a work support, means for moving the support toward and away from the bits, means for automatically reversing the direction of movement of the support at both ends of its travel, manually actuated means for rendering the automatic reversing means inoperative, separately operable manually actuated means for starting and stopping the movement of the support in any position thereof, and a single control member connected with the two last mentioned means for at will independently operating the same.



1,803,741. CUTTER HEAD. HARRY S. WALTHERS and VICTOR E. MARTIN, Beloit, Wis., assignors to Yates-American Machine Company, Beloit, Wis., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Apr. 12, 1930. Serial No. 443,654. 3 Claims. (Cl. 144—230.)

1. In combination, a cutter head having a transversely extending groove, a row of elongated holders arranged
